University of Alberta

1991/92 Calendar

Please Note:

(1) Students are responsible for the completeness and accuracy of their registrations and for completion of the specified program requirements. This requires careful attention to course selection and compliance with prerequiste and corequisite requirements. Please read the Calendar carefully and use it when you register. If in doubt about the regulations pertaining to your program, consult the appropriate University official.

(2) The Calendar sets forth the intention of the University at the time of its publication, with respect to all matters contained therein. The University reserves the right at any time to deviate from what appears in the Calendar, either in order to serve the best interests of the University, or because of circumstances beyond the University's reasonable control. The University expressly denies responsibility or liability to anyone who may suffer loss or may be otherwise adversely affected by such change.

(3) The University cannot supply more than one copy of the University Calendar to each student. Additional copies of this Calendar, along with the Registration Procedures Booklet, are available from:

University of Alberta Bookstore
University of Alberta
Edmonton, Alberta, Canada

12.2 Classification of Students

12.2.1 Undergraduate and Graduate Students

(1) Undergraduate students are those who are registered in a program leading to a bachelor's degree or first professional degree (or equivalent). A student's registration status can fall into one of two categories:

a. Full-time students: those who are registered for credit in 9 units of course weight or more in one term.

b. Part-time students: those who are registered for credit in fewer than 9 units of course weight in one term.

(1) Graduate students are those who hold the bachelor's degree or first professional degree (or equivalent) and are enrolled in a program leading to a graduate degree such as a Master's or PhD. These students are designated as "Full-time" or "Part-time" by the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research according to their workload of courses and/or research. A more detailed classification of graduate students will be found in §202.4 of the Graduate Studies and Research section of this Calendar.

2.2.2 Classification of Undergraduate Students

(1) Degree, Diploma, or Certificate Program Students are those who are registered in a program leading to a degree, diploma, or certificate granted by the University of Alberta.

(2) Probationary Students are students who have been admitted (or permitted to continue) in a Faculty on a probationary basis, because their previous academic record is either deficient in some respect, below the standard ordinarily required, or difficult to assess. Normally, if such students fail to meet the conditions stipulated within the time limit imposed, they will not be allowed to proceed further in their program.

(3) Special Students are those who have been permitted to register in one or more courses which are not being taken for credit towards a degree or diploma at this or any other institution.

(4) Unclassified Students are students registered in selected credit courses but who are not committed or admitted to a degree or diploma program.

(5) Visiting Students are bona fide students of other universities or colleges who have been permitted to take one or more courses for transfer of credit to their own institutions which have agreed in advance to such an arrangement.

12.2.3 Auditors

Auditors are not necessarily admitted students and are not registered for credit, but are attending one or more courses under the following conditions:

(1) Since final permission to audit a course cannot be given until it is known that all students registered for credit have been accommodated, registrations as auditors will not be accepted until the sixth class day of the term and must be submitted prior to the ninth class day of the term.

(2) The auditor registration form can be obtained from the Registrar's Office or Faculty office.

(3) The permission of the course section instructor must be obtained and the form submitted to the Registrar's Office.

(4) The Registrar's Office will determine if space exists in the course section and, if space is available, process the registration.

Note: Obtaining the instructor's permission does not guarantee registration in the course section if it is determined that the course section is full.

(5) Courses audited in this manner will not be considered as meeting prerequisite, admission, or course requirements for any University degree program.

(6) Individuals auditing courses shall limit their participation in the class to that deemed appropriate by the instructor.

(7) Any person who is registered as a full-time or part-time student may also seek permission to audit a course by securing the approval of the instructor and the dean of the student's Faculty.

(8) The imposition of attendance requirements for auditors is a matter of Faculty self-determination. Auditors should seek clarification of this information from the Faculty offering the course when they register.

(9) Withdrawal from an audited course will result in a grade of 'AW', as will failure to attend where attendance is a course requirement.

12.2.4 Intramural and Extramural Students

(1) Intramural Students are those who are attending the University of Alberta at Edmonton or any of its off-campus centres.

(2) Extramural Students are those who, although not attending the University of Alberta at Edmonton or any of its off-campus centres, are permitted to take one or more courses by correspondence or directed study. This privilege may be granted by a Faculty in special circumstances.

12.2.5 Students in the Faculty of Extension

Faculty of Extension students are those registered in any of that Faculty's courses which may or may not lead to certificate credit.

12.3 Intersession

During its Intersession in Edmonton, the University of Alberta offers a wide selection of courses during the Spring-Term and Summer-Term for the convenience of students who are unable to attend the regular Winter Session, and for continuing students who wish to supplement their regular programs. Intersession calendars are available in February.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Special Sessions Office at 492-3752.

12.4 Off-Campus Credit Program

For students living outside the Edmonton area, there are courses offered in the September to April period through the Off-Campus Credit Program at a number of centres throughout Central and Northern Alberta. Included in these are full-time, general first- and second-year programs at Slave Lake and Spruce Grove. These programs are offered in cooperation with Athabasca University.

13 Admission

13.1 Admission to Graduate Degree Programs

General admission requirements for the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research will be found in §202 of this Calendar. Additional requirements, if any, for a particular graduate program will be found in the description of the program in §204.

13.2 Admission to Undergraduate Degree Programs

13.2.1 Categories of Admission

There are two major categories of admission for entry into an undergraduate degree program at the University of Alberta:

- as a Matriculated applicant
- as a Non-matriculated applicant (NMA)

(1) Matriculated Applicants

"Matriculation" is defined as:

"The achievement of a minimum level of academic preparation that would allow a prospective student to undertake and successfully complete a particular university degree program."

Matriculation can be achieved in a number of ways, as outlined below:

a. From High School: See §§13.3-13.5.

b. On Transfer from a Postsecondary Institution:See §13.9.

c. Via a "Letter of Recommendation": See §13.9.

(2) Non-Matriculated Applicants

Special consideration is given to mature applicants who have not met normal matriculation requirements. Please refer to §13.8.

Note: Prospective students who are disabled and who are seeking admission should consult §18.1.8 of this Calendar.

13.2.2 English Language Proficiency Requirements

English is the primary language of instruction in all Faculties except Faculté Saint-Jean, where French is the primary language. Therefore, all applicants to undergraduate Faculties other than Faculté Saint-Jean must possess an adequate knowledge of written and spoken English as a prerequisite to admission. For example, non-matriculated applicants and Unclassified Program students must comply with the requirement along with other applicants.

Applicants to Faculté Saint-Jean need not demonstrate proficiency in English prior to admission being granted. However, they must demonstrate proficiency in English before they may be granted a degree from this institution. Faculté Saint-Jean students from the BEd/BSc Combined program are not required to demonstrate their proficiency in English.

Regardless of country of origin or of citizenship status, all applicants to all undergraduate degree programs, except for Faculté Saint-Jean, will be required to demonstrate proficiency in the English language prior to admission. This demonstration may take any one of several forms:

(1) Six full years of education in English in Canada or the equivalent in another country where English is the principal language. Such education must include the Alberta Grade 12, or equivalent level, and can be in a combination of secondary and postsecondary training.

(2) Successful completion of the equivalent of six years of full-time instruction in a school/institution in Canada in which the major language of instruction is other than English, but where the level of English proficiency required for graduation is equivalent to that in English language schools/institutions in Canada.

(3) A grade of 80% or better on the diploma examination portion (only) of the Alberta English 30 course, or a grade of 6 or 7 on the International Baccalaureate Higher Level English course, or a grade of 5 on the Advanced Placement English (Language Composition: Literature and Composition) course.

(4) Graduation from a degree program offered by an accredited university at which English is the primary language of instruction and in a country where English is the principal language.

(5) A score of at least 580 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), or a score of at least 90 on the Michigan English Assessment Battery (MELAB). The TOEFL results must include a score of at least 50 on each of the three components.

Note A: Authority to hear petitions and to waive the requirement for undergraduate applicants to write the TOEFL resides with the Registrar, acting on behalf of the Faculties. Exemptions will be based on assessments of the applicant's English language proficiency as evidenced by a written petition and a personal interview. Please direct enquiries and petitions to the Associate Registrar (Admissions), Office of the Registrar.

Note B: Further information on TOEFL is available from Examinations and Timetabling, Office of the Registrar, Room 120 Administration Building. TOEFL application forms are available from the Student Access Centre, Office of the Registrar, Main Floor - Administration Building; or by writing directly to Educational Testing Service, PO Box 6151, Princeton, New Jersey, U.S.A., 08541-6151.

Test of Spoken English

Applicants to Dental Hygiene, Dentistry (DDS degree), Home Economics, Medicine, Medical Laboratory Science, and Physical Therapy who are normally required to submit a satisfactory TOEFL score must also submit a Test of Spoken English (TSE) score of 200 or better. Information and registration forms for TSE are available from Examination and Timetabling, Office of the Registrar.

Specific Faculty Requirements

Some Faculties may require greater strength in English communicative skills than that which is required for other programs. These additional requirements are detailed in the various Faculty regulations sections of this Calendar. In applying to such Faculties the applicant must satisfy these additional language requirements as well as meet the general requirements outlined above.

13.2.3 Conditional Offers of Admission to High School Students

Conditional offers of admission are given annually before the completion of the final year of high school to students who have achieved satisfactory standing in their first semester/first term. Students are encouraged to apply as soon as they have received their first semester/first term results and to note these results on the application form. Once a conditional offer of admission has been made, a student is then eligible to access the telephone registration system.

If a student fails to complete his or her final high school year satisfactorily, the conditional offer of admission will be withdrawn.

13.2.4 Limitations on Enrollment

The University of Alberta is a limited enrollment institution, and as such, has placed a ceiling on the number of students accepted each year into all programs. Up to 85% of the places in our programs are normally reserved for Alberta residents*. For the remaining places, the University's goal is to make 5% available to international students (Student Visitors), and 10% to other Canadians, providing that no non-resident of Alberta is admitted who is less qualified than any Alberta resident who is denied admission.

The competition for a place in the following programs is especially keen:

- Agriculture and Forestry (BSc in Agricultural Engineering/ Agricultural Business Management programs only)
- Arts (BFA Drama and BA (Criminology) programs only)
- Business
- Dental Hygiene
- Dentistry
- Engineering
- Law
- Medical Laboratory Science
- Medicine
- Nursing
- Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences
- Physical Education and Recreation
- Rehabilitation Medicine
- Science (Computer Science, Honors, and Specialization programs only).

Upon notification of acceptance, successful applicants to the above noted programs may be required to confirm their intention to register by submitting a non-refundable deposit within a specified time. The deposit will be credited toward payment of tuition upon completion of registration.

*A resident of Alberta is defined as a Canadian Citizen or Permanent Resident (Landed Immigrant) who has been domiciled in the Province of Alberta, or the Yukon or Northwest Territories for at least one continuous year immediately prior to the first day of classes of the session in which admission is sought.

The one year residence period shall not be considered broken where the Admissions Committee is satisfied that the applicant was temporarily out of Province on vacation, in short-term employment, or as a full-time student.

13.3 Admission from High School

13.3.1 General Requirements from High School Applicants

In general, admission to undergraduate programs is based on the completion of five appropriate Grade XII subjects at the 30-level (or their equivalent), including English 30. No student with an average of less than 70% will be considered for admission (see exception, Faculté Saint-Jean §13.4.16). As there are limits on space in our undergraduate programs, preference will be given to applicants with the best qualifications.

13.3.2 Classification of Matriculation Subjects

Acceptable Alberta academic Grade XII subjects, other than English 30, have been placed in four groups, as follows:

Group A (Humanities)
Social Studies 30
30-level Language other than English.
Additional 30-level Language other than English

Note A: Any one of French 21, 20S, 20N, 30S, 30N, and 31, French Language Arts 20 and 30, Français 20 and 30, and Langue et Littérature 20 and 30, are considered to be equivalent to French 30 for admission purposes. In the case of French Language Arts 30, Français 30, and Langue et Littérature 30, advanced placement may be granted upon application.

Note B: German 30 or 31, Italian 30, Latin 30, Spanish 30, Ukrainian 30, Ukrainian Language Arts 20 or 30, or the approved locally developed courses Arabic 35, Hungarian 35, Swedish 35, Greek 35, German Literature 35, Polish 35, Spanish 35, Cree 35, Chinese 35, Japanese 35, and Hebrew 35 meet the Language other than English requirement.

Note C: Applicants wishing to present a language other than one of those presented at the Grade XII level in Alberta should contact the Admissions Division, Office of the Registrar.

Note D: Students seeking admission to the Business, Dental Hygiene, and Physical Therapy programs may present two of the following subjects in place of a Group A subject, provided Social Studies 30 is not also presented:
Experimental Psychology 30
World Religions 30
World Geography 30
Philosophies of Man 30
Microeconomics 30
Macroeconomics 30

Group B (Fine Arts)
Art 30
Art 31
Commercial Art 35
Visual Communications 32A, B, or C
Drama 30
Music 30
Music 31
Performing Arts 35A, B, or C

Note: Equivalents of Music 30 or 31: Western Board of Music, Grade VIII Practical and Grade IV Theory; Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, Grade VIII Practical, Grade II Theory, and Grade III Harmony. Documents must be presented to the Alberta Department of Education for evaluation.

Group C (Sciences)
Biology 30
Chemistry 30
Mathematics 30
Mathematics 31
Physics 30

Group D (Optional Subjects)
Students using a Group D subject for admission must present either one 5-credit D subject or any combination of two 3-credit D subjects.
Experimental Psychology 30
World Religions 30
World Geography 30
Philosophies of Man 30
Microeconomics 30
Macroeconomics 30
Clothing and Textiles 30
Food Studies 30
Personal Living Skills 30
Accounting 30
Law 30
Computer Processing 30
Basic Business 30
Business Education 30
Industrial Education 30A
Industrial Education 30B
Selected courses in Vocational Education 32
Religious Studies 35 (for approved Alberta Schools)

Note: The above-listed Grade XII subjects are based on the Alberta Department of Education curriculum and nomenclature. Prospective students from other provinces and territories should request the Interprovincial High School Equivalence Guide from the Student Access Centre, Office of the Registrar, University of Alberta, Edmonton, T6G 2M7.

13.4 Admission Requirements By Faculty

13.4.1 Agriculture and Forestry

I. BSc Programs in Agriculture, Food Science, and Forestry

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) Mathematics 30
(5) Subject from Group A, B, C, or D

II. BSc Program in Agricultural Engineering

See §13.4.6 (BSc in Engineering) for admission requirements.

III. BSc Program in Agricultural Business Management

Minimum Requirements:
Successful completion of the first year of the BSc Agriculture program with a GPA of at least 6.9.

IV. Pre-Veterinary Medicine Program

The pre-Veterinary Medicine program at the University of Alberta is designed to qualify students for admissi to the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine program at t University of Saskatchewan.

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) Chemistry 30
(5) Physics 30

13.4.2 Arts

I. BA, BA (Canadian Studies), BA (East Asian Studies)

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) 30-level Language other than English
(3) Subject from Group A or B (Social Studies 30 recommended)
(4) Subject from Group C
(5) Subject from Group A or C (or B, if a Group B subje is not used for (3) above).

Note A: Students intending to major in Mathematics Political Science, or Psychology are strongly recommende to offer Mathematics 30 as their fourth required subject.

Note B: Students intending to major in Economics ar strongly recommended to offer both Mathematics 30 and 31

Note C: Students intending to enter the BA (Honors in Mathematics are advised that Mathematics 31 is re quired.

Note D: Acceptance of a Native Language for Matric ulation in the Faculty of Arts — The Faculty of Arts accept proficiency in one of the Native languages as meeting the requirements of a language other than English. Proficien cy is measured either by a test, administered by the University, if such can be arranged, or by boards o examiners, appointed by the University.

Candidates, having passed the required test of a Native language, have their averages calculated upon the remaining four matriculation subjects, or if a Fine Arts course is presented (in which candidates must receive an "A" standing), on the remaining three.

II. BA with Honors

Minimum Requirements:
Applicants must successfully complete one full year of an approved BA program, or its equivalent, at an accredited institution. Usually students must achieve an overall GPA of 6.5 to 7.0, with an average of 7.0 in courses in the area of specialization.

III. BA (Criminology)

Minimum Requirements:
Successful completion of the five matriculation subjects as required for the BA (see above), plus the successful completion of the first 30 units of course weight of the University of Alberta BA, or its equivalent at an accredited institution. Students are strongly advised to include English 101, Sociology 100, Psychology 104 and 105, and a Language other than English in their first year.

Other Requirements:
(1) A minimum GPA of 6.0 on the most recent 30 units of course weight.
(2) Two letters of reference attesting to ability and suitability for employment in the criminal justice system.
(3) A resumé of personal data, particularly volunteer or work experience in the criminal justice system.
(4) A written statement of career objectives.
(5) Applicants are required to attend an interview.

IV. BFA (Art and Design) Program

Minimum Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) to (5) Any four of: Social Studies 30, a 30-level Language other than English, Biology 30, Chemistry 30, Physics 30, Mathematics 30 or 31, one approved Fine Arts subject.

Note A: Because enrollment is necessarily limited and because the studies in this interpretive-creative field involve highly specialized training, candidates will be required to satisfy a Selection Committee that they have the necessary ability and degree of commitment to undertake the program. The Selection Committee will base its ecision upon the evidence derived from an assessment f any course that may have been taken and work done by he candidate, and the testimony of his or her teachers. ssessment may include a special examination and an nterview.

Note B: As the submission of a portfolio is necessary, andidates are encouraged to apply as early as January 1. Since the assessment of portfolios takes place in the eriod May 1 to June 30, portfolios must be received not ater than May 1.

Note C: Enquiries regarding the detailed artistic requirements for admission to this program should be directed n the first instance to: the Department of Art and Design, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2C9; Telephone (403) 492-3261.

V. BFA (Drama) Program in Acting

Minimum Requirements:

(1) Successful completion of one year of an approved BA Program (or its equivalent) at an accredited institution;
OR
successful completion of two years (60 units of course weight) of a non-BA degree program at an accredited institution.
(2) Successful completion of audition requirements.

Note A: The nature of the study of acting is such that students should ideally possess some knowledge and understanding of the liberal arts. While degree programs offering concentration in areas other than the liberal arts, (e.g, Science, Business, etc.) will be evaluated without prejudice to the applicant, university credits in Humanities, Social Sciences, and Fine Arts provide a more satisfactory background for the study of acting.

Note B: Because enrollment is necessarily limited and because the studies in this interpretive-creative field involve highly specialized training, candidates will be required to satisfy a Selection Committee that they have the necessary ability and degree of commitment to undertake the program. The Selection Committee will base its decision upon the evidence derived from an assessment of any courses in drama that may have been taken by the candidates, the testimony of their teachers, experience in dramatic work, and an interview and audition at a centre to be arranged.

Note C: Candidates must apply to the Department of Drama not later than January 11 for an audition. Auditions are normally conducted outside Alberta in mid-February, and following that period in Edmonton. Application to the University should be made subsequent to successful completion of the audition and before June 1.

Note D: Enquiries regarding the artistic requirements for admission to this program should be directed in the first instance to: Department of Drama, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2C9; Telephone (403) 492-2271.

Note E: The successful completion of one year of a BA or two years of another degree program at an accredited institution guarantees waiver of relative or absolute matriculation deficiency except where the deficiency is in English 30 or its equivalent.

VI. BFA (Drama) Program in Design

Minimum Requirements:

(1) Successful completion of a minimum of 30 units of course weight of an approved BA Program (or its equivalent) at an accredited institution;
OR
Successful completion of two years (60 units of course weight) of a non-BA degree program at an accredited institution.
(2) Successful completion of portfolio and submission of an assigned design project.

Note A: The nature of the study of Design is such that students should ideally possess some knowledge and understanding of the Liberal Arts. While Degree Programs offering concentration in areas other than the Liberal Arts (eg. Science, Engineering, etc.), will be evaluated without prejudice to the applicant, university credits in Humanities, Social Sciences, and Fine Arts provide a more satisfactory background for the study of Design.

Note B: Because enrollment is necessarily limited and because the studies in this interpretive/creative field involve highly specialized training, candidates will be required to satisfy a Selection Committee that they have the necessary ability, artistic skills and commitment to undertake the program. The Selection Committee will base its decision upon an assessment of the candidate's portfolio, submission of an assigned design project, testimony of three referees, and an interview (when feasible).

Note C: A Portfolio should consist of any evidence of the candidate's skills in visual communication (eg. drawing, painting, drafting, photography, arts and crafts, graphic arts).

Note D: Candidates must contact the Department of Drama, in writing, not later than April 1. (Early application is encouraged.) Application to the University should be made subsequent to successful completion of the selection process and before June 1.

Note E: Enquiries regarding the professional requirements for admission to this program should be directed in the first instance to: Department of Drama, 3-146 Fine Arts Centre, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2C9; Telephone (403) 492-2271.

Note F: Applicants who have successfully completed the minimum 30 units of course weight of an approved BA Program, or two years (60 units of course weight) of another degree program at an approved institution, must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Faculty why they should be allowed waiver of matriculation deficiencies. (English 30 or its equivalent cannot be waived.)

Artistic Requirements:

Every prospective BFA (Drama) Design student must submit a portfolio which indicates his or her ability. We will consider anything the applicant considers interesting, exciting, or appropriate (i.e.: painting, drawing, or photos of craftwork or high school drama work).

The Selection Committee encourages every applicant to come for an interview so that he or she can view the facilities, meet the instructors, and gain a first hand impression of the day-to-day workings of the Drama Department.

Those students who live in other parts of Canada and wish to know more about a possible interview should write to: Department of Drama, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2C9; Telephone: (403) 492-2271.

VII. BMus Program

Matriculation Subjects:

(1) English 30
(2) 30-level language other than English
(3) to (5) Any three of: Social Studies 30, a second 30-level Language other than English, Biology 30, Chemistry 30, Physics 30, Mathematics 30 or 31, one approved Fine Arts subject.

Other requirements:

(1) Audition
(2) Theory Placement Exam
(3) Aural Skills Test

Note A: Because enrollment is necessarily limited and because the study in this interpretive-creative field involves highly specialized education, applicants will be required to demonstrate an adequate measure of musical ability to begin study in the degree program. An audition committee will base its admission recommendation upon consideration of applicants' musical background and goals as discussed during the audition, which will include musical performance. The Department's admission recommendation to the Faculty of Arts will take into account the report of the audition committee as well as the results of departmentally administered aural and music rudiments examinations.

Note B: Candidates are encouraged to apply as early as January 1, even though applications will be received until June 1. Candidates are required to apply to the Department of Music for an admission audition prior to May 15.

Note C: Enquiries regarding the artistic requirements for admission to this program should be directed in the first instance to: the Department of Music, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2C9; Telephone (403) 492-3263.

13.4.3 Business

BCom Program

Matriculation Subjects:

(1) English 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) One of: Biology 30, Chemistry 30, or Physics 30
(4) Subject from Group A (Social Studies 30 recommended)
(5) Subject from Group A, B, or C

13.4.4 Dentistry

I. Dental Hygiene Diploma

Matriculation Subjects:

(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) Subject from Group A or C
(5) Subject from Group A or C

Note A: Two subjects from Group A are acceptable provided that they are not both Languages other than English.

Note B: Mathematics 33 will be accepted as one of the optional subjects, provided Mathematics 30 is not also presented. Beginning in September 1992, however, Mathematics 33 will not be accepted for admission.

Note C: Further information is given in §62.1.4 of this Calendar.

II. Doctor of Dental Surgery Program

Minimum Requirements:

Satisfactory completion of at least two full years (i.e.: 60 units of course weight) of university work after high school matriculation, including full-courses in Inorganic Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, Physics, and Biology. (30 units of course weight must be taken during one academic year.) In general, consideration for admission will be given to those students who meet the minimum criteria established by the admissions committee at the time of selection. All applicants will be required to take the Canadian Dental Association Aptitude Test. A personal interview is also a requirement for admission. For further details see §62.1 of this Calendar.

13.4.5 Education

I. BEd Programs
Year I — Elementary Education
Secondary Education
Industrial Arts
Vocational Education

Matriculation Subjects:

(1) English 30 (with a grade of at least 60%)
(2) Subject from Group A or C
(3) Subject from Group A or C
(4) Subject from Group A or C
(5) Subject from Group A, B, C, or D

Other Requirements:

Speech Screen

All students entering the Faculty expecting to complete teacher certification requirements must:

(1) Complete the speech screen during the first term of registration as a full-time student in the Faculty. Students who do not comply with this regulation will not be permitted to register again for Intersession or Winter Session until the speech screen has been completed.
(2) Continue working toward improvement as specified by the Speech Clinic Director until clearance is received.
(3) Secure speech clearance as a prerequisite to Phase III of the practicum requirement, i.e., any one of ED PR 330, 352, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 370. (Students are encouraged to complete the speech clearance procedure prior to Phase II practicum.)

Note A: Applicants for the Secondary Education Route: Applicants are advised to present those Grade XII subjects basic to the subject area in which they plan to specialize.

Note B: Additional Subject Requirements for Vocational Education. In addition to the above noted academic admission requirements, the student must present evidence of current competency in one of the following subject areas:

Autobody, Automotives, Beauty Culture, Building Construction, Business, Drafting, Electricity, Electronics, Food Preparation, Graphic Arts, Health Services, Horticulture, Machine Shop, Piping, Sheet Metal, Visual Communications, and Welding. (Note: Admission may be limited within some subject areas.)

Normally, documentation of at least a four-year training period, appropriate Journeyman's Certificate, or equivalent, and letters of reference are required.

Equivalency is determined by the following: relevant documents, letters of reference, and, in the case of Business applicants, a documented typing speed of not less than 55 words net per minute (on a five-minute typing test with not more than eight errors).

II. BEd Programs
Year 2 — Industrial Arts
Vocational Education
Year 3 — Elementary Education
Secondary Education

Admission to Year 2 of the Industrial Arts and Vocational Education Routes, and admission to Year 3 of the Elementary and Secondary Education routes, is competitive and will be granted to the most qualified applicants based primarily on CGPA (cumulative grade point average).

Other requirements:

Applicants are also required to provide documented previous experience with children or youth, two letters of reference, and a focused written statement. A personal interview may be required.

Note: See §72.1.2 for further details.

Aboriginal Students

The Faculty of Education is committed to the encouragement of Aboriginal students' study toward the Bachelor of Education degree. The Faculty of Education recognizes that Aboriginal applicants (including status and non-status Indians, Inuit, and Metis) have traditionally been underrepresented in the teaching field, and in order to assist more Aboriginal students to achieve education degrees, the Admissions Committee will consider naming an additional 20 qualified applicants over and above the Aboriginal students who may be admitted in the regular Faculty quota. Aboriginal students who wish to be considered for these 20 places must attain the minimum admission requirements of their chosen route.

III. BEd/BSc Combined Program

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30 (with grade of at least 60%)
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) and (4) Two of: Biology 30, Chemistry 30, Physics 30, or Mathematics 31
(5) A subject from Group A, B, C, or D (Group C subject recommended)

IV. BPE/BEd Combined Program

See §13.4.14(III)

V. BEd After Degree Program

Admission to the BEd After Degree program is based upon the presentation of an approved degree which contains preparation relevant to teaching in the elementary or secondary school. For further information see §73.8 of this Calendar.

13.4.6 Engineering

BSc Program in Engineering

Matriculation Subjects
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Mathematics 30
(4) Mathematics 31
(5) Physics 30

13.4.7 Home Economics

I. BSc Program in Clothing and Textiles

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Mathematics 30
(4) Subject from Group A or C (Social Studies 30 recommended)
(5) Subject from Group A, B, or C

See note below.

II. BSc Program in Family Studies

Matriculation Subjects:

(1) General Home Economics Route:
English 30
Chemistry 30
Mathematics 30
Subject from Group A or C (Social Studies 30 recommended)
Subject from Group A, B, or C

(2) General Family Studies Route:
English 30
Chemistry 30
Mathematics 30
Biology 30
Subject from Group A, or B, or C

See note below.

III. BSc Program in Foods and Nutrition

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Mathematics 30
(4) Biology 30
(5) Subject from Group A, B, or C

See note below.

Note: For all programs above, Food Studies 30 or Clothing and Textiles 30 may be presented in place of one subject from Group B. For the Clothing and Textiles programs, Clothing and Textiles 30 is recommended. Students entering this program without the equivalent of Clothing and Textiles 20 will be expected to demonstrate certain competencies before entering CL TX 301. For further information contact the Administrative Assistant, Room 115, Home Economics Building.

13.4.8 Law

LLB Program

Minimum Requirements:

To be considered for admission to the LLB program, a candidate must normally have completed a degree recognized by the University of Alberta. For this purpose, successful completion of three years of a four-year Bachelor of Arts or Science program at a recognized Alberta university is acceptable. In special circumstances, the Committee will consider applications from prospective students who do not possess a degree but have completed not less than two years of postsecondary studies that would be accepted for credit at a university in Alberta. In this instance candidates must present evidence of outstanding academic ability.

All applicants are required to complete the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) and submit a resumé.

For further information regarding admission, consult §102 of this Calendar.

For information regarding the combined MBA/LLB program or MPM/LLB program see §101.3(4), 101.3(5), 103.3.2, 103.3.3 and 204.43.3 of this Calendar.

13.4.9 Library and Information Studies

MLIS Program

For admission to the MLIS Program refer to §112.2.1 and §204.44 of this Calendar.

13.4.10 Medicine

I. MD Program

(1) Academic Requirements: All students considering Medicine must register in a degree program and maintain good standing in that program. Irrespective of the degree program, the student must take courses in the following core subjects:
a. Six units of course weight in each of:
Inorganic Chemistry
Organic Chemistry
Physics
Biology (including BOT 199 and ZOOL 120 at the University of Alberta)
English
b. Three units of course weight in:
Statistics

Note: BIOL 110, GENET 165, MICRB 101, PHYS 169 and 171, and any Astronomy course at the University of Alberta will not be recognized by the Faculty of Medicine as core subjects for admission purposes.

Students are encouraged to obtain a baccalaureate degree prior to admission, but may apply after two or three years in a degree program. To be considered for early selection, a student must have all the prerequisites as well as exceptional academic standing (minimum GPA of 8.0) and personal qualifications. It is recommended that students who wish to be considered for early selection to the Faculty of Medicine be enrolled in an Honors program. Students should ensure that the above prerequisites are completed and that at least two years consist of a minimum of 30 units of course weight per year.

(2) Scholastic Standing: Consideration for admission will be given only to students who have obtained an over-all average of at least 7.0 in at least two of the preceding years of full-time (30 units of course weight) university study.

(3) Personal Requirements: While admission to the MD program is granted mainly on the basis of academic performance, the lack of essential personal qualities in an applicant may be deemed sufficient cause for refusal of admission.

(4) Interview: Applicants will be required to present themselves for a personal interview at the discretion of the Admissions Committee. Closed letters of reference and a personal descriptive letter may also be required, again at the discretion of the Admissions Committee. Failure to provide these by March 1st, may result in closure of the applicant's file.

(5) Residence Requirement: Priority for admission is given to students who are Canadian citizens or Permanent Residents (Landed Immigrants) and residents of Alberta. As stated in §13.1.2 of this Calendar a limited number of places are made available to applicants who do not meet these requirements.

(6) Medical College Admission Test: All applicants are required to take the New Medical College Admission Test. This test is conducted in Edmonton by the Examinations and Timetabling Division of the Registrar's Office in the spring and fall of each year. An application to take this test must be sent directly to the American College Testing Program, P.O. Box 414, Iowa City, Iowa 52243, U.S.A. four weeks before the date of the test. Details and application forms may be obtained from the Office of the Associate Dean (Student Affairs), 2J211 WC Mackenzie Health Sciences Centre or from the Student Access Centre, Main Floor, Administration Building. The applicant must direct the American College Testing Program (MCAT) to forward results directly to the Faculty of Medicine or deliver these results by mail or personally to the Admission Office by December 31. Failure to do so will result in closure of the applicant's file.

(7) Test of Spoken English (TSE): All applicants who are required to submit the results of the TOEFL must also submit the results of the TSE with a minimum score of 200. For further information contact the Examinations and Timetabling Division, Office of the Registrar, 120 Administration Building, University of Alberta.

(8) Application Deadlines: Students should make application to the Office of the Registrar by November 1 of the year prior to that for which admission is sought. Late applications cannot be accepted.

(9) Physical Examination: Students admitted to the MD program must present a certificate of satisfactory medical examination from a physician of the University Health Services.

(10) Length of Program: Applicants should be aware of the total length of time required to obtain a medical degree and following this a license to practice. The usual time is a minimum of two years of pre-medical, four years of medical studies at which point the MD degree is awarded, and then two years of prelicensure internship.

(11) Deposit: Applicants will be advised of the decision of the Admissions Committee in early July. Successful applicants, upon acceptance of a place in the first-year class, are required to send a deposit to the Comptroller of the University of Alberta. This deposit will be credited to tuition fees when the student registers. Should a candidate withdraw after accepting a position this deposit will be forfeited.

(12) Native Applicants:
a. In addition to the regular quota positions, up to two additional positions per year are available in the MD program for qualified students of Native ancestry within the meaning of the Constitutional Act of 1982, Section 35, Part 2.
b. Native students interested in this program are encouraged to contact the Coordinator, Native Health Careers, Faculty of Medicine, for individual counselling and career planning.

(13) The attention of applicants is drawn to the regulations set out in §13.2.3 of this Calendar.

II. BSc Program in Medical Laboratory Science

Matriculation Subjects
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) One of: Physics 30 or Mathematics 30
(5) Subject from Group A, C, or D

Note A: Interview: An applicant is required to have a personal interview (if living within 400 km) or to submit acceptable references before the application can be considered complete. Suitable personality, communication skills, general health, and knowledge of the field are also considered.

Note B: English Language Proficiency: Applicants who are normally required to submit a satisfactory TOEFL score must also submit a Test of Spoken English (TSE) score of 200 or better.

13.4.11 Native Studies

BA (Native Studies)

Matriculation Subjects
(1) English 30
(2) 30-level Language other than English
(3) Subject from Group A or B (Social Studies 30 recommended)
(4) Subject from Group C
(5) Subject from Group A, C, or D (or B, if Group B subject is not used for 3 above)

Note A: Students should be aware that Mathematics 30 is a prerequisite to many university courses and is strongly recommended.

Note B: Students who wish to present a native language to fulfill the Language Other than English requirement should contact the School prior to admission for further information about the standards required and testing.

Note C: Students who are not able to present a language other than English may be admitted on the basis of five other appropriate Grade XII subjects but will be required to take an introductory (Grade XII equivalent) language course in their first year. This course will be extra to their regular program. Satisfactory completion of this course in the first year is required before the student can continue in the second year of the program.

13.4.12 Nursing

I. BScN Program

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) One of: Mathematics 30 or 31, or Physics 30
(5) Subject from Group A, B, C, or D

Other Requirements:
Upon receipt of the application form, the Registrar's Office will send every applicant three reference forms and a questionnaire with instructions regarding their use. The reference forms and the questionnaire must be completed and returned to the Faculty by May 15.

II. BScN Program for Registered Nurses

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) One of: Mathematics 30 or 31, or Physics 30
(5) Subject from Group A, B, C, or D

Postsecondary Subject Requirements:
(1) Completion of six units of course weight in an Introductory Psychology course.
(2) Completion of six units of course weight in an Introductory Physiology course.

Other Requirements:
(1) Application for Admission or Application for Readmission Form;
(2) Two letters of reference;
(3) Graduate Nurse Information Form;
(4) Official transcripts of:
   a. high school education,
   b. diploma nursing program,
   c. any other postsecondary work completed;
(5) Proof of current active registration as described in §142.1.3, Note B below.
(6) Record of immunization status.

Note A: Applicants must be Registered Nurses from approved schools of nursing, and must provide evidence of eligibility for registration in the AARN or evidence of current registration or licensure in another Canadian jurisdiction. Foreign students must provide evidence of (a) current registration in another jurisdiction, and (b) graduation from a general nursing program considered equivalent by the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses to an approved School of Nursing in Alberta at the time the program was taken.

Note B: Deadlines for completion of application files are February 15 and May 15. Those files completed before February 15 will be considered by the Admission Committee shortly after that date; those completed later will be considered shortly after May 15. A completed application file includes all of the following listed in (1) to (6) above.

Note C: Please see §142.1 of this Calendar for further information.

13.4.13 Faculty of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences

BSc Program in Pharmacy

Minimum Requirements:
A minimum of 30 units of course weight, including courses in Inorganic Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, Calculus, Statistics, and Microbiology. For students attending the University of Alberta the appropriate courses are noted below:

Six units of course weight in each of:
CHEM 100 or 104 or 204
CHEM 160 or 260
ENGL 101
Three units of course weight in each of:
MATH 113 or 114
MICRB 193
STAT 237 or 141
Elective*

*Students who register in the Faculty of Science in order to complete the Pre-Pharmacy Program must choose this elective from among 100-level courses titled Biology, Botany, Entomology, Genetics, Geography, Geology, Psychology, or Zoology in order to meet Faculty of Science requirements.

Other Requirements:
Applicants must submit a letter with their application for admission setting forth their career goals, knowledge of the profession, related experience, and reasons for seeking admission to the Faculty of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences.

13.4.14 Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation

I. BA in Recreation Administration

Minimum Requirements:
Successful completion of one full year of university study (i.e.: 30 units of course weight). Courses taken must include courses in Sociology, Psychology, Political Science or Economics, Philosophy, Physical Geography, and 15 units of course weight in optional Arts and Science courses. Please see §162.1.3 of this Calendar for further information.

Note A: Students taking the first-year BA (AR20) program in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Alberta should note specific requirements for the program including the language other than English requirement.

Note B: Alternative to the preprofessional year. If the preprofessional year is not of university study, a student must submit a completed two-year diploma in Recreation and Leisure Studies, or a related field from an accredited public or private college, in order to obtain advanced standing for the preprofessional year.

Note C: For further information see §162.1.3 of this Calendar.

Admission to Year 2 from Red Deer College
Students who are admitted into Year 2 of the program, after having successfully completed a preprofessional year and Year 1 at Red Deer College, must have completed the same course requirements and have met the same promotional standards as those that are required of students enrolled in Year 1 of the program at the University of Alberta. For further information see §162.1.3 of this Calendar.

II. BPE Program

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Subject from Group A or C
(3) Subject from Group A or C
(4) Subject from Group C
(5) Subject from Group B, C, D, or Physical Education 30

(Only one Language other than English will be accepted for admission)

Note A: All applicants must complete a personal profile questionnaire as provided by the Department of Physical Education and Sport Studies, and submit a medical report from their personal physician or University Health Services.

Note B: Admission to the BPE program is granted largely on the basis of academic standing; however, satisfactory personal qualities, leadership, good communication skills, and good health are also considered in the selection process. Therefore, a personal interview may be required, and the interview may be used as the basis for refusal of admission.

Note C: Admission will be refused to students who have had to write an inordinate number of examinations. For the purposes of admission, inordinate is defined as three or more examination attempts on any one course or three or more courses used for admission in which the student has attempted two or more examinations.

Note D: Applicants may be required to complete a Faculty fitness test.

III. BPE/BEd Combined Program

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30 (with a grade of at least 60%)
(2) Physical Education 30 or a subject from Group B, C, or D
(3) Subject from Group A or C
(4) Subject from Group A or C
(5) Subject from Group C

Note: The first three years of this program are taken in the Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation. The final two years are taken in the Faculty of Education. Prospective students should note that admission to Year 3 in the Faculty of Education will be on a competitive basis.

13.4.15 Faculty of Rehabilitation Medicine

I. BSc Program in Occupational Therapy

Minimum Requirements:
All applicants to the BScOT program must have satisfactorily completed one year of study (30 units of course weight at the introductory 100-level or above) at a university or college. Courses taken in this preprofessional year must include the following University of Alberta courses, or their equivalents: OCCTH 106* and 107*, PSYCO 104 and 105; and one full laboratory science course.

*These courses are offered during both Winter Session and Intersession, Spring-Term only at the University of Alberta.

Note A: The remaining courses should be selected keeping in mind:
(1) the requirements of the Faculty in which the student is enrolled;
(2) an alternate course of study if application to Occupational Therapy is unsuccessful; and
(3) preparation for future coursework - English, Chemistry, and Physics are strongly recommended.

Note B: While students may complete the preprofessional year in any Faculty, the Faculty of Science is recommended because:
(1) these entrance requirements will ensure a strong science background;
(2) OCCTH 106/107 are accepted for credit toward a BSc (General) degree.

Post-diploma degree completion program.

See §172.1.2 of this Calendar.

II. BSc Program in Physical Therapy

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Physics 30
(4) Subject from Group A or C (Biology 30 recommended)
(5) Subject from Group A, B, or C (Chemistry 30 recommended)

Note A: Prospective students should note that an interview is required for admission. For further information please refer to §172.1.3 of this Calendar.

Post-diploma degree completion program.

See §172.1.3 of this Calendar.

13.4.16 Faculté Saint-Jean

Students wishing to register in Faculté Saint-Jean must present a minimum average of 70% on five appropriate Grade XII high school subjects, including a minimum grade of 70% in French 30, French 30S, or French 30N, or equivalent; or a minimum average of 65% on five appropriate Grade XII high school subjects, including Français 30, French Language Arts 30, Langue et Littérature 30, or equivalent.

Note A: An applicant presenting five subjects appropriate for admission to the University may be admitted with a deficiency in English 30 which can be cleared during the duration of the program. An applicant with more than one deficiency will not be admissible.

Note B: BEd and BSc applicants are advised to present matriculation subjects that are basic to their intended area of specialization.

Note C: BEd applicants may not present a fifth subject of matriculation from the same field as any of the first four subjects, except where the subject used as one of the first four subjects is a prerequisite or corequisite for the fifth.

Note D: The BEd programs are designed for students wishing to teach in all schools, but particularly in those schools where French is the language of instruction.

I. BA Program (taught in French)

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) French 30 or 31, Français 30, French Language Arts 30, or Langue et Littérature 30
(2) English 30
(3) Subject from Group A or B (Social Studies 30 recommended)
(4) Subject from Group C (Mathematics 30 recommended)
(5) Subject from Group A or C

II. BEd Program (taught in French)

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) French 30 or 31, Français 30, French Language Arts 30, or Langue et Littérature 30
(2) English 30
(3) Subject from Group A or C
(4) Subject from Group A or C
(5) Another Grade XII subject carrying a weight of five credits

III. BEd/BSc Combined Program

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) French 30, 31, Français 30, French Language Arts 30
(2) Mathematics 30, or Langue et Littérature 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) Subject from Group C
(5) Subject from Group C

IV. BSc Program (taught in French)

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) French 30 or 31, Français 30, French Language Arts 30, or Langue et Littérature 30
(2) English 30
(3) Mathematics 30
(4) Subject from Group C
(5) Subject from Group C

Note for Quebec Students: The first year of the general CEGEP program is considered equivalent to Alberta Grade XII. Students with two years of CEGEP may receive advance credit.

13.4.17 Faculty of Science

I. BSc (General) Programs

Matriculation Subjects:
(1) English 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Subject from Group C
(4) Subject from Group C
(5) Subject from Group A or B or C

Note: Because of the large number of programs offered in the Faculty of Science, recommendations regarding choice of optional subjects will be found in §192.2 of this Calendar.

II. BSc (Specialization)

Note A: Students must present an average of 75% on the five appropriate subjects for admission to the Specialization program.

Note B: Students wishing to enter Specialization programs are urged to consult §193.1.2 of this Calendar.

III. BSc (Honors)

Note A: Students must present an average of 80% on the five appropriate subjects for admission to the Honors program.

Note B: Students wishing to enter Honors programs are urged to consult §193.1.1 of this Calendar.

IV. BEd/BSc Combined Program

See §13.4.5 for detailed requirements.

V. Pre-Pharmacy Program

Students who plan to complete the preprofessional requirements for Pharmacy must present the following:

(1) English 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Chemistry 30
(4) Biology 30
(5) Subject from Group A or B or C

VI. Preprofessional Programs in Dentistry, Medicine, and Optometry

Students who plan to complete the preprofessional requirements for these programs must present the following:

(1) English 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Chemistry 30
(4) Physics 30
(5) Biology 30

13.4.18 International Baccalaureate Students

I. Admission

Admission to the University of Alberta, for high school students who are enrolled in the IB program, will be based on the higher of: either the high school grade or the IB grade. In those cases where the IB grades are not available at the time of admission selections the high school grade will be used.

The grade conversion scale that will be used to determine admission is as follows:

IB Grade		Alberta % Equivalent

13.5 Admission for Out-of-Province High School Students

Students from another province in Canada who have successfully completed work at the level shown below will be considered for admission to the University of Alberta, subject to the requirements of the Faculty as outlined in preceding sections.

British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan
Grade XII graduation.

Ontario
Grade XIII graduation, or OAC level.

Newfoundland
Grade XII graduation, or successful completion of one year at Memorial University.

Quebec
Successful completion of the first year of the CEGEP academic program with satisfactory performance in appropriate subjects.

Note: Students who do not possess these requirements may clear deficiencies by completing appropriate Alberta Grade XII subjects.

For information on provincial equivalents to specific Alberta Grade XII courses, the Interprovincial High School Equivalence Guide is available from the Student Access Centre, Office of the Registrar, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2M7.

13.6 Admission from Outside Canada

For admission information on undergraduate programs, International students should contact the Admissions Division, Office of the Registrar, 201 Administration Building, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2M7.

For information on graduate programs, applicants should contact the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, 2-8 University Hall, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2E1.

13.6.1 Admission from the United States

Applicants from the United States may be considered for admission if they present a full academic high school program including three consecutive years of study in the appropriate subjects and Grade XII standing. See §13.4 for specific Faculty and program requirements. The minimum overall average on the required subjects must be at least 70%. See §13.2.4.

13.6.2 Admission from the United Kingdom and Commonwealth Countries which follow the British System of Education

Applicants must present external examination results in General Certificate of Education Examinations, or their equivalents. Acceptable certificates include the Hong Kong Certificate of Education Examination, Hong Kong Advanced Level Examination, Singapore-Cambridge School Certificate Examination, Malaysia Certificate of Education, West African School Certificate, Kenya School Certificate, Higher School Certificate, etc.

For most programs, acceptable grades in five General rtificate of Education external examinations are re- red with at least two at the Advanced Level, and three erent ones at the Ordinary Level. However, the Facul- s of Business, Engineering, and Science require three vanced Level subjects. A minimum overall average in B range, or the equivalent of 70% must be presented the required subjects. See §13.2.4.

Note A: Chemistry at the Advanced Level or Principal andard is required for admission to the Faculties of riculture and Forestry, Engineering, Home Economics, d Nursing, the Diploma program in Dental Hygiene; and Bachelor of Science degree program in Medical Labo- tory Science.

Note B: Mathematics at the Advanced Level or Prin- al Standard is required for admission to the Faculties of riculture and Forestry, Business, Engineering, Rehabil- tion Medicine, and Science.

Note C: Physics at the Advanced Level or Principal andard is required for admission to the Faculty of gineering.

Note D: The Faculty of Science requires Advanced vel Mathematics and two further Advanced Level pure iences. The specific science subjects required would ary according to the area of specialization.

3.6.3 Admission from Australia and New Zealand

An applicant must present an Australian or New ealand leaving or Matriculation Certificate or University ntrance Examination in the specified subjects for a aculty or program as noted in §13.4 to 13.19. The inimum overall average on the required subjects must be 0% for most programs. See §13.2.4.

3.6.4 Admission from Other Countries

Applicants educated in other countries will be consid- red for admission on the basis of a matriculation certificate quivalent to Alberta secondary school standards with the ppropriate required subjects for a Faculty or program as oted in §13.4.

The minimum overall average required for most pro- grams is 70% or the equivalent. See §13.2.4.

Note: §13.7 reserved.

13.8 Admission of Non-Matriculated Applicants

The University of Alberta gives special consideration to Non-Matriculated Applicants for admission to undergraduate programs listed below. To be considered for admission as a Non-Matriculated Applicant (NMA) a student must be 24 years of age or older by the first day of classes of the session in which admission is sought, and be domiciled in Alberta, the Yukon, or the Northwest Territories for at least 12 months prior to the first day of classes of the session in which admission is sought.

NMAs must normally complete specific Alberta Grade XII courses (or equivalents) appropriate to each Faculty with a grade of at least 50% in each required course and an overall average of 65%. There is a limit on the number of NMAs accepted into each program, hence, there is no guarantee that a candidate who meets the minimum criteria will be accepted into the program. Students will be considered on the basis of their academic merit and interview results where applicable. Notwithstanding the basis of admission, all students, after they are admitted, have the same rights, privileges, and responsibilities.

The application deadlines for NMAs are the same as for high school applicants (see §14.2 of this Calendar).

Note A: Non-matriculated applicants are not considered for admission to Medical Laboratory Science or Rehabilitation Medicine.

Note B: In those cases where an applicant is asked to complete an interview with Student Counselling Services, this interview can be arranged by telephoning (403) 492-5205 between 8:30 am and 4:00 pm weekdays or by writing to Student Counselling Services, Room 102, Athabasca Hall, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2E8.

13.8.1 Agriculture and Forestry

Subject Requirements:
(1) Chemistry 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Biology 30

Other Requirements:

An interview with the Associate Dean

I. Pre-Veterinary Medicine

Subject Requirements:
(1) Chemistry 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Biology 30
(4) Physics 30

Other Requirements:

An interview with the Associate Dean

13.8.2 Arts

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30 or six units of course weight in a transferable English course at the 100-level
OR
a "satisfactory" grade on the Writing Competence Test

13.8.6 Engineering

Subject Requirements:
(1) Chemistry 30
(2) Mathematics 30
(3) Mathematics 31
(4) Physics 30

Other Requirements:
A mark of at least 70% in each subject

13.8.7 Home Economics

I. Clothing and Textiles

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Mathematics 30

II. Family Studies

(A) General Route

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30

(B) Family Studies Route

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Biology 30

Note: Mathematics 30 is a required prerequisite course for Family Studies.

III. Foods and Nutrition

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Mathematics 30
(4) Biology 30

Other Requirements for all Programs:

An interview

13.8.8 School of Native Studies

See §132 for details.

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) Subject from Group A or C

Other Requirements:
An interview with the Director of the School

13.8.9 Nursing

I. Basic Program

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30
(3) Biology 30

Other Requirements:
(1) Questionnaire
(2) Two letters of reference

II. Post-Basic Program

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30
(2) Chemistry 30

Other Requirements:
(1) Graduate Nurse Information Form
(2) Two letters of reference
(3) Applicants must be Registered Nurses from approved Schools of Nursing, and must provide evidence of eligibility for registration in the AARN or evidence of current registration or license in another Canadian jurisdiction.

13.8.10 Physical Education

Subject Requirements:
(1) English 30 (with a minimum grade of 60%)
(2) Subject from Group A or C (Biology 30 recommended)

Other Requirements:
(1) an interview
(2) a leadership and activity background questionnaire
(3) a medical examination report

13.8.11 Faculté Saint-Jean

Subject Requirements for all Programs:
(1) French 20S, French 20N, French 21, French 30, French 31, Langue et Littérature 20 or 30, or Français 20 or 30, French Language Arts 20 or 30, or demonstration of an equivalent level of competence in French.
(2) Applicants for the BA and BEd programs must also present one of: Social Studies 30, Biology 30, Chemistry 30, Physics 30, Mathematics 30 or 31, or their equivalents.
(3) Applicants for the BEd/BSc program must also present Mathematics 30, Biology 30, and one of: Chemistry 30 or Physics 30.
(4) Applicants for the BSc program must also present Mathematics 30 (or equivalent) and two subjects from Group C (or equivalent).

Note: Applicants for the BEd program should contact the Associate Dean, Faculté Saint-Jean, to arrange for an interview.

13.8.12 Science

Subject Requirements:
(1) Mathematics 30
(2) Two subjects from Group C

Other Requirements:
An average of 70% on the three required subjects.

Note: Applicants are advised to contact the Faculty of Science regarding choice of the Group C (science) subjects.

13.9 Admission on Transfer from Postsecondary Institutions

Students seeking admission to a degree or diploma program at the University of Alberta must have successfully completed the matriculation requirements of that program, as specified by the Faculty that offers the program. While Alberta Education is the only agency that certifies successful completion of these matriculation requirements, the University recognizes that there are other ways in which students may meet them - for example, by taking suitable programs of study in postsecondary institutions in the Province.

The University of Alberta, while supporting the traditional role of the high schools in the Province in preparing students for university entrance, recognizes that suitable preparation for university studies is offered by other postsecondary institutions in Alberta.

13.9.1 Transfer from Colleges and Universities

(1) Students seeking admission to the University of Alberta, who have not met the appropriate high school matriculation requirements, (i.e., the 70% admission average and/or the 5 required Grade XII subjects) on first admission to another postsecondary program, will continue to be eligible for admission to the University if they have:

a. successfully completed at least 30 units of course weight transferable to the University of Alberta;

b. maintained a satisfactory academic standing as defined by the admitting Faculty; and

c. met all other admission criteria (i.e., specific program admission requirements, English Language Proficiency, audition, portfolio, questionnaire, references, etc).

Note: This is interpreted to mean that applicants must meet the same requirements for promotion as students currently in the program for which application is being made. These are set out in the respective Faculty sections of the Calendar.

Such students must have successfully completed, through high school or university transfer coursework, the five required matriculation subject areas specified for admission to the particular degree program to which the student has applied.

(2) Students seeking admission to the University of Alberta who have met the appropriate high school matriculation requirements on first admission to another postsecondary program, will continue to be eligible for admission to the University if they have:

a. maintained a satisfactory academic standing as defined by the admitting Faculty;

Note: This is interpreted to mean that applicants must meet the same requirements for promotion as students currently in the program for which application is being made. These are set out in the respective Faculty sections of the Calendar.

b. met all other admission criteria (i.e., specific program admission requirements, English Language Proficiency, audition, portfolio, questionnaire, references, etc).

Note A: Where the applicant has more than one passing grade for the same course at the previous institution, only the first passing grade will be used in calculating the grade point average(s) for the purpose of admission.

Note B: In either (1) or (2) above, transfer credit will be granted for each course that is transferable to the University of Alberta provided that the grade achieved is at least a 4 (or its equivalent) and the course is applicable to the specific program to which the student has applied.

Note C: In either (1) or (2) above, the six units of course weight achieved by successful completion of an introductory language course (Grade XII equivalent) can be counted as part of the "30 units of course weight transferable to the University of Alberta" that some applicants will need to qualify for admission as a transfer student.

In addition, transfer credit will be granted for introductory language courses (Grade XII equivalent) that have been successfully completed, except where:

(1) this course has been used to meet a language requirement necessary for admission to a degree program,

OR

(2) a 30-level (matriculation) course in the same language has also been successfully completed.

13.9.2 Transfer from Alberta Colleges and Technical Institutes (Letter of Recommendation)

Subject to the selection requirements, availability of space and the English Language proficiency requirement (see §13.2.4 and 13.2.2), the University of Alberta will accept as having satisfied the matriculation requirements any applicant for admission who has successfully completed at least the course equivalent of a one-year full-time program at an Alberta college, technical institute, or provincially administered institution, and who is recommended in writing by the sending institution as having satisfied the matriculation requirements of the chosen University of Alberta program. Where further selection procedures are involved in the admission to a program each applicant will be considered on the same basis as any other person seeking admission to that program.

13.9.3 Transfer of Credit

Transfer credit may be granted to applicants for admission who have completed one or more University level course(s) at another recognized university or college. Transfer credit is used to reduce the length of the program the student is required to take at the University of Alberta to qualify for a degree. Generally the amount of transfer credit granted will depend on how applicable the previous course work is to the particular degree program applied for.

The amount of transfer credit is determined by Faculty regulations, and shall be subject to the same regulations as for those transferring from one Faculty to another within the University.

Some provincial postsecondary institutions have approved university transfer programs that provide for transfer of credit. The University of Alberta will accept for transfer credit the courses listed in the appropriate transfer guide to the extent that the courses fit the degree program to which the student wishes to enter (see §16.2).

Note: Among degree-granting institutions transfer credit is assessed on an individual, course-by-course basis by the receiving institution. Consequently these course equivalents are not listed in the Alberta Transfer Guide.

A copy of the annual Alberta Transfer Guide, which explains the nature and the detail of transfer credit arrangements amongst various postsecondary institutions in Alberta, is available from:

Alberta Council on Admissions and Transfer
4th Floor, 9942-108 Street
Edmonton, Alberta
T5K 2J5
Telephone: (403) 422-9021

13.9.4 Advanced Placement

Advanced placement may be granted to applicants who have taken the equivalent of university courses in some other manner. This excuses them from taking the corresponding university courses, but other courses must be taken in their stead. Thus, students who have been granted advanced placement will not have the length of their program reduced.

If applicants feel they may be eligible for either transfer credit or advanced placement, they should ensure that the application is submitted well in advance of the deadlines given in §14. The University reserves the right to require applicants for transfer credit or advanced placement to write examinations at any level including that of matriculation.

13.9.5 Credit by Special Assessment

Some Faculties have agreed to allow students to seek credit in certain specified courses without actually registering in and taking courses, if they can demonstrate an acceptable level of mastery of the course content. The procedure whereby a student seeks credit in a course by this non-traditional route is known as Credit by Special Assessment.

Faculties, in consultation with departments, will determine which, if any, of their courses may be attempted by special assessment, and the conditions that a student must satisfy in order to have an application approved. Interested students are advised to contact their Faculty.

The privilege of seeking credit in a course by special assessment is limited to students admitted to the University. Students wishing to receive credit in courses by this means are advised to report to their Faculty Office in order to be apprised of Faculty regulations and deadlines for submission of applications.

13.10 Registration as an Unclassified Student

Unclassified Students are permitted to register in a limited number of University courses. Documentation of past education is normally not required except to demonstrate English Language Proficiency or to establish that prerequisite courses have been completed. Where documentation is required, it must be presented before registration will be permitted.

Students whose first language is not English, and who wish to register in courses other than those offered by Faculté Saint-Jean, must meet the English Language Proficiency requirements as outlined in §13.2.2 of the Calendar.

Students who do not achieve a passing grade of 4 or more, on the University's 9 point grading system, may not continue to register as Unclassified Students.

13.11 Code of Applicant Behavior

The University of Alberta reserves the right to admit applicants on a conditional basis, to refuse admission or to refuse readmission to an applicant who may constitute a danger or risk of danger to university students, staff or property, or to persons or property in the wider community.

The following procedures outline how the University will deal with academic and non-academic offences by applicants for admission and applicants for readmission to the University of Alberta.

These procedures relate to applicants only. Students who, after completing registration, are found to have been dishonest during the admission or readmission process may be charged under the Code of Student Behavior. See §19 of the Calendar.

13.11.1 Definitions

In these procedures, the following words have the following meaning:

(1) Appellant: Any person who appeals under these procedures.

(2) Applicant: A person who:

a. Has submitted a University of Alberta Application form, or,
b. Has submitted any documents intended to support an application to the University of Alberta, or,
c. Sits a University of Alberta sponsored or administered exam, the successful completion of which is considered an application requirement, or,
d. Displays an intention to seek admission, or readmission to the University of Alberta at any time following the commission of one or more of the offences listed in these regulations.

(3) Application: An Application for Admission form or an Application for Readmission form.

(4) Dean: References to the Dean mean to the Dean or designate.

(5) Discipline Officer: The person charged by the President with the administration of these procedures.

(6) Registrar: References to the Registrar mean to the Registrar or designate.

(7) University Appeal Board: The Appeal Board prescribed within the Code of Student Behavior (§19 of the Calendar).

13.11.2 Offences

For purposes of these procedures, it will be considered an offence on the part of an applicant to the University of Alberta:

(1) To misrepresent or aid another person or persons to misrepresent material fact for the purpose of obtaining academic or other advantage;

(2) To commit, or aid another person or persons to commit, an act designed to misrepresent an applicant's status;

(3) To assist a student of the University of Alberta in an act of cheating, plagiarism, fraud, deceit, or any other form of academic dishonesty;

(4) To knowingly obstruct University activities. University activities include but are not limited to, teaching, research, studying, administration, meetings, and public service. However, nothing in this Code shall be construed to prohibit peaceful assemblies and demonstrations, lawful picketing, or to inhibit free speech;

(5) To convert or misappropriate University materials, documents, or other property;

(6) To physically abuse another person, threaten any other person with physical abuse or damage to such person's property or knowingly, and without just cause, cause any other person to fear physical abuse or fear damage to such person's property.

13.11.3 Initiation of Complaints

(1) Any person who believes that an applicant is guilty of one or more of the above offences may initiate proceedings against the applicant.

(2) Where a person believes that an applicant has committed one of the above offences, that person may communicate the particulars of the alleged offence to the Dean of the Faculty to which the applicant is seeking admission or readmission, or the Registrar. The Registrar will have jurisdiction over Unclassified Program applicants and applicants who are not identified with a particular Faculty at the time of the offence. The Dean will have jurisdiction over all applicants to a particular Faculty.

13.11.4 Procedures to be Followed by the Dean or Registrar

(1) The Dean or the Registrar must provide the applicant with a reasonable opportunity to review the alleged offence.

(2) Where the Dean or the Registrar believes that one of the above offences has been committed, that individual may impose one of the following penalties:
- a. verbal and/or written reprimand;
- b. refusal to consider applications to any program or in any registration status at the University of Alberta for up to five years;
- c. permanent refusal to consider applications to any program or in any registration status at the University of Alberta.

(3) Where a penalty of permanent refusal to consider applications has been imposed, and where the applicant has unsuccessfully appealed the imposition of such a sanction, the applicant has the right to appeal the sanction each five years from the initial date of its imposition or from the date of last appeal.

(4) Where the Registrar imposes a sanction under §13.11.4(2), that individual shall create and maintain a file setting out:
- a. the particulars of the offence, and
- b. a brief statement giving details of the sanction imposed.

(5) Where a Dean imposes a sanction under §13.11.4(2), that individual shall file with the Registrar a statement in writing setting out:
- a. the particulars of the offence, and
- b. a brief statement giving details of the sanction imposed.

13.11.5 Procedures to be Followed by the Registrar

The Registrar shall, by registered letter, notify the applicant of the Registrar's decision, or the decision of the Dean, and provide the applicant with the procedures by which that decision may be appealed as stated below.

13.11.6 Appeals Against Decision of Deans or Registrar

(1) An applicant may appeal the decision of the Dean or the Registrar to the University Appeal Board. The appeal may be based upon a denial of the commission of the offence or may relate to the severity of the penalty imposed, or both.

Applicants wishing to appeal a decision of the Dean or the Registrar, must submit a notice of appeal in writing to the Discipline Officer. Such notice must be delivered to the Officer no later than thirty (30) days after receipt of the decision of the Dean or the Registrar. The Board may, at its discretion, accept an appeal after the expiry of the thirty (30) days.

Appellants will be granted temporary admission or readmission, provided their applications meet Faculty requirements. Such temporary admissions are subject to cancellation if the appeal is denied.

(2) The University Appeal Board shall adhere to the same procedures as contained in the Code of Student Behavior, excepting those instances where these procedures limit or alter procedures as defined in the Code of Student Behavior.

(3) Where the applicant denies the commission of the offence or appeals the severity of the penalty, the Unviersity Appeal Board shall consider the appeal de novo, and arrive at a decision.

(4) Where the University Appeal Board decides that the applicant is not guilty of the offence, the appellant's application will be considered on the same basis as all other applicants.

13.12 University Patent Policy

By accepting admission, students agree to abide by the provisions of the University of Alberta Patent Policy, as the same may be amended from time to time, with regard to any patentable discoveries or inventions in which students may participate. Acceptance of this policy is a condition of registration in any University program. Copies of the University of Alberta Patent Policy are available from the Intellectual Property and Contracts Office.

14 Undergraduate Application Procedures

14.1 Enquiries for New Students

Enquiries from prospective undergraduate students should be addressed to the Registrar's Office. The Student Access Centre in the Office of the Registrar acts as an advisory office for all categories of new students, other than those eligible for direct admission into the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research. The Student Access Centre is located on the main floor of the Administration Building. Telephone enquiries may be directed to (403) 492-4537.

14.2 Application Deadlines for Admission and Readmission

The following definitions, regulations, and directions pertain to the deadlines published on the subsequent pages. Please read them carefully.

(1) Academic Year: The University's academic year is divided into two sessions: Intersession (May to mid-August) and; Winter Session (September to April). The Winter Session is further divided into two terms (September to December and January to April).

(2) Who submits an "Application for Admission"? Admission application forms are submitted by students who have never attended the University of Alberta, although they may have previously applied. Deadlines for these students are listed by Faculty and program in columns 1 and 2 of the Admission/Readmission Deadlines table, §14.2.1.

There are two categories of applicants for admission:
- a. High School Student: A student whose most recent education has been taken in a high school and who has also never attended a postsecondary institution. This category of student is identified in the deadline table as 'HS'.
- b. External Transfer Student: A student who is transferring from another postsecondary institution. This category of student is identified in the deadline table as 'ET'.

A student who has only attended as an Unclassified student or as an Auditor Only student, and who now wishes to transfer to a degree program or to attend as a Special or Visiting student, must also complete an application for admission, although he or she is regarded as an Internal Transfer for deadline purposes (see below).

(3) Who submits an "Application for Readmission"? This form is submitted by a current or former University of Alberta student, except as noted above for Unclassified students or Auditor Only students. Deadlines for these students are listed by Faculty and program in columns 3 and 4 of the deadline table, §14.2.1.

There are two categories of applicants for readmission:
- a. Internal Transfer Student: A student who wishes to transfer from one program to another program within the same Faculty or to another Faculty. This category includes former Unclassified students or Auditors Only who seek to re-enter a previous degree program or transfer to another, or who wish to attend as a Special or Visiting student. All are identified in the deadline table as 'IT'.
- b. Previous Student: A student who is re-applying, after having been required to withdraw or after a voluntary absence of 12 consecutive months or more, to the same program in the same Faculty in which he or she was most recently enrolled. It is also assumed that no other institution was attended in the interim. (If another institution has been attended in the interim, such a student would instead be classified as an Internal Transfer Student.) Previous students are identified in the deadline table as 'PS'.

Previous students who have been required to withdraw are normally only considered for readmission for the first term of Winter Session.

(4) There are separate application forms for admission and readmission. Please ensure you have obtained the correct one for your purpose. An application will be returned if it is received after the stated deadline.

(5) A non-refundable application fee is charged for each admission or readmission form submitted. Any form will be returned if it is submitted without the fee.

(6) The Other Requirements listed in column 5 of the table refer to all students, whether applying for admission or readmission, unless otherwise stated.

(7) If the published deadline for a particular item falls on a weekend or statutory holiday, that item will be accepted by the Office of the Registrar if it is received or postmarked by the end of the next full working day.

(8) Documentation: All students must submit two complete and official transcripts of work they have completed at institutions other than the University of Alberta before a final decision is made on admissibility. These documents must be submitted as soon as possible after the results of their most recent examinations are available.

A student will not be considered if any document or required item is received after the stated deadline.

(9) Students intending to enter a program as a non-matriculated applicant should refer also to §13.8 as well as to the appropriate Faculty section of this Calendar.

(10) An admission or readmission decision to any program is valid only for the session or term for which it is approved and will not be carried over to a future date if a student chooses not to attend. Another form and application fee will be required.

(11) Students who wish to attend as Unclassified students should refer to the last entry of the deadline table. A registration form for Unclassified students must be submitted by the dates specified.

See also §13.10 of this Calendar for additional information.

(12) Students who wish only to audit courses may register according to the dates specified in the Academic Schedule. Such students must report to the Office of the Registrar to obtain an Auditor Only registration form.

Refer also to §12.2.3 of this Calendar for additional information regarding auditing students.

15 Registration and Fees

15.1 Registration

15.1.1 Responsibility for Registration

Students are responsible for the completeness and accuracy of their registration. They are also responsible for adjustments in registration made necessary by changes to their academic status.

15.1.2 Registration Procedure

Registration for the 1991-92 Winter Session for continuing students will commence on March 15th, 1991. Registration for conditionally admitted students and confirmed admissions will commence on May 1st, 1991.

The program in which a student seeks to register is in every case subject to the approval of the Faculty concerned. Students should note that they are required to register in courses in which they are deficient before registering in any other courses. The Faculty councils reserve the right to adjust courses to meet the needs of timetables of lecture and examinations. Registration in courses which directly conflict on the timetable will only be allowed where the express permission of the Faculty council concerned has been secured.

15.1.3 Re-Registration in Courses

(1) Students may not repeat any University course passed or courses for which they have received transfer credit except for reasons deemed sufficient, and verified in writing, by the dean of the Faculty in which they are enrolled.

(2) Students may not re-register for credit or audit more than once in any failed University course, except for reasons deemed sufficient by the dean (or designate) of the Faculty in which they are enrolled.

(3) Students may not re-register for credit or audit more than once in any University course in which they have received a final grade of W, except for reasons deemed sufficient by the dean (or designate) of the Faculty in which they are enrolled.

(4) In cases where a student contravenes regulations 1, 2, or 3 above, the dean (or designate) may withhold credit or indicate the course as extra to the degree, on the course registration that contravenes the regulation.

(5) Students may repeat a first-term course in the second term if it is offered in the second term, as long as the student complies with regulations 1, 2. and 3 above.

(6) An undergraduate student who, because of unsatisfactory academic performance, is either required to withdraw, and/or required to repeat a year, and/or put on probation, will retain credit for courses in which grades of 4 or higher have been attained during the period for which the student's performance was evaluated as unsatisfactory.

Notwithstanding this credit, Faculties may require substitution of other courses in programs in which full course loads are required.

(7) The Faculties of Dentistry, Law, Medicine, and Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences were granted exemption from (6) above.

15.1.4 Prerequisite Course Requirements

Students registering in courses for which a prereq site is listed must meet the prerequisite requirements. grade of 4 is the minimum grade acceptable in a cou which is to be used as a prerequisite. Departments m cancel the registrations of students in courses offered by t departments who do not meet the prerequisite requireme as stated in the course descriptions in this Calendar.

Degree credit may be withheld for courses w prerequisite requirements if the prerequisite requireme have not been met or waived in writing.

Where a prerequisite is stated, it is understo that equivalent courses may be used to satisfy t requirement. In addition, the prerequisite requireme may be waived with the written approval of the departme that offers the course.

Students who are unsure that they meet the prereq site requirements in a course, or who wish to obt permission to have a prerequisite waived, should cons the department offering the course.

15.1.5 Corequisite Course Requirements

Students registering in courses for which a coreq site is listed must also register in the corequisite course have previously passed the corequisite course with minimum grade of 4. Departments may cancel the reg trations of students in courses offered by the departmer who do not meet the corequisite requirements as stated the course description of this Calendar. Degree credit m be withheld for courses with corequisite requirements the corequisite requirements have not been met or waiv in writing.

Where a corequisite is stated, it is understood that ivalent courses may be used to satisfy the require- nts. In addition, the corequisite requirements may be ved with the written approval of the department that rs the course.

Students who are unsure that they meet the corequi- requirements in a course, or who wish to obtain mission to have a corequisite waived, should consult department offering the course.

Courses with corequisite requirements may only be d for degree credit if the corequisite requirements have n met or waived in writing. A grade of 4 is the minimum de acceptable in a course used as a corequisite.

5.1.6 Confirmation of Registration

Students are required to confirm their registration by king up their timetable according to the schedule pub- ed in the Registration Procedures Booklet. Registra- ts of students who fail to confirm their intent to attend by king up their timetables will be cancelled.

5.1.7 Late Registration

Students are normally required to complete their istration by the date specified in the academic sched- . After the end of the registration period, registration will permitted only in exceptional circumstances and stu- nts may find that the course offerings are limited.

5.1.8 Changes in Registration

Changes of registration may be made by students til the end of the registration period. After the end of gistration students must first obtain permission from ir dean. This permission, in the form of a "Courses to be ded/Deleted Form" signed by the department(s) offering e course(s) and the student's dean, must be presented the Registrar before the change becomes official. anges in registration will not normally be approved after e deadline appearing in the Academic Schedule. Students ay not abandon a course. In some Faculties, students ill be assigned a failing grade if they abandon a course ter the dates specified for withdrawal in the Academic hedule or the Faculty Regulations section of the Calendar.

5.1.9 Cancellation of Registration or Withdrawals

After the end of the registration period, students who sh to withdraw from courses or from the University must mplete a "Change to Audit Status/Withdrawal" form. tudents in the BFA Drama, BMus, and Graduate Studies ograms must first obtain the signatures of their Depart- ent Chair. All forms must be submitted to the student's ean for approval. The approved form must then be submitted the Office of the Registrar. Students contemplating with- awal are invited to visit Student Counselling Services to scuss with a counsellor questions relating to their withdrawal cision, readmission, or future vocational plans.

5.1.10 Graduate Student Registration for the May-August Period

Graduate students who are working full-time on their raduate program during part or all of the period from May August are encouraged to record their presence on ampus at their department office. Those holding Universi- awards during this period must so record their presence. ull residence credit is given for this period to students ho have recorded their presence with their Departments. here is no fee. Students registered in courses or for hesis/project in Interssion are not automatically consid- red as full-time students for residence requirements, and re advised to consult their Departments.

5.1.11 Registration to Audit a Course

Students who wish to audit a course will follow the ame procedures as above whether or not they are taking ther courses for credit. See §12.2.3 for details.

5.1.12 Registration of Unclassified Students

Registration as an Unclassified Student is complete when the Application/Registration form has been ap- proved and the appropriate fees paid. Further information s available from the Unclassified Student Coordinator, Office of the Registrar, phone (403) 492-4610.

15.2 Fees Payment Guide

Fees are approved by the University's Board of Governors and may change without notice. Students pay their fees at the rates which are in effect at the time of payment. Fees included in your fee assessment are exempt from the Federal Goods and Services Tax (GST).

Please call the following, if there are any questions regarding fees:

Undergraduate fee assessment:
Registrar's Office (492-3113)

Graduate fee assessment:
Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research (492-3499)

Fee payment:
Comptroller's Office (492-3389)

Definitions of the terms used in this section can be found in the glossary at the back of this Calendar.

15.2.1 1990/91 Undergraduate Instructional and General Fees

(1) How Instructional (Tuition) Fees are Assessed

With few exceptions, tuition fees for undergraduate students are assessed by calculating the cost of each course in which the students are registered for credit, according to the following formula: units of course weight x fee index value x 2. In the "details of courses" sections of this Calendar, the course weight is shown following the title of each course, and is indicated by *. The fee index value is a dollar amount that is approved annually by the Board of Governors. The undergraduate fee index for 1990-91 was $20.48.

Audited courses are assessed using the formula "units of course weight x fee index value."

Fees are assessed by term (see glossary). A full-session course counts for fee purposes as two half-courses, one in each term.

There is no maximum fee per term unless otherwise indicated in the undergraduate instructional fee schedule (see below).

Differential fee for students on Student Authorizations: If you are a student who is not a Canadian Citizen or Permanent Resident you are required to pay an additional 50% on tuition fees. If you become a Permanent Resident (landed immigrant) during a session, the differential fee will be waived in subsequent terms. Please submit proof of your change of immigration status to the Registrar's Office (main floor Administration Building).

Fee for Co-op Engineering Work Experience: Students registered in Engineering work experience programs must pay a $61.44 work experience fee in addition to their overall tuition fee assessment. This fee will increase for 1991-92 and again for 1993-94.

(2) 1990/91 Undergraduate Instructional Fee Schedule

Students registered in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research should consult §15.2.2; students who are not Canadian Citizens or Permanent Residents must add a differential fee of 50% to all values in this section. Please note: The fee rates listed below are for 1990-91; fees are subject to change without notice.

1990-91 fee index value: $20.48

Half-course, weight of ★3, for credit: $20.48 x 3 x 2=$122.88
Full-course, weight of ★6, for credit: $20.48 x 6 x 2 =$245.76
Half-course, weight of ★3, audited: $20.48 x 3 = $61.44
Full-course, weight of ★6, audited: $20.48 x 6 = $122.88

Program maximums are in place for the following programs only:

MD and DDS programs, all years:	$897.00/term
Postgraduate Medical Educ. Program:	$250.00/year
Dental Hygiene program, both years:	$597.89/term
BSC in Medical Laboratory Science 3rd year only:	$299.00/term

Individual courses taken by students enrolled in the MD and DDS programs, and by some Special Students in the Faculties of Medicine and Dentistry, are assessed using a fee index value of $35.65.

(3) 1990/91 Undergraduate General Fee Schedule

Students are assessed general fees per term as shown below; the corresponding privileges conferred are explained in §15.9. Exceptions to general fee payment rules are listed at the end of this section.

For fee purposes, a full-time student is registered for credit in courses with a combined weight of 9 or more in a term. Optional privileges must be selected at the time of registration.

Fee	Full-time Winter Session	Part-time Winter Session	Intersession
Library & Computing Services	$69.00/term mandatory	$23.00/term mandatory	$11.50/term mandatory
Students' Union	$24.00/term[1] mandatory	$ 9.25/term[2] mandatory	$9.50/term[3] mandatory
Athletic Services	$27.00/term mandatory	$27.00/term optional	N/A see note 3
Health Services	$12.00/term mandatory	$12.00/term optional	$6.00/session mandatory

[1] Confers full membership. Full-time students in the DDS, BEd/AD, Diploma in Education or LLB programs, or years 1 and 2 of the MD program pay $19.38/term. Students in years 3 and 4 of the MD program pay $5.00/term for associate membership, or may elect to pay $19.38/term for full membership (see §15.9.2).

[2] Confers associate membership. Part-time students may elect at registration to pay the full-time rate for full membership (see §15.9.2). All off-campus students pay $5.00/term.

[3] Includes the use of athletic facilities. All off-campus students pay $4.50 per term.

Exceptions to general fee payment regulations:

- Engineering Co-op program students registered in work experience only do not pay the Library and Computing Services fee; other general fees and privileges are optional.
- Unclassified students do not pay general fees, with the exception of the Library and Computing Services fee, and are not granted the corresponding privileges.
- For University of Alberta Hospital School of Nursing diploma students, and for all students taking all their courses off campus, Athletic Services and Health Services fees and privileges are optional even for full-time students; other fees are mandatory.

15.2.2 1990-91 Graduate Instructional and General Fees

(1) How Instructional (Tuition) Fees are Assessed

a. Students in Degree Programs

Program Fee: Each category of graduate program has been assigned a "program" fee, which covers the basic instructional cost per student for that program. The program fee is based on a term fee, defined below. The following table shows the program fee for the various program categories. For an explanation of graduate student classifications, see §202.4.

Term Fee: This is the basic unit of program fee assessment for one term of full-time registration in Winter Session. (For 1990-91 the term fee is set at $747.50.)

Program Category	Total Program Fee
Qualifying Period[1]	Maximum of 2 term fees
Probationary Period[2]	Maximum of 2 term fees
Master's Degree (Cat. A)	2 term fees
Master's Degree (Cat. B)	3 term fees
Doctoral Degree (two-year)	4 term fees
Doctoral Degree (three-year)	6 term fees

[1] Qualifying period program fees are not credited toward the program fees for any subsequent degree program(s) a student may wish to take.

[2] When probationary students are re-classified as candidates for a degree, the program fees assessed for the probationary period are credited toward the program fee for the student's subsequent degree program.

Program fees are assessed in installments. The size of the installment you are assessed at each registration depends upon your registration status (full-time or part-time). The amount you are assessed is credited toward your total program fee, successively reducing the balance you owe. For each term of the session in which you register, the installment is:

Session	Registration Status	Installment payable
Winter or Intersession	Full-time	1 x term fee
Winter or Intersession	Part-time	1/2 x term fee

Individual Course Fees: Students in degree programs who wish to take courses extra to their degree program are assessed individual course fees for all such courses. These fees are normally calculated according to the following formula: fee index value x units of course weight x 2. (The 1990-91 fee index value is $29.75. The course weight is shown following the title of each course in the Calendar, and is indicated by ★.)

General Fees: All students in degree programs are assessed general fees in addition to instructional fees. See the graduate general fee schedule below.

Once you have been assessed your program fee in full, you are assessed a Post-Program fee for all subsequent terms of registration. If there is a balance owing on your program fee which is less than the installment that would normally be assessed, you are assessed either that balance or the Post-Program fee, whichever is greater. (For 1990-91 the Post-Program fee was $249 per term.)

b. Special Graduate Students, Visiting Graduate Students, and Postgraduate Diploma Students

Individual Course Fees: Students in these categories are assessed individual course fees. These fees are normally calculated according to the following formula: fee index value x course weight x 2. (The 1990-91 fee index value is $29.75. The course weight is shown following the title of each course in the Calendar, and is indicated by ★.)

General Fees: All students in these categories are assessed general fees in addition to instructional fees. See the graduate general fee schedule below.

(2) Differential Fee

Students who are not Canadian Citizens or Permanent Residents are assessed a "differential fee" of an additional 50% of all program fees, post-program fees, and individual course fees. In 1990-91, the differential fee will not be assessed on the post-program fee or the continuous registration fee. If you become a Permanent Resident (Landed Immigrant) during a session, the differential fee will be waived in subsequent terms. Please submit original proof of your change of immigration status to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research. The differential fee is not counted toward the total program fee.

(3) 1990-91 Graduate Instructional Fee Schedule

Here is the Instructional Fee schedule for graduate study for the Academic Year 1990-91. The University reserves the right to change its fees from year to year without notice. Students who have not completed their program when a change is made are assessed at the new rate for the balance of their program or until a subsequent change in fees occurs.

If you are not a Canadian Citizen or Permanent Resident, you must add the Differential Fee of an additional 50% to all values in this section.

Term Fee = $747.50
Program Fee Installment Payable:
Winter Session or Intersession:
full-time students: $747.50 per term part-time students: $373.75 per term

Individual Course Fees:
Credit course: $29.75 x course weight x 2
Audit course[1]: $29.75 x course weight

[1]Special Graduate Students are not permitted to audit courses.

(4) 1990-91 Graduate General Fee Schedule

Students are assessed general fees for each term in which they register as shown below. The corresponding privileges conferred are explained in §15.9.

Fee	Full-time Winter Session	Part-time Winter Session	Intersession
Registration	$35/ session mandatory	$35/ session mandatory	$35/ session mandatory
Post Program Fee	$249/term mandatory	$249/term mandatory	$249/term mandatory
Continuous Registration[1]	N/A	$249/term mandatory	$249/term mandatory
Readmission Fee[2]	$598	$598	$598
Library & Computing Services	$69/term mandatory	$23/term mandatory	$11.50/term mandatory
Graduate Students' Association	$25/term mandatory[3]	$18.25/term mandatory[3]	$18.25/ session[4]
Athletic Services	$27/term mandatory[3]	$27/term optional[3]	N/A[5]
Health Services	$12/term mandatory[3]	$12/term optional[3]	$6/session mandatory[3]
Students' Union	$19.38/term optional[3]	N/A	N/A

[1]Continuous Registration Fee: Students who wish to keep their program active, but do not wish to register in courses, research projects or thesis research, register in continuous registration. Such students are assessed a continuous registration fee for each term in which they are so registered. (For 1990-91 the continuous registration fee is $249 per term.)

[2]Readmission Fee: Students must register at least once in a twelve-month period in either courses, project or thesis research, or in continuous registration. Students who fail to do so must re-apply to their graduate program and be readmitted before they can resume their program of studies. (See §202.3.4.) All readmitted students are assessed a readmission fee ($598 in 1990-91) in addition to all other applicable fees.

[3]Extramural students are not assessed these fees.

[4]Mandatory in Intersession only for those students who were not assessed this fee in the previous Winter Session i.e., either were not registered in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research then, or were extramural.

[5] No athletic fees are assessed in Intersession. Athletic privileges are granted during this period to all students with valid ID cards for the current Intersession, or from the previous Winter Session if Athletic Services were paid.

[6] Please consult the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

Graduate students who change their registration from full-time to part-time may be eligible for a reassessment of general fees; they must, however, present their Student ID card to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research office for the appropriate revision.

Graduate students who change their registration from part-time to full-time are assessed full general fees. They should therefore present their Student ID card to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research office for revision in order to be eligible for full benefits.

(6) Fees Inquiries

The Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research is responsible for the assessment of all graduate student fees. Inquiries concerning graduate fee assessments, changes in fees related to program or registration changes, and so on, should be directed to the Fees Coordinator, Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

The Fees Division, Office of the Comptroller, is responsible for fee collection. Inquiries concerning your Statement of Account, method of payment, and late payment penalties should be addressed to the Fees Division, Office of the Comptroller. Inquiries about payroll deductions of fees from assistantships should also be directed to the Fees Division, Office of the Comptroller.

Inquiries about payment of monthly stipends for holders of graduate assistantships should be addressed to the Payroll Division, Office of the Comptroller.

15.2.3 1991-92 Deadlines for Instructional and General Fee Payment

Summer-term, Intersession	July 3, 1991
First-term, Winter Session:	September 27, 19[illegible]
Second-term, Winter Session:	January 15, 1992
Spring-Term, Intersession:	May 5, 1992

In those rare instances where a student is permitted to register late, the last date for payment of fees is 15 days after the date of assessment.

15.2.4 Penalties for Late Payment of Fees

Nonpayment of fees does not constitute withdrawal from courses: Please refer to §15.1 of this Calendar for instructions on withdrawing from courses.

If fees owing are not paid by the relevant deadline, a certification of your student record (diploma, transcript, Tuition and Education Credit Certificate, etc.) is withheld. You will also not be able to register in any future sessions or make changes to your current registration, until your account has been settled. A late payment penalty of $1[illegible] per month is assessed for each month in which your account is outstanding, to the end of the session. Further information on this topic can be found in §16.9.6.

15.2.5 Obtaining and Paying Your Fee Assessment

(1) Obtaining a Fee Assessment:

Students enrolled in Winter Session pick up their fee assessment at Timetable Distribution; the assessment is printed on the class timetable notice, and is based on the course registrations shown on the timetable.

Intersession fee assessments are mailed to the most recent mailing address provided.

Unclassified Students are given their fee assessment, and are required to pay it when they register.

(2) Obtaining a Revised Fee Assessment

a. Undergraduate students: If, after collecting your class timetable, you change the number of courses in which you are enrolled, you must obtain a revised fee assessment. Visit the Registrar's Office desk in the Universiade Pavilion for changes made before the term registration deadline, and the Comptroller's Office (3rd floor Administration Building) about changes made after the registration deadline. Please take your Student ID card with you, so that it can be updated if your registration status has changed. If you delay getting a new assessment, you may incur financial penalties (§15.2.4); information on refunds is given in §15.2.6. Registration deadlines are listed in the Academic Schedule (11), and in §15.2.6.

b. Graduate students: If you make registration changes which change your fees, a revised fee assessment will be mailed to you by the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research. If you are planning to withdraw from all your courses, you should first consult the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research about the effect on your fees.

(3) Method of Payment

Cheques or money orders should be made payable to the University of Alberta; please write your Student ID number on the cheque. Your fee assessment notice must be presented with payment.

Students registered for a full session may choose to pay fees in two installments, one for each term. First-term fees must be paid by the first-term deadline, and second-term fees by the second-term deadline. A $25 installment charge is payable with the second installment.

(4) Where to Pay Fees

a. During Winter Session Timetable pickup on September 4 and 5, fees can be paid in the Universiade Pavilion by cheque or money order only.

Once the first term of Winter Session has begun, fees can be paid:

1) in person, at the cashier's wicket of the Comptroller's Office, third floor, Administration Building (hours for September - April, 9.00 - 12.00, 13.00 - 16.00, and for May - August, 8.30 - 12.00, 13.00 - 15.30);

2) by campus mail, by depositing your cheque and fee assessment in the special deposit box on the main floor of the Administration Building, or in the mail slot on the 3rd floor. After hours, you can use the campus mail box located at the front of the Administration Building.

3) by regular mail, to the Comptroller's Office, University of Alberta, Edmonton, AB T6G 2M7.

Fees must be received in the Comptroller's Office by payment deadline, if late payment penalties are to be ided (see §15.2.4). Mail delays will not be accepted as excuse for late payment.

Dishonored Cheques

Payment by dishonored cheque is treated as nonpayt of fees. Please refer to §15.2.4 for consequences. In ition to the penalties outlined there, a $15 penalty is essed for the dishonored cheque itself.

Quota Program Deposits

Students who have paid a $50 deposit to confirm their mission to a quota program should deduct this from ir fee assessment total.

Student Loans

Alberta students who need financial assistance are vised to apply to the Students' Finance Board as early possible, preferably from May onward. Application ms are available from the Registrar's Office and the udent Awards Office. Application forms for loan assistance m other provincial governments for students from those ovinces are available from the Student Awards Office only.

Students must be registered full-time for the period of air loan. If your loan covers both terms of Winter ession, you must be registered for credit in courses with combined weight of 9 or more in each term in order to ve your loan approved.

How to process an Alberta loan: Students who eceive loan assistance through the Students' Finance oard of the Province of Alberta should submit all copies their Certificate of Eligibility with their laminated current tudent ID card to the Comptroller's Office fees wicket on e third floor of the Administration Building or, during imetable pickup on September 3 and 4, to the loans area f the Universiade Pavilion.

The fees due to the University are the first charge gainst the loan. If the amount of assistance awarded is ss than the full amount of fees, the balance of fees owing s subject to normal fee payment regulations and deadlines.

If you process a loan certificate after the September e payment deadline, you will not be assessed a late ayment penalty for September provided you applied to he Board by mid-September, and that the assistance you eceive covers the balance owing on your first-term fees.

(8) How to Process a Loan From Another Provincial Government

Disbursal documents are sent by some governments irectly to their students and in other instances to the Student Awards Office (which will forward them to the Fees Division of the Comptroller's Office). When you receive notification, please report with the documents you have and your laminated current Student ID card to the Comptroller's fees wicket as described in the preceding paragraph.

(9) Scholarships, Bursaries and Other Financial Assistance

Students whose fees are to be paid by scholarships, bursaries, or other assistance processed through the University, or by Alberta Heritage, Rutherford, or McKinney scholarship funds, should advise the Comptroller's Office well before the fee payment deadline of the amount and source of the award. No late payment penalties will be exacted if the funds do not arrive by the fee payment deadline; however, if the award will not cover the full installment of fees due, the balance must be paid by the normal deadline.

Students who receive direct assistance that is not processed through the University (e.g. a grant from an employer) must follow normal fee payment regulations and meet normal deadlines. Confirmation of enrollment will be provided by the Registrar's Office on request.

(10) Receipts

If you pay by mail, your cancelled cheque is your fee payment receipt. You may request a formal receipt from the Comptroller's Office for such purposes as reimbursement by your employer.

The Tuition and Education Credit Certificate will be available for pick up from the Office of the Comptroller in early February by students whose fees have been fully paid (see §15.2.6). This form replaces the former Education Deduction Certificate and the separate tuition fee receipt.

15.2.6 Obtaining a Refund

See also §15.2.5, Obtaining a Revised Fee Assessment.

Withdrawals: Undergraduate students: Instructional fees are 100% refundable until the registration deadline (see below). From then until the refund deadline, students who formally withdraw from one or more Winter Session courses will receive a 50% refund; there are no further refunds after this date. The effective date of your withdrawal is that on which the Dean of your Faculty signs and dates the required form.

Graduate Students: Consult the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research to determine the effect on your fees before you withdraw from individual courses, a term, a session, or a program.

Changes from credit to audit: If the change is made during the audit registration period, the assessment for the course will be at the audit rate.

If you have not paid your full fee assessment for the session when you withdraw or change from credit to audit, you may still owe money to the University. Contact the Comptroller's Office (492-3389) for an up-to-date statement of account.

	Credit Registration Deadline	Audit Registration Period	Refund Deadline
Winter Session
First term	Sept. 11	Sept. 12-16	Oct. 15
Second term	Jan. 10	Jan. 13-15	Jan. 31
Intersession
Spring-Term	May 7	May 6-7	May 21
Summer-Term	July 3	July 2-3	July 16

If the change to your registration results in a change from full- to part-time status (see glossary), and if your ID card has been updated according to the above deadlines, general fees will also be reassessed, and the difference refunded.

Undergraduate students withdrawing from all their courses will have a $15 administration charge deducted from their refund; students in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research should first contact that Faculty, and will forfeit their $35 registration fee.

Please allow six weeks for your cheque to be processed and mailed to you.

15.2.7 Fee Remission Program for Senior Citizens

Residents of Alberta who are aged 65 or over are eligible for complete remission of both tuition and general fees. You must meet normal admission criteria and application deadlines for your chosen program, and must have reached your 65th birthday before the start of the session in which you are registering. Application for Remission forms are available from the fees wicket of the Comptroller's Office, third floor, Administration Building, and must be completed and submitted with your Senior Citizens' identification card, or other proof of age and residency, by the fee payment deadline (see §15.2.6).

15.2.8 1990-91 Schedule of Fees for Special Services

The following are fees for special services; the rates shown are correct at the time of printing, but are subject to change without notice.

Examination and examination-related fees (see §16.5):

Deferred examination (§16.5.6)	$ 15 per paper
Reexamination (§16.5.4)	$ 25 per paper
Special examination (§16.5.7)	$ 90 per paper[1]
Examination conducted at an established centre other than Edmonton	$ 35 (additional) per paper
Final examination reappraisal (§16.5.3)	$ 25 per paper
Credit by special assessment (§13.9.5)	$113 per course

[1]Part of the fee may be waived if you were prevented by illness or other extreme circumstance from writing the examination at the regular time.

Other fees (payable in advance):

Official transcript of student record	$ 3 per copy
Replacement diploma	$ 30
Application for undergraduate admission (§14.2)	$ 30 per form
Application for undergraduate readmission or transfer (§14.2)	$ 30 per form
Graduate readmission (§15.2.2)	$598
Graduate thesis microfilming	$ 30
Replacement Student ID card	$ 10

15.9 Privileges Conferred by Payment of General Fees

Additional information and current (1990-91) rates for these fees are given in §§15.2.1 and 15.2.2.

15.9.1 Library and Computing Services Fee

This fee recognizes the costs of maintaining extensive library and computer support systems for the benefit of all students, full- and part-time, on- and off-campus, both directly and indirectly.

15.9.2 Students' Union Fee

Full membership entitles a student to use all Students' Union facilities and services, and grants a student the right to vote and stand for office in Students' Union elections. Associate members may not stand for office, but are entitled to all other privileges. For further information see §15.2.1, or contact the Students' Union Vice-President (Finance & Administration) in Room 259 SUB (492-4236).

15.9.3 Graduate Students' Association Fee

For information contact the GSA Office in Room 206, North Power Plant (492-2175).

15.9.4 Athletic Services Fee

Confers the privileges of using the facilities of the Physical Education and Recreation Centre and of participating in all Athletic Services Programs.

15.9.5 Health Services Fee

Confers the privilege of using University Health Services, which offers a wide range of convenient medical services, including drop-in medical consultation, immunizations, an on-site pharmacy, and reduced costs on prescriptions and dental hygiene. See also §18.1.4.

16 Academic Regulations

16.1 Changes in Regulations

The University reserves the right to make changes in regulations governing degree programs from time to time. All such changes apply to continuing and new students. Where a required course for a degree program is no longer offered, the Faculty may specify an alternate. Students who interrupt their program and who must apply for readmission to the program will be required to comply with any new regulations upon resumption of their studies. Students should annually refer to the Calendar for appropriate Faculty regulations governing their degree programs.

16.2 Residence Requirements

A student proceeding towards a first (bachelor's) degree is expected to complete at least half of the credits required through courses offered by the University of Alberta (either "on" or "off" campus in Winter Session or Intersession). Normally, at least half of these "University of Alberta" courses will be taken as the final courses in the program. Credits obtained by special assessment at the University of Alberta may be included in the count of courses used to satisfy the residency requirements. (See §13.9.5 Credit by Special Assessment).

Students should consult their Faculty's section of the Calendar in order to become familiar with time limits for completion of degrees. (See also §13.9.3 Transfer of Credit).

16.3 Universities' Writing Competence Test

16.3.1 Writing Competence Test Policy

The University of Alberta has abolished its requirements that students must pass a writing competence test but remains committed to enhancing the writing skills of students throughout their University career.

Refer to §18.1.9 of this Calendar for information on Effective Writing Resources.

16.4 Evaluation Procedures and Grading System

(1) Weighting of Term Work and Final Examinations: In each course in which a final examination is held, a weight of not less than 30 percent and not more than 70 percent will be assigned to the final examination, except where a departure from this arrangement has been authorized by the council of the Faculty in which the department offering the course is situated. The remaining weight for the course will be assigned to term work.

(2) Guidelines Regarding Term Work: The following guidelines should normally be followed.

a. Instructors are required by GFC to announce at the beginning of each course the distribution of weight between term work and final examination. In particular, they should provide a course outline and inform students during the first week of classes of any assignment, examination, or other course activity (e.g. class participation) to which 20% or more of the final term mark will be allotted. Instructors are also required to inform students at the beginning of the session that information on reexamination policies may be obtained from individual Faculty Offices.

b. Instructors are required to announce at the beginning of a course the manner in which the official University grading system is to be implemented in that particular course or section, i.e. whether a particular distribution is to be used to determine grades, or whether there are absolute measures or marks which will determine them, or whether a combination of the two will be used.

c. Upon request, instructors are required to provide the method which was used to translate final and, where appropriate, term marks into grades.

d. In addition, instructors should announce the weight given to each assignment, examination or other course activity well before the assignment, examination or other course activity is to be completed by the student.

e. Instructors should allow students a reasonable time in which to complete an assignment, bearing in mind its weight.

f. Instructors should mark and return to students with reasonable dispatch all term examinations and, provided the students submit them by the due date, all course projects, papers, essays, etc.

g. All projects, papers, essays, etc., should be returned on or by the last day of classes in the course, with the exception of a final major project or paper (which may be due on the last day of classes), which should be returned by the date of the scheduled final examination or, in non-examination courses, by the last day of the examination period.

(3) Procedures for Registering Complaints about Marking, Grading and Related Issues

a. Where the above guidelines have not been followed or where students have concerns about the instructor's teaching, the student should make the concern known to the appropriate individual in the following sequence:
1) Instructor
2) Chair of the Department in which the course is taught
3) Dean of the Faculty in which the course is taught

b. A student needing advice on these matters should see the student advisers in the Office of the Dean of Student Services.

c. These procedures do not constitute a mechanism for appeals and grievances regarding the academic standing or individual grades of a student. Appeals and grievances of that nature are dealt with in §16.8 of the Calendar.

(4) The Nine Point Grading System: An important feature of the nine point grading system is that the marking and grading are done separately. For a large class, examiners should mark the papers and record the raw scores, sort the papers in order of merit, and decide whether the class as a whole is average, above average or below average. They should then determine what percentage of the class should fall into each of the nine possible grades and assign grades accordingly. In small classes, the honors or senior courses, instructors should mark in terms of raw score, rank the papers in order of merit, and with due attention to the verbal descriptions of the various grades, assign an appropriate grade to each paper.

The process of ranking and grading students may be carried out as each assignment and examination is marked, or it may be deferred until all assignments, including the final examination, have been marked. Instructors should announce at the beginning of a course, the manner in which the official University nine point grading system is to be implemented in their particular course.

In the first case, at the end of the term instructors will have a record of each student's grades for all assignments and examinations with the percentage weight assigned to each. They should then assign a term results summary remark and a final grade in the course, rounding off any fractional values that may occur to the nearest full grade.

In the second case, at the end of the term instructors will have a record of every student's marks (raw scores) for all assignments and examinations with the percentage weight assigned to each. They should then compute a term results summary mark based on the student's term mark and final examination. Having computed this for each student, they should then rank the students in order of merit and assign final grades by the process described in the first paragraph of this section.

Since the distribution of grades is not standard, the system should not be referred to as a stanine system, nor should the various grades be called "stanines".

Course Grades Obtained by Undergraduate Students:

	9	Excellent
	8
	7	Good
	5
Pass	4	Satisfactory
Fail	3
	2	Unsatisfactory
	1

Course Grades Obtained by Graduate Students:

	9	Excellent
	8
	7	Good
Pass	6	Satisfactory
	4
	3	Unsatisfactory
	2	(see §202.8.2)
	1

(5) Grade Point Average (GPA): All courses have been assigned an appropriate weighting factor, which along with a student's grades, enables the Registrar's Office or the Dean's Office to compute the Grade Point Average. The Grade Point Average is common to all Faculties. This is a sessional GPA only and is reported on transcripts and year-end Statements of Results.

Rules for Computing the GPA:

a. The GPA for any session is based on the final grades in all courses taken during that session including half-courses repeated in the second term and courses extra to the degree program.

b. A reexamination mark or a deferred examination mark replaces the original final examination mark. The revised final grade is included in the computation of the GPA. The Faculty of Law is exempt from this policy as reexaminations are graded by the Faculty on a pass/fail basis. The following will apply to the Faculty of Law:
1) The original grade will be retained in the computation of the GPA after the reexamination;
2) Where a reexamination is graded as a pass the remark "CR" will be noted on the transcript to indicate Completed Requirements in the reexamination course.
3) The remarks "R" and "D" will be noted on a transcript to indicate that a reexamination or deferred examination was written in the course.

c. When a student has an Absent-Deferred, Incomplete or a missing grade, the GPA is not computed until a final grade is reported.

d. Alphabetical grades of ABF, WF, INF, and DB are counted as numeric grades of 1 in the computation of the common GPA. Faculties are, however, strongly encouraged to compute a numerical grade based on the student's total work even when the student misses the final examination.

e. Alphabetic grades of W (withdrawal) are excluded from the computation of the GPA on the transcript.
Note: Effective September 1988, the symbol AB is no longer a valid final grade. Instead, numeric grades are to be assigned with the remark of "A" indicating that the student has not written the final examination and the grade includes a mark of zero for the missed final examination, or, that the student failed to complete a significant portion of term work or both.

f. Grades of Credit-No credit and Pass-Fail are not included in the computation of the common GPA.

g. The common GPA is rounded to the nearest decimal place using standard rounding rules - that is it is rounded up with a value of 5 or greater in the first non-significant place.
Note: Faculties may use a variety of different averages for various decisions regarding academic standing, promotions, and graduation, as long as these have been approved by General Faculties Council. Such averages are descriptively labelled with a title other than Grade Point Average, for example, Cumulative Grade Point Average, Promotion Average, Graduation Average.

(6) Aegrotat Standing: Aegrotat standing may be granted, in special circumstances, on the grounds of illness to deserving students who have completed at least one year at the University of Alberta in the Faculty in which they are currently registered. Any student wishing to take advantage of this privilege should apply without delay to the dean of the Faculty concerned. Any other student absent from a final examination because of illness may apply for permission to write the regular deferred examination.

(7) Competence in Written Work: General Faculties Council urges all instructors of University undergraduate courses to provide that suitable portions of course testing or other course work should be in the form of written essay responses and to emphasize to students that competence in written work is integral to competence in a subject and will constitute part of the basis on which the student's course grade is determined.

All instructors should make clear at the outset of each course their expectations in regard to the standard and importance of writing in assignments and examinations.

(8) Student grades are unofficial until they have been approved by the appropriate Faculty Council at the end of the session. Prior to approval by Faculty Council, unofficial grades are reported on transcripts and so noted. Students can generally expect that official grades will be available in early June for the Winter Session, and early September for Intersession. A Statement of Results is mailed to students following the approval of grades for each session.

16.5 Examinations

16.5.1 Term Examinations

(1) Term Examinations Optional: The holding of term examinations is optional with each department.

(2) Test Week: Although instructors may give tests during any regular lecture or laboratory period at their discretion, one week in the middle of each of the First Term and the Second Term has been set aside as test week. During these weeks, off-campus, extra-curricular activities will not normally be organized by the University.

Absence from Term Examination or Test: If a student has an unexcused absence from a term examination or test, the raw score assigned will be zero. However, in case of illness or other extreme circumstance the student may be excused from writing the examination or test. In applying for exemption, students must present to their instructor an absence slip signed by University Health Service where the cause is illness, or by the Schedules Division/Examinations and Timetabling, Office of the Registrar where the cause is other than illness. When exemption is granted the percentage weight allotted to the examination or test missed is added to the percentage weight allotted to the final examination.

6.5.2 Final Examinations

Final Examinations: A final examination is held in each course except where departure from this arrangement has been authorized by the Faculty council governing the department offering the course. In courses completed in the First Term, final examinations are normally held during test week in December. Final examinations for second-term and full-session courses are held at the end of the session. Examinations for Evening Credit Program and Late Afternoon and Evening Courses are to be held during the last regular class period.

(2) Absence from Final Examinations: Any student who is ill or suffering from severe domestic affliction is advised not to sit for a final examination. A student who has missed a final examination because of illness or domestic affliction or who is obliged to be absent from an examination for some other compelling reason (including religious convictions) may apply for a deferred final examination. Documentation pertaining to such an absence must be submitted to the Registrar within 48 hours, following the examination period or periods for the course or courses affected (see §16.5.6). Similar action should be taken by any student, who, because of religious convictions or for other cogent reasons, is unable to write a final examination at the scheduled time. Such application will be referred to the student's Dean for a final decision.

When a student is absent from a final examination without acceptable excuse, a final grade will be computed using a raw score of zero for the final examination.

(3) Cancellation of Paper During Examination: If a student becomes ill or receives word of domestic affliction during the course of an examination, he or she should report at once to the Supervisor, hand in his or her unfinished paper, and request that it be cancelled. Thereafter, if illness is the cause, he or she must go directly to University Health Service so that any subsequent application for a deferred examination may be supported by a medical certificate. The Registrar should be notified in writing of the circumstances within 48 hours of the examination.

(4) No Subsequent Cancellation of Papers: Should a student write an examination, hand in his or her paper for marking, and later report extenuating circumstances to support a request for cancellation of his or her paper and for another examination, such request will not be entertained.

(5) Debarment from Final Examination: A student may be refused permission to write the final examination in a course on the recommendation of the department concerned and with the concurrence of the dean of his or her Faculty, in the following circumstances:

a. The student has neglected to do a substantial portion of his or her written assignments in a course of which these are an essential feature, or has attended insufficiently in a course in which class participation is a necessity.

b. The student has neglected to do a sufficient amount of the practical or laboratory work in a course in which these are considered a basic requirement.

(6) Release of Final Examination Papers: Departments subscribing to the belief that there is educational value in permitting students to see their final examination papers after they have been marked, may arrange for this to be done. However, papers should not actually be released to students until the deadline for application for reappraisal has passed, as an appeal cannot be entertained after the custody of the paper has been relinquished to the student.

16.5.3 Notification of Results

(1) Release of Grades: Only the Registrar's Office is authorized to issue official statements of results or transcripts. An official statement of final grades in courses for a session is provided to each student by the Office of the Registrar. For students who did not register in the second term of the Winter Session, official statements are mailed in early February.

Department Chairs ensure that unofficial grades are posted immediately after the approved Examination Return is sent to the Office of the Registrar, using the posting copy of the Examination Return, or in any other manner that protects the confidentiality of individual student grades. In courses that are completed before the regular end of term, Departments release unofficial grades to students within six calendar days of the last exam or assignment deadline in the course. (For the Faculties of Dentistry, Law, and Medicine, grades should be posted no later than the third day of classes in the second term for first term courses, or May 31 for second term or full session courses.)

(2) Reappraisals: Since great care is taken in marking final examination papers, a student should apply for reappraisal of a paper only if he or she has good reason to believe that a mistake has been made. Reappraisals are dealt with by the Chair of the department in consultation with members of the staff. A request for reappraisal must be made by letter to the Registrar (or by completion of an application form available at Examinations and Timetabling, Registrar's Office, Room 120, Administration Building) by February 1 in the case of First-Term courses, by June 25 for other Winter-Session courses, and within thirty days of the publication of results for courses offered in Intersession. The request must include a statement of whether the intent of the appeal is to raise or lower the grade. If a student fails to include such a statement it will be assumed that the intent is to have the grade raised. The request must be accompanied by a fee of $25.00 for each paper; the fee will be refunded if the appeal is successful.

The privilege of having papers reappraised applies only to final examinations. A student may apply for reappraisal of no more than two final examination papers in each term of the Winter Session. A student enrolled in the Intersession will be limited to two reappraisals.

It should be understood that if the grade is changed, the new grade, whether higher or lower than the original, replaces it as the student's official grade in the course.

16.5.4 Reexaminations

(1) Supplemental Examinations: Supplemental examinations have been abolished at the University of Alberta. Faculties have established criteria whereby undergraduate students in special circumstances may be permitted reexamination. Students should consult their Faculty section of the calendar for details.

(2) Reexamination

a. Students wishing to apply for a reexamination should:

1) ensure that they meet the eligibility criteria for reexamination in both the Faculty offering the course and the Faculty in which they are enrolled.

2) complete an application form (available at Examinations and Timetabling, Office of the Registrar, Room 120 Administration Building).The application deadline is July 15th. However, students are advised to apply early, in order to obtain the necessary approvals. Students in the Faculties of Dentistry, Law, or Medicine should consult their Faculties.

3) have the application for reexamination approved by the chair of the department offering the course.

Departmental approval indicates that a paper can be set, subject to approval by the dean of the student's Faculty.

4) have the application for reexamination approved by the dean of their Faculty.

Students are advised that it may not be possible for the dean to make a ruling until all grades are recorded for the session. In this case, the form should be left with the Faculty office for a later ruling.

b. If immediate approval is given, the student should return the approved application and fee to the Access Centre, Office of the Registrar, Administration Building.

Otherwise, when a ruling is made, the dean's office will send the form to Examinations and Timetabling who will advise the student and request appropriate fee payments where necessary. Once approval has been granted, reexaminations are to be written as follows, except for students in the Faculties of Dentistry, Law, or Medicine, who will be reexamined at a time determined by their Faculties.

Reexaminations are to be written at a time and place agreed upon by the instructor and students concerned.

If it is not possible to reach mutual agreement as to the date of writing, then the student should advise the Examinations and Timetabling Office so that the examination can be scheduled during the regular reexamination period, August 6-10, 1991. An examination timetable will be mailed in late July to those who apply to write a reexamination in August.

(3) A special reexamination may be granted to a student who is prevented by illness, domestic affliction, or other extreme circumstances from writing at the regular time, if approved by the dean concerned. Application with supporting documentation must be made to the Registrar three weeks before the special examination is to be written, and must be accompanied by the prescribed fee. Special examinations are normally written at the University of Alberta on the first Saturday following Labor Day in September.

(4) Applicants should consult §15.2.11 for fee information.

16.5.5 Failure in the Graduating Year

A member of the graduating class who, having exhausted all the regular reexamination privileges, still has a failure in one course only, may, with the permission of the Faculty Council concerned, register in and repeat that course extramurally, unless, in the opinion of the department concerned, it is necessary for him or her to attend classes in the course a second time.

16.5.6 Deferred Final Examinations

(1) Deferred Final Examinations: A student who has missed a final examination because of illness or domestic affliction or who is obliged to be absent from an examination for some other compelling reason (including religious convictions) may apply for a deferred final examination.

Students wishing to apply for such an examination must:

a. complete an application form (available at Examinations and Timetabling, Office of the Registrar, Room 120, Administration Building). The application must be supported by a satisfactory medical certificate in the case of illness or other documentation substantiating the reason for an absence. The application and the documentation pertaining to the absence must be presented to the Registrar within two working days following the examination period or as soon as the student is able having regard to the circumstances underlying the absence;

b. have the application for a deferred final approved by the dean of their Faculty;

c. have the application for a deferred final signed by the instructor (or the department chair, or designate, if the instructor is not available); and

d. return the approved application to the Registrar (Examinations and Timetabling, Room 120, Administration Building), within two working days of initiating the application. The approved application must be accompanied by the prescribed fee.

(2) Deferred First-Term Final Examinations: The time and place of the first-term, deferred final examination may be set by mutual agreement among those students who have missed the final examination for good cause and the instructor. The examination, for students in Faculties other than Law, must be held as soon as possible but not later than Reading Week, unless an extension is granted by the student's Faculty; Law students will write the examination in February.

(3) Deferred Second-Term and Full-Session Final Examinations: Any student who is granted a deferred final examination in a second-term or full-session course by his or her dean, may write that examination as soon as possible after the end of the second term at a time and place mutually agreeable to the student and the instructor and any other students in the course who are requesting the same privilege. The examination must be held as soon as possible but not later than June 15th unless an extension is granted by the student's Faculty.

(4) Deferred Examinations not written by Reading Week (for first-term finals) or by June 15 (for second-term and full-session finals): Students who have applied for a deferred final examination in accordance with the guidelines in this section, but who have, for justifiable cause, not written the examination by the dates specified above, may reapply to write during the regular reexamination/deferred examination period which is in August for students in Faculties other than Law and in the third week of June for Law students. Applications to write in August must be submitted by July 2, the date specified in the Academic Schedule, §11.

16.5.7 Special Examinations

A special, deferred final examination may be granted to a student who is prevented by illness (supported by a medical certificate), domestic affliction, or other extreme circumstance from writing a deferred final examination at the regular time. Application must be made to Examinations and Timetabling, Office of the Registrar, Room 120, Administration Building a full month before the special examination is to be written, and must be accompanied by the prescribed fee (see §15.2.11). Special examinations are normally written on the Saturday following Labor Day. In certain approved cases they may be written during the regular examination periods in April, May, or August.

16.6 Academic Standing

The term "academic standing" relates to matters such as transfers from one program to another within a Faculty, continuation in a program, graduation, and the requirement for a student to withdraw. Unless stated otherwise, changes to academic standing regulations affect new students, continuing students, and students readmitted to a program or Faculty. Students should refer annually to the Calendar for the academic standing regulations governing their degree programs.

16.6.1 First-Class Standing

First-class standing in a given year shall be awarded to any undergraduate student who obtains a grade point average of not less than 7.5 while enrolled in a full, normal, academic course load in that year: the definition of a full normal academic course load shall be left to the Faculty concerned.

16.6.2 Degrees with Honors

A student in the Faculty of Arts or Science with approved qualifications may proceed to the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science with Honors by following a more concentrated course of study in a special field under the supervision of one of the departments. The time required for an honors degree is four years from senior matriculation. Degrees with Honors are awarded in two classes: First Class Honors, and Honors, in accordance with the requirements of the Faculty and department concerned.

16.6.3 Degrees with Distinction

At the discretion of the Faculty concerned, the notation "With Distinction" is inscribed on the permanent record and graduation parchment of a candidate for any degree, except an honors or graduate degree, if the candidate has obtained a grade-point average of 7.5 or higher over the last two years of the program.

16.6.4 Promotion

Subject to the control of General Faculties Council, promotion regulations are set by the Faculties of the University. Details will be found in the Faculty Regulations section of the appropriate section of this Calendar.

16.6.5 Unsatisfactory Standing

(1) Students who have been admitted to the University with a weak matriculation record may be warned of the fact at the beginning of their first session.

(2) The records of all students are reviewed at the end of each session. Students whose records are found to be unsatisfactory will be notified by their dean and may be referred to Student Counselling Services for counselling. They may be required to repeat their year. Students whose records are extremely unsatisfactory may be required to withdraw from the Faculty, and normally at least a year must elapse before readmission to the University will be considered.

(3) Students who have been required to withdraw must apply for readmission to the dean of the Faculty in which they propose to register. The dean may require a student to undergo counselling as a part of the process for obtaining readmission. Students seeking readmission must report their intention by letter to the dean not later than mid-June of the year in which readmission is sought. The letter should include an explanation of their previous difficulties and indicate why the applicants believe that they may now be successful.

(4) Students with an extremely unsatisfactory record at another university will not be considered for admission to the University of Alberta until at least a year has elapsed from the date of their leaving their former university. Thereafter, the procedure outlined in (3) will apply.

16.6.6 Scholastic Standing and Extracurricular Activities

Every student, prior to accepting nomination for any position on the Executive Committee of the Students' Union or as the Board of Governors representative, shall be required to obtain a statement of academic eligibility from the dean of his or her Faculty. This statement shall be filed with his or her nomination papers.

To be eligible (1) to represent the University in any competition with outside organizations, (2) to participate in non-competitive University activities which are open to the general public, or (3) to be eligible to hold office in a recognized student organization, a student must be a registered student taking at least one course for credit during each term and must meet the requirements of satisfactory scholastic standing as defined by the Faculty.

16.7 Attendance

Since presence at lectures, participation in classroom discussions and projects, and the completion of assignments are important components of most courses, students will serve their interests best by regular attendance. Those who choose not to attend must assume whatever risks are involved. In this connection the attention of students is directed to §§16.5.1(3), and 16.5.2(5) of this Calendar.

16.8 Appeals and Grievances

General Faculties Council (GFC) is the university governing body which has statutory authority over academic matters and student affairs.

16.8.1 Academic Standing Appeals

GFC has instructed each Faculty to publish in its section of the Calendar the regulations which affect a student's academic standing, a notice that such decisions are appealable, and information as to where the Faculty-level appeal regulations may be obtained.

In addition, General Faculties Council has established an Academic Appeals Committee and has delegated to it authority to hear appeals from students against Faculty decisions which affect their academic standing. An appeal may be made only on the basis that there has been a miscarriage of justice.

Students must exhaust the provisions for appeal within their own Faculty before taking an appeal to the GFC Academic Appeals Committee.

The GFC Academic Appeals Committee is not authorized to hear a number of matters, including an appeal from a decision respecting a mark or grade in an individual course, from an examination decision made in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, from a decision to refuse admission to a Faculty, or a decision relating to credit for courses taken or to be taken outside the University of Alberta.

For further information regarding appeal procedures at the Faculty level, including deadlines for filing an appeal, students should seek the advice of their de
Students who have been unsuccessful in appealing at Faculty level and who wish to appeal to the GFC Acade Appeals Committee should consult the Secretary to G eral Faculties Council in order to learn the procedures be followed and the deadlines to be met.

If students are unsure of the validity of their grievar or procedures of appeal they should contact the Stud Adviser in the Office of the Dean of Student Services.

16.8.2 Grievances Concerning Grades

The assignment of marks and grades is the inh responsibility of a course instructor. Any grievances co cerning grades should first be discussed with the instru tor. If the problem is not resolved, the student is encourag to talk with the Chair of the Department where the cour is taught, and then with the Dean of the Faculty where t course is taught.

This informal process is meant to precede and avoid formal appeal, but does not preclude formal appe to the Faculty Council. If students are unsure of the validi of their grievance or procedures for appeal, they shou contact the Student Adviser in the Office of the Dean Student Services.

16.9 Student Records

16.9.1 Contents of Files

(1) Only letters and documents pertinent to a student admission and academic record may be kept in th official files of the Registrar, the Deans, and th Department Chair.

(2) Application for Admission forms of any Faculty requi ing letters of reference must contain a statement t the effect that the Faculty reserves the right to solic information from persons other than those named b the applicant as referees provided the student i advised of the names or the offices consulted a additional referees.

16.9.2 Transcripts

(1) Students are responsible for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of their official record at the end o each session that they attend by verifying thei Statement of Results and the copy of their transcrip provided during Winter Session registration and a convocation. Students should be aware that only the official transcript is retained permanently and that source documentation (the student file in the Registrar's Office), is destroyed seven years after the last registration. Queries regarding errors or omissions on the official transcript must be made as soon as possible, and will not be considered after the source documentation has been destroyed.

(2) The University of Alberta transcript includes the following information for each student record:

a. student name
b. student previous name(s)
c. student ID number
d. student birthdate
e. date of issue of transcript
f. degrees and awards granted
g. admission status and basis of admission
h. credit granted from other institutions or programs
i. Faculty and degree program of registration
j. course information, including for each course: session and term, course name, number, title, grade, course weight, course units (Engineering students), grade points, hours of instruction index, class average and class enrollment
k. total weights and grade points used to calculate GPA
l. grade point average calculation
m. comments pertaining to academic standing in the program
n. withdrawal date, if appropriate
o. disciplinary record of suspension or expulsion, if appropriate

(3) For further information regarding grades or GPA, refer to §16.4, Evaluation Procedures and Grading System.

(4) Units of Course Weight: Course weight is assigned for the purpose of calculating a weighted (grade point) average. Normally a full-course carries a weight of 6.0

and includes three hours of lecture per week for the entire session; a half-course carries a weight of 3.0 and includes three hours of lecture per week for one term.

Course Hours of Instruction Index: The Hours of Instruction Index is a weighted value based on the number of instruction hours per week as follows: total hours per week of lecture plus half the hours per week of all other types of instruction. For example, a full course with three hours per week of lecture and three hours per week of seminar for two terms would have an hours of instruction index of 9.0. A course weight of 6.0 may be considered as equal to six semester-hours or nine quarter hours.

Units: Units are used only for students in undergraduate programs in the Faculty of Engineering. Units are normally calculated in the same manner as the Hours of Instruction Index for courses offered by Engineering and for required courses offered by other Faculties; for other courses, the unit value of a course is normally the same as the units of course weight.

Grade Points: Grade points for undergraduate students are calculated by multiplying the course grade by the units of course weight, or the course grade by the course unit value for undergraduate Engineering students. Grades, weights, and grade points not used in the calculation of the GPA are so indicated by brackets on the transcript.

.9.3 Registration Deadlines Implication for Records

In Winter Session students have five class days following the commencement of classes in the term in which to make changes to their registration without penalty. Courses dropped during this period are deleted entirely from a student's record. Course withdrawals following this period and up to the last day for withdrawing from courses for that term result in a grade of W (withdrew) being recorded on a student's record. Grades of W are not included in the calculation of the Grade Point Average (GPA).

Courses which are dropped following the deadline for the last day for withdrawing from courses for that term result in a grade of WF (withdrew failing) being assigned for the course(s) by the student's Faculty. Grades of WF are counted as numeric grades of 1 in the computation of the GPA on the transcript.

) Pass/fail (credit/no credit) courses which are dropped following the deadline for the last day for withdrawing from courses for that term result in a grade of F (fail) being assigned for the course(s) by the student's Faculty. Grades of F are not included in the calculation of GPA.

) When a student withdraws from one or more courses after the first week of classes, fees will be reassessed on a per course basis with the fee for each dropped course prorated in accordance with the table noted in §15.2.5 of this Calendar.

) §11 (Academic Schedule) of this Calendar contains the specific dates for the change of registration and course withdrawal dates noted above.

6.9.4 Student Files

1) Official transcripts of a student's academic record are issued by the Office of the Registrar upon written request of the student. Transcript request forms are available at the Student Access Centre, main floor, Administration Building. Transcripts are issued to the student personally or to whomever the student designates. Transcript fees are payable when the request is made. An official transcript bears the original signature of an authorized member of the Registrar's staff and the official seal of the University imprinted over the signature.

2) Unofficial copies of the student's academic record are issued in the form of a sessional Statement of Results to the student; to the student's Dean, and to the Chair of the Department or designee, in the case of a student registered in a specialized, honors or graduate program. An unofficial transcript or copy of the student's academic record bears neither an original signature nor the University seal.

(3) Unofficial copies of the student's academic record may be issued to the following at their request: the Dean of a Faculty to which a student wishes to transfer; Student Counselling Services, when a student has been referred for counselling by an authorized officer of the University; and the Student Awards Office, where an award made through a University scholarship committee is involved, on the understanding that information regarding the student's academic record will not be furnished to the scholarship donor without the student's consent.

(4) Unofficial copies may be issued at the student's request to other offices or individuals in the University.

(5) Public information regarding students, such as dates of attendance, place and date of birth, city and home address, verification of degree, or degrees awarded may be issued at the discretion of the authorized officer of the University to educational institutions, appropriate government agencies, prospective employers, and scholarship donors.

(6) Academic and disciplinary records are separate. The only disciplinary action that will be documented on a student's academic record is one involving the student's suspension or expulsion from the University. There is to be only one official disciplinary record. Prior to January, 1974 disciplinary records were kept by the Dean's Council. Since that date they have been kept in the custody of the Student Discipline Officer, who is responsible for implementing University disciplinary procedures, and who reports to the General Faculties Council. The only persons having access to such records will be those directly concerned with the action.

(7) Where access to academic records is sought for the purpose of statistical research, such access may be granted by the Executive Committee of General Faculties Council on such terms as may be necessary to ensure the confidentiality of individual student records. Research on student data will be defined as not being within the normal administrative operation of the University. In case of doubt as to what may fall within "the normal administrative operation of the University," the GFC Executive Committee will decide.

(8) Where information is sought for the purpose of biographical research, it may be released at the discretion of the Registrar, subject to the following conditions:

a. for records less than 50 years old, the researcher must provide a release from the student or estate, or receive permission to obtain the information from the Executive Committee of GFC;

b. for records more than 50 years old the Registrar will, at his discretion, provide the information;

c. the researcher will not be permitted direct access to records, but must submit requests for specific information;

d. decisions made by the Registrar may be appealed to the Executive Committee of GFC.

(9) Upon request, a student shall have access to any document other than confidential material, within an official file bearing the student's name. Confidential material is that solicited or released by the student (eg. letters of reference provided to an Admissions Committee are confidential).

16.9.5 Letters of Reference and Records

(1) The contents of letters of reference regarding a student will not be revealed to the student without the permission of the referee. Letters of reference will be used only for the express purpose for which they have been supplied unless the permission of the referees and the student concerned has been given for other purposes.

(2) Where students have gone on their own initiative as a patient to University Health Service, or as a client to Student Counselling Services, the contents of their files are private, in accordance with professional ethics or codes of behavior.

(3) Where a student has been referred by an authorized officer of the University to the University Health Service or to the Student Counselling Services, the consultant's opinion will be reported to the authorized officer if the student gives written permission to do so. Such written permission shall be granted when the student signs a release form, the nature of which will be determined by the Service in question. The nature and content of any report provided by the consultant will be determined by the ethics and codes of behavior of the consultant's profession. If the student authorizes the consultant to release a report, the consultant may, at his or her discretion, discuss the contents of the report with the student.

(4) Confidential information regarding a student's record may be divulged by a Faculty member or authorized officer of the University to institutions, agencies or prospective employers only with the student's knowledge and consent. A Faculty member, when called upon to do so, may use discretion in expressing an opinion to such institutions, agencies or prospective employers concerning a student's academic ability, character and personality. However, a record of the opinion so expressed will not become part of the student's file.

Exceptions to Stated Policy

Students who object to the release of information regarding their academic record in accordance with the policy stated above should notify the Registrar in writing, giving their specific objections. Appropriate action will be taken by the Registrar, who will so advise the student.

16.9.6 Withholding of University Documents

In any case where a student has neglected or refused to pay amounts owed to the University, the Registrar has been empowered and directed by the Board of Governors to withhold registration materials, student examination results, or other indicators of academic attainment, until the student has settled the account with the University or has made arrangements satisfactory to the University to do so. For example, certification with respect to the student's academic attainment or registration materials may be withheld if the student owes the University for library penalties or fines; for purchases at the University Bookstore; for parking or traffic violations; for breakage or damage to laboratory facilities or supplies; for student fees and University of Alberta Emergency Student Loans; for room and board fees; for fees for reexamination or deferred final examinations; or for fines imposed by the Dean of Student Services or the University Appeal Board.

17 Graduation

On the recommendations of the Faculty Councils, degrees are conferred by the Chancellor of the University at a Convocation of the Faculty, alumni, graduands, and their guests. Convocations for the conferring of degrees are normally held in early June and mid-November of each year.

18 Student Services

18.1.1 Dean of Student Services

The Dean of Student Services is the senior administrator in charge of a number of administrative units working in the area of student services. These include the Office of the Dean of Student Services, the Office of Native Student Services, University Health Services, Student Counselling Services, Advisory Services Centre, the International Centre, Career and Placement Services, the Office of Disabled Students Services, and Effective Writing Resources.

The Dean chairs the Council on Student Life which is comprised of representatives from various service units on campus, the teaching Faculties, the University administration and the student body. The Council ensures cooperation and coordination between all aspects of student services, and serves as a forum in which matters affecting students can be considered and recommendations made to the appropriate University authorities.

The Office of the Dean of Student Services, located at 245 Athabasca Hall, handles club registrations, administers University liquor regulations and permits, houses the Student Discipline Officer, and plays a major role in the administration of the Code of Student Behavior.

18.1.2 Native Student Services

The Office of Native Student Services serves both the University and the wider community. It is a student service which is complementary to counselling, remediation and other student services within the University. The Office provides an orientation for new students, is a resource for the Aboriginal Student Council, and offers meeting and study rooms for student use. The office awards bursaries and prizes based on academic achievement. It assists students in all aspects of university life. Its main function is to make the University more accessible to Native students.

Native Student Services offers the Transition Year Program to a selected number of students each year. This program provides tutorial and counselling support for mature students during their first full university year.

Enquiries are welcome at the Office of Native Student Services, 124 Athabasca Hall, University of Alberta, Edmonton, T6G 2E8 (Telephone 492-5677).

18.1.3 University Health Services

Comprehensive medical care is provided throughout the year by the University Health Service. A fee is assessed (See §201.4.2) to cover in part pharmaceutical and other ancillary services not paid for by the Alberta Health Care Insurance Commission.

Fully qualified medical and nursing personnel staff the Health Service, located on the corner of 111 St. & 88 Ave., immediately south of the Law Centre.

Details of the range of services provided may be obtained by contacting the Nursing Supervisor at 492-2612.

18.1.4 Student Counselling Services

Counselling is offered on a confidential basis to students and to prospective students throughout the year. There is a minimal fee for vocational testing, but no charge for other services. Students wishing to see a counsellor are advised to arrange an appointment in advance.

Although counselling regarding vocational and program choice is available to prospective students during or after completion of their Grade XII year, concerns with selection of individual courses or options should be directed to the Dean of the Faculty in which the student intends to register.

University students may use the services for any of the purposes indicated below:

(1) Learning Skills: Assitance with learning skills is available through individual interviews, handout materials, and audiotapes.

(2) Vocational Planning: A counsellor may be consulted about future plans, including future professional training. Tests and other means of vocational assessment are available when deemed appropriate by the counsellor.

(3) Personal Problems: Sometimes a student's performance may suffer because of worry, restlessness, inability to concentrate, or preoccupation with other personal problems. In such circumstances personal counselling is available.

(4) Change of Faculty: Students contemplating a change of Faculty may wish to consult a counsellor. This action should preferably be taken as early as possible before the beginning of the next University session. Students wishing to transfer to a Faculty other than the one in which they are currently enrolled should note the transfer regulations as specified in the appropriate Faculty section of this Calendar.

For further information or to arrange an appointment, telephone 492-5205 weekdays between 8:00 am and 4:00 pm, May 1 through August 31; and between 8:30 am and 4:30 pm, September 1 through April 30; or write to the Director, Student Counselling Services, 102 Athabasca Hall, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2E8.

18.1.5 Advisory Services Centre

The Advisory Services Centre is a unit of Student Counselling Services. It has two major focuses: (1) assisting students with both academic and non-academic appeals, and explaining rules and procedures within the University regarding student conduct; (2) providing emergency loans of normally up to $300.00 to full-time students who run into unexpected emergencies, and a limited number of special bursaries to students who demonstrate financial hardship. The Centre produces the Advisory Services Centre Handbook; Guide to Advisory and Counselling Services on Campus; and a number of brochures on academic regulations, the appeals process, emergency loans, and special bursaries. These brochures are available at the various student information desks, including the Student Access Centre. The Advisory Services Centre is located in Room 235 Athabasca Hall (492-2735).

18.1.6 International Centre

The International Centre encourages an international dimension throughout the University of Alberta campus.

Services

A major purpose of the Centre is to provide information and assistance to foreign students so that they will adjust well to their new culture and achieve their educational goals. The Centre offers orientation and re-entry workshops; provides limited financial assistance; assists CIDA, Commonwealth and other scholars; provides information on Canada immigration matters; provides advising on concerns ranging from the personal (specific) to the academic (general); and conducts referral, liaison, advocacy, and research regarding foreign students and the issues that concern them.

Programs

Through programs offered by the Centre, the University community has the opportunity to interact with students from other countries. A major thrust of programs is to promote international students as "living resources" on campus and to increase the level of global understanding by exploring issues in development. Programs range from the lunchtime "Passport to the World" program (Winter Session) to the Host Family Program, which pairs foreign students and Canadian families. The Centre also coordinates the annual International Week on campus, a week of presentations, displays, and activities profiling the International expertise and interests of the Unviersity.

Study Abroad/Exchanges

The Centre offers a study abroad/exchanges program enabling Canadian students to gain valuable experience overseas, often while completing their degree at the University of Alberta. The program includes the administration of several academic student exchanges with institutions overseas, the annual Overseas Options Week in October, Overseas Opportunities Room containing information on study/work and volunteer opportunities overseas as well as workshops and advising sessions throughout the year.

The Centre has several publications, including International Centre NEWS , Foreign Student Handbook, and Guide to International Exchanges. The Centre is open Monday - Friday from 8:30 am - 4:30 pm and until 9:00 pm on Thursdays throughout the Winter Session; 8:00 am - 4:00 pm throughout the Intersession. The International Centre is located at 172 HUB International (Ground Level). Telephone 492-2692. FAX: 492-1134.

18.1.7 Office of Disabled Students Services

The University of Alberta has a tradition of encouraging academically qualified disabled persons to seek admission to its programs. It has also demonstrated its commitment to provide support services to disabled students to enable them to access fully University facilities and successfully complete its programs. In assisting disabled students, the University's criteria for academic excellence will not be compromised.

Although the primary responsibility for the provision of services rests with the Office of Disabled Student Services, the provision of a supportive physical, academic and social environment is the responsibility of the entire University.

To achieve its goal of attracting and retaining qualified disabled students, the University commits itself to the following objectives.

(1) The University of Alberta will ensure that disabled persons are considered for admission to any programs for which they are academically qualified within the quota restrictions of programs.

(2) Where warranted, and without compromising its academic standards, the University will modify program courseload, examination procedures, and other academic requirements to permit disabled students to complete their programs.

(The above is an excerpt from the policy adopted by the University of Alberta General Faculties Council on September 26, 1988. For a copy of the complete Disabled Student Policy, contact the Office of Disabled Student Services.)

Students with physical, sensory or learning disabilities are invited to contact the Office of Disabled Student Services, Room 300, Athabasca Hall, 492-3381 (voice or TDD) or 492-7269 (TDD only) for information or assistance. The office coordinates the efforts of various University departments and off-campus agencies in meeting the special needs of students with disabilities and provides support services relevant to program access and participation in campus life. A wide variety of services are available, including orientation to the University, program planning, sign language interpreting arrangements, and financial and personal advising.

Through an extensive Volunteer Program, the Office also offers the following kinds of volunteer assistance: notetaking, exam writing, taping of readings, escort or study help, tutoring, library research help, mobility assistance and special project help.

A Disabled Student Handbook, Faculty guide, campus accessibility map, tactile map of the campus (for blind students), and specialized aids and equipment, including personal computers, are available for student use.

The office is the contact point for students sponsored by the Alberta government's Vocational Rehabilitation Disabled Persons (VRDP) program.

Early contact by those considering attending University of Alberta or by those admitted will assist easier transition to the University. Orientation for disabled students will take place September 4, 1991. Phone 3381 (voice of TDD) to register.

The Office of Disabled Student Services is located Room 300 Athabasca Hall.

18.1.8 Career and Placement Services (CaPS)

Career and Placement Services is a University-operated career centre which offers career planning services to students and alumni. While the centre is managed and operated by Unviersity of Alberta staff, it receives financial support from the Students' Union as well as from the University.

CaPS offers a variety of programs and services to maximize the intereaction between the students, alumni and the employer community. Students at all levels of their studies are encouraged to use the services of CaPS to develop their job/career search skills for summer, part-time, and permanent employment. CaPS also has a specialized recruitment program developed to assist employers in their recruitment of students and enable them to meet with students in an interview situation on campus.

CaPS offers the following programs and services:

Workshops

Throughout the academic year, workshops are held to assist students in their search for degree related employment. They are focused on Career Planning, Job Search, Resumé, and Interview Skills.

Job Search Counselling

Staff consultants are available to address career planning concerns. Staff members are available to provide consultation on any aspect of the job search process. CaPS has also developed workbooks on job search, resumé writing, and interview skills, and a series of career planning books targeted to specific focus groups.

Resource Centre

The Resource Centre is a unique library specially designed to assist in the job search. The Centre contains a vast array of reference materials including the following: Employer and Industry Information, Directories and Statistics, Faculty Specific Career Information, Job Search Information, Recruitment Information, International Employment Opportunities and much more.

Career Fairs and Career Forums

Students should not miss the opportunity to meet employers representing a wide variety of industries at the CaPS Career Fair held each year in January. Smaller discipline-specific career fairs are also held throughout the academic year.

Recruitment

Employers seeking qualified students for permanent, temporary, or summer employment contact CaPS throughout the year. Students from a wide variety of disciplines are sought, and students are encouraged to visit CaPS early and often to find out what positions are available.

CaPS Job Bank

The CaPS Job Bank is a computerized system wherein an up-to-date listing of specific permanent, summer, and temporary jobs can be accessed through MTS on-campus and by modem off-campus.

CaPS is located on the 4th Floor of the Student Union Building, phone 492-4291.

18.1.9 Effective Writing Resources

Effective Writing Resources provides a non-credit writing program which is open to those who want to improve their composition skills.

(1) Courses: A variety of 18-hour classes and 12-hour workshops at various levels are scheduled throughout the year. Among the courses offered are the following:

Level One:	Writing for University Writing Lab
Level Two:	Writing for Business
Level Three:	Marking Written Assignments Revising and Editing Your Thesis

Information concerning schedules and fees is available at the office of Effective Writing Resources.

(2) Individual Assessments: Effective Writing Resources provides individual assessments based on samples of previously written work or on results from the "Alberta Universities Writing Competence Test." All assessments include a written evaluation and an interview. The fee for this service is $40.00.

a. Writing Competence Test: This diagnostic test is offered several times throughout the year; students enrolled in a course listed above have the opportunity to take the test at no extra charge. Those who pass the test may request a certificate for inclusion with information they send to prospective employers.

b. Portfolio Assessments: These evaluations are available at any time. Those who wish to use this service should bring three or four samples of their writing to the office of Effective Writing Resources and arrange for an interview. Students must ensure that any papers they bring have already been submitted for course credit.

Other Services: Students may also obtain a list of recommended books on composition and a checklist designed to help them revise and edit their work.

The office of Effective Writing Resources is located at 2B Students' Union Building (phone 492-2682).

8.2 Library Services

The University of Alberta Library contains approximately 3,400,000 volumes with the main collections housed in the Cameron, Rutherford, Law, and Education Buildings, the Walter C. Mackenzie Health Sciences Centre and Faculté Saint-Jean. Full information about the University Library is contained in §243 of this Calendar.

Students are subject to fines for overdue books according to the Library Fines Policies. This document is available at all circulation desks.

Note: §18.3 reserved.

8.4 Housing and Food Services

The Department of Housing and Food Services offers students a variety of residence communities where academic and personal growth is supported and encouraged. Lister Hall, Pembina Hall and Faculté Saint-Jean are furnished residences. Lister is available for an eight or four month duration, and Pembina and Faculté Saint-Jean are available for an eight month duration. Michener Park, HUB International, and Garneau are unfurnished residences, and are available on a month to month basis. Each residence elects a students' association and is directed by a Residence Life Coordinator, who works with students to develop an unique program of educational, social and cultural activities. Priority for available housing is given to full-time students at the University of Alberta. Applications are accepted throughout the year, and students are encouraged to request an information package as early as possible from:

Housing and Food Services, University of Alberta, 44 Lister Hall, 87 Avenue & 116 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2H6; Phone (403) 492-4281

Faculté Saint-Jean

Faculté Saint-Jean is a small French speaking residence located on the Faculté Saint-Jean campus, six kilometres east of the main campus. This historic red brick building was constructed in 1908, and provides single or double fully furnished rooms. The residence is conveniently linked to the Faculté's academic buildings by an underground passage, and a playing field and tennis courts are part of the Faculté's grounds. The University runs a free shuttle bus service to the main campus.

Students supply their own food and do their own cooking in well-equipped communal kitchens, and the Cafe Saint-Jean is also available for snacks. Faculté Saint-Jean provides the camaraderie of a small community, and an excellent opportunity to participate in "la francophonie".

Faculté Saint-Jean la résidence, située sur le campus de la Faculté Saint-Jean, est environ 6 kilométres du campus principal de l'université. Etre résident de la Faculté Saint-Jean, c'est avoir la possibilité de vivre dans un milieu fancophone. Cet édifice, construit en 1908, loge 75 étudiants dans de chambres meublées, simples ou doubles. Les étudiants on accès a des cuisines modernes et bien equipées.

La résidence est reliée à l'édifice académique par un passage souterrain. Un service de minibus gratuit relie ce campus avec celui de l'université.

Vivre à la Faculté Saint-Jean vous permettra de mieux connaitre vos camarades de classe.

Lister Hall

The Lister Residence consists of three high-rise towers on the University campus. An excellent choice for the first-year student, the Lister community encourages social interaction and development, and provides a mandatory meal plan. The single or double study bedrooms are fully furnished, and are located around a central lounge area. Students choose their own type of floor environment, based on social activity, age, and living arrangement. Floor coordinators are the students' link to opportunities for involvement in the residence association's various recreational and social programs. Study rooms are available to students in each tower.

Lister provides many other amenities: steam room, weight room, tennis courts, typing rooms, computer room, color televisions in the lounges, piano and music practice rooms, and a suntanning facility. Dining facilities are located downstairs, or at various food service outlets across campus. "The Marina", a 24-hour convenience store, and "The Ship", a pub operated jointly by Housing and Food Services and the Lister Hall Students' Association, are also located in Lister Hall. Coin-operated washers, dryers and other services are found on each floor.

Pembina Hall

Pembina offers a relaxed and quiet study atmosphere for mature students (21 years of age and over). Pembina is one of the University's original residences, constructed in 1914, located in the heart of the campus and surrounded by well-kept lawns and trees. All rooms are fully furnished singles. The Central Academic Building, Students' Union Building, and HUB Mall are all close by. A meal plan is provided, with dining facilities located in Lister Hall, CAB, and many lunchrooms across campus. There are no cooking facilities in the study bedrooms. Each floor features a small kitchenette and communal lounge. Piano, computer, and sewing rooms are also available for students' use. Coin-operated laundry facilities are located in the residence.

Garneau

Garneau is one of Edmonton's oldest and most picturesque neighborhoods, located just east of campus next to the Law Centre. The Garneau Residences are made up of a variety of apartments and houses which are available on a month-to-month basis. A coin-operated central laundry facility is available to all students living in the Garneau houses, and laundry facilities are located in each apartment block.

The Garneau apartments are attractive, modern walk-ups, constructed as residences for the World University Games in 1983. These one, two and four-bedroom unfurnished units feature spacious balconies, and are equipped with a refrigerator, stove and security intercom system. Utilities are included with the rent, and bicycle storage is also available.

The 41 Garneau houses are unique in design, ranging in size from cozy one and two-bedroom units to spacious four and six-bedroom houses. Students may apply as a group or individually. All houses are equipped with a refrigerator and stove. Utilities are included in the rent.

HUB

HUB is one of the most unusual housing complexes in North America. As an international gathering place, HUB offers opportunities to meet students from as far away as Hong Kong, Lebanon, and Kenya. Some units overlook a self-contained mall with a wide variety of restaurants, shops, and services. Unfurnished bachelor, one, two, four-bedroom, and special end units (accessible to the disabled) are available on a month-to-month basis, and all units come with drapes, fridge and stove. Students may apply as a group or individually.

HUB International is conveniently joined by covered skywalks to the Rutherford Library, Humanities Centre, and the Fine Arts, Law, and Business buildings.

Michener Park

Michener Park is a quiet family housing community six kilometers south of the main campus, designed for couples and families. For families, two-bedroom apartments with balconies on the upper floors and patios at ground level are available, or two and three-bedroom row houses with semi-private yards opening into landscaped courtyards. Couples without children may choose between Vanier House, a 14 storey high-rise featuring unique bi-level one-bedroom apartments, and Galbraith House, a 21 storey tower of two-bedroom apartments. All units are available on a monthly basis.

Furnishings include refrigerator, stove, and drapes. Laundry is also available at a central location, and utilities are included in the rent. Michener Park provides playgrounds, day-care, a babysitting co-op, and a computer room with an on-line connection to the mainframe University of Alberta academic computer system. The Park is close to shopping, the University of Alberta Tennis Centre, and excellent bus routes to the University and downtown.

Food Services

Students in Lister Hall and Pembina Hall must purchase a dining card, which operates on a declining balance. The card may be used in Lister Hall, CAB, or any of the 13 lunchrooms conveniently located in various academic buildings across campus. Required financial commitments are listed on the Rate and Information sheet, which is enclosed with all housing applications. A campus dining card, which will be available to students living in other residences and off campus, will also be offered.

18.4.1 Student Off-Campus Housing Registry

The Housing Registry, operated by the Students' Union, provides a year-round service for students looking for off-campus accommodation. It provides students with a personalized, computer-generated listing of houses, suites in house, apartments, rooms and room and board situations, as well as general housing information. Information may be mailed on request. The office is located on the Main Floor of the Students' Union Building. (Telephone 492-4212.)

18.5 Bookstore

The University maintains a large and modern Bookstore in the Students' Union Building, where prescribed textbooks and supplies of all kinds may be purchased. The Bookstore also stocks a wide range of books and other items of special interest to students and Faculty.

Refund Policy

General:

Full refunds will be given provided the merchandise being returned is in perfect saleable condition and the customer provides acceptable proof of purchase (cash receipt or cancelled cheque) and the specific conditions for refund of the type of merchandise is met.

The Bookstore reserves the right to deny a refund at any time.

Textbooks:

Textbooks may be returned only during the specified times as published by the Bookstore.

A student may return textbooks that were required for a specific course if the student has withdrawn from the course and provides proof of the withdrawal and requests the refund within seven days of withdrawing from the course.

General Books:

Books that are not specified as required textbooks may be returned for refund within seven days of the date of purchase.

Special Orders:

Refunds are not allowed on special orders.

Sale Items:

Refunds are not allowed on sale items.

Non-Book Merchandise:

Merchandise may be returned for refund within seven days of date of purchase.

Microcomputer Department:

Normally there are no refunds on merchandise from the microcomputer department, however, the manager may, under extenuating circumstances, approve a refund.

Used Books

The Bookstore also buys back certain textbooks in December and in April, provided they are in good condition. The Bookstore reserves the right to limit these quantities.

18.6 Printing Services

Printing Services operates a professional printing and duplicating service for the University and the University community. Students may access Printing Services' many services including desktop publishing, disk conversion, text scanning, duplicating, printing, and binding.

Students wishing to use ReproCards for photocopying may purchase $5 and $10 cards from the vending machines conveniently located throughout the Library. $5, $10, $20, and $50 cards may also be purchased through Printing Services at the Main Plant or at one of the Satellite Copy Centres.

The Main Plant is located at 108 Printing Services Building. Satelite offices are located in Tory, Room TB29, Education South, Room B105, Civil Engineering, Room 114, and Clinical Sciences, Room 1-162. For information on printing, duplicating, and thesis binding call 492-4246.

18.7 University Computing Systems

The Department of University Computing Systems (UCS) provides computing facilities for both academic and administrative usage. The Michigan Terminal System (MTS) running on the Amdahl 580/5870 mainframe and the Virtual Machine (VM) system running on the IBM 4381-13 provide computing for Faculty, researchers, and students. With two FPS-164 attached array processors, the Amdahl provides cost-effective power for large-scale numerical computation tasks. The Multi-Tasking Virtual Storage (MVS) system on an IBM 3081-K provides computing for administrative functions.

There are several microcomputer labs located throughout the campus which serve various needs in terms of operating systems (DOS, UNIX, etc.) and software. Some of these labs, plus several terminal labs, are connected to the mainframe systems. When not scheduled for academic use, all labs are available for general access. Schedules are posted on the lab doors. Information on lab locations and hardware/software configurations in each lab is available from UCS.

Additional services include consulting, non-credit training, development and support of administrative applications, contract programming, optical scoring, magnetic tape storage, and remote terminal support. The Data Library, Room 156C Tory Building, contains machine readable research data to assist researchers in locating quantitative data.

18.8 Day Care Centres

The Students' Union and Community Day Care Centre is located in HUB (8917-112 Street). The Centre operates from 7:30 am to 5:30 pm, Monday to Friday with a mid-day meal and two snacks provided. The staff are fully qualified to devise and implement programs which meet the social, emotional, and intellectual needs of young children. An extended French kindergarten program is also in operation where the acquisition of a second language is a positive, comfortable, and fun experience for children five years of age and older. The Centre is government subsidized and thus fees are based on family income. For more information, call 492-2245.

In addition, Michener Park Education Society runs a non-profit day care and day home agency located in the University's student housing complex (Michener Park, 122 Street and 48 Avenue). The day care provides care for children ages three months to three years. The staff are fully qualified to work with this age group (having a two-year Early Childhood Development Diploma or equivalent). The centre is government subsidized and fees are based on family income level. Interested students can contact the Centre at 434-8407.

A third day care facility, the University and Community Day Care Centre, is located in Windsor Park School, 8720-118 Street. Although priority for admission is to university staff, limited positions may be available for children of students. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Centre at 433-0070.

18.9 Alumni Association

The Alumni Association, formed in 1915, counts among its members over 120,000 graduates world-wide and in all walks of life. Upon graduation, without fee, every student automatically becomes a lifetime member of the Association.

Members in good standing are entitled to benefits including:

New Trail

Published quarterly, New Trail Magazine travels to the four corners of the world at a voluntary rate of $12.00 per year. New Trail contains feature articles, Association news, and campus and class notes.

Recreational Privileges

Alumni user cards for alumni and their families are available at a special rate for access to all campus recreational facilities.

Reduced Insurance Rates

In cooperation with major insurance companies, the Association offers alumni life, auto, and home insurance at reduced rates.

Affinity Card

A no-fee Mastercard credit card, administered by one of the major chartered banks, is available to alumni and is a unique method of contributing to the University.

Travel Programs

A combination of education and entertainment, these programs are arranged by the Association to let you expand your horizons - literally!

Employment Seminars

At least four times each year, the Association sponsors workshops for graduates who wish to prepare effective résumés and learn job search and job interview techniques in order to make themselves more saleable in the competitive job market.

Library Privileges

Graduates are welcome to use library materials in place. A special borrower's card is available for alumni at $50.00 annually.

University Affairs

Your perspective is valuable. As a member, you can involve yourself in University government by being named to various University bodies including the Senate and the Board of Governors.

Annual Fund

Your contribution is needed for worthwhile projects. Fund donations are tax-deductible and, in many cases, matched by the Provincial Government.

Alumni Branches

These groups of alumni have their own constitution and executive committees and oeprate under the auspices of the Association. Branch representatives sit on the Alumni Council and organize social and educational functions for graduates in their area. Branches are located in numerous Canadian cities and in several foreign countries.

Faculty Associations

Constituent Alumni Associations are currently organized for the following Faculties, Departments, and special interest groups: Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Business, Nursing, Library & Information Studies, Education, Health Services Administration, Forestry, Drama, and Native Studies graduates. Administered by the Alumni Association with the cooperation of Faculty/Department staff and graduates, these associations serve to promote the welfare of their specific Faculty/Department or area of special interest.

Class Representatives

Students in their senior year are regularly invited to volunteer for the position of class representative for their department/Faculty. Class representatives assist classmates in maintaining contact with one another and the university by organizing reunions and preparing class newsletters. Representatives are the liaison between the class and the Association.

Reunion Weekend

Organized annually by the Association. You're invited. And if you're about to celebrate your 10th, 15th, 20th or more anniversary of graduation, we'd be happy to help organize a class reunion. Organizational booklets on the "how to" of planning a reunion are available to class representatives from the Alumni Office.

Newsletter Service

The Association absorbs all costs of mailing one newsletter per year for each class. Class representatives simply send a typed copy to the Alumni Office and we do the rest. If you are organizing a reunion, we'll send two newsletters that year.

Alumni Scholarships and Awards

The Association sponsors scholarships for future alumni (undergraduate students) and presents special recognition awards to outstanding alumni.

Official Alumni Mementos

Periodically, the Association offers special edition memorabilia to alumni. Items in the past have included official U of A watches, a chime clock and a framed sketch of a university building.

Host Family

In conjunction with the U of A's International Centre, Alumni Families are invited to share friendships and experiences with foreign students attending university.

18.10 Athletics

18.10.1 Campus Recreation Program

Campus Recreation is a section of the Department of Athletics that has the major responsibility of facilitating healthy lifestyles for the University Community through a wide variety of recreational activity programs.

All full-time and part-time students, Faculty members, non-academic staff members, and alumni and their families who possess either an I.D. card or a Van Vliet Physical Education and Recreation Centre 'user' card are eligible to participate in most Campus Recreation Programs.

The major goals of this program are: to offer a wide range of activities to as high a proportion as possible of the university community; to provide opportunities for physical exercise in a well organized fashion in an appropriate setting; to provide a friendly enjoyable social atmosphere during and following activity participation.

In an effort to attain its goals Campus Recreation is divided into a number of program areas, each with a different focus:

19 Code of Student Behavior: Conduct and Discipline

19.1 Introduction and Definitions

The University is defined by tradition as a community of people dedicated to the pursuit of truth and advancement of knowledge, and as a place where there is freedom to teach, freedom to engage in research, freedom to create, freedom to learn, freedom to study, freedom to speak, freedom to associate, freedom to write and to publish, and a concomitant obligation to respect these freedoms when they are exercised by others.

The offences listed below describe, in general terms, behaviors which if left unchecked would, to an unacceptable degree, infringe upon these freedoms and thus threaten the proper functioning of the University.

Nothing in this Code shall prevent the University from referring an individual matter to the appropriate law enforcement agency should such action be considered necessary.

Definitions

In these procedures, the following words have the following meanings:

(1) Student: A person who is registered as a student at the University whether or not for credit.

(2) Student Affairs: Any activities or conduct which relate to, or which may represent or be seen as representing, the University of Alberta, whether such activities or conduct occur on campus or off campus when the activities or conduct relate to student status.

(3) Complaint: A written and signed statement as a result of which proceedings under these procedures may be instituted.

(4) Appellant: Any person who appeals under these procedures.

(5) Discipline Officer: The Administrative Officer for Student Discipline Procedures, who is the person charged by the President with the implementation of these procedures.

(6) Dean of Student Services: Dean of Student Services or designate.

(7) Member of the University Community: Any registered student, academic staff or non-academic staff member.

(8) Dean: Unless indicated otherwise, "Dean" shall be interpreted as the Dean (or designate) of the Faculty which offers the course in which there is an allegation of academic wrongdoing on the part of a student.

(9) Director of Campus Security: Director of Campus Security or designate.

(10) Fine: A fine shall mean an order for payment of a sum certain by the student to the University of Alberta. Subject to the agreement between the student and the University, however, and subject to availability of appropriate work, the fine may be paid in whole or in part through the provision of services. Calculation of the value of the work shall be in accordance with rates normally paid for the position to be occupied.

(11) Suspension: Suspension requires a student to withdraw completely from the University for a specified period of time, to a maximum of three years. Upon expiry of the period of suspension, the student will be permitted to re-enrol in the program from which the student was suspended, provided the student has not been required to withdraw in accord with the Faculty's published academic standing regulations. Any course work completed at any institution during the period of suspension will not be accepted as credit towards an individual's degree, or for admission to a degree program, or other certification at the University of Alberta. See also §19.9.

(12) Expulsion: Expulsion requires a student to withdraw completely from the University for an indefinite period of time. The student shall not be permitted to return without the approval in writing of the Vice-President (Academic) in consultation with the Faculty from which the student was expelled. Such approval shall not be given before the expiry of three years. Any course work completed at any institution during the period of expulsion will not be accepted as credit towards an individual's degree, or for admission to a degree program, or other certification at the University of Alberta. See also §19.9.

(13) Instructor: The person charged with the responsibility for assigning the grade in a course, or the person formally charged by the Department or the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research with the responsibility for advising the graduate student or with the responsibility for supervising the thesis or project.

(14) Apprehended Danger: The perception that a student's behavior or conduct, while engaged in a recognized University or student activity, constitutes a danger, or risk of danger, to that student or to other persons or property.

(15) Mandatory Exclusion: Mandatory Exclusion prohibits or restricts the student's presence on campus and participation in any University class or student activity for an indefinite period of time. The Dean may impose conditions for reinstatement which must be met before a request for reinstatement will be considered.

19.2 Amendment of the Code

(1) The Code may be amended by General Faculties Council in exercise of the authority vested in it by §42 of the Universities Act.

(2) The Code must be published in each issue of the University Calendar and on at least one occasion annually in the Gateway.

(3) Amendments to the Code shall come into force thirty (30) days after receiving the approval of General Faculties Council. All amendments must be published in the Gateway, at least fourteen (14) days prior to the GFC meeting.

(4) The Administrative Officer for Student Discipline Procedures shall maintain the Official Copy of the Code and all amendments thereto.

19.3 Non-Academic Offences

Any of the following activities or conduct or attempts thereat or participation therein insofar as they relate to student affairs shall constitute an offence and be punishable.

(1) Disruptions:

a. No student shall, by action, words, written material or by any means whatsoever, knowingly obstruct University activities. University activities include but are not limited to, teaching, research, studying, administration, meetings, and public service.

b. Nothing in this Code shall be construed to prohibit peaceful assemblies and demonstrations, lawful picketing, or to inhibit free speech.

(2) Unauthorized Entry and/or Presence: No student shall, contrary to express instructions or with intent to damage, destroy, convert or misappropriate University property or without proper authority, enter or remain in any University building, facility, room, or office. Facilities include but are not limited to the following: parking lots, athletic fields, campus buildings, and campus areas.

(3) Misappropriation, Damage, and Destruction of Property:

a. No student shall knowingly misappropriate, convert, destroy or otherwise damage University property, nor shall any student knowingly misappropriate or convert, destroy or otherwise damage any property not the student's own on University property.

b. No student, in any manner whatsoever, shall knowingly deface the inside or outside of any building or property of the University.

(4) Physical Abuses, Harassment, and Dangerous Activity: No student shall:

a. physically abuse another person, threaten any other person with physical abuse or damage to such person's property or knowingly, and without just cause, cause any other person to fear physical abuse or fear damage to such person's property; or

b. knowingly create a condition which unnecessarily endangers or threatens the health, safety or well-being of other persons or threatens the damage or destruction of property.

(5) Sexual Harassment: No student shall sexually harass another person. Sexual harassment shall be defined as unsolicited, unwanted sexual advances, or requests for sexual favors, unsolicited, unwanted verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature, and unsolicited, unwanted written or visual material of a sexual nature.

(6) Possession of Misappropriated Property: No student shall possess University property or property of any member of the University community without the consent or authority of the University or member of the University community as the case may be.

(7) Unauthorized Use of Facilities, Equipment, Materials, or Services: No student shall knowingly:

a. Use any facility, equipment, material, or service contrary to express instruction or without proper authority;

b. Obtain any University equipment, material, or service by fraudulent means or by providing false information.

(8) Misuse of University Supplies or Documents: No student shall, without authority, knowingly make, alter, use, receive, or possess University supplies or documents. University supplies and documents include but are not limited to equipment, keys, records, and permits.

(9) Misuse of Library or Computer Resources: No student shall knowingly:

a. Remove books or other library material from a University library without proper authorization, mutilate or deface library books or material, purposely misplace them or in any other way purposely deprive other members of the University of the opportunity to have access to library resources;

b. Use any University computer or computer related facility without proper authorization.

(10) Picketing and Demonstration: No student shall, on University property, individually or with a group and in connection with a demonstration including a rally or picketing:

a. knowingly use words which threaten violence or physical abuse to any group or individual whether or not the group or individual thus threatened knows of such threatening words; or

b. knowingly use words in a situation of clear and imminent danger which incite others to behavior which violates any article of this Section.

(11) Identification: No student shall refuse to provide identification upon request by a University Official or employee acting in the course of that person's duties, where the University Official or employee has reason to believe an individual is committing, has committed or is about to commit an offence.

(12) Smoking: Smoking is prohibited during classes, laboratories and examinations, or in any area where smoking is banned.

(13) No student shall knowingly aid or assist another student in the commission of any non-academic offence listed above.

19.4 Academic Offences

The integrity of University life and of the degrees the University confers is dependent upon the honesty and soundness of the teacher-student learning relationship and, as well, that of the evaluation process. Conduct by any member of the University community that adversely affects this relationship or process must, therefore, be considered a serious offence.

(1) Plagiarism: No student shall submit the words, ideas, images or data of another person as the student's own in any academic writing, essay, thesis, research, project or assignment in a course or program of study.

(2) Cheating: No student shall:

a. in the course of an examination obtain or attempt to obtain information from another student or other unauthorized source or give or attempt to give information to another student, or knowingly possess, use or attempt to use any unauthorized material;

b. represent or attempt to represent oneself as another or have or attempt to have oneself represented by another in the taking of an examination, preparation of a paper or other similar activity;

c. submit in any course or program of study, without the written approval of the course instructor, all or a substantial portion of any academic writing, essay, thesis, research report, project or assignment for which credit has previously been obtained or which has been or is being submitted by the student in another course or program of study in the University or elsewhere.

d. submit in any course or program of study any academic writing, essay, thesis, research report, project or assignment containing a statement of fact known by the student to be false or a reference to a source which reference or source has been fabricated.

(3) Confidential Materials: It shall be an offence to knowingly procure, distribute, or receive any confidential academic material such as pending examinations or laboratory results from any source without prior and express consent of the instructor.

(4) Misrepresentation of Facts: It shall be an offence to knowingly misrepresent material facts to another for the purpose of obtaining academic advantage or credit.

(5) Specific Faculty Offences: Faculties and administrative units will be required to define and publicize any academic or non-academic offences unique to their Faculty or area, together with attendant penalties, both of which must be filed with and approved by the Campus Law Review Committee.

Such offences and penalties will be considered by the Campus Law Review Committee and if approved by the Campus Law Review Committee and General Faculties Council will be added to the list of offences and penalties. This list will be incorporated in an official appendix to the Code of Student Behavior and will have the same force and effect as if part of the Code.

Where there is a difference of view as to the nature of the offence, the determination as to whether or not an offence under this section is to be treated as an academic or non-academic offence shall rest with the Discipline Officer who shall consult with the Faculty and/or the Director of Campus Security.

a. Offences Specific to the Faculty of Dentistry: In addition to the academic offences listed in §19.4 the following offences will be deemed gross professional misconduct (§62.4 University Calendar) and will be appropriately penalized.

1) all attempts at deliberately falsifying patient records including forging instructor signatures,
2) falsifying financial records related to patient treatment procedures,
3) misrepresenting patient treatment to third party insurance carriers,
4) careless or negligent behavior resulting in unnecessary physical and/or mental harm to patients.

The penalties for gross professional misconduct and the procedures followed will be those defined for academic offences in the Code of Student Behavior (See §19.5 and §19.8 for penalties and procedures for academic offences).

b. Offences Specific to the Faculty of Rehabilitation Medicine:

1) All students enrolled in the Faculty of Rehabilitation Medicine are bound by, and shall comply with, the Professional Code of Ethics governing the profession and practice of their discipline.
2) "Professional Code of Ethics" means all provincial and federal Codes of Ethics governing the profession or practice of occupational therapy, physical therapy, or speech pathology and audiology, as the case may be.
3) A student enrolled in the Faculty of Rehabilitation Medicine who contravenes the Professional Code of Ethics governing the profession or practice of their discipline commits an offence under the Code of Student Behavior when, at the time of the alleged offence, the student was involved in field work, apprenticeship, clinical training, or other similar work related to a course of study in the Faculty of Rehabilitation Medicine.
4) Where proceedings have been instituted against a student under the Code and separate proceedings are commenced against the same student relating to the same cause or matter under the Professional Code of Ethics, the Dean may stay proceedings under the Code pending the outcome of the proceedings brought pursuant to the Professional Code of Ethics.
5) It shall be the responsibility of each Rehabilitation Medicine student to obtain, and be familiar with, the Professional Code of Ethics relevant to their discipline, and all amendments thereto as may be made from time to time.

(6) No student shall knowingly aid or assist another student in the commission of any academic offence listed above.

19.5 Penalties

(1) In the case of a breach of the Code of Student Behavior the following penalties may be imposed at the discretion of the Dean of Student Services or the University Appeal Board:

a. For non-academic offences

1) Expulsion,
2) Suspension,
3) A fine of not more than $500.00,
4) Restitution,
5) Reprimand,
6) Exclusion from specified areas of the University.

b. For academic offences

1) Expulsion,
2) Suspension,
3) An academic penalty consistent with University, Faculty, or Departmental rules,
4) Academic probation,
5) Reprimand.

(2) Grade reduction and grades of 1F given for disciplinary decisions shall be calculated into the student's GPA and may result in the student being required to withdraw from the student's program. The University recognizes the differential effects such penalties may have on students in different Faculties. Appeals from disciplinary decisions which also affect a student's academic standing lie with the University Appeal Board. See §19.8.

(3) Where the penalty of suspension or expulsion has been imposed, and unless the Dean of Student Services or the University Appeal Board otherwise stipulate, the effective date for the commencement of the suspension or expulsion shall normally be the date upon which the Discipline Officer informs the student that the student has been suspended or expelled. Such notification may be hand-delivered or sent by mail. When sent by outside mail, it shall be sent by double-registered mail to the address which has been provided to the University or to the Discipline Officer. Notice may be deemed to have been effected one week following mailing to the last known address.

(4) In determining both the length and/or the effective date of the penalty, the Dean of Student Services or the University Appeal Board shall take into account the impact on the student's academic program and record.

(5) A student shall receive credit for any course passed by the effective date of the suspension or expulsion. (See also §19.7(3)c.8) and §19.8(3)c.8)).

(6) Withdrawals resulting from suspension or expulsion decisions will result in grades of "W" which will remain part of the student's permanent academic record.

19.6 Student Discipline Procedures

The following are the procedures to be followed in the cases of allegations of academic and non-academic offences. Formal procedures described below are to be utilized when less formal conciliatory measures prove ineffective.

19.7 Procedures for Non-Academic Offences

(1) Initiation and Conduct of Proceedings:

a. Any person who has reason to believe that a student is guilty of a non-academic offence may initiate proceedings against the student.

b. Where a person has reason to believe that a student has committed a non-academic offence that person may, by a signed statement (the complaint) delivered to the Director of Campus Security, request an investigation of the complaint. In the course of this investigation, the Director may consult the Discipline Officer.

c. The complaint shall be a detailed written description of the incident. This shall include the time and place, person or persons involved, and any relevant information concerning the incident.

d. The Director of Campus Security may decline to proceed with a complaint under the following circumstances:

1) Where the complaint is primarily concerned with regulations of another official University organization, and the Director of Campus Security believes that the complaint should be dealt with in accordance with procedures established by that organization.

2) Where the Director of Campus Security believes that no University rule has been broken.
3) Where the Director of Campus Security believes the complaint to be scandalous, frivolous or vexatious.
4) Where an unreasonable time has elapsed since the incident.
5) Where the offence should be referred to the police or appropriate public authorities.

Where the Director of Campus Security has declined to lodge a complaint, the Complainant must be so notified and the reasons given. The person complaining may then appeal the Director of Campus Security's decision to the Discipline Officer.

Should the Director of Campus Security identify a possible conflict of interest involving the Dean of Student Services (eg. the complainant is the Dean of Student Services or an employee reporting directly to the Dean of Student Services), the Director of Campus Security is authorized to forward a report and recommendation to the Vice-President (Academic) or delegate who will act for the Dean of Student Services, in accordance with the following procedures.

Having decided to proceed with the complaint, the Director of Campus Security shall conduct an investigation and, if disciplinary measures are believed to be warranted, shall forward to the Dean of Student Services the results of the investigation along with a recommendation as to an appropriate penalty.

j. The Dean of Student Services shall meet with the alleged offender, review the matter and determine if the facts as disclosed by the complainant are in dispute.

In the event that the alleged offender refuses to meet with the Dean of Student Services, a decision and a penalty shall be arrived at taking into account whatever evidence is available.

1) Where the facts are determined not to be in dispute, the Dean of Student Services may impose one or more of the penalties listed in §19.5(1)a.
2) Where the facts are in dispute, the Dean of Student Services will review the matter further by talking with all parties involved, and may either dismiss the charges or impose one or more of the penalties listed in §19.5(1)a.

In the event that the alleged offender refuses to meet with the Dean of Student Services, a decision and a penalty shall be arrived at taking into account whatever evidence is available.

3) When considering what would be an appropriate penalty, the Dean of Student Services may take into account the disciplinary record, if any, of the student against whom the complaint is made.

h. Having reached a decision, the Dean of Student Services shall give a written report to the Discipline Officer. The report shall state what penalty, if any, is to be imposed upon the student, and the major circumstances taken into account in arriving at the decision.

i. Upon receipt of the above report, the Discipline Officer shall send a copy to the student, the Complainant, and the Director of Campus Security. If a penalty has been imposed, the Officer shall advise the student of the right to appeal and shall forward a copy of the University Appeal Board Procedures.

Initiation and Conduct of Appeals

a. A student may appeal the decision of the Dean of Student Services by submitting a notice of appeal in writing to the Discipline Officer. Such notice must be received by the Officer no later than fifteen (15) calendar days after notification of the written decision of the Dean of Student Services. At the discretion of the Discipline Officer, an appeal may be accepted after the expiry of the fifteen days.

The appeal shall be based upon denial of the offence, and/or shall relate to the severity of the penalty.

b. The notice of appeal must be in writing, signed by the appellant, and must state the grounds of appeal. The appellant must immediately notify the Discipline Officer upon retaining legal counsel or an adviser.

c. The Discipline Officer shall notify both parties of the date, time and place of the appeal hearing, which shall be at least fourteen (14) calendar days but no more than forty-five (45) calendar days following the receipt of notice of appeal. Each party shall receive a copy of the submission made to the Appeal Board by the other party. Each party will receive the names of the Board members and notification that either party may challenge membership to the Discipline Officer (§19.7(3)b.(10)). The Discipline Officer shall also provide the student with a list of on-campus sources of assistance.

d. The Discipline Officer shall appoint the Appeal Board and provide its members with:

1) the date, time and place of the Appeal Hearing,
2) the notice of appeal and any submission from the respondent,
3) the written report of the Dean of Student Services.

e. Notices may be hand-delivered or sent by mail. When sent by outside mail, they shall be sent by double-registered mail to the address which has been provided to the University or to the Discipline Officer. Notice may be deemed to have been effected one week following mailing to the last known address.

f. Upon receiving notice of appeal, the Discipline Officer, in cases of expulsion or suspension, shall direct the Registrar to withhold degrees, certification of marks and/or transcripts of records pending the outcome of the appeal. Any other penalties imposed by the Dean of Student Services shall be suspended upon receipt by the Officer of notice of appeal.

(3) Establishment of a University Appeal Board

a. General:

Meetings of the University Appeal Board shall be scheduled as required to hear and determine appeals against disciplinary decisions of the Dean of Student Services. The University Appeal Board, as designate of General Faculties Council and the Board of Governors, shall have authority to confirm, vary or quash penalties imposed under §19.7(1).

b. Composition, Terms of Reference and Chair

1) The University Appeal Board shall consist of the following regular members elected by General Faculties Council: two academic staff members from Category A1.1, A1.5 or their counterparts in A1.6*, (one of whom shall hold the Chair upon election by the regular members of the Board), two undergraduate students and one graduate student.
2) All regular members shall come from different Faculties.
3) Where the appeal involves a graduate student, the Discipline Officer shall, by rotation, replace one undergraduate student with one alternate graduate student.
4) General Faculties Council shall also elect the following alternate members: three academic staff members (from Category A1.1, A1.5 or their counterparts in A1.6*), four undergraduate students and four graduate students. To the extent it is possible, all alternate members should come from different Faculties and from Faculties not already represented by the regular members.

*See §5 of the GFC Policy Manual for definitions of these categories of staff.

5) For the purposes of selection and service on the University Appeal Board, graduate students are considered to be from the Faculty where they receive supervision.
6) Terms of office for all academic staff members shall be up to three years as General Faculties Council shall determine. Academic staff members are eligible for re-election.
7) All student members shall be elected for up to two-year terms and are eligible for re-election.
8) In order to ensure that no Board member will be from a Faculty, if any, which is party to the dispute, the Discipline Officer may replace, by rotation, any regular member with an alternate member from the same constituent group (i.e., staff, undergraduate student or graduate student). For this purpose, graduate students are considered to be from the Faculty where they receive supervision.
9) All Board members should declare to the Discipline Officer their interests, if any, in a particular case in order to ensure objectivity and a fair hearing.
10) Appellant and respondent will be provided with the names of all Board members, regular and alternate, and will have five calendar days after receipt of the names to lodge a written challenge with the Discipline Officer requesting that a Board member not serve on an appeal. Challenges may be made only on the grounds that a Board member may have a bias which would prevent a fair hearing. Challenges must include written reasons to support the request. If the Discipline Officer concurs with the challenge the Officer will replace the Board member with an alternate member who will be selected by rotation from the same constituent group (i.e., staff, undergraduate student or graduate student). The decision of the Discipline Officer is final and binding.
11) Normally, the Chair of the Appeal Board will be appointed to chair each hearing. In instances where the Chair cannot serve, the Discipline Officer shall appoint another academic staff member or alternate academic staff member of the Board to chair the Appeal Board hearing.
12) The quorum of the Appeal Board shall consist of one academic staff member and two student members.

c. Appeal Board Procedures for Non-Academic Offences

1) The appeal shall consist of a de novo hearing of the case.
2) i. The Appeal Board may accept any evidence that it, in its sole discretion, considers proper, whether admissible in a court of law or not; and
ii. The Appeal Board is not bound by the Alberta Evidence Act or the law of evidence applicable to judicial proceedings.
3) The Appeal Board shall conduct hearings in a manner which, in its sole discretion, it considers proper.
4) A defect in procedures shall not warrant the quashing of the decision unless the defect complained of can reasonably be said to have deprived either party of a fair hearing.
5) The Board shall hear the argument of both sides to the appeal and then, by majority vote, shall uphold or quash the decision appealed from. Where a decision against the student is upheld, the Board may confirm, vary or suspend the penalty imposed.
The Appeal Board is authorized to receive procedural advice from the Discipline Officer.
6) The Chair of the Board through the Discipline Officer shall, where practical, immediately communicate the decision of the Board to the student.
7) The Chair shall submit the written decision of the Board to the Discipline Officer within seven (7) calendar days of the Board's decision being reached.

The Discipline Officer shall then send to both parties and to the Dean of Student Services a copy of the Board's decision. The procedure for service of this report shall be that given in §19.7(2)e.

8) Any penalty confirmed shall be deemed to have taken effect on the date determined in the original decision. Any new penalty shall take effect immediately upon oral notification (§19.7(3)c.6)) or, failing that upon written notification (19.7(3)c.7)).

During the appeal period the student may continue to attend classes. However, assignments and examinations will not be graded until and unless the appeal is successful. If the appeal is lost no credit will be given for work completed subsequent to the date given in the original decision.

9) The final appeal in student discipline matters shall lie with the University Appeal Board. A decision of the University Appeal Board shall be final and binding.

19.8 Procedures for Academic Offences

(1) Initiation and Conduct of Proceedings

a. Any person who has reason to believe that a student is guilty of an academic offence may initiate proceedings against the student.

b. 1) Where a person has reason to believe that a student has committed an academic offence in a particular course or program, that person may communicate the particulars of the time and place of the alleged offence and provide to the student's instructor a brief summary of the conduct alleged to have been committed by the student. In cases where the alleged academic offence does not involve a specific course or program, the allegation of academic wrongdoing should be directed to the Dean of the student's Faculty. Where the matter is considered by the Dean, the Dean shall have the same powers and duties as the instructor.

2) Where an instructor or Dean initiates the complaint, that person must prepare a written summary of the conduct leading to the offence alleged to have been committed by the student. The summary will form part of the documentation to be submitted to the Dean (§19.8(1)e).

c. The instructor must discuss the alleged offence with the student and with the Dean.

d. Where the instructor has reason to believe that an offence has been committed, the instructor may impose one or more of the following penalties:

1) Reprimand,
2) Additional work,
3) Grade reduction on the assignment,
4) Recommendation to the Dean that the student no longer be permitted to attend the course and that the student be given a mandatory grade of 1F which will appear on the transcript. The Dean may impose such a penalty.

In accordance with the provisions of §19.8(2)g, the student shall not be barred from attending and participating in the course pending the outcome of a possible appeal of the penalty.

5) Recommendation to the Dean that the student be suspended or expelled from the University.

e. Where a penalty other than reprimand is imposed, the instructor shall file with the Dean and the Dean of the Faculty in which the student is registered a statement in writing setting out:

1) a brief summary of the conduct alleged to constitute the offence, and
2) a statement in writing that the instructor has reviewed the alleged offence with the student, and
3) a brief statement giving details of the penalty imposed or recommended and reasons therefore.

f. The Dean shall notify the student of any penalty except for reprimand imposed under §19.8(1)d. Such notification shall be in writing and may be hand-delivered or shall be sent by double-registered mail to the address which has been provided to the University or to the Discipline Officer. Notice may be deemed to have been effected one week following mailing to the last known address.

g. The notice of penalty shall also include notification of the right to appeal the penalty to the University Appeal Board (see §19.8(1)d.(1-4) for appealable penalties) and that notice of appeal must be delivered to the Discipline Officer no later than fifteen (15) calendar days after receipt of the Dean's notification.

h. Where an instructor has recommended expulsion or suspension, the Dean shall alert and consult with the Dean of the Faculty in which the student is registered in regard to the situation concerning the student. After making such enquiries as the Dean considers necessary, the Dean shall either reject the recommendation or confirm and forward it to the Dean of Student Services.

i. Upon receiving a recommendation for expulsion or suspension, the Dean of Student Services shall review the matter by talking with all parties involved, and may either dismiss the charges or impose one or more of the penalties listed in §19.5.(1)b. In reviewing the matter, the Dean of Student Services shall disregard any previous disciplinary record. In the event that the alleged offender refuses to meet with the Dean to discuss the matter further, a decision and penalty shall be arrived at taking into account whatever evidence is available.

When considering what would be an appropriate penalty, the Dean of Student Services may take into account the disciplinary record, if any, of the student against whom the complaint is made.

j. Having reached a decision, the Dean of Student Services shall give a written report to the Discipline Officer. The report shall state what penalty, if any, is to be imposed upon the student, and the major circumstances taken into account in arriving at the decision.

k. Upon receipt of the above report, the Discipline Officer shall send a copy to the student and to the Dean. If a penalty has been imposed, the Officer shall advise the student of the right to appeal and shall forward a copy of the University Appeal Board Procedures.

(2) Initiation and Conduct of Appeals

a. A student may appeal the imposition of any penalty imposed under §19.8(1) by submitting a notice of appeal in writing to the Discipline Officer. Such notice must be received by the Officer no later than fifteen (15) calendar days after notification of the written decision of the Dean of Student Services. At the discretion of the Discipline Officer, an appeal may be accepted after the expiry of the fifteen days.

The appeal shall be based upon denial of the offence, and/or shall relate to the severity of the penalty.

b. If the Dean has reason to be aggrieved by the decision of the Dean of Student Services (§19.8(1)j), the Dean may appeal the decision by submitting a notice of appeal in writing to the Discipline Officer. Such notice must be received by the Officer no later than fifteen (15) calendar days after notification of the written decision of the Dean of Student Services. At the discretion of the Discipline Officer, an appeal may be accepted after the expiry of the fifteen days.

c. The notice of appeal must be in writing, signed by the appellant, and must state the grounds of appeal. The appellant must immediately notify the Discipline Officer upon retaining legal counsel or an adviser.

d. The Discipline Officer shall notify both parties to the original case before the Dean of Student Services of the date, time and place of the appeal hearing, which shall be at least fourteen (14) calendar days but no more than forty-five (45) calendar days following the receipt of notice of appeal. Each party shall receive a copy of the submission made to the Appeal Board by the other party. Each party will receive the names of Board Members and notification that either party may challenge membership to the Discipline Officer (§19.8(3)b.10)). The Discipline Officer shall also provide the student with a list of on-campus sources of assistance.

e. The Discipline Officer shall appoint the Appeal Board and provide its members with:

1) the date, time and place of the Appeal Hearing,
2) the letter of appeal and any submission from the respondent, and
3) the written report of the Dean of Student Services (or designate) if appropriate.

f. Notices may be hand-delivered or sent by mail. When sent by outside mail, they shall be sent by double-registered mail to the address which has been provided to the University or to the Discipline Officer. Notice may be deemed to have been effected one week following mailing to the last known address.

g. Upon receiving notice of appeal, the Discipline Officer, in cases of expulsion or suspension, shall direct the Registrar to withhold degrees, certification of marks and/or transcripts of records pending the outcome of the appeal. Any other penalties imposed under §19.8(1) shall be suspended upon receipt by the Officer of notice of appeal.

(3) Establishment of the University Appeal Board

a. General

Meetings of the University Appeal Board shall be scheduled as required to hear and determine appeals against disciplinary decisions of the Dean of Student Services, Instructors and Deans. The University Appeal Board, as designate of General Faculties Council and the Board of Governors, shall have authority to confirm, vary or quash penalties imposed under §19.8(1) by any one of the above-mentioned three bodies.

b. Composition, Terms of Reference and Chair

1) The University Appeal Board shall consist of the following regular members elected by General Faculties Council: two academic staff members from Categories A1.1, A1.5 or their counterparts in A1.6*, (one of whom shall hold the Chair upon election by the regular members of the Board), two undergraduate students and one graduate student.
2) All regular members shall come from different Faculties.
3) Where the appeal involves a graduate student, the Discipline Officer shall, by rotation, replace one undergraduate student with one alternate graduate student.
4) General Faculties Council shall also elect the following alternate members: three academic staff members (from Categories A1.1, A1.5 or their counterparts in A1.6*), four undergraduate students and four grad students. To the extent it is possible alternate members should come from di ent Faculties and from Faculties not alre represented by the regular members.

*See §5 of the GFC Policy Manua definitions of these categories of staff.

5) For the purposes of selection and servic the University Appeal Board, graduate dents are considered to be from the Fac where they receive supervision.
6) Terms of office for all academic staff m bers shall be up to three years as Gen Faculties Council shall determine. Acade staff members are eligible for re-election
7) All student members shall be elected fo to two-year terms and are eligible for election.
8) In order to ensure that no Board member be from a Faculty, if any, which is part the dispute, the Discipline Officer may place, by rotation, any regular member an alternate member from the same con uent group (i.e., staff, undergraduate stuc or graduate student). For this purpose, g uate students are considered to be from Faculty where they receive supervision.
9) All Board members should declare to Discipline Officer their interests, if any, particular case in order to ensure objecti and a fair hearing.
10) Appellant and respondent will be provid with the names of all Board members, re lar and alternate, and will have five calendar days after receipt of the names lodge a written challenge with the Discipl Officer requesting that a Board member serve on an appeal. Challenges may made only on the grounds that a Bo member may have a bias which would p vent a fair hearing. Challenges must inclu written reasons to support the request. If Discipline Officer concurs with the challe the Officer will replace the Board memb with an alternate member who will be sele ed by rotation from the same constitu group (i.e., staff, undergraduate student graduate student). The decision of the Dis pline Officer is final and binding.

The student may al the Dean's decision to the Dean of Student Servwhose decision shall be final and binding.

11 Exclusion from Class for Disruptive Behavior

Note: In these regulations the term "class" refers to a d of instruction such as a lecture, a laboratory, a nar, a tutorial, etc.

Exclusion from Class by an Instructor

a. When a student disturbs, disrupts, or otherwise interferes with classroom activities, the instructor may immediately exclude the student from the course for a particular class and may also exclude the student from the next subsequent class in that course.

b. If the behavior persists when the student is readmitted to class, the instructor may again immediately exclude the student from the class and must lay a charge against the student under §19.3(1) of the Code of Student Behavior. The student's exclusion from class will be in effect until a final decision is reached by the Dean of Student Services or by the University Appeal Board. If a student is re-instated by a decision of the Dean of Student Services or by the University Appeal Board, such decision shall not invalidate the prior action of the lecturer. The Department Chair shall, however, ensure that every effort is made to make up the student's lost class time, but the University shall not be held legally responsible for any lost class time.

Exclusion from Class by a Dean

a. If the Dean of a Faculty where a course is taught is of the opinion that the disruptive behavior of a student does or may detrimentally affect more than one course, then the Dean may exclude a student from specified courses in that Faculty for up to five classes.

b. A student may appeal the Dean's decision to the University Appeal Board. Notwithstanding time limits specified in the Code of Student Behavior, the University Appeal Board shall be scheduled to meet within fourteen (14) calendar days after the appeal has been lodged.

c. If a student is re-instated by the University Appeal Board, such decision shall not invalidate the prior action of the Dean. The Department Chair shall, however, ensure that every effort is made to make up the student's lost class time, but the University shall not be held responsible for any lost class time.

(3) Apprehended Danger and Mandatory Exclusion from the University: If an instructor or University official responsible for an area or activity is of the opinion that a student's behavior or conduct while engaged in a recognized University or student activity constitutes a danger, or risk of danger to the student concerned or to other persons or property, the official responsible may recommend to the Dean of the Faculty in which the student is enrolled that the student be excluded from the University. See §19.12.

19.12 GFC Delegation of Powers Concerning Mandatory Exclusion for Reasons of Apprehended Danger

(1) Responsibilities of the Faculty Dean and the Dean of Student Services.

a. When the Dean of a Faculty in which a student is enrolled is of the opinion that the continued presence of the student on campus or in a University-sponsored activity off-campus constitutes a danger to that student or to other people or property, the Dean may decide that the student be excluded from the University immediately.

The Dean of Student Services is also empowered to act under the above provision and will consult with the Dean of the student's Faculty at all stages; therefore, in §19.12, whenever "a Dean" or "the Dean" is mentioned, these references may refer to either the Dean of the Faculty in which the student is enrolled, or the Dean of Student Services.

b. In addition to any verbal communication, the decision of the Dean shall be formally communicated to the student in writing together with reasons for the decision and conditions which must be met by the student before return to campus will be permitted. The Dean shall inform the student that there is a 15-calendar-day deadline, from the date of receipt of the Dean's letter, to lodge an appeal. The Dean must provide the student with the appeal regulations.

c. Any notices sent by the Dean shall be hand-delivered at the soonest opportunity by Campus Security to the address which has been provided to the Unviersity or to the Discipline Officer.

d. The Dean is required to notify the following persons of the mandatory exclusion: the Registrar, the Dean of Student Services, other Deans affected, the Director of Campus Security, the Director of the University Secretariat, the Discipline Officer, the student's course instructors, and, where appropriate, the Director of Housing and Food Services.

e. Any reflection of the decision on the student's official record (transcript) will be in accordance with regular procedures governing illness, eg. students who are excluded for a short interval may apply for a deferred examination (see §16.5 of this Calendar). Pursuant to arrangements between the student's Faculty and the Registrar, students who are excluded for a lengthy interval may be withdrawn from courses on their current registration without penalty.

f. When it appears that a Dean may take action under this delegated authority, every effort will be made to offer the student advice, or alternatively, the student will be referred to the appropriate area in the Office of the Dean of Student Services.

(2) Appeal Provisions

a. The student may appeal the Dean's decision to the University Appeal Board according to the procedures set out below. The student shall not be permitted on campus for any purpose without the Dean's prior written approval until an appeal is heard and a decision rendered.

b. The student (hereinafter cited as the 'appellant') may appeal the decision by lodging a written appeal with the Discipline Officer within 15 calendar days after the decision was delivered or deemed to have been delivered to the appellant.

c. The Discipline Officer shall call a meeting of the Unviersity Appeal Board (UAB) which shall be scheduled to meet within 15 calendar days after the Discipline Officer receives the appeal.

The composition and terms of reference of the UAB are set out in §19.7.3(b) of the Code of Student Behavior.

d. Notices sent by the Discipline Officer shall be hand-delivered at the soonest opportunity by Campus Security to the address which has been provided to the University or to the Discipline Officer.

e. The Dean (hereinafter cited as the 'respondent' and the appellant shall be given one week's notice (either written or verbal) of the date and time of the hearing by the Discipline Officer.

f. If the appellant or respondent neglects or refuses to appear at the time of the hearing, the UAB may in its discretion, proceed with the hearing and either grant or deny the appeal. Either party may be accompanied by legal counsel or other representative.

g. 1) The Appeal Board may accept any evidence that it, in its sole discretion, considers proper, whether admissible in a court of law or not; and

2) Is not bound by the Alberta Evidence Act or the law of evidence applicable to judicial proceedings.

h. The Appeal Board shall conduct hearings in a manner which, in its sole discretion, it considers proper.

i. A defect in procedures shall not warrant the quashing of the decision unless the defect complained of can reasonably be said to have deprived either party of a fair hearing.

j. After all presentations are heard, the parties shall be excused and the Appeal Board shall reach a decision.

k. Where the appeal is granted, the UAB may uphold, vary, or suspend the original decision, including any conditions for the student's return to campus.

l. If the UAB upholds the appeal, such decisions shall not invalidate the prior action of the Dean. Every effort shall be made, however, to ensure that the student's lost class time is made up. Any reflection of the decision on the student's official record (transcript) will be in accordance with regular procedures governing illness. (See §16 of the Calendar.)

m. The Discipline Officer shall send via Campus Security the written decision to the appellant and respondent.

n. The University Appeal Board's decision shall be final and binding.

o. Students who are excluded under this provision may only be reinstated at the University with the written permission of the Dean of the Faculty in which they are enrolled and the written permission of the Dean of the Faculty they wish to enter.

19.13 Administration Requirements

All applications for approvals to engage in any of the following activities must be made in writing to the appropriate authority and shall be approved or rejected with written reasons attached.

(1) The outdoor use of public address systems, loudspeakers, bull-horns, sound trucks, or similar equipment on the campus of the University is not permitted without the prior written approval of the Director of Physical Plant. It should be noted that City of Edmonton bylaws apply on peripheral streets.

(2) The use of the name of the University or the emblem or coat of arms of the University, or of a registered University group, on any publication, including correspondence, without the written approval of the Office of the Vice-President (Administration) is prohibited. An appeal shall lie with the Board of Governors. As a matter of policy, such approval will not be granted to anonymous publications.

(3) The use of alcoholic beverages on the campus of the University is regulated for registered University groups under the terms and conditions of the University's Institutional Licenses. Authorization for functions involving the service of alcohol is controlled by the Office of the Dean of Student Services. Appeals shall lie with the Office of the Vice-President (Student and Academic Services).

(4) In order to obtain an excused absence from examinations, tests and other academic requirements, off-campus trips by individuals, groups and teams representing student organizations must be approved by the Dean of Physical Education and Recreation (or designate) in the case of athletic matters and by the Deans' Council or its designate in all other cases. An appeal from decisions in this regard shall lie with the Vice-President (Academic).

(5) Arrangements for showing films on campus, except for those used as part of the academic or academically related programs, must be made through the Office of the Registrar (Examinations and Timetabling) in accordance with the procedures as set out in the Manual of Administrative Policies, Procedures and Services, §03-030. The Executive Assistant to the Vice-President (Administration) may make regulations from time to time for the aforementioned purpose in conformity with the Alberta Amusements Act and other applicable provincial legislation. An appeal shall lie with the Vice-President (Administration).

(6) University individuals, groups and organizations may advance a cause and distribute or sell related literature or other similar material:

a. in designated Activity Zones, provided that the use of the Zones has been reserved in advance with the Office of the Registrar (Examinations and Timetabling) and provided that permission has been obtained from the Executive Assistant to the Vice-President (Administration). An appeal shall lie with the Vice-President (Administration).

b. in areas other than Activity Zones with the prior approval of the Dean or other administrative officer or committee in charge of the area. An appeal shall lie with the Office of the Vice-President (Academic).

(7) Canvassing and soliciting are forbidden on the campus of the University. Exceptions may be made only by the Executive Assistant to the Vice-President (Administration). An appeal shall lie with the Vice-President (Administration).

(8) University groups or individuals wishing to invite the general public to on-campus events or to sponsor off-campus speakers are responsible for so informing the Director of Campus Security and for making related arrangements including space reservations, protection of persons and property, and payment of any related costs. Additional information may be obtained from the Office of the Vice-President (Administration).

(9) Members of the University community may put up posters and notices on "open" notice boards as long as the posters and notices do not create a nuisance. Enquiries concerning other displays or signs on University property should be directed to the Dean of Student Services. Notices may not be affixed to trees or shrubs. The libraries, food service areas, the Administration Building, and University Hall are to be kept free of any but official notices.

19.14 University Student Group Registration Procedures

(1) Definition

Student Group

For the purposes of these regulations, the term "student group" shall include, but not be limited to, club, association, organization, society, fraternity, sorority, fellowship.

(2) Requirements for Registration: University student groups are required to register with the University through the Office of the Dean of Student Services in order to ensure that each group accepts its share of responsibility for protecting the property and the good name of the University.

A non-registered University student group shall not be permitted to carry on activities of any description whatsoever on University property.

To be eligible for registration a group must be able to provide, upon request, satisfactory evidence of the following:

a. That the group's stated purposes, goals or activities comply with the philosophy of the University as stated in §30.1 of the GFC Policy Manual; and that the group is willing to assume the responsibilities inherent in that philosophy.

b. That the group is duly constituted.

c. That a minimum of two-thirds of the total membership, and 75% of the executive, must be registered as part-time or full-time students during the current academic year.

d. That an acceptable constitution exists. (Guidelines to group constitutions are available in the Office of Student Services.)

e. That in the case of clubs previously registered a minimum of one general meeting has been held during the past twelve months.

f. That a minimum of one general meeting is scheduled during the next twelve months.

g. 1) that a bank account in the name of the group exists,
2) that a minimum of two signatures of executive officers are necessary for most banking transactions,
3) that all monies go toward the operating expenses of the group, as it carries out its stated purpose/objectives/goals, and
4) that financial records are maintained in proper order for possible auditing.

h. Indemnification: That the group completes an indemnification agreement.

At the discretion of the Dean of Student Services or designate, the group shall provide a bond in an amount to be fixed by the Dean of Student Services.

In the event of any damage to University property the bond will be used to pay the cost of the damage.

(3) Registration Procedures: To apply to become a registered University of Alberta student group, or to re-register (if registered the previous academic year), a group must,

a. Complete the appropriate Application for Registration/Re-Registration Form (available from the Office of the Dean of Student Services).

b. Complete a University of Alberta Indemnification Agreement indemnifying the University from all liability in respect of any acts of the club, its members, or its executive (available in the Office of the Dean of Student Services).

c. Forward the completed form, the signed and witnessed Indemnification Agreement, and a current constitution to the Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Within two weeks of receiving a completed registration/re-registration form and a copy of the group's current constitution, the Office of the Dean of Student Services will notify the applicant as to the registration status. The applicant will be given either:

a. Full Registration Status for the academic year, or

b. Provisional Registration Status, subject to the provision of additional information. The additional information may take the form of any of the following:

1) a complete membership list, including addresses, phone numbers, and ID numbers. (Students who do not wish to divulge their student ID numbers to the group may submit a Statutory Declaration to the group to the effect that they are bona fide University of Alberta students.)
2) a financial statement for the preceding year. If an audit is necessary, the complete accounts for the club should be available.
3) the minutes of general meetings held during the last twelve months.

Such information shall be regarded by Student Services as confidential.

(4) Denial or Termination of Registration: The Dean of Student Services or designate may deny or terminate group registration under any of the following conditions:

a. The group's stated objectives or activities or the manner of carrying out its activities would, in the opinion of the Dean of Student Services, by their very nature, be unlawful.

b. The group's stated objectives or activities or the manner of carrying out its activities would, in the opinion of the Dean of Student Services, by their very nature, lead to justified complaints under the Code of Student Behavior.

c. The group's stated objectives or activities or the manner of carrying out its activities would, in the opinion of the Dean of Student Services, by their very nature, offend the provisions of the Individual's Rights Protection Act (and/or any other human rights legislation that applies in this Province).

d. The group's stated objectives or activities or the manner in carrying out their activities will place non-group members in danger beyond that accepted normally by those who use the facilities of the campus;

e. The group's purposes, goals or objectives b manner in carrying out their activities do n the opinion of the Dean of Student Ser comply with the stated philosophy of the Unive

f. In the course of carrying out its activities group or any of its members fail to comply the University Administration Requiremen the Code of Student Behavior (§19.13).

g. The group no longer meets the minimum req ments for registration, as set out in §19.14(2

h. The group or any of its members has not sati torily carried out its responsibilities to protec property and good name of the University.

(5) Appeal of Termination or Denial of Registrat Appeal of any decision made by the Dean of Stu Services shall be made through the existing Unive appeal procedures within thirty (30) days.

(6) Complaints Against Member(s) of a Group: C plaints against a member or members of a group be to the Discipline Officer and subsequent proc ings will be dealt with by the established Disci Procedures.

Financial reparation will be an automatic pe for any damage inflicted by a group or members group. The direction to make financial reparation be made against a group, or any members of group, or both. Furthermore, at the discretion o Dean of Student Services any of the following pe ties may be levied in addition to the above:

a. termination of group registration,

b. fine of not more than $500,

c. suspension or curtailment of group privileges

d. reprimand,

e. posting of a bond.

Where it is mutually acceptable to the Dea Student Services and the group, the group or an its members may perform community services, e on or off campus, without compensation for s services. Said services may be in addition to or in of any of the penalties contained in the preceding

(7) Review/Revision Process: The Office of the Dea Student Services shall present an annual report Group Registration to the Campus Law Review C mittee for review and possible revision of proced and policies.

31.2 General Information

The Faculty of Agriculture was established at the University of Alberta in 1915 and the first students to receive the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture (BSA) graduated in 1918. The present BSc degree was first given in 1924. A forestry program leading to the BSc degree was authorized in 1970. The first students registered in this program commenced studies in the fall of 1970. The first degrees in Forestry were granted in 1974. The four-year programs in Agriculture and Forestry are professional ones, providing education in many facets of the science of agriculture and forestry. The Faculty has under its direct administration the Departments of Agricultural Engineering, Animal Science, Entomology, Food Science, Forest Science, Plant Science, Rural Economy, and Soil Science. Many of the courses which are fundamental to the science of agriculture and forestry are given in other departments of the University since the underlying scientific principles are the same as in any other field. It is the function of the departments in this Faculty to apply these principles to the solution of agricultural and forestry problems and to seek, through research, new information.

A modified first year in Agriculture or Forestry may be taken at the University of Calgary, the University of Lethbridge, or one of the affiliated junior colleges.

The second, third, and fourth years in Agriculture or Forestry are offered at the University of Alberta only.

A four-year program in Agricultural Engineering leading to the degree of BSc (Ag Eng) is offered jointly with the Faculty of Engineering. The first degrees were awarded in 1980. See §33.2.

A four-year program is offered in Food Science leading to the degree of BSc (Food Science). The first degree was awarded in 1969. See §33.3.

Two years of pre-Veterinary Medicine may be taken at the University of Alberta with a view to application for admission to the four-year program in Veterinary Medicine at the Western College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon. (See special program, §33.5 below.)

The departments in the Faculty also offer advanced degrees, and carry on extensive programs of research. The Departments of Agricultural Engineering, Animal Science, Entomology, Forest Science, Plant Science, and Soil Science operate off-campus facilities used in the teaching and research programs of these Departments. All departments have space and facilities for laboratory research.

Agricultural graduates are engaged in teaching, research, extension, and administrative work related to agricultural production, marketing, and processing; in the manufacture and distribution of such essentials as feeds, fertilizers, and machinery; in the handling of agricultural products; and in farming. In recent years an increasing number of agricultural industries have offered attractive opportunities for graduates of this program.

Forestry graduates are employed by the Federal and Provincial Governments and by industries associated with the production and marketing of forest products.

Agricultural Engineering graduates are employed by manufacturing industries, government departments, colleges and universities, resource-related companies, consulting engineering firms, and international development agencies.

Food Science graduates are employed in management, quality control, production, research, teaching, sales, product development and inspection positions with food processing and related industries, with Federal and Provincial government departments, and with colleges and universities.

32 Faculty Regulations

32.1 Admission

Detailed admission requirements of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry are set out in §13 of this Calendar.

32.2 Academic Standing

(1) Academic Performance: The Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry makes use of the grade point average for gauging academic performance (see §16.4). Grade point average is calculated at the end of each session and is related to academic performance as follows:

Category A: Satisfactory performance
Category B: Unsatisfactory performance; improved performance required Category C: Unsatisfactory; required to withdraw

Year 1
Category A: GPA 5.0 or greater
Category B: GPA 4.0 to 4.9
Category C: GPA 3.9 or less

Year 2
Category A: GPA 5.5 or greater
Category B: GPA 4.0 to 5.4
Category C: GPA 3.9 or less

Years 3 and 4
Category A: GPA 5.5 or greater
Category B: GPA 4.5 to 5.4
Category C: GPA 4.4 or less

Students placed in Category B for two cor tive years or students placed in Category normally be required to remain out of the Fac Agriculture and Forestry for one year. Student then apply for re-admission may be readmitt probationary students. Such students will b quired to attend full-time and successfully cor 24 units of course weight with a Category A ing during the probationary year in order to co in the program.

For purposes of this regulation, year of pr will be defined according to the number of u course weight completed:

Year 1: less than 30 units of course weight
Year 2: 30 or more, but less than 60 units of c weight
Year 3: 60 or more, but less than 90 units of c weight
Year 4: 90 or more units of course weight

(2) Graduation Requirements: In order to be e for graduation from the BSc in Agriculture, B Agricultural Business Management, BSc in Science, and the BSc in Forestry programs dents must obtain a 5.5 grade point avera better in 60 units of course weight taken durin third and fourth years.

In cases where more than 60 units of weight were taken in the last two years, the from all courses taken in the last year will be u the GPA calculation and additional courses selected from the previous term or terms as sary to make up the 60 course-weight requir The courses selected from the previous term or as necesary will be those with the highest grad

In cases where fewer than 60 units of weight were taken in the last two years, the from all courses taken in the last two years used in the GPA calculation, and additional c will be selected from the previous term or ter necessary to make up the 60 course-weight re ment. The courses selected from the previous t terms as necessary will be those with the grades.

(3) First Class Standing: Students should note t the purposes of scholarships and awards, th ulty states that First Class Standing in a give shall be awarded to any student who obt grade-point average of not less than 7.5, the be computed using the grades of the high units of course weight taken during that yea year to consist of first and second terms in session. The grades of the previous secon would be used for those students who atter term only of the current year. With Distinctio be awarded to a student achieving a grad average of 7.5 or better on the last 60 u course weight with the GPA being calculated same way as determination of the GPA requi graduation (see (2) above).

(4) Reexaminations:

a. An undergraduate student in the Fac Agriculture and Forestry will not norm permitted a reexamination. However, if dent's performance in a final examinati gardless of the grade achieved, is substa below the instructor's expectation, a reexam will be allowed.

b. If a reexamination is approved the fol policies apply:

i) The reexamination mark replaces th nal examination mark in determini final grade of the course.

ii) For reexamination in courses und jurisdiction of other faculties, the r those faculties also apply.

c. Agricultural Engineering students are go in the matter of reexamination by the Fac Engineering. (See §82.3(9) of this Calen

d. Students requesting a reexamination must follow the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of this Calendar.

Failed Courses: In accordance with §15.1.3 of this Calendar, courses required by a student's program which are not successfully completed must be repeated at the first possible opportunity. Students who fail a course so repeated will not be permitted to continue in the Faculty program in which they are registered until such time as the requirement has been fulfilled.

Note: For the purposes of interpreting Agriculture Forestry's academic standing regulations a full-time ent is defined as one who is enrolled in the equiva- of 12 or more units of course weight in a term; and a ational year is defined as two consecutive regular lemic terms i.e., first and second-term of one winter ion or second-term of one winter session and first- of the next.

.3 Curriculum and Graduation

The programs for the BSc degrees in Agriculture, Food Science, Forestry, and Agricultural Business Management must conform to the descriptions in §§33.1, 33.2, 33.3 and 33.4 respectively. All students should seek counselling about their programs from their program advisers. Students are reminded of the regulation that they are responsible for the completeness and accuracy of their registrations.

The Faculty may, for adequate reasons, permit students to register in more or fewer courses in a given academic year than their programs normally entail. This may result in decreasing or increasing the length of time for graduation. Students wishing to take more than 18 units of course weight per term must obtain the written approval of the Dean.

Students registered in degree programs in the Faculty must have successfully completed a minimum of 120 course-weight equivalents. Students who register for more than the minimum number of courses for graduation must designate the additional courses as extra. In order to exclude courses in excess of the minimum requirement from the contract for graduation, students must designate such courses as "extras" at the time of registration for the final year.

In addition, (i) students registered in the BSc Agriure program and the BSc Agricultural Business Manment program are required to complete AGFOR 304, d Trip (normally between the second and third year) AGFOR 451, Professional Agriculture; (ii) stuts registered in the BSc Forestry program are reed to complete FOR 301, Forestry Field Camp.

.4 Withdrawal from Courses

Withdrawal from individual courses can be arranged ugh the Dean's Office in consultation with the pron adviser. Applications for withdrawal should be e according to the deadlines listed in the Academic edule (§11).

.5 Transfer from Other Programs

Students transferring into any BSc program offered he Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry (regardless of ther they are transferring from other programs ofed by the Faculty, other faculties of the University of arta, other universities, or colleges) must meet all of requirements of the program in which they are stered, in addition to meeting the residence requireits of the University of Alberta. Students in the Faculty griculture and Forestry normally will not be permitted egister in any two degree programs simultaneously.

.6 Holders of Previous Degrees

Holders of previous degrees registering in BSc proms offered by the Faculty must meet all requirements of these programs. Holders of four-year degrees will be required to complete a minimum of 54 units of course weight with a GPA of at least 5.5. Holders of three-year degrees will be required to complete a minimum of 84 units of course weight with a GPA of at least 5.5 in 60 units of course weight normally taken during the last two years of the program.

32.7 Graduates of Agricultural Diploma Programs

Graduates of approved two-year diploma programs in Agriculture, with a cumulative grade point average equivalent to 2.7 or higher on the four-point scale, may receive University credit for up to 30 units of course weight. These course credits will be selected from among 200 and 300 level courses by the Dean in consultation with the student's program adviser. The Faculty recommends this route as an excellent preparation for a career in the agriculture and food system, particularly for prospective students with limited practical experience.

32.8 Graduates of Institutes of Technology

Graduates from related programs at Institutes of Technology may be granted some advance placement or transfer credit upon the recommendation of the adviser in the student's program.

32.9 Appeal Procedures

Students who have problems that may become the subject of appeals should exhaust all informal avenues of consultation before making official appeals.

Students who wish to object to decisions related to academic regulations and program requirements should first discuss the problem with the Dean. If not satisfied with the response they may petition the Academic Coordinating Committee of the Council of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry in writing. This committee is empowered to allow exceptions to such regulations and requirements. Students are normally expected to be present at the petition hearing. Students will be advised in writing of the outcome of their petitions.

Matters regarding students' academic standings may become the subject of appeals. Before making appeals students should consult with the Dean to ensure that all informal avenues of reaching solutions have been explored. If students are still not satisfied they should obtain a copy of the Faculty Appeal Regulations from the Dean's Office and follow the required procedures. In the event of an unsatisfactory appeal relating to academic standing, students will be advised of the right to appeal to the GFC Academic Appeals Committee. An appeal to the GFC Academic Appeals Committee must be initiated, in writing, within 30 calendar days of the Faculty Appeals Committee hearing (see §16.8 of this Calendar).

33 Programs of Study

33.1 The Degree of BSc in Agriculture

33.1.1 General Information

(1) The Faculty offers courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture. The objective of the degree is stated as follows:
To teach the scientific principles underlying the many facets of agriculture together with their application in agricultural and food systems, and, through a broadly based educational experience, to develop the capacities for critical and independent thought and clear expression.

(2) Most courses are specified as required during the first year.

(3) Beginning in the second year, students may follow a general program providing a broad training in agriculture or a specialized program in one of several fields of agriculture. Course selection must be discussed with an adviser in the area of specialization. Students registered in the general program must select their courses in consultation with a member of the General Program Advisory. The Dean of the Faculty will be pleased to confer with students at any time.

(4) Students entering their third year who plan to follow a departmental specialization must consult with the department in which they plan to specialize. It is highly desirable for them to work out a tentative program for both their third and fourth years at this time.
Students whose records to date would qualify them for graduate studies (a grade point average of 6.5 or better) may register in a more specialized program in the department in which they ultimately plan to undertake graduate study. Such a program must be approved in advance by the department of specialization and by the Dean.

(5) Students entering the third year will be charged a fee of approximately $100.00 to cover living expenses related to the two to three-day field trip taken at the beginning of September. This trip normally involves a bus tour of various agricultural industries located in Alberta and is one of the program requirements.

33.1.2 Required Courses in the BSc Agriculture Program

First Year Requirements:
AGFOR 101
AGFOR 104
BOT 199
CHEM 160 (or 104)
ECON 101/102
English - three units of course weight
MATH 113 (or 114)
ZOOL 120
Note: These courses must be taken in first year. Students transferring from other programs or institutions will be required to complete all the above courses in which they are deficient during their first year of attendance in the BSc Agriculture program at the University of Alberta.

Second, Third, and Fourth Year Requirements
(1) The distribution of courses over the final three years of the degree program will be as follows:
Group A: Three units of course weight in Statistics.
Group B: Twelve units of course weight from physical, biological, and social sciences taught outside the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry (see note below).
Group C: Six units of course weight from humanities and fine arts taught outside the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry (see note below).
Group D: Twenty-four units of course weight, 18 of which must be at the 300-level or higher from at least 5 different non-specialization departments within the Faculty.
Group E: Thirty-six units of course weight designated by the department of specialization.
Group F: Nine units of course weight as free electives.

(2) For students in the general agriculture program and in multi-departmental programs Groups D and E would be combined to give 60 units of course weight. A minimum of 48 of the 60 units of course weight must be taken from at least six departments within the Faculty. In addition, a minimum of 48 Faculty units of course weight must be at the 300-level or higher.

(3) Agriculture and Forestry 304 Field Trip: normally taken between second and third years. Requests for deferment to fourth year must be made in writing to the Dean of Agriculture and Forestry before July 1 of the appropriate year.

(4) Agriculture and Forestry 451 Professional Agriculture: normally taken by students during their fourth year.

Note: Courses in Group B will be considered to be those courses taught by the Faculty of Science plus those courses offered in the following disciplines: Anthropology, Economics, Geography, Linguistics, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology. Courses in Group C will be considered to be those courses offered in the following disciplines: Classics, Christian Theology, Comparative and Other Literature, History, Languages, Philosophy, Religious Studies, and courses defined by the Faculty of Arts as fine-arts in §42.4(b) of this Calendar.

33.1.3 Modified First Year at the University of Calgary, the University of Lethbridge, and Elsewhere

Students at the University of Calgary, the University of Lethbridge, and at affiliated junior colleges may take a modified first-year Agriculture program. The second, third, and fourth years of the Agriculture program are offered only at the University of Alberta.

Details of the modified first-year program are available in the Calendars of these institutions.

33.1.4 General Program

The aim of the General Program is to ensure a broadly based knowledge of agricultural science, while allowing academic enrichment in those agricultural disciplines which are of particular interest to the student.

The following courses must be taken in the program as part of the requirements of the BSc Agriculture degree (see §33.1.2):

(1) AG EC 333, AG EC 384, and one of: AG EC 323, INT D 365, AG EC 373, R SOC 355, R SOC 391

(2) Two of AG EN 300, AG EN 305, AG EN 308, AG EN 310

(3) Six units of course weight from AN SC 300 (or 311); AN SC 460; AN SC 484 (or 485). One course from AN SC 380, AN SC 470, AN SC 472, AN SC 477, POULT 352.

(4) PL SC 331 or BIOCH 301

(5) ENT 207 or ENT 292

(6) FD SC 100 or FD SC 101

(7) PL SC 115, and two of: PL SC 350, PL SC 354, PL SC 355, PL SC 356

(8) SOILS 310 and six other units of course weight in Soils; not to include FOR 410

(9) Group D/E must include a minimum of 48 units of course weight from the Faculty at the 300-level or higher

33.1.5 Specialization in Agricultural Economics or Rural Sociology

The Department of Rural Economy offers specialized programs in Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology. Concentrated programs are available in farm business management, marketing, natural resources, rural development, and extension. Concentrated studies are also available in Forest Economics. Information on course electives, curricula, and prerequisites for graduate studies may be obtained from the Department.

Agricultural Economics Specialization

The following courses are required in meeting the Faculty requirements (see §33.1.2): AG EC 315 and 316, R SOC 355, and 39 units of course weight of electives including 18 in agricultural economics (at least six units of course weight must be at the 400-level), three in accounting, six in economic theory, and six in any social science. It is recommended that students take three of the following four courses in their second or third years: AG EC 333, 373, 384, INT D 365.

The following electives are recommended especially for students interested in graduate studies: AG EC 416, ECON 386, 481 and 482.

Rural Sociology Specialization

The following courses are required to specialize in Rural Sociology: INT D 356, AG EC 315 and 373, R SOC 355, and 24 units of course weight of electives, including 12 in rural sociology, 12 in sociology, and three in any social science. Six of the Sociology units of course weight will be at the 400 level.

33.1.6 Specialization in Agronomy

This specialization deals with the theory of plant-soil relationships and the practice of field-crop production.

The following courses must be taken in the program as part of the requirements of the BSc Agriculture degree (§33.1.2):

AG EC 333 and one of AG EC 384 or INT D 302 or 303
AG EN 305
One of AN SC 300, 311, 372, 380, 460, 484, or 485
GENET 197
BOT 240
CHEM 104 and 160 (or 260)
ENT 207
MICRB 193
PL SC 352, 354, 355, 380, 465
SOILS 310, 360, 420, 460 and one of 430 or 440.

Program must include one additional course from the Faculty at the 300-level or higher. Selection of this course should be made in consultation with the Agronomy adviser. It is strongly recommended that SOILS 461 be taken as one of the electives.

33.1.7 Specialization in Animal or Poultry Science

This specialization is intended for students with an interest in animal agriculture. The program is designed to ensure that students will have a broad exposure to the fundamental principles of animal production, but also have sufficient flexibility to pursue in detail specific aspects of animal science.

Organic Chemistry (CHEM 160 or equivalent) and GENET 197 or equivalent are requirements for those specializing in the Department of Animal Science. In addition, an introductory course in biochemistry (PL SC 331 or equivalent) is highly desirable. Students are advised to take their biochemistry and animal physiology courses in their second year and advanced animal production and management courses in their third or fourth year. Assistance with program choices is provided by the Department.

Livestock Majors: A minimum of 24 units of course weight at the 300-level or higher in animal science is required. Of these, students must take at least three units of course weight in each of animal physiology, animal nutrition, and animal breeding.

Poultry Majors: A minimum of 24 units of course weight at the 300-level or in higher poultry science or animal science is required, including POULT 352, 459, and AN SC 463.

Electives: These may include additional courses offered by the Department; normally they should include courses from the following areas: agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, plant science, and soil science. In addition, consideration should be given to including a course in computing science.

33.1.8 Specialization in Dairy Science

The Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry offers a specialization in Dairy Science (Processing and Technology) through the Food Science Department. The specialization deals with principles of milk processing and dairy products technology, dairy microbiology, chemistry, and biochemistry. In meeting the Faculty requirements listed in §33.1.2, the following courses are required for the specialization in Dairy Science (Processing and Technology): GENET 197; CHEM 104/160 or 260; MICRB 193, BIOCH 301 (or PL SC 331 and AN SC 491); AN SC 472; FD SC 101, 302, 361, and 372; DAIRY 300, 393, 403, and 413.

33.1.9 Specialization in Entomology

The specialization in Entomology provides a comprehensive training in general and agricultural entomology. In addition to meeting the Faculty requirements listed in §33.1.2 and the requirements of the general program described in §33.1.4, students are required to complete ENT 207, 280, 292, 308, 317, 370 (or 371), 427, and three units of course weight in computing science.

33.1.10 Specialization in Grazing Management

The specialization provides an education in range, pasture, and wildlife management in the BSc Agriculture program. The program deals with the theory and practice of grazing animal-plant-soil relationships. It is intimately associated with the management of cultivated and native grazing lands used by wild and domestic herbivores.

The following courses must be taken in the program as part of the requirements of the BSc Agriculture degree (see §33.1.2):

AG EC 333
AN SC 311 (or 300), 350, 460
BOT 130, 240
FOR 110
PL SC 354, 356, 406, 471 or 472
SOILS 310, 420
INT D 365
Two of AN SC 461, 477, FOR 365, 410, INT D PL SC 407, SOILS 360, 425, ZOOL 467
One of AG EN 305, 308, ENT 207, 292

Program must include a minimum of 48 units course weight from the Faculty at the 300-level higher. Selection of the remaining units of co weight under Group D/E should be made in co tation with the Grazing Management adviser.

Note: Normally students will take at least BOT FOR 110, SOILS 310, AN SC 311 (or 300) and AN 350 during their second year.

33.1.11 Specialization in Plant Protection

This specialization provides an interdisciplinary s of the theory and practice of plant protection. To plete the requirements of the program, students take the following courses as part of the requireme the BSc Agriculture degree (§33.1.2):

One of AG EC 333, 384, FOREC 345 or INT D
AG EC 435 or LEG R 301
GENET 197 and three units of course weig ecology
BOT 240
CHEM 204 or 260
ENT 207, 308
MICRB 193
Six units of course weight in the Humanities; 266 recommended
PL SC 115, 350, 352, 355, 380, 470, 481, 482
SOILS 310, 430

Program must include a minimum of 48 uni course weight from at least six departments o Faculty at the 300-level or higher. Selection o remaining units of course weight under Group should be made in consultation with the Plant Prote adviser.

33.1.12 Specialization in Plant Science

The Plant Science major focuses on agricultu important plants, how they grow and develop, how are manipulated, managed, and protected, and how are utilized. The program consists of three element required courses in Plant Science and Botany emphasize the scientific disciplines underlying crop duction; 2. required courses taken within the fac outside of the Plant Science department, that provi basic foundation in agriculture, and; 3. electives, lected in consultation with an adviser, that permit student to pursue specific areas of interest, such horticulture, crop ecology, plant breeding, weed scie plant pathology, plant physiology and biochemistry plant biotechnology.

The following courses must be taken in the prog as part of the requirements of the BSc Agricul degree (see §33.1.2):

PL SC 115 (this course must be completed by end of the second year), 331, 352, 380, 465 plus three additional Plant Science cou
BOT 130, 219, 240
GENET 197
CHEM 260 or 204
SOILS 310
ENT 207
Three units of course weight in Food Science

The remaining courses are to be selected in con tation with the Plant Science adviser.

33.1.13 Specialization in Soil Science

The Department of Soil Science provides educa in Soil Science with programs arranged in the area soil productivity and land management, irrigation drainage, soil reclamation and conservation, soil cla fication and survey, and general soil science.

In meeting the Faculty requirements listed in §33 the following are the minimum courses required specialization in Soil Science:

SOILS 310; MICRB 193; three units of cou weight in geology; six units of course weight in chem try (in addition to the Faculty requirement) or six unit course weight in physics. These would normally taken in second year.

At least three units of course weight in each of following four areas is required: soil genesis and cla fication (SOILS 420); soil physics (SOILS 440); ıy (SOILS 330 or 430); soil chemistry-mineralogy S 415 or 450). At least nine additional units of e weight (excluding project courses) offered by the rtment of Soil Science are also required. All of the oing would normally be taken during third and ı years.

nterested students are invited to consult with the rtment of Soil Science to obtain a list of approved al courses and further information before complet- eir program plans.

2 BSc Program in Food Science

A four-year program in Food Science is offered by aculty of Agriculture and Forestry. The discipline of science is the application of chemistry, microbiol- and engineering to food systems and technological sses used in food manufacturing and preservation. e, courses offered by the Department of Food nce focus on five distinct areas. These are food ce and commodities (FD SC 100, 101, 302, 400, 404, 405, 406, 455, 600, 601, and 602), food essing (FD SC 353, 354, and 554), food and indus- microbiology (FD SC 361, 363, 566, and 660), food istry (FD SC 371, 372, 472, 573, and 671), and engineering (FD SC 283, 586, 587, and 588).

The outline of the program is as follows:

Year: CHEM 104 and 160; MATH 113 and 115; FOR 104 (or three units of course weight in English); ENET 197; ECON 101; FD SC 101.

ond Year: MICRB 193; CHEM 212; PHYS 105 and 106; ECON 102; three units of course weight in Statistics (STAT 236 recommended); FD SC 283; six units of course weight of free electives.

Third Year: BIOCH 301; FD SC 302, 361, 371, 372, 353, and 354; six units of course weight of free electives.

Fourth Year: FD NU 454 (or AN SC 460); twelve units of course weight in electives from the list of FD NU 455, FD NU 510, POULT 459, and all other FD SC or DAIRY courses, 300-level or higher; fifteen units of course weight of free electives.

33.3 The Degree of BSc in Forestry

33.3.1 General Information

(1) The Faculty offers courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Forestry. The program consists of four years of university study with a yearly load of thirty units of course weight. In addition, a five-week spring field camp is required.

(2) A core program of 90 units of course weight, plus the spring field camp, is required of all students pursuing the BSc in Forestry. Most courses normally taken during the first two years are part of this core program. Some program diversity exists in the third and fourth years.

A spring field camp (FOR 301), lasting five weeks and occurring between the second and third years of the degree program, is required of all students. At this camp, technical training is provided in forest mensuration, protection and ecology; a range of management concepts is introduced; and an integrated forest land-use plan is prepared.

33.3.2 Required Courses in the Forestry Core Program

First year requirements:

AGFOR 104
BOT 199/130
CHEM 160 (or 104)
CMPUT 251
FOR 110/120
STAT 236

Note: These courses must be taken in first year. Students transferring from other programs or institutions will be required to complete all of the above courses in which they are deficient during their first year in attendance in the BSc Forestry program at the University of Alberta.

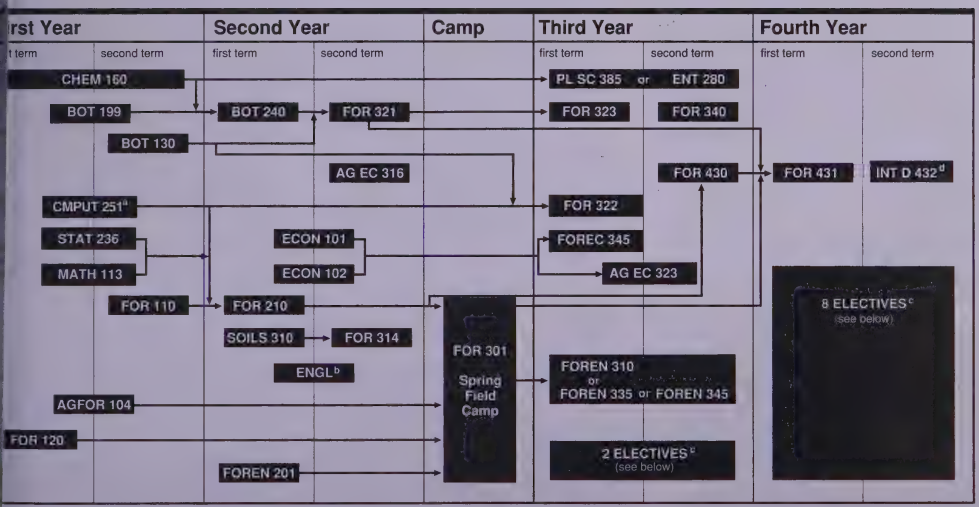
Second, third, and fourth years:

The following courses are required to complete the core requirements:

AG EC 316 or MATH 120; AG EC 323; BOT 240 ; ECON 101, 102; three units of course weight in English; FOREC 345; FOREN 201; one of FOREN 310, 335, 345; FOR 210, 301, 314, 321, 322, 323, 340, 430, 431; ENT 280 or PL SC 385; INT D 432; SOILS 310; 18 units of course weight of restricted electives to be selected in consultation with a program adviser; and 12 units of course weight of breadth electives six of which must be taken from outside the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry (at least three of these must be taken from the Faculty of Arts but excluding courses from the Departments of Economics and Geography). For sequencing of these courses please refer to the flow chart.

Transfer students should consult with the Department of Forest Science concerning course selection.

Sc in Forestry



te: A course name straddling the line between first and second term indicates that it may be taken in either term.

a – It is recommended that this course be scheduled in second term.

b – Any three units of course weight in English at the University level may be taken.

c – The other courses are made up of 18 course weights in technical electives selected with advisor approval and 12 course weights in breadth electives of which at least six course weights must be taken outside the Faculty and at least three course weights must be from the Faculty of Arts except for Economics and Geography.

d – This course must be taken in one of the last two terms.

33.3.3 Modified First Year at the University of Calgary, the University of Lethbridge, and Elsewhere

A modified first year may be taken by students at the University of Calgary, the University of Lethbridge, affiliated Alberta junior colleges, and other colleges or universities outside the province of Alberta. The second, third, and fourth years of this program are offered only at the University of Alberta. Details of this modified first year program are available in the calendars of these institutions.

Students who present other first year programs for transfer to the University of Alberta may be admitted to the Forestry program but they should note that they may not receive credit for all their courses. Acceptance of transfer students cannot be guaranteed on the basis of any minimum academic achievement level.

33.4 BSc Program in Agricultural Business Management

This four-year program leading to the degree BSc in Agricultural Business Management, is offered jointly by the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Business. Graduates of the program will have a broad base in the agricultural sciences and in business management concepts. The program provides the background so that graduates can adapt effectively to a career in agricultural business. The core of the degree ensures that students have training in accounting, finance, organizational theory, communication skills, marketing, production management, animal science, agricultural policy, agricultural engineering, plant science, and soil science. Most electives should be pursued in the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and in the Faculty of Business to allow the students to develop special knowledge in the managerial aspects of agricultural discipline(s) of their choosing. There is a "liberal" component of the program requiring students to take courses in the arts and humanities in faculties other than the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry or the Faculty of Business. Course advising and counselling is rigorous to ensure that students are able to construct degree programs which are exacting as well as appropriate to their particular interests. Students in their first year will normally enrol in programs of study similar in course content to that of the first year BSc Agriculture program. Students will officially gain entry into the BSc Agricultural Business Management program in their second year. Entrance will be determined on the basis of aptitude and academic performance in first year course requirements. In general, admission standards will be similar to those used in the Faculty of Business (see §52.1.2).

33.4.1 General Information

(1) Admission: The program is designed so that students may apply for admission after completion of the first year of the BSc Agriculture program at the University of Alberta.

(2) Promotion: Promotion from year to year will be recommended by the Agricultural Business Management Program Committee to the Council of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry. In general, the requirements for promotion will be the same as those for the BSc Agriculture program.

(3) Graduation: The Agricultural Business Management Program Committee will recommend approval of the candidate for a degree to the Council of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry.

(4) Scholarship: Details of scholarships for which students in the program are eligible are listed under the Awards Section of the Calendar.

33.4.2 Course Requirements

The following courses are required by the program:

Group A:

Thirty units of course weight comprising the first year Agricultural Business Management program requirements. This set of courses is identical to the first year of the BSc in Agriculture program.

Group B:

Sixty six units of course weight to provide the needed background in the agricultural sciences and business management concepts. Of these, forty-eight are in: ACCTG 311, 322; AG EC 323, 333, 373, 384, 423; AG EC 315 or STAT 236; AG EC 316 or MATH 120; AG EC 435 or LEG R 301; CMPUT 157; ECON 281, 282; FIN 301; ORG T 301; R SOC 391 or ORG T 311. Three units of course weight are in AG EC 416, MGTSC 312, or R SOC 415. Nine units of course weight are from three of the four following departments: Agricultural Engineering (AG EN 300, 305, 308, or 310); Animal Science (AN SC 470, 472, or 477 or POULT 352); Plant Science (PL SC 350, 354, 355, or 356); Soil Science (SOILS 310). Three units of course weight are in senior production management and three units of course weight are in senior marketing management. In addition AGFOR 304 (field trip) and AGFOR 451 are required.

Group C:

Eighteen approved senior units of course weight in the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and in the Faculty of Business to provide enrichment in areas of individual student interest.

Group D:

Six additional units of course weight from among the social sciences (excluding economics), fine arts, or humanities taught outside the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Business.

33.5 BSc Program in Agricultural Engineering

A four-year program in Agricultural Engineering is offered jointly by the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Engineering.

The program is administered by a Joint Agricultural Engineering Curriculum Committee consisting of the Deans of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Engineering (or their representatives), the Agricultural Engineering Program Coordinator, the Chair, Department of Agricultural Engineering or another member of the Department if the Chair is also Coordinator, and two full-time academic members selected by and from the Faculty of Engineering. For administrative purposes students in the program will be registered in the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry.

(1) Admission: The matriculation requirements are set out in §13.8 of this Calendar.

(2) Promotion: Promotion from year to year will be decided by the Joint Committee but in general the requirements for promotion will be the same as those of the Faculty of Engineering.

(3) Graduation: The Joint Committee will recommend approval of the candidate for the degree by the Councils of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Engineering.

(4) Scholarship: Details of scholarships for which students in the program are eligible are listed under the Awards sections of the Calendar.

All enquiries should be directed to the Dean of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry (telephone 492-4931) or the Chair of the Department of Agricultural Engineering (telephone 492-4251).

33.5.1 General Information

Agricultural Engineering applies engineering principles to the industry of agriculture. It involves engineering design of machinery, structures and environmental systems for plant and animal production, use of energy sources, processing systems for agricultural products and applications of engineering to the use of soil, water, and other natural resources.

The program of studies in Agricultural Engineering provides a background for careers in design, development, manufacture, testing, and research in industries related to agricultural production.

The core curriculum contains basic sciences and mathematics as well as introductory engineering and agricultural courses.

The selection of technical electives allows students to obtain additional depth in Agricultural Engineering and/or related areas. The AG EN 500 field trip will be offered in even-numbered years. The cost of this trip to the student will be approximately $100.00.

33.5.2 Required Courses

(1) CHEM 103, 105; ENCMP 200; ENGG 200, 201, 210, 230, 231, 500; ENGL 114; MATH 100, 101, 200, 201, 209; PHYS 131, 137; SOC 366; 6 units of humanities, social sciences and administrative studies.

(2) AG EN 301, 313, 413, 421, 430, 453, 454, 50[illegible] 510; CH E 324; CIV E 350, 351, 360, 480; E [illegible] 405; FD SC 588; MEC E 350, 413, 431; SOIL[illegible]

(3) Credit in an approved biological sciences c[illegible] credit in an approved animal science course; cr[illegible] an approved plant science course; credit in STA[illegible] or equivalent; credit in ENGG 420 or LEG R 30[illegible]

(4) Credit in a minimum of 9 units of approved tec[illegible] electives.

33.5.3 Elective Courses

Electives in the Agricultural Engineering Pr[illegible] may be chosen from courses offered by the Facul[illegible] Agriculture and Forestry, Arts, Business, Engineer[illegible] Science.

Typical technical elective courses are: AG EN[illegible] 456, 552; CIV E 320, 431, 441, 520, 590; CHEN[illegible] 263, 413; CH E 476, 490, 540, 546; CMPUT 340[illegible] 379, 479, 569; ENGG 420; FD SC 101, 353, 354[illegible] MATH 300; MEC E 361, 461, 462, 482, 555, 565; M[illegible] 351, 352; MICRB 193; SOILS 360, 425, 440, 470.

Students will consult with their faculty advise[illegible] assistance in choosing technical and humanities[illegible] tives. All programs must be approved by the Pr[illegible] Coordinator.

For course descriptions and a recommende[illegible] gram for the four years see §83.9.3 of this Calend[illegible]

33.6 Pre-Veterinary Medicin[illegible] Program

33.6.1 General Information

The Western College of Veterinary Medici[illegible] located at the University of Saskatchewan, Saska[illegible] Its program consists of two years of pre-Vete[illegible] Medicine and four years of Veterinary Medicine. A[illegible] residents desiring to take Veterinary Medicine [illegible] University of Saskatchewan may take two pre-V[illegible] nary years at the University of Alberta. There is a l[illegible] on Alberta students entering Veterinary Medicine [illegible] University of Saskatchewan and students with the[illegible] est standing in the work of the two pre-Veterinary [illegible] will receive preference. Since the Western Colle[illegible] Veterinary Medicine is a regional institution, it e[illegible] almost exclusively students from Western Canad[illegible] quotas for each province. For detailed informati[illegible] residency policy and admissions procedures, co[illegible] the Admissions Office, Western College of Vete[illegible] Medicine for a copy of the Admissions Brochure.

Facilities at the Ontario Veterinary College ar[illegible] ited, and because of the great interest in Vete[illegible] Medicine, few students from Alberta are likely [illegible] admitted to that institution, with or without adva[illegible] standing. In fact all students considering Vete[illegible] Medicine should know that there is such keen com[illegible] tion for admission to schools of Veterinary Medicin[illegible] a superior academic record is likely to be a require[illegible] to win one of the limited number of places avai[illegible] anywhere.

Students planning to enter pre-Veterinary Me[illegible] should note the entrance requirements describ[illegible] §13.3.2 of the University Calendar. Inquiries about[illegible] program should be addressed to the Dean, Facu[illegible] Agriculture and Forestry, University of Alberta.

33.6.2 Program of Courses

Two full years of university training are require[illegible] admission to the Western College of Veterinary [illegible] cine, during which credit must be secured for the nu[illegible] of courses customarily considered a standard load i[illegible] curriculum in which they are obtained. The progra[illegible] study must include:

- English (6 units of course weight)
- Chemistry (6 units of course weight)
- Organic Chemistry (3 units of course weight)
- Biochemistry (6 units of course weight)
- Physics (6 units of course weight)
- Mathematics or Statistics (6 units of course w[illegible]
- Biology (6 units of course weight)
- Genetics (3 units of course weight)
- Introductory Microbiology (3 units of course w[illegible]
- Electives (15 units of course weight)

In the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry t[illegible] interpreted as follows:

First year requirements:

AGFOR 101
AGFOR 104

English - three units of course weight
MATH 113 (or 114)
ZOOL 120

Note: These courses must be taken in first year. dents transferring from other programs or institutions be required to complete all of the above courses in ch they are deficient during their first year in attend- e in the Pre-Veterinary Medicine program at the versity of Alberta.

cond year requirements:

GENET 197
ECON 101/102
MICRB 193
PHYS 105/106
Statistics - three units of course weight
Elective - three units of course weight

Note: Students may wish to extend the pre-veteri- y medicine requirements over more than two years. ls should be done in consultation with the pre-veterinary dicine program adviser.

6.3 Transfer to the Program in Agriculture

Students successfully completing the two years of -Veterinary Medicine may continue in Agriculture and n the BSc in Agriculture in most specializations by npleting two additional years of work with satisfactory nding. They are required to include all the require- nts of the BSc Agriculture program that they may e missed as well as meeting the requirements of d and fourth years.

3.7 Graduate Studies in Agriculture and Forestry

Programs leading to advanced degrees (MAg, MSc, d PhD) are offered by most departments of the culty. Course programs and thesis projects are ar- ged in consultation with faculty members.

Thesis projects are normally carried out at the iversity of Alberta. In certain instances, some gradu- e students may arrange to undertake a portion of their search at one of the Agriculture Canada Research ations.

General information on graduate studies at the iversity of Alberta with respect to admission, fees, d so forth, is given in the Faculty of Graduate Studies d Research section of this Calendar. Specific informa- n on the requirements and opportunities in a particular ld of study may be obtained from the appropriate partment of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry.

4 Details of Courses

4.1 General Information

Courses taught in the Faculty of Agriculture and restry are listed here in alphabetical order. Students e encouraged to examine course offerings from other aculties when selecting optional courses.

Each course is designated by its computer abbre- ation and a number.

The numbering system adopted by the Faculty of griculture and Forestry was designed to meet the niversity's Standardized Course Number System. Courses umbered 000 to 099 are considered Pre-university ourses. Courses numbered 100 to 199 are considered inior courses and have no university-level course pre- quisites. Courses numbered 200 to 299 are consid- red introductory courses in disciplines and may have 00-level (or higher) courses as prerequisites. Courses umbered 300 to 399 are considered intermediate courses nd may have 100-level (or higher) courses as prerequi- ites. Courses numbered 400 to 499 are considered enior courses and have 300-level (or higher) courses s prerequisites. These courses are normally taken by hird and fourth year students but may be taken by raduate students. Courses numbered 500 to 599 are onsidered graduate courses but may be taken by enior undergraduate students. These courses normally ontain a large component of independant or group ooperative study. Courses numbered 600 to 699 are ourses for graduate students only. Courses numbered 00 to 899 are special registration courses. Courses umbered 900 to 999 are reserved for Thesis projects.

Following the title of the course is the symbol standing for course weight ★, and a number indicating the weight of the course as used in computing grade-point averages. An ordinary full-session course is weighted 6. A single-term course is normally weighted 3. Some courses involving research may vary in weight according to the length and difficulty of the research project. Some courses are offered for credit only, and carry no weight.

The next three figures, enclosed in parentheses, indicate the hours of instruction required by the course in a week. The format is as follows: the first position indicates lecture hours; the second position indicates seminar hours (s), demonstration (d), clinic (c), or lecture-lab (L); and the third position indicates laboratory hours. The expression 3/2 means three hours of instruction every second week. The hours of instruction for a six weight course are the same in both terms unless otherwise indicated. If the course is a three weight course, the term in which it may be offered is mentioned before the hours of instruction.

The department responsible for registration may be found in square brackets at the end of a course description. Normally, in the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry, courses will be credited to the discipline listed in the square brackets.

The appearance of a course description in the following list does not constitute any guarantee that the course will actually be offered in the forthcoming session. Information as to which courses will be offered, the names of the instructors, and all further details must be sought from the department concerned.

Physical Requirements for University Courses

The University has a commitment to the education of all academically qualified students and special services are frequently provided on campus to assist disabled students.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoidable demands on students, with respect to the possession of a certain level of physical skill or ability, if the academic objectives of the course are to be realized. In case of doubt, students are advised to contact the Department concerned and the Disabled Student Services Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all off-campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse registration in such courses.

34.2 Agricultural Economics

Department of Rural Economy

34.2.1 Agricultural Economics

INT D 302 Economics of Agriculture
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The nature and scope of agricultural economics; economic aspects of agricultural production, marketing, finance, resource use, prices, and policy; relation of the agricultural sector to the economy as a whole; analysis of structural change, economic growth, and adjustment in agriculture. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Economics and Rural Economy.) [Rural Economy]

INT D 303 Economics of World Agriculture
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economic issues in international agriculture including world food security, farming systems, agricultural trade and aid. The role of agriculture in development and means of improving the performance of agriculture world-wide. Foreign domestic agricultural policies and international trade protection measures, and potential reforms in relation to Canadian agricultural interests. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Economics and Rural Economy). [Rural Economy]

AG EC 315 Data Analysis
★3 (first term, 3-0-2). Sources and methods of collecting data relating to the rural economy. Appraisal and use of economic indicators important to agriculture. Analysis of time series data and introduction to experimental design and hypothesis testing as applied to agriculture. Preparation and presentation of economic reports. Note: Not open to students with credit in STAT 141.

AG EC 316 Quantitative Methods
★3 (second term, 3-0-2). Introduction to linear programming analysis, input-output analysis, and related techniques. Emphasis is placed on the use of these techniques for performing economic analysis in agriculture and forestry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 30. Note: Not open to students with credit in MATH 120, 127.

AG EC 323 Management for Agricultural and Forest Business
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Principles of management applied to farm and forest supply, service, and distribution businesses. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102.

AG EC 333 Introduction to Farm and Ranch Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-2). Application of economic principles to the organization and operation of a farm business. Introduction to farm records and business analysis; the management process and decision criteria for choice of enterprises, size of business, resource utilization, and timing of production; alternative methods of obtaining farming resources by purchase, leasing and credit. Prerequisite: ECON 101.

INT D 365 Natural Resource Economics
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economics of natural resources related to agriculture and forestry; conservation, population, resource scarcity, property and tenure institutions, economic rent and resource pricing, resource development and evaluation, environmental protection, public resource policy. Prerequisite: ECON 101; ECON 102 recommended. Note: Not open to students with credit in ECON 365. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Forest Science.) [Rural Economy]

AG EC 373 Agricultural Policy
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Economic policy aspects of the production, marketing, and income problems of farmers. Beliefs, values, institutions and participants in agriculture and their interaction in the development of economic policies for the industry. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102.

AG EC 381 Retail Marketing of Agricultural Products
★3 (second term, 3-0-1). Wholesale and retail food market structures and conduct, with emphasis on consumer motivation, retail pricing strategies, and operational techniques and problems. Prerequisite: ECON 101.

INT D 382 Theory and Practice of Cooperation
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Economic and sociological principles of cooperation; the evaluation of cooperative organization; cooperative law and taxation; management and finance of cooperatives. [Rural Economy] Prerequisite: ECON 101 and R SOC 355.

AG EC 384 Marketing of Agricultural and Forest Products
★3 (either term, 3-0-1). Principles of marketing. Functions and institutions of markets. Market systems, price behavior, and futures markets for agricultural and forest products. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102.

AG EC 400 Special Topics
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Study of a selected topic or problem requiring both written and oral reports. Prerequisite: Consent of the Department Chair.

AG EC 406 Economics of Grain
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Production, consumption, and marketing of grains in Canada and the world. Economic analysis of grain trade and policy. Prerequisite: AG EC 333 and AG EC 384; PL SC 355 recommended.

AG EC 416 Statistical Analysis
★3 (first term, 3-0-2). Analysis of economic data relating to agricultural production, processing and marketing; collection of data, sampling methods, tests of hypotheses, analysis of variance, regression, and correlation; time series analysis; presentation of data. Prerequisite: AG EC 315.

AG EC 423 Management Techniques in Agriculture and Forestry
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Application of decision-making techniques to the management of agricultural and forest businesses; computer assisted management game and selected case studies. Prerequisite: AG EC 323.

AG EC 433 Advanced Farm and Ranch Management
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Application of concepts and tools of farm business management in farm planning and farm management extension. Manual and computerized methods of farm accounting, business analysis and planning; interpretation and use of information for decision making in organizing and operating a farm business to achieve goals; planning under risk and uncertainty; farm business arrangements and strategies for growth. Prerequisite: AG EC 333.

AG EC 434 Farm Finance and Appraisal
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Principles of financial management. Capital requirements and use of capital in agriculture; credit sources and credit management; appraisal principles and applications to finance, tax management and estate planning in farm business; laws and legislation affecting financial aspects of farm operations. Prerequisite: AG EC 333.

AG EC 435 Agriculture and Forestry Law
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economic impact of laws and legislation on management of agriculture and forest resources, land tenure and user rights, farm wills and estates, legal implications of agriculture and forest transactions, farm credit legislation and creditor rights, public administrative law affecting farm and forest operations. Prerequisite: One of AG EC 333, 384, FOREC 345, or INT D 365.

INT D 465 Natural Resource Utilization
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economics of utilizing and conserving land, water and energy resources in Agriculture and Forestry. Prerequisite: INT D 365. [Rural Economy]

AG EC 475 Agricultural and Rural Development
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Characteristics of underdevelopment in rural economies. Current theories and practices to stimulate agricultural and rural economic growth. Agricultural technology, capital formation, market adjustments and integrated programs. Development planning, project identification, design and appraisal. Principles of coordination, budgeting, public involvement and evaluation: both Canadian and international applications are stressed. Prerequisite: One of INT D 303, INT D 356, or AG EC 373.

AG EC 484 Agricultural Marketing Economics
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Structure and performance of agricultural markets. Applied agricultural market and price issues. Prerequisite: AG EC 384.

AG EC 485 Agricultural Prices and Trade
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Principles and factors affecting international trade in agricultural products. Prerequisite: AG EC 384. Offered in alternate years.

INT D 486 Livestock and Meat Marketing
★3 (second term, 3-0-1). Marketing problems, potentials and principles studied through in-depth analysis of the red meat industry. Prerequisite: AG EC 384. Note: Limited enrollment, preference given to fourth year agricultural students. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Animal Science.) [Rural Economy]

AG EC 487 Agricultural Commodity Futures Markets
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Price determination, futures prices, hedging strategies, and price behaviour over time, with respect to agricultural commodities. Emphasis will be placed on the role of the commodity exchange as a price discovery mechanism and its use in agricultural production and marketing decisions. Prerequisite: AG EC 384. Offered in alternate years.

AG EC 500 Research Projects in Agricultural Economics
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Investigations of a special problem involving field or library study and preparation of written reports. Note: May be repeated for credit one time. Prerequisite: Consent of the Department Chair.

AG EC 502 Theoretical Applications to Agricultural Economics
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Elements of production, marketing, and welfare theories, and cost theory extensions, with applications to agricultural problems. Prerequisite: Consent of the Department Chair.

AG EC 513 Agricultural Econometrics
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Econometric theory, multiple linear regression analysis, and interpretation, simultaneous equation estimation, applications of econometric techniques to agricultural economic problems. Prerequisite: AG EC 416.

AG EC 514 Quantitative Techniques
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Applications of econometric extensions, operations research, mathematical programming and input-output analysis of problems in agricultural economics. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 316 and AG EN 420 recommended.

AG EC 515 Research Methodology
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Problem identification and analysis, inductive procedures, formulating and testing hypotheses, causal analysis, rules of inference, role of theory, designing research projects. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 416 recommended.

AG EC 533 Production Economics
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Static and dynamic firm theory, production principles applied to resource use, resource and product combination, cost structure, uncertainty and expectations. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 502 and 416 recommended.

AG EC 565 Natural Resource Economics
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Availability, utilization, and quality of natural resources; criteria for resource development and conservation; public policy problems and analysis. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 502 and 416 recommended.

AG EC 573 Agricultural Economics Policy
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Goals and instruments of agricultural policy, model constructions with decision and control criteria; national, regional, and provincial agricultural application. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 502 and 416 recommended.

AG EC 575 Agriculture in Developing Countries
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The role of agriculture in the economic growth of developing countries; influence of international trade and commodity agreements on economic development. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 475 and 502 recommended.

AG EC 584 Marketing Economics
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Market competition, price and location theories; market structure analysis; and market performance criteria. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 502 and 416 recommended.

AG EC 585 Agricultural Trade and Price Analysis
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Concepts underlying agricultural specialization and trade; spatial and behavioural price analyses; impact of trade controls and commodity agreements. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; AG EC 485 recommended.

Note: For a list of forest economics courses offered see §34.8.

Note: For a list of rural sociology courses offered see §34.14.

34.3 Agricultural Engineering

The following table lists renumbered courses effective 1991-92:

Old	New
AG EN 411	AG EN 311

AG EN 300 Introduction to Farm Mechanization Systems
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Systems concepts applied to the selection of equipment components of agricultural production systems. Topics include machinery management (sizing, costing and replacement), farmstead planning and irrigation.

AG EN 301 Environmnetal Control of Agricultural Buildings
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Environmental requirements as determined by physiological principles. Environmental control. Prerequisite: CH E 324.

AG EN 305 Farm Power and Machinery
★3 (second term, 3-1s-0). Introduction to farm power and machinery with emphasis on general characteristics of machines and processes. Note: Designed for students wishing general instruction in this area. Not open to students with credit in AG EN 303.

AG EN 308 Agricultural Water Management
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Elementary surveying and hydrology, erosion control, water supply development, water conservation practices. Note: Not open to students with credit in AG EN 313.

AG EN 310 Agricultural Buildings
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Topics include farmstead planning, animal well being, control of acceptable environments, and manure management. Note: Designed for students wishing general instruction in this area.

AG EN 311 Irrigation Principles and Practices
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Soil-water-plant relationships; water requirements; efficiency of water use; irrigation scheduling; water quality and salinity; water application methods; drainage of irrigated land. Prerequisite: SOILS 310. (Offered jointly with Department of Soil Science.)

AG EN 313 Soil and Water Engineering
★3 (first term, 3-0-2). Basic principles of agricultural hydrology, water resource development, irrigation and drainage. Note: Not open to students with credit in AG EN 308.

AG EN 413 Irrigation and Drainage Engineering
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Irrigation and drainage principles; planning and design of irrigation and drainage systems. Prerequisite: MEC E 431 or CIV E 430.

AG EN 420 Mathematical Programming in Agriculture and Forestry
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Mathematical programming methods applied to the analysis of production systems in agriculture and forestry. Prerequisite: AG EC 316 or MATH 120 or MATH 200.

AG EN 421 Simulation Methods in Agricultural Engineering
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Continuous and discrete simulation methods applied to the study of agricultural processes. Prerequisite: Introductory courses in Computing Science and Calculus. Not open to students with credit in FOREN 421.

AG EN 430 Structural Design of Agricultural Buildings
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Principles of structural design as related to the use of timber, steel and concrete in agricultural buildings. Prerequisite: CIV E 360.

AG EN 453 Power Units
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Energy conversion, power tra mission, soil vehicle mechanics, hydraulic systems, tra performance and evaluation, tractor dynamics. Prere site: MEC E 431 or CIV E 430.

AG EN 454 Agricultural Machinery
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). The course uses the we theory and the Mohr-Coulomb failure criteria as a b for a simple tillage theory. Various tillage tools examined as well as implement and tractor cha mechanics. An introduction to harvesting processe made. Particle dynamics and mechanics of raking cutting are developed. Harvesting systems are no Prerequisite: MEC E 350, CIV E 480.

AG EN 456 Post-Harvest Technology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). This course is an analysis forage conditioning, fractionation, wafering, preservat and ensiling; grain and forage dehydration, feeding transport equipment, storage regimes, process cont and grain cleaning, sorting and milling. Prerequis MATH 113.

AG EN 500 Agricultural Engineering Field Trip
★0 An extended trip to visit agricultural engineer operations is required of all agricultural engineer students. Normally conducted for third and fourth-y students in September of even numbered years prio start of classes.

AG EN 503 Instrumentation in Agricultural Engineering
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). A study of the primary sens elements used in agricultural engineering, their princip of operation and application. An introduction to sig conditioning and the use of digital techniques in ins mentation. Prerequisite: E E 405.

AG EN 510 Agricultural Engineering Project
★3 (either term, 1-0-4). Each final year student in BSc (Agr Eng) program works independently on a proj approved by the Coordinator. The project must be eith a literature review or an engineering design problem an experimental research project or a combination any of these. Both a brief outline and a formal rep must be submitted by the due dates.

AG EN 552 Advanced Irrigation and Drainage
★3 (either term, 3-1s-0). Studies of selected topics special problems in irrigation and drainage. Prerequis AG EN 411 or AG EN 413.

Note: For a list of forest engineering courses offe see §34.9.

34.4 Agriculture and Forestry

The following table lists renumbered courses effecti 1991-92:

Old	New
AGFOR 201	AGFOR 101
AGFOR 204	AGFOR 104
AGFOR 404	AGFOR 304

AGFOR 101 Introduction to Agriculture
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Elementary principles of t agriculture and food system. The ecosystem and histori evolution of human intervention. The social, biologi and physical sciences in agriculture. Includes seve Saturday field trips and associated assignments. Dev opment of professional qualities in the student is stresse

AGFOR 104 Practice in Communication
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Fundamentals of communic tion. Effectiveness of various methods of communicatin Practice in effective speaking, writing, group discussi and committee work. Application of audio visual techniqu to extension material.

AGFOR 304 Field Trip
★0 (first term,). Tour of Alberta agricultural enterpris arranged with the assistance of the Alberta Institute Agrologists. Normally conducted in September prior start of classes. Required of all agricultural students.

AGFOR 320 Tropical Food Systems
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Study of tropical food syster in developing countries — farm practices, storag processing, transportation, marketing and home utiliz tion. Importance of the effects of physical and soc environment on such food systems. First year studen not normally allowed.

AGFOR 451 Practical and Professional Agriculture
★0 (either term, 2-0-0).

4.5 Animal Science

4.5.1 Animal Science

N SC 210 Equine Physiology and Nutrition
3 (first term, 3-0-0). Application of the principles of gestive and metabolic physiology. Nutrient requirements the horse; sources of energy and nutrients; feed rmulation. Includes two optional one-day field trips.

N SC 300 Principles of Animal Physiology
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Fundamental principles of initia- on and regulation of animal function. Prerequisite: OOL 120.

N SC 311 Applied Physiology of Domestic nimals
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Physiological mechanisms of gestion, metabolism, growth, reproduction, and lacta- on in farm animals. Prerequisite: ZOOL 120. In addition, single-term course in introductory biochemistry is ecommended.

N SC 340 Farm Animal Health and Disease revention
3 (first term, 3-0-0). General principles of disease and isease prevention. Prevention of major reproductive, spiratory and digestive diseases in farm animals. romotion of health and prevention of disease through roper management. Prerequisite: Three units of course eight from among the biological sciences.

N SC 350 Wildlife Productivity and Management
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Introduction to principles of animal unctions related to production and management of the orld's hoofed mammals. Analyses of relationships be- ween productivity, habitat and land resource management. ield trips. Prerequisite: Three units of course weight rom among the biological sciences.

AN SC 372 Animal Agriculture
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). History and development of the dairy, beef, swine and sheep industries and potential of non-domestic species. Application of management prin- ciples to efficient production. Laboratory: Practical as- signments in animal production.

AN SC 380 Livestock Growth and Meat Production
★3 (first term, 3-2s-0). Concepts of growth and develop- ment applied to meat production from farm livestock. Form and function of bone, muscle and fat in the live animal. Livestock appraisal and carcass grading. Pre- requisite: ZOOL 120.

AN SC 460 Fundamentals of Nutrition
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). The nutrients, their character and metabolism. Reading assignments in relevant literature. Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

AN SC 461 Ruminant Nutrition
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Application of energy metabo- lism, nutrient requirements, feed processing and feeding practices. Laboratory exercises in feed formulation. Pre- requisite: AN SC 460.

AN SC 463 Applied Monogastric Nutrition
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Energy and nutrients in the nutrition of poultry, swine and other monogastrics. Nutrient requirements and feeding practices. Laboratory exercises in feed formulation. Prerequisite: AN SC 460.

AN SC 470 Swine Production and Management
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Examination of the structure of the Canadian swine industry. Evaluation of breeding, feed- ing and management practices that optimize swine production efficiency and profitability. Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

AN SC 472 Dairy Production and Technology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Structure of the dairy industry. Principles, practices and problems associated with the production of quality milk. Management, feeding and housing systems to optimize the efficiency of milk pro- duction. Dairy products and processing. Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

AN SC 477 Beef Cattle Production and Management
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Current practices, changes and progress in beef cattle production. Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

AN SC 484 Animal Population Genetics
★3 (first term, 1.5-2s-0). A lecture, library and discussion course dealing with concepts in evolutionary and popu- lation genetics. Prerequisite: GENET 197 and third year standing or higher.

AN SC 485 Animal Improvement
★3 (second term, 3-0-2). Application of genetic principles to the improvement of livestock and poultry. Prerequisite: GENET 197 and third year standing or higher.

AN SC 491 Animal Biochemistry
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: One single-term course in introductory biochemistry.

AN SC 493 Physiological Chemistry of Muscle and Meat
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Structure, composition, devel- opment and metabolic role of muscle. Effects of hormones, nutrition, stress, slaughter and post-mortem metabolism. Prerequisite: One single-term course in introductory biochemistry.

AN SC 501 Research Project
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. A single-term course; may be offered over the full session.

AN SC 510 Ruminant Physiology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Selected topics in metabolic endocrinology and environmental physiology of ruminants. Offered in odd-numbered years. Prerequisite: Single- term courses in biochemistry and physiology.

AN SC 551 Grazing System Dynamics
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Application of the techniques of systems analysis and computer simulation in research and management of livestock and wildlife production systems. Prerequisite: Consent of Instructor. Offered in odd numbered years.

AN SC 580 Biometrical Techniques in Agricultural Science I
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Application of biometrical tech- niques to problems in agricultural science. Prerequisite: Fourth year standing or higher. Three units of course weight in introductory statistics recommended.

AN SC 583 Biometrical Techniques in Agricultural Science II
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). A continuation of AN SC 580 in the application of biometrical techniques to problems in agricultural science. Prerequisite: AN SC 580 recom- mended.

AN SC 587 Biometrical Techniques in Quantitative Animal Genetics
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: AN SC 580 rec- ommended. Offered in even-numbered years.

34.5.2 Poultry Science

POULT 352 Principles and Practices of Poultry Production
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). An introduction to modern poultry production based on an understanding of avian anatomy, physiology, behaviour, breeding and nutrition. Prerequisite: Second year standing or higher.

POULT 459 Poultry Products and Technology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). A study of the structure, chemical composition, nutritive value and preservation of eggs and egg products; factors affecting growth, carcass composition and quality of poultry meat; processing and marketing regulations. Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

34.5.3 Reserve List

The Department is unable to offer the following courses on a regular basis. Students should consult the Department for further information.

AN SC 464 Nutritional Experimentation
★3 (first term, 2-0-3). Design, completion and analysis of nutrition experiments involving several species of animals. Familiarization with laboratory techniques, sta- tistical analyses, literature review and citation and inter- pretation of experimental data.

34.6 Entomology

The following table lists renumbered courses effective 1991-92:

Old	New	Old	New
ENT 220	ENT 120	ENT 417	ENT 317
ENT 307	ENT 207	ENT 419	ENT 319
ENT 380	ENT 280	ENT 421	ENT 321
ENT 392	ENT 292	ENT 470	ENT 370
ENT 400	ENT 300	ENT 471	ENT 371
ENT 401	ENT 301	ENT 560	ENT 460
ENT 408	ENT 308

ENT 120 Introduction to Insect Biology
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). An introduction to the structure, function, ecology, and systematics of insects with emphasis on the regulation of their metabolism, locomotion, repro- duction and development on the evolution of the orders and on the interactions and relationships of insects with other organisms including man. Prerequisite: Biology 30. Restriction: Not open to students with credit in any Entomology course.

ENT 207 Agricultural Entomology
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Introduction to insects and related arthropods emphasizing those aspects of their structure and life history responsible for some of them becoming pests and indicating those aspects towards which control measures can be directed. Principles of integrated control. Prerequisite: one of BIOL 100, GENET 197, ZOOL 120 or BOT 199.

ENT 280 Forest Entomology
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Characteristics of major North American forest insects. Roles of insects in forest eco- systems. Insects destructive to wood and wood products. Principles of control. Prerequisite: Biology 30 and first year Chemistry (CHEM 160 recommended). Not open to first year students.

ENT 292 Medical and Veterinary Entomology
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). An introduction to the arthro- pods and an account of their influences on the health of man and other animals. Prerequisite: Six units of course weight in Biology, Entomology or Zoology. Not open to first year students.

ENT 300 Project in Basic Entomology
★6 (0-1s-6). Individual study. Provides students with an opportunity to pursue an area of interest in detail. This is accomplished through guided reading, discussions with a faculty member and usually conducting a limited research project. Students must have the agreement of at least one faculty member who will act as supervisor for the course. As the project may require summer collecting or field work, students are strongly encouraged to find a faculty member who agrees to supervise their work, at least six months prior to enrolling in the course. Prerequisite: Any three units of course weight in Entomology at the 200-level or higher.

ENT 301 Project in Basic Entomology
★3 (either term, 0-1s-6). Individual study. Provides students with the opportunity to investigate through guided reading and discussion with a faculty member of their choice, the literature on one or more topics in basic entomology. According to circumstances and inclination, limited experimental work might be undertaken. Prereq- uisite: Any three units of course weight in Entomology at the 200-level or higher.

ENT 308 Principles of Insect Pest Management
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Application of ecological principles and pest management tactics in development of integrated control strategies. Biological characteristics of pests and use of population models are emphasized. Economic considerations in pest management. Term paper required. Prerequisite: Any three units of course weight in Entomology at the 200-level or higher, an introductory course in ecology, a course in Computing Science, and a course in Statistics.

ENT 317 Comparative Morphology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Comparative morphology of the major orders of insects and the evolution of some of their structures. Prerequisite: ZOOL 252 and 253.

ENT 319 Insect Development
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Reproduction, embryonic and postembryonic development in insects. Prerequisite: BIOL 202 or ENT 317.

ENT 321 Insect Function
★3 (second term, 3-1s-3). Life processes at the molecular, cellular, and organ levels, emphasizing those character- istics of insects and their relatives. Prerequisite: CHEM 160 and six units of course weight in Entomology and/or Zoology at the 200-level or higher.

ENT 370 Project in Applied Entomology
★6 (0-1s-6). Individual study. Provides student with an opportunity to pursue an area of interest in detail. This is accomplished through guided reading, discussions with a faculty member and usually conducting a limited research project. Students must have the agreement of at least one faculty member who will act as supervisor for the course. As the project may require summer collecting or field work, students are strongly encouraged to find a faculty member who agrees to supervise their work, at least six months prior to enrolling in the course. Prerequisite: Three units of course weight in Entomology at the 200-level or higher.

ENT 371 Project in Applied Entomology
★3 (either term, 0-1s-6). Individual study. Provides students with the opportunity to investigate through guided reading and discussion with a faculty member of their choice, the literature on one or more topics in applied entomology. According to circumstances and inclinations, limited experimental work might be undertaken. Prerequisite: Three units of course weight in Entomology at the 200-level or higher.

ENT 427 Insect Taxonomy
★3 (second term, 2-0-6). The higher taxa of insects and their relationships. Practice in identification. Prerequisite: ENT 317.

ENT 460 Insect Ecology
★3 (first term, 2-0-4). Relationships of insects to their environment. Community interactions. Laboratory will consist of field trips. Prerequisite: ZOOL 331 or ENT 308 and three units of course weight of animal ecology.

ENT 527 Insect Taxonomy
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Literature of insect taxonomy. Principles and procedures. Speciation, phylogeny and zoogeography. Preparation of taxonomic papers. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; ENT 427 recommended.

ENT 561 Advanced Insect Ecology
★3 (second term, 2-0-4). Behavioral aspects of insect ecology. Responses of insects to the biological and physical environment. Circadian activity rhythms. Prerequisite: ENT 460.

34.7 Food Science

34.7.1 Dairy Science

The following table lists renumbered courses effective 1991-92:

Old	New
DAIRY 400	DAIRY 300

DAIRY 300 Fundamentals of Dairy Science
★3 (first term, 3-2s-0). Physiology of lactation. Biosynthesis and properties of milk components. Physical, chemical, microbiological, technological and nutritional aspects of milk quality. Prerequisite: Six units of course weight in biochemistry.

DAIRY 393 Dairy Product Analysis
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Biochemical, chemical, and microbiological analyses of milk and dairy products. Prerequisite: DAIRY 300, FD SC 361 and 372.

DAIRY 403 Processing of Milk Products
★3 (first term, 3-1s-0). Principles and processes for fluid milk and fluid milk products, including cream, evaporated, dried and concentrated milk. Pasteurization, homogenization, membrane separation, UHT processes. Prerequisite: FD SC 361 and 372.

DAIRY 413 Processing of Dairy Products
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Principles of manufacturing cheese, ice cream, fermented milk, butter. Prerequisite: DAIRY 403.

The following table lists renumbered courses effective 1991-92:

Old	New	Old	New
FD SC 200	FD SC 100	FD SC 461	FD SC 361
FD SC 351	FD SC 101	FD SC 463	FD SC 363
FD SC 383	FD SC 283	FD SC 471	FD SC 372
FD SC 402	FD SC 302	FD SC 502	FD SC 402
FD SC 453	FD SC 353	FD SC 504	FD SC 404
FD SC 454	FD SC 354

FD SC 100 Introduction to Food Processing
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). An introduction to historical, philosophical, scientific, and industrial aspects of food manufacturing and preservation. World food needs, consumer controversies, and current food issues will be discussed. Given concurrently with FD SC 101; not open to students with credit in FD SC 101. Not open to students in the BSc (Food Science) program.

FD SC 101 Introduction to Food Processing
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). An introduction to historical, philosophical, scientific and industrial aspects of food manufacturing and preservation. World food needs, consumer controversies and current food issues will be discussed. Laboratories include exercises, field trips and seminar presentations. Given concurrently with FD SC 100: not open to students with credit in FD SC 100. Required course for students in the BSc (Food Science) program.

FD SC 283 Introduction to Food Engineering
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Dimension and units. Basic mathematical concepts and their use in food processes. Thermodynamics in food systems. Prerequisite: MATH 113 or 114.

FD SC 302 Quality Control
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Statistical methods in quality control, sampling plans, objective and subjective measurements of food quality attributes. Formerly called FD SC 402. Prerequisite: Three units of course weight in introductory statistics (STAT 236 recommended).

FD SC 353 Unit Operations in Food Processing I
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Processes used in food manufacturing. Size reduction, mixing, emulsification, separation, extraction, distillation, sedimentation, centrifugation, crystallization and filtration. Prerequisite: FD SC 283.

FD SC 354 Unit Operations in Food Processing II
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Processes used in food preservation. Dehydration, refrigeration and freezing, sterilization and canning, irradiation. Effect of processing on food properties. Prerequisite: FD SC 283.

FD SC 361 Food Microbiology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Environmental factors affecting the growth, acitivity, and destruction of microorganisms in food. Sanitizing and disinfection. Food-borne infections and intoxications. Open only to students registered in the Faculties of Agriculture and Forestry or Home Economics; or students registered in Microbiology Specilization and Honors programs; or Medical Laboratory Science. Given concurrently with FD SC 363, not open to students with credit in FD SC 363. Prerequisite: MICRB 193.

FD SC 363 Food Microbiology
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Environmental factors affecting the growth, activity, and destruction of microorganisms in food. Sanitizing and disinfection. Food-borne infections and intoxications. Given concurrently with FD SC 361, not open to students with credit in FD SC 361. Prerequisite: MICRB 193.

FD SC 371 Food Analysis
★3 (first term, 1-0-4). An introduction to standard physical and chemical methods for the analysis of agricultural commodities and foods. Usually taken concurrently with FD SC 372. Prerequisite: Six units of course weight of credit in university level chemistry.

FD SC 372 Food Chemistry I
★3 (first term, 3-1s-0). Chemistry and biochemistry of food constituents. Usually taken concurrently with FD SC 371. Prerequisite: CHEM 100 or 104; and 160 or 260.

FD SC 400 Undergraduate Reading Project
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Critical reviews of selected literature under the direction of a staff member. Note: For third and fourth year students only. Students must obtain approval from Department before registration.

FD SC 402 Brewing and Enology
★3 (second term, 3-1s-0). Biological, biochemical, chemical and technical aspects of malting, brewing, winemaking and allied industries. Offered in alternate years. Formerly called FD SC 502. Prerequisite: BIOCH 301 and MICRB 193.

FD SC 404 Meat and Meat Products
★3 (second term, 3-0-3/2). Biological, biochemical, chemical and technological aspects of the processing of meat and meat products. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: MICRB 101 or 193 and BIOCH 301.

FD SC 405 Processing and Storage of Fruits and Vegetables
★3 (first term, 3-0-3/2). Biological, biochemical, chemical and technological aspects of the processing of fruits and vegetables. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Three units of course weight in introductory biochemistry.

FD SC 406 Processing and Storage of Cereals and Oilseeds
★3 (first term, 3-0-3/2). Biological, biochemical, chemical and technological aspects of the processing of cereals and oilseeds. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Three units of course weight in introductory biochemistry.

FD SC 455 Special Project/Research
★6 (0-1s-0;0-1s-10). Directed laboratory studies under supervision of staff members. Note: Primarily for senior specialization students. Prerequisite: Consent of the Department.

FD SC 472 Food Chemistry II
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). A continuation of FD SC 372. Prerequisite: FD SC 372.

FD SC 554 Food Processing Project
★3 (either term, 1-0-5). Laboratory and pilot plant studies of selected food preservation techniques. Evaluation of effects of processing on food characteristics. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FD SC 573 Food Analysis
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Classical and modern methods for the chemical analysis of foods and food ingredients. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FD SC 587 Food Engineering Laboratory
★3 (either term, 1-0-3). Experiments in Food Engineering. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FD SC 588 Heat and Mass Transfer in Food Engineering
★3 (first term, 3-1s-0). Basic heat and mass transfer theories in solid and liquid foods. Application to selected unit operations. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

34.7.3 Reserve List

The Department is unable to offer the following courses on a regular basis. Students should consult with the Department for further information.

FD SC 566 Advanced Food Microbiology
★3 (second term, 1-0-4). Advanced techniques and recent developments in food microbiology. Emphasis on epidemiology, etiology and control of food and water-borne illness. Prerequisite: FD SC 361.

FD SC 586 Food Process Evaluation
★3 (first term, 3-3s-0). In-depth study of optimization and cost analysis of selected food processes. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

34.8 Forest Economics

Department of Rural Economy

FOREC 345 Economics of Forestry
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Economic aspects of forest production, marketing, finance, and policy. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102.

INT D 365 Natural Resource Economics
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economics of natural resources related to agriculture and forestry; conservation, population, resource scarcity, property and tenure institutions, economic rent and resource pricing, resource development and evaluation, environmental protection, public resource policy. Prerequisite: ECON 101; ECON 102 recommended. Note: Not open to students with credit in ECON 365. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Forest Science.) [Rural Economy]

INT D 432 Forest Administration and Policy
★3 (second term, 2-1s-0). Analysis of how forest resource policies are developed, and criteria for evaluation. Historical review to illustrate how policies and programs evolved as they have. Review of current policy issues. Outline of principles of organization for resource administration. Lectures, student seminars and assigned reading. Prerequisite: Open only to students in final year of their programs. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Forest Science and Rural Economy.) [Forest Science]

FOREC 445 Forest Production Economics
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Production principles applied to the use of resources in forestry. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; FOREC 345 recommended.

INT D 465 Natural Resource Utilization
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economics of utilizing and conserving land, water and energy resources in Agriculture and Forestry. Prerequisite: INT D 365. [Rural Economy]

FOREC 545 Economics of Timber Utilization
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Concerns introduction of wood processing industries into areas of predominantly old growth stock; optimum depletion rates and sustention of yield, development of infrastructure; siting mills; transportation and the pattern of development of wood processing industries; the role of the forest industries in regional development. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; FOREC 445 recommended. [Rural Economy]

34.9 Forest Engineering

Departments of Agricultural Engineering and Forest Science

FOREN 201 Engineering Principles Applied to Forestry I
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Surveying, photogrammetry and photo interpretation for forestry and forest operation applications. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Agricultural Engineering and Forest Science.) [Forest Science]

FOREN 310 Wood Science and Technology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). The anatomy and identification of North American woods; biological, chemical and physical properties of wood and its components; growth, natural and processing defects; lumber grading. [Agricultural Engineering]

FOREN 335 General Forest Harvesting and Transportation
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Harvesting and transportation methods and techniques as applied to industrial logging operations. This is a general course for forestry students requiring a basic knowledge of methods and equipment used in modern forest harvesting and transportation operations. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Agricultural Engineering and Forest Science.) [Forest Science]

REN 345 Wood Utilization
(second term, 3-0-0). Wood utilization including mills, plywood plants, chip and particle board and pulp and paper. A general survey course for forestry students requiring a basic knowledge of the utilization of forest products. [Agricultural Engineering]

REN 400 Topics in Wood Utilization
(either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study of wood utilization relating to solid wood products manufacturing and/or pulp and paper technology. Prerequisite: FOREN 310 or FOREN 345. [Agricultural Engineering]

REN 421 Simulation Methods in Forest Engineering
(second term, 3-0-3). Continuous and discrete simulation methods applied to the study of processes in forest operations. Prerequisite: Introductory courses in computing science and calculus. Not open to students with credit in AG EN 421. [Agricultural Engineering]

REN 435 Advanced Transportation of Forest Products
(second term, 3-0-3). Advanced studies in the methods and systems of movement of wood and wood products. Equipment for primary and secondary transportation of timber. Planning and cost analysis of logging operations and equipment. Forest roads and bridges. Prerequisite: FOREN 335. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Agricultural Engineering and Forest Science.) [Forest Science]

REN 550 Problems in Forest Engineering
(either term, 3-0-0). Directed study in forest engineering, including forest harvesting, road location and construction. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Agricultural Engineering and Forest Science.) [Forest Science]

REN 560 Trends and Problems in Wood Science I
(either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study of wood technology and forest products. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. [Agricultural Engineering]

REN 561 Trends and Problems in Wood Science II
(either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study of wood technology and forest products. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. [Agricultural Engineering]

4.10 Forest Science

The following table lists renumbered courses effective 1991-92:

Old	New	Old	New
FOR 200	FOR 100	FOR 427	FOR 421
FOR 210	FOR 110	FOR 450	FOR 350

FOR 100 Introduction to Forestry
3 (first term, 3-0-0). A general introduction to trees and other forest plants, forest ecology, and forest land-use planning. Includes discussions of the relationships between recreation, water, wildlife, agriculture, range and timber to forest management policies and practices in Alberta and elsewhere. Not available for credit to BSc Forestry students.

FOR 110 Wildland Resources Measurements
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Designed to introduce students to the principles and practices of measuring a variety of wildland resources including: timber, water, range, wildlife and recreation. Formerly called FOR 210. Recommended that STAT 236 be taken concurrently.

FOR 120 Dendrology
3 (first term, 3-0-4). Identification, classification, distribution, and silvics of the forest trees and important shrubs of Canada; their commercial and ecological values; brief consideration of their management; field trips.

FOR 210 Forest Measurements
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Principles and practices of measuring and estimating present and future fiber production of forest communities, including applications of statistics, sampling techniques, regression analysis and computer programming. Formerly called FOR 310. Prerequisite: FOR 110, MATH 113, CMPUT 251 and three units of course weight of statistics.

FOR 260 Conservation and Recreational Use of Wildlands
3 (second term, 3-0-0). History, philosophy and modern relationship of man and wildland environments; origins and ethics of conservation and preservation; National Parks movement; current perspectives concerning parks, protected areas and recreational trends.

FOR 301 Forestry Field Camp
6 (second term, 5 weeks). Five weeks of field exercises in forest mensuration, protection, ecology, and management planning. Conducted immediately following normal second term examinations. Required of all students pursuing the BSc in Forestry. Students enrolled in the BSc Forestry program will not be allowed to enroll in FOR 431 without having satisfactorily completed FOR 301. A fee to cover room and board, and partial camp expenses will be charged. For the 1989-90 camp, this was $475. Prerequisite: AGFOR 104, FOR 210 and FOR 120 and FOREN 201.

FOR 314 Forest Soils
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Chemical, physical, and biological properties and processes of soil in relation to site and the growth of forest vegetation; nutrient cycling; impacts upon soil, environmental quality, and forest productivity or fertilization, erosion, fire, site preparation, forest harvesting, and grazing; forest land classification. Prerequisite: SOILS 310. [Soil Science]

FOR 321 Tree Structure and Function
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Developmental morphology, anatomy and physiology of trees. Role of internal and environmental factors in the growth and development of trees: relationship of environment and structure to function. Prerequisite: BOT 199 and BOT 240.

FOR 322 Forest Ecosystems
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Analysis of forest ecosystems energy flow, productivity, nutrient cycling, succession, responses to disturbance and manipulation, and simulations. Prerequisite: BOT 130 and CMPUT 251.

FOR 323 Silviculture
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Forest regeneration principles and techniques; stand tending including fertilization, thinning, pruning and drainage; harvesting systems for reforestation; nursery practices; reforestation, the law and current practices. Prerequisite: FOR 321.

FOR 340 Forest Fire Management
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Fire thermophysics, combustion energetics, fire behavior, fuels measurement and manipulation, and fire effects; prevention, detection, suppression, settlement protection, preattack planning, and prescribed burning as part of sophisticated forest management.

FOR 350 Forest and Range Hydrology
3 (first term, 3-0-3). The role of forest and range vegetation in determining the hydrologic function of a watershed; natural storage phenomena of the forest land surface and ways it can be modified; field trips. Prerequisite: FOR 314.

INT D 365 Natural Resource Economics
3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economics of natural resources related to agriculture and forestry; conservation, population, resource scarcity, property and tenure institutions, economic rent and resource pricing, resource development and evaluation, environmental protection, public resource policy. Prerequisite: ECON 101; ECON 102 recommended. Note: Not open to students with credit in ECON 365. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Forest Science.) [Rural Economy]

FOR 365 Forest Wildlife
3 (second term, 3-0-3). A survey of vertebrates indigenous to forest systems of western Canada with emphasis upon identification, life history, ecology, forestry impact. Effective communication of wildlife values and benefits. Field trips. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 401 Special Topics in Forest Resources
3 (either term, 3-0-0). Studies in the multiple aspects of forest management, including wildlife, recreation, watershed, range and timber. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 405 Intermediate Forest Problems
3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Problems in specialized areas of forest science. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 410 Principles of Remote Sensing
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Basic principles of spectral reflectance and emittance, and atmospheric effects as they apply to the acquisition and analysis of imagery; application to renewable resource inventory and management. Prerequisite: A 300-level course in at least one of the natural sciences. [Soil Science]

FOR 413 Integrated Wildland Resource Assessment
3 (first term, 3-0-3). An examination of information requirements, inventory procedures, data storage and retrieval systems, and data use for integrated land use planning. Prerequisite: FOR 110.

FOR 420 Advanced Dendrology
3 (second term, 3-0-0). Studies of woody plant vegetation of the world, especially temperate and boreal regions; evolution of, and genetic relationships among, tree and shrub genera and species; historical development of woody plant vegetation; optional field trip. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. Offered alternate years.

FOR 421 Tree Physiology
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Study of physiological processes of forest trees; relationship of environment and structure to function; emphasis on growth processes, primary production processes, reproduction, dormancy; influence of silvicultural practices on growth, and physiological processes. Formerly called FOR 427. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. Offered in alternate years.

FOR 427 Tree Seedling Production
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Theory and current practice of the production of tree seedlings. Includes discussion of seed collection and handling, seedling ecophysiology in relation to the nursery environment, hardening and storage of container and bare root seedlings. Will include guest speakers and student seminars. Offered alternate years. Formerly called FOR 417. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 430 Forest Resources Management I
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Analytical techniques used by renewable resource managers for management of wildland areas for single or multiple outputs; problems of defining optimality when confronted with competing uses and multiple outputs. Prerequisite: CMPUT 251, FOR 210 and FOREC 345.

FOR 431 Forest Resources Management II
3 (first term, 3-0-3). The use of simulation, mathematical programming, and systems analysis by resource managers as decision-making aids. Application of techniques covered in Forest Resources Management I to case study problems. Prerequisite: FOR 301, 321 and 430.

INT D 432 Forest Administration and Policy
3 (second term, 2-1s-0). Analysis of how forest resources policies are developed, and criteria for evaluation. Historical review to illustrate how policies and programs evolved as they have. Review of current policy issues. Outline of principles of organization for resource administration. Lectures, student seminars and assigned reading. Prerequisite: Open only to students in final year of their programs. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Forest Science and Rural Economy.) [Forest Science]

FOR 433 Forest Growth and Yield Prediction
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Selected topics in forest mensuration, regression analysis, growth and yield prediction. Sampling methods, growth models and data management. Prerequisite: FOR 210.

FOR 439 Timber Management Planning
3 (second term, 2-2s-2). Management of forests with fiber production as the primary objective: decision-making techniques; implementation and control of plans; and integration with other forest uses. Emphasis on timber harvest scheduling techniques. Prerequisite: FOR 430 and 431.

FOR 450 Forest Watershed Management
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Principles and methods involved in managing forest and range land to obtain optimum production and regulation of water yields while maintaining soil stability; watershed management as a component of integrated forest resources management; field trips. Prerequisite: FOR 350. Offered in alternate years.

INT D 460 Heritage Interpretation Field Trip
3 (either term, 0-2s-6). Extended field trip to examine comparatively the philosophies, approaches and applied methodologies of a diverse range of institutions and agencies engaged in the practice of heritage interpretation. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Forest Science and Recreation and Leisure Studies. [Forest Science]

FOR 462 Wildland Recreation Management
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Principles and methods of management of National and Provincial Parks, and forest recreational systems; wilderness management; the integration of biological and sociological criteria in park and recreational management. Field trips. Prerequisite: FOR 260.

FOR 463 Wildland Recreation Planning
3 (second term, 3-0-0). Survey of current principles and practices relevant to the planning of parks, wilderness areas and recreational environments in wildland settings. Emphasis on current case studies. Prerequisite: FOR 260 or FOR 462.

FOR 464 Conservation and Management of Endangered Species
3 (first term, 3-0-0). Theoretical and applied considerations for maintaining wildlife populations considered endangered, threatened or rare. Global, national and provincial strategies for species conservation. Contributary factors of declines, extinctions, and species recovery.

Special reference to forestry practices that can be used to help maintain or improve populations of species of concern. Case studies and field trips. Prerequisite: One of FOR 260, AN SC 350, ZOOL 467.

INT D 467 Methods of Heritage Interpretation
★3 (either term, 3-3s-0). Application of principles of interpretation of natural and historic resources. Focus on management techniques and development of interpretative programs. Case studies and field trip. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; INT D 466 recommended as complementary. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Forest Science and Recreation and Leisure Studies.) [Forest Science]

FOR 472 Human Factors in Wildland Resource Management
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Overview of the relationship between people, as individuals or groups, and their interface with the environment. The course draws on findings in sociology, psychology, sociobiology, communications theory and other social sciences to present an understanding of the social and political dimensions of modern wildland resource systems. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Forest Science and Rural Economy.) [Forest Science] Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

FOR 475 Vegetative Reclamation of Forest Lands in Alberta
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Topics include reclamation legislation, environmental impact statements, and the resource development process in Alberta. Operational implementation of revegetation principles related to reclamation, reclamation machinery, including seed mixture design, ecology of reclamation plants, plant succession on reclaimed sites, and the restoration of native plant communities. Computer assisted retrieval of reclamation information is taught in lecture and lab. Lab exercises cover principles of plant establishment and identification of reclamation plant species. Prerequisite: A course in ecology, FOR 120, FOR 314 and CMPUT 251.

FOR 490 Forest Tree Improvement
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Application of principles of inheritance as related to trees and in the management of forested lands; natural variation and ecological differentiation of woody plant populations; reproductive biology; methods of tree improvement. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 501 Special Topics in Forestry
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Formerly called FOR 503. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 502 Problems in Forest Ecology
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study in forest ecology. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 503 Problems in Silviculture
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study in silviculture. Formerly called FOR 520. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 522 Advanced Forest Ecology
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Studies of the ecology of the major forested ecosystems of Canada, particularly composition, physical and biological factors of importance, variability within regions, silvicultural techniques, management problems; limiting factors, productivity, special adaptations, role of man; term project required. Optional field trip. Formerly called FOR 526. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. Offered alternate years.

FOR 523 Advanced Silviculture
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Various topics including forest tree nursery locations, cycles, stock, types, instrumentation requirements and problems; advanced aspects of silvicultural planning related to integrating silvicultural considerations into woods operations. Two or three field trips may be scheduled for weekends or lab time. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 535 Problems in Forest Resources Management
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study in forest resources management. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 545 Problems in Forest Fire
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study in forest fire. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 546 Advanced Fire Ecology
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). The role of fire as an abiotic input in wildland environments. Its effect on plant succession; primary producers, consumers, decomposers; from an autecological and synecological perspective. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 555 Problems in Forest Hydrology
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study in forest hydrology. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 565 Problems in Forest Recreation
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Directed study in forest recreation. Formerly called FOR 522. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

FOR 590 Seminar in Tree Improvement
★3 (second term, 0-3s-0). Reports and discussion of current literature and advanced topics in forest genetics and tree improvement. Formerly called FOR 522. Prerequisite: Graduate standing and consent of instructor; FOR 490 and GENET 197 recommended.

34.11 Interdisciplinary Courses

Courses listed below are the concern of more than one discipline. Students may register in these courses either as options or as courses in one of the disciplines listed in the footnote under each course, subject to the usual curriculum requirements, prerequisites, etc. Normally, in the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry, these courses will be credited to the discipline listed in square brackets. Instruction will be offered by members of one or more of the departments or faculties listed beneath the course description. For the following interdisciplinary courses, where the department responsible for registration has been assigned, the department so designated will appear in square brackets following the course description.

INT D 302 Economics of Agriculture
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The nature and scope of agricultural economics; economic aspects of agricultural production, marketing, finance, resource use, prices, and policy; relation of the agricultural sector to the economy as a whole; analysis of structural change, economic growth, and adjustment in agriculture. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Economics and Rural Economy.) [Rural Economy]

INT D 303 Economics of World Agriculture
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economic issues in international agriculture including world food security, farming systems, agricultural trade and aid. The role of agriculture in development and means of improving the performance of agriculture world-wide. Foreign domestic agricultural policies and international trade protection measures, and potential reforms in relation to Canadian agricultural interests. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Economics and Rural Economy). [Rural Economy]

INT D 356 Sociology of Rural Life
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The rural community and rural social systems, with special reference to changes in the rural way of life. Prerequisite: R SOC 355, or one of SOC 100, 202 or 300. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Sociology.) [Rural Economy]

INT D 365 Natural Resource Economics
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economics of natural resources related to agriculture and forestry; conservation, population, resource scarcity, property and tenure institutions, economic rent and resource pricing, resource development and evaluation, environmental protection, public resource policy. Prerequisite: ECON 101; ECON 102 recommended. Note: Not open to students with credit in ECON 365. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Forest Science.) [Rural Economy]

INT D 369 Economics of the Environment
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economic growth and the deterioration of the environment; types and causes of environmental deterioration; theory, policy, and measurement relating to environmental deterioration; recreation economics; and current Canadian environmental topics. Prerequisite: ECON 101 or 204. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Economics and Rural Economy.) [Economics]

INT D 382 Theory and Practice of Cooperation
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Economic and sociological principles of cooperation; the evaluation of cooperative organization; cooperative law and taxation; management and finance of cooperatives. Prerequisite: ECON 101 and R SOC 355. [Rural Economy]

INT D 421 Peatlands
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Climatic, geologic and hydrologic factors of peatland development; ecosystem dynamics of peat formation including flora and fauna, biogeochemical cycles, and energy fluxes; stratigraphy and evolution; classification; utilization in forestry, agriculture, horticulture and as fuel. Two one-day field trips on Saturdays. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: A 100-level or higher ecology course and a 300-level Soils course. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Botany and Soil Science.) [Soil Science]

INT D 432 Forest Administration and Policy
★3 (second term, 2-1s-0). Analysis of how forest resources policies are developed, and criteria for evaluation. Historical review to illustrate how policies and programs evolved as they have. Review of current policy issues. Outline of principles of organization for resource administration. Lectures, student seminars and assigned reading. 34.12 Plant Science

PL SC 115 Introductory Plant Science
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). An introductory overview of clim... and biological factors in relation to the growth of n... and cultivated crop plants. Global view of adaptat... distribution and production. Principles of crop prote... and management. This course is designed for 1st ... 2nd year level students. It is not available for cred... students who have prior credit in any Plant Sci... course.

L SC 301 Developmental Physiology and otechnology of Crop Plants
3 (first term, 3-0-0). A theoretical approach to plant d plant cell developmental physiology as it relates to op production and crop improvement through otechnology, including use of tissue culture and combinant DNA technologies. Topics covered will inude changes through the lifecycle and in response to vironmental stress, and genomic and expressional ntrol of these changes. Prerequisite: CHEM 160 or 0; GENET 197 recommended.

L SC 331 Plant Biochemistry
3 (first term, 3-0-3). An introduction to biochemistry. asic biochemical similarity of all organisms. Ways of udying biochemical reactions. Nature and kinds of nzymes; qualitative aspects of rates of enzyme catalyzed actions. Derivation of energy through degradative ocesses. Chemistry and metabolism of carbohydrates nd fats and oils. Prerequisite: CHEM 160 or 260.

L SC 350 Principles of Horticulture
3 (first term, 3-0-3). A basic course in horticulture, with pecial emphasis on the physiology of horticultural crops. aboratory practice in plant identification, propagation, ulture, marketing and storage of crops; their economic mportance and value as foods. Also an introduction to ndscape horticulture. Prerequisite: BOT 199.

L SC 352 Weeds and Weed Control
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Crop-weed relationships, methods f control, herbicide properties and uses, weed identifiation. Other uses of plant growth regulators. Prerequiite: BOT 199.

L SC 354 Forage Crops
3 (second term, 3-0-3). An introduction to the estabshment, management, conservation and utilization of rages for pasture and hay. Morphological structure nd varietal forms of the principal forage grasses and gumes. Prerequisite: BOT 199.

L SC 355 Cereal and Oilseed Crops
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Botanical, physiological, agricultural and market quality characteristics of Western Canadian ereal and oilseed crops. Prerequisite: BOT 199.

L SC 356 Range Management
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Introduction to range management rinciples and practices: effects of grazing on plants; egetation types; utilization and range health; range nanagement planning. Prerequisite: BOT 199.

L SC 380 Principles of Plant Pathology
3 (first term, 3-0-3). An introduction to plant diseases; he nature of nonparasitic and parasitic causal agents such as air pollutants, temperature, viruses, bacteria, ungi, higher plants and nematodes; principles involved n disease prevention and control. Prerequisite: BOT 199.

L SC 385 Forest Pathology
3 (first term, 3-0-3). An introduction to forest diseases. ectures and discussions focus on the biology and nanagement of the major types of tree diseases causing economic loss. Labs focus on disease identification. A asic knowledge of forestry is assumed.

PL SC 406 Range Plants of Western Canada
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Identification, ecology and nutritive value of plants grazed by wild and domestic ungulates on Western Canadian rangelands. Prerequisite: One of PL SC 356, FOR 120, or BOT 210.

PL SC 407 Range Plants of North America
3 (first term, 1-0-6). An in-depth study of the plants and communities of North American rangelands. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: PL SC 356; PL SC 406 strongly recommended.

PL SC 424 Field Crop Physiology
3 (second term, 3-0-3). The study of crop growth and development, with emphasis on the interactions among physiology, environment and management. Examples from forage, cereal, oilseed and grain legume crops, considering both annual and perennial forms. Prerequisite: BOT 240 or PL SC 350 or PL SC 432.

PL SC 432 Plant Biochemistry.
3 (second term, 3-0-3). A continuation of PL SC 331. Emphasis is on the utilization of energy for synthetic processes. Chemistry and biochemistry of cellular structures, isoprenoids and steroids. Photosynthesis. Nitrogen and protein biochemistry. Enzyme kinetics. Regulation and control of chemical reactions in living organisms. Prerequisite: PL SC 331.

PL SC 455 Vegetable Crops
3 (first term, 3-0-3). The science and practice of producing commercially important cool and warm season vegetable crops with emphasis on botany, taxonomy, morphology, growth processes, production, harvesting, handling quality and composition. Prerequisite: PL SC 350.

PL SC 465 Introduction to Plant Breeding
3 (first term, 3-0-0). Basic principles of crop improvement by plant breeding. Development of plant breeding methods and their relationship to the major crop species. Prerequisite: GENET 197 and three units of course weight of statistics.

PL SC 470 Physiology of Herbicidal Action
3 (first term, 3-0-0). Absorption, translocation, degradation, mechanism of action. Offered in alternate years commencing in 1990-91. Prerequisite: PL SC 352 and BOT 240.

PL SC 471 Rangeland Management
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Principles and practices related to the manipulation of rangeland ecosystems. Several afternoon field trips are required. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: PL SC 356; PL SC 406 recommended.

PL SC 472 Advances in Forage Production
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Forage production and management practices as related to the growth and development of the plant. Maximizing forage utilization under different grazing systems. Pasture establishment and rejuvenation. Forage preservation. The forage seed industry. Managing grass legume mixtures. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: PL SC 354.

PL SC 481 Diseases of Field Crops
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Diseases of grain, forage, and other field crops. Prerequisite: PL SC 380.

PL SC 482 Diseases of Horticultural Crops
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Diseases of potato, vegetable, fruit, and ornamental plants. Prerequisite: PL SC 380.

PL SC 501 Reading Project in Plant Science
3 (first term, 0-3s-0). Individual study.

PL SC 502 Reading Project in Plant Science
3 (second term, 0-3s-0). Individual study.

PL SC 503 Topics in Plant Breeding
3 (second term, 3-0-0). Theory and practice for special plant breeding problems. Topics are developed with students, including technology applications, design of efficient breeding systems (including applications of biotechnology), applied use of quantitative methods, development of new crop species, gene patents, and special breeding problems. Extensive reference to literature. Prerequisite: PL SC 465. Offered in alternate years.

PL SC 505 Research Project in Plant Science
3 (first term, 0-3s-0). Individual study.

PL SC 506 Research Project in Plant Science
3 (second term, 0-3s-0). Individual study.

PL SC 510 Plant Virology
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Basic principles and methods dealing with morphology, purification, multiplication, mutation, and transmission of plant viruses. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

PL SC 520 Disease Diagnostics
3 (Intersession session 0-0-6). Identification of diseases of field, greenhouse, and forest crops. A disease collection is required.

INT D 551 Advanced Plant Biochemistry
3 (second term, 3-0-0). Selected topics in plant metabolism, with particular emphasis on mitochondrial electron transport, phosphorylation, and recent advances in carbon assimilation. Evaluation of current research and methods of investigation in these fields. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; BIOCH 301 or PL SC 331 and 432. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Botany and Plant Science.) [Plant Science]

PL SC 580 Epidemiology of Plant Diseases
3 (second term, 1-3s-0). Reproduction, spread and survival of air-borne and soil-borne plant pathogens. Monitoring and modelling of disease and crop loss progression. Plant Pathosystems and principles of breeding for disease resistance. Critical evaluation of current literature will be stressed. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

34.12.1 Reserve List

The Department is unable to offer the following courses on a regular basis. Students should consult the Department for further information.

PL SC 454 Fruit Crops
3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: PL SC 350.

PL SC 457 Greenhouse Crops
3 (second term, 3-0-3). History and present status of protected cropping industry; greenhouse structural design; systems of environmental control; cultural procedures for some commonly grown greenhouse crops. Prerequisite: PL SC 350.

PL SC 458 Herbaceous Ornamentals
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Classification, propagation, culture and landscape use of herbaceous ornamental plants. Prerequisite: PL SC 350.

PL SC 459 Woody Ornamentals
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Identification, culture and landscape uses of trees, shrubs and ground covers. Planting design and use of landscape architectural conventions. Prerequisite: PL SC 350.

PL SC 460 Principles of Landscape Architecture
3 (first term, 3-0-3). Site planning; introduction to design; graphic techniques, grading and surface drainage.

PL SC 500 Statistics for Biological Research
3 (first term, 3-0-3).

PL SC 509 Selected Topics in Horticulture
3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Recent developments of special interest discussed at an advanced level.

34.13 Poultry Science

Department of Animal Science

For courses in poultry science see §34.5.2.

34.14 Rural Sociology

Department of Rural Economy

R SOC 355 Principles of Rural Sociology
3 (either term, 3-0-0). The basic principles and concepts of sociology as they apply to the study of rural life; concepts of culture, social organization, population and ecology, and social institutions are taught with rural examples. Prerequisite: Second year standing or higher. Note: Not open for students with credit in SOC 100. R SOC 355 is acceptable in lieu of SOC 100 as a prerequisite for senior level sociology courses for Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry students only.

INT D 356 Sociology of Rural Life
3 (either term, 3-0-0). The rural community and rural social systems, with special reference to changes in the rural way of life. Prerequisite: R SOC 355, or one of SOC 100, 202 or 300. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Sociology.) [Rural Economy]

R SOC 391 Principles of Rural Extension
3 (first term, 3-0-0). Introduction to concepts involved in organizing and implementing effective programs for social change in rural communities. The processes by which farm and rural people learn about, try out and adopt or reject new ideas and innovations. Development of an appreciation for the multidisciplinary nature of the rural extension function. Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

R SOC 415 Socio-Economic Research Techniques
3 (either term, 3-0-2). Research design, language of research, sample selection, questionnaire construction, interviewing, machine tabulation, analysis, and report writing. Prerequisite: Third year standing or higher.

INT D 456 Rural Social Problems and Public Policy
3 (either term, 3-0-0). Social problems in Canadian rural life; analysis of policy making processes related to these problems. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; INT D 356 recommended. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Sociology.) [Rural Economy]

INT D 458 Socioeconomic Development of Western Canadian Agriculture
3 (first term, 3-0-0). The economic and social origins of Western Canadian agricultural development. A chronological examination of farm and political organizations and other agrarian social movements influencing the farming sector. The growth of public policy and development of the institutional framework supporting agriculture. Discussion of past and present issues in Western Canadian agricultural development, including such factors as land settlement, transportation and farming support services. Prerequisite: R SOC 355, or one of SOC 100 or 300. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Rural Economy and Sociology.) [Rural Economy]

R SOC 491 Planning and Evaluation of Extension Programs
3 (second term, 3-0-0). The nature and importance of and principles involved in planning, programming, implementation, and evaluation; knowledge, skills and attitudes required of professional workers engaged in human resources development and extension work. Prerequisite: R SOC 391.

R SOC 556 Human Resources Development
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). The role of human resources in social and economic development. Strategies for development of knowledge; skills and attitudes desirable in the development process. Training of change agents and lay leaders for community development and continuing education process. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

R SOC 557 Comparative Rural Societies
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). The structure and characteristics of rural societies in various countries, with emphasis upon adjustment to change in social and economic institutions. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor; INT D 456 recommended.

34.15 Soil Science

Note: Except for SOILS 600, SOILS 510-620 are offered only when justified by enrollment, normally in alternate years.

SOILS 310 Introduction to Soil Science
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Elementary aspects of soil formation, soil occurrence in natural landscapes, soil classification, soil resource inventory; basic morphological, biological, chemical and physical characteristics employed in the identification and study of soils. Prerequisite: Must have completed five full-course equivalents of university credit.

SOILS 316 Soils and People
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). How people have used the world soil resource, with reference to limiting factors such as climate, loss of soil fertility, salinization, acidification, loss of land to urbanization, wind and water erosion and pollution. How soil resources influence human activities with examples from North America, Europe, and the Tropics. Not a suitable prerequisite for other soil science courses. Prerequisite: Must have completed five full-course equivalents of university credit.

SOILS 330 The Soil Ecosystem
★3 (first term, 3-1s-0). Soil as an ecosystem; physical and chemical aspects of the soil environment; ecologically and pedologically significant aspects of soil organisms; functioning of the soil ecosystem; role of soil organisms in soil development. Prerequisite: SOILS 310 or a 200-level course in ecology.

SOILS 360 Soil Management and Conservation
★3 (second term, 3-3s-0). An applied course which considers the relationship of soil properties to the use, management and conservation of soils for agriculture. Topics include soil tilth, soil water, soil temperature, soil pH, soil salinity, soil deterioration and erosion. Soil management practices including amelioration of problem soils, maintenance of organic matter and erosion control are discussed. Prerequisite: SOILS 310.

SOILS 401 Research Project
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0). Individual study. Study under staff supervision of a specialized topic, requiring the preparation of a comprehensive report; primarily for fourth-year students. Prerequisite: Consent of the Department Chair.

SOILS 402 Research Project
★6 (0-3s-0). Individual study. Study under staff supervision of a specialized topic, requiring the preparation of a comprehensive report; primarily for fourth-year students. Prerequisite: Consent of the Department Chair.

SOILS 415 Soil Mineralogy
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Mineral components of soil with emphasis on weathering processes in different soil environments; influence of inorganic components on soil behavior; nature of crystalline and amorphous soil clays; significance of mineral formation in soils. Arrangement of soil components into microfabric types. Prerequisite: SOILS 310.

SOILS 420 Soil Formation and Classification
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Soil formation and classification with emphasis on environmental forces, including man's activity, as factors of soil pedogenesis. Soils of Canada — kinds, distribution and use. Prerequisite: SOILS 310 or any 300-level earth science course.

INT D 421 Peatlands
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Climatic, geologic and hydrologic factors of peatland development; ecosystem dynamics of peat formation including flora and fauna, biogeochemical cycles, and energy fluxes; stratigraphy and evolution; classification; utilization in forestry, agriculture, horticulture and as fuel. Two one-day field trips on Saturdays. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: A 100-level or higher ecology course and a 300-level Soils course. (Offered jointly by the Departments of Botany and Soil Science.) [Soil Science]

SOILS 425 Soil and Land Evaluation
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Principles and techniques of soil/land evaluation including land classification based on inherent characteristics, present land use/land cover, and land capabilities for alternate land use; assessment of soil quality from morphological, chemical and physical data; use of soil survey data in agriculture, forestry and engineering. Prerequisite: SOILS 420.

SOILS 430 Soil Microbiology and Biochemistry
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Students discover: i) distinguishing characteristics and environmental, industrial or biotechnological implications of specific soil micro-organisms; ii) principles governing methods to study soil organisms and biochemical processes; iii) mechanisms controlling organic matter cycling and stabilization with reference to C, N, S and P; iv) microbial interactions with metals and xenobiotics; and v) criteria for assessing influence of soil microbiology and biochemistry at the landscape level. The laboratory prepares students to study soil microorganisms and biochemical processes using the scientific method and modern techniques. Prerequisite: SOILS 310 or any 300-level course in the biological sciences.

SOILS 440 Soil Physics
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Physical properties of soil affecting its structural, mechanical and thermal behaviour and their quantitative measurements; fundamental principles and laws which govern the soil as a physical system with particular emphasis on the character, measurement and movement of soil moisture. Prerequisite: SOILS 310 or completion of 10 full-course equivalents of university science courses.

SOILS 450 Soil Chemistry
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Mechanisms, equations and adsorption, adsorption isotherms, cation exchange capacity, variable and permanent charge, cation and anion fixation and rates of reaction, adsorption of polymers, solute transport, oxidation and reduction, flocculation and dispersion, chemistry of sodium, calcareous and acid soils, soil pollution, adsorbed water. Prerequisite: SOILS 310.

SOILS 460 Soil Fertility
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Essential plant nutrients; factors influencing nutrient availability; methods of evaluating soil fertility; correction of soil fertility problems; manufacture, composition, and use of fertilizers. Prerequisite: SOILS 310.

SOILS 461 Agroecosystem Simulation
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). The student will learn the rationale for integrating scientific findings at lower levels of physical and biological organization into mathematical models. The student will learn to simulate basic processes such as photosynthesis, respiration, growth, decompostion, and nutrient and water intake, and to integrate them into higher-level agroecosystem models. Prerequisite: BOT 240, SOILS 310 and one other Soils course.

SOILS 470 Land Drainage
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Principles of land drainage; drainage design criteria; design of surface and subsurface drainage systems; drainage investigations; current drainage practices. Prerequisite: One of AG EN 308 or 313, GEOL 588, SOILS 440. (Offered jointly with the Department of Agricultural Engineering). Offered in alternate years.

SOILS 485 Soil Reclamation and Conservation
★3 (first term, 2-4s-0). A problem and seminar oriented course providing an opportunity for students to integrate past course experiences and to strengthen the concept of the total system approach to analysis of soil problems and management strategies. Includes examination and analysis of soil reclamation and/or management problems, preparation of a report or action plan and defense of it to several staff of the Department of Soil Science. Grade assigned on the basis of written report(s) and its (their) defense. Prerequisite: Four (4) Soil Science areas beyond SOILS 310.

SOILS 501 Individual Research Project
★3 (either term, 0-3s-0).Prerequisite: Consent of Department Chair.

SOILS 502 Individual Research Project
★6 (0-3s-0).Prerequisite: Consent of Department Chair.

SOILS 505 Special Topics in Soil Science
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

SOILS 510 Advanced Remote Sensing
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: FOR 410.

SOILS 520 Advanced Soil Classification
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: SOILS 420.

SOILS 530 Advanced Soil Ecology
★3 (first term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: SOILS 430.

SOILS 535 Advanced Soil Biochemistry
★3 (second term, 1-2s-3). Prerequisite: SOILS 430.

SOILS 540 Advanced Soil Physics
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: An introducto course in differential calculus and a course in one of t following: soil physics, soil mechanics, or hydrogeolog

SOILS 550 Advanced Soil Chemistry
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: Consent of instruct

SOILS 555 Advanced Soil Mineralogy and Micromorphology
★3 (second term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite: SOILS 4 and 420.

41.2 General Information

The Faculty of Arts

The Faculty of Arts is, with the Faculty of Science, the oldest established faculty at the University of Alberta, with instruction in Arts and Science having begun in 1908. It offers instruction in the humanities, the social sciences, and the fine arts.

The Faculty offers a variety of programs leading to the degree of BA (Honors), BA (Special), BA (Canadian Studies), BA (East Asian Studies), BA (Criminology), BA (General) [a three-year program], BA [a four-year program]. Regulations governing programs will be found in §43.

In addition, the Faculty offers specialized degrees in Art and Design, in Drama (Bachelor of Fine Arts) described in §§43.1.12 and 43.1.13, and in Music (Bachelor of Music), described in §43.1.14, and BMus (Honors), described in §43.1.15.

Faculté Saint-Jean

A number of Arts courses are also offered in French at Faculté Saint-Jean. Faculté Saint-Jean was founded in 1908 and became an integral part of the University in 1970. Faculté Saint-Jean allows students of French extraction to pursue their university studies in a French environment and gives other students the opportunity to benefit from this environment. The University thus hopes to foster French culture in Alberta and to allow more students to master the two official languages of Canada. For further information, consult §181 to §184 of this Calendar.

41.3 Important Deadlines

(1) Admission to the Faculty of Arts:
Refer to §14.2.
Note A: Students are not normally admitted in January.
Note B: Criminology, BFA, and BMus applicants must also submit references, or a portfolio, or apply for an audition as specified in §§14.2 and 43.1.6 or 43.1.12 or 43.1.13 or 43.1.14 of this Calendar.

(2) Admission to Music Courses:
Students seeking admission to music "performance" courses must apply for audition by August 1st.

(3) Transfer to the Faculty of Arts from another faculty in the University:
Refer to §§14.2 and 42.1(4).
First year students who registered in September in another faculty may not transfer for January admission, but may complete an Application for Readmission or On-Campus Transfer form to transfer to the Faculty of Arts for a subsequent session.
Other students transferring at mid-year (January) can be accepted only under special circumstances. Even though formal transfer cannot be approved, changes in program can sometimes be arranged to maximize transferable credits for later use.

(4) Application to Receive a Degree:
At Fall Convocation: August 30. At Spring Convocation: February 1st.

(5) Other Important Deadlines:
Refer to §11.

42 Faculty Regulations

The regulations of the Faculty of Arts are to be considered in conjunction with the University Regulations and Information for Students §11 to §19, inclusive, of this Calendar.

42.1 Admission and Transfer

The normal admission requirements of the Faculty of Arts will be found in §13.4 of this Calendar. Additional general admission information can be found in §13.4.18 to §13.6.4 of this Calendar. Specific admission information for the BA (Criminology) program is found in §43.1.6; for BA (Honors) see §43.1.2 and §43.2 to §43.27.

(1) Non-Matriculated Applicants: Refer to §13.8 of this Calendar for admission criteria. Following admission as a non-matriculated applicant, successful completion of the normal first year of the BA program will stand in lieu of matriculation. Applicants who fail half, or more than half, of the five first-year courses, will be required to withdraw from the Faculty of Arts, and must complete matriculation requirements before being considered for readmission.

(2) Language Requirement: Matriculated students admitted to any program in the Faculty of Arts, other than a BFA program, must present senior matriculation standing or equivalent in a language other than English.

Non-matriculated applicants should refer to §13.8 of this Calendar.

Note: Students having a matriculate course, or the equivalent, in a language other than English may use a 100-level course in a different language other than English as the equivalent of a first-year university course.

(3) English Language Proficiency: For details see §13.2.2 of this Calendar.

(4) Transfer from other faculties and other Post-Secondary Institutions:

a. Students who do not meet the specific matriculation subject requirements as outlined in Section 13.4.2 of the Calendar will not be considered for admission to the Faculty of Arts. Any deficiencies in matriculation subjects must be rectified prior to admission.

b. Students registered in another faculty at the University of Alberta or in another post-secondary institution may apply to transfer to the Faculty of Arts provided they have a satisfactory standing by the standards of their current program and provided they have a CGPA of at least 5.5 on all university or university transfer courses attempted in their current program. Advanced standing will be given for completed course work which is applicable to the degree program. Credit will not normally be given for course work of a professional nature.

c. Applicants who lack the minimum 70% average on five (5) required high school courses will not be considered until they have completed 30 units of course weight transferable to a BA program.

d. Students who have previously attended this Faculty and who have been required to withdraw will not be considered for readmission until they have attended another post-secondary institution or another faculty and successfully completed at least 30 units of course weight transferable to a BA program. These credits must not include any courses equivalent to ones previously passed at this University.

(5) Transfer Within the Faculty of Arts: Students may transfer from one program to another within the Faculty of Arts at the beginning of the regular academic session provided the entrance requirements for the proposed program are met. After transfer students must meet all requirements for graduation in the new program. For further details see the sections dealing with each program.

(6) Preprofessional Programs: There are no preprofessional programs, as such, in the Faculty of Arts. Students admitted to a Faculty of Arts program who plan to transfer later to a professional program in another faculty must satisfy Faculty of Arts requirements while they are registered in this faculty. Students planning to transfer should consult the Calendar or Counsellors of the relevant Faculty for advice concerning courses which satisfy the requirements of both programs.

(7) Residence requirements: Students taking a 120 units of course weight program in the Faculty of Arts must have credit for at least 60 units of course weight offered by the University of Alberta. Also refer to §16.2 of this Calendar.

(8) Letter of Permission: Following initial admission, students are expected to complete all requirements at the University of Alberta. However, under academically justifiable special circumstances, students may apply to the Dean for permission to take courses at another institution for application to their program here, provided:

a. they are bona fide degree program students of the Faculty of Arts;

b. they have already completed a minimum of 30 units of course weight of their progam at the University of Alberta;

c. they present "Satisfactory" academic standing (i.e. a CGPA of 5.5 or greater).

Approval will NOT however, be granted for requests to take any of the final 30 units of course weight at another institution, or where the student has already received the maximum allowable transfer courses (i.e. 60 units of course weight). Requests to take a senior course in the student's major subject of concentration will be considered only with the written approval of the department adviser. Note that there is no obligation to grant transfer credit unless prior permission has been obtained. Qualified students should contact the Student Programs Office, 6th Floor, Humanities Centre, to obtain the necessary forms.

(9) Readmission after Requirement to Withdra
Refer to §42.6(5) for details.
Readmission of non-matriculated applicar after a failure in half, or more than half, of the first-year units of course weight will be consider only after matriculation requirements have be completed.

(10) Visiting Students: Students from other universiti or colleges are eligible to be considered for admi sion to the Faculty of Arts as Visiting Studen provided:

a. they are bona fide students at their hon
institution;

b. their home institution provides a Letter of Pe mission;

c. they have completed a minimum of 30 units course weight at the home institution;

d. their academic record shows Satisfactory Standin

42.2 Registration and Changes of Registration

Deadlines are strictly adhered to. See §14.2 of thi
Calendar.
For further information refer to §15.1 of this Calen dar.

(1) Student Responsibility: Students are responsibl for the completeness and accuracy of their registra tion and for ensuring their programs are in accord ance with degree specifications. Please read th Calendar carefully and if you are in doubt about th regulations pertaining to your program, please con sult the Student Programs Office.

(2) Failure to "drop" a course: Students who do no formally withdraw from a course but who are absen from the final examination without excuse (see §16.4.2 of this Calendar) will be given a mark o zero (0) on the final examination. The final grade ir the course will then be determined by combining the appropriately weighted term grade and the assigned zero in the final examination, the mathematical result rounded to the lowest whole number. Students who register in a course but do not attend and do not formally withdraw will receive a grade of 1.
Students who withdraw from a course after the deadline date and who thereby receive a grade of withdraw-failing (WF) will receive a grade of 1.
Also refer to §16.4 and §42.6 of this Calendar.

(3) Course Load Requirement: Normally, students in the Faculty of Arts take a full course load, i.e. 30 units of course weight during the academic session.
In exceptional circumstances, and following completion of the first 30 units of course weight, acceleration to the maximum of 36 units of course weight per academic session may be permitted by the Major department.

42.3 Time Limit for Completing the BA (General) and BA (Special) Degrees

Effective the first academic session of 1986-87 (i.e. Spring Session) the Faculty of Arts introduced the first year of a four-year BA program phasing out the three-year BA (General) and the four-year BA (Special).

Students at the University of Alberta or at Alberta colleges with which the University has transfer agreements, who entered the three-year BA (General) or the four-year BA (Special) prior to May, 1986 may continue under the program requirements then in effect. Such students must complete the BA (General) or BA (Special) Degree requirements on or before April 30, 1994.

Students holding a University of Alberta BA (General) degree may qualify for a Certificate of Equivalence as listed in §43.1.8, provided the requirements are completed on or before April 30, 1994.

42.4 Classification and Selection of Courses

The courses which are requirements of one program only are listed under the particular degree or certificate program in §43 of this Calendar.

Course Definitions

a. Units of Course Weight: A unit of course weight is an indication of the instructional credit assigned to a course and is designated by the ★ symbol after the course number and name. Units of course weight are used to form a part of the degree requirements and are also used in calculating a student's Grade Point Average (GPA).

b. Full-Session Course: A full-session course means a course with a unit of course weight of ★6 that normally extends over two consectuive University terms.

c. Half-Session Course: A half-session course means a course with a unit of course weight of ★3 that normally extends over one University term.

d. Junior Course: Those courses offered by the Faculty of Arts numbered 199 or lower.

e. Normal Course Load: A normal full academic course load is 30 units of course weight during the winter session.

f. Options: The term "option", where it appears in programs, means an Arts or Science course freely chosen by the student provided the necessary prerequisite requirements have been met. An approved option in all programs other than the BA (General) is an option approved by the department directing the program of the students concerned. Also refer to §42.4(5) and 42.4(6)of this Calendar.

g. Senior Courses: Those courses numbered 200 to 599.

h. Courses extra to the Degree: Courses taken during a student's tenure in the Faculty which are not being used for degree credit are known as courses extra to the degree.

Junior English: Students admitted to any program in the Faculty of Arts, other than the BFA Drama Acting, must successfully complete six units of course weight in English at the junior level. ENGL 101 is required for the BA degree program.

First Year: Normally, first year requirements in all programs include a junior English course. Other first year requirements are listed under the particular program in §43 of this Calendar.

Diversification Requirements: Students who began a BA (General), BA (Special), BA (Canadian Studies) program in September 1979 and thereafter, and those who re-enroll in these programs after September 1983, are required to include a course from each of the following categories in their program: Laboratory Science, Fine Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences. Note that the required junior English course does not satisfy the "Humanities" requirement. For the purpose of the diversification requirement, courses offered by the Faculty of Arts and Faculty of Science are categorized as follows:

a. Laboratory Science courses: All laboratory courses offered by the Faculty of Science, which have no less than the standard complement of lecture and laboratory hours, i.e., (3-0-3), plus ANTHR 390.

b. Fine Arts: CLASS 367/368; all interdisciplinary film courses; and all courses offered by the Departments of Art and Design, Drama, and Music.

c. Humanities: Courses offered in the following disciplines: Arabic; Bulgarian; Chinese; Christian Theology; CLASS 102, 160, 201, 357, 359, 360, 375, 379, 380, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 498, 499; Christian Theology; Comparative Literature; English (the junior courses do not meet the requirement); French and French-Canadian; German; Greek; Hebrew; Hispanic Languages and Literatures; History (also classified under social sciences, but can only be counted in one or the other category); Italian; Japanese; Latin; Norwegian; Philosophy; Polish; Religious Studies (except courses listed under social sciences); Russian; Scandinavian; Slavics; Swedish; Ukrainian.

d. Social Sciences: Courses offered in the following disciplines: Anthropology; Classics (except courses listed under Fine Arts and Humanities); Economics; Geography (except courses listed in the Faculty of Science offerings); GERM 306, 307, 406, 407; History (also listed under Humanities, see note above); INT D 347, 350, 393, 394, 443, 444, 445, 475, 478, Linguistics; POLSH 498; Political Science; Psychology (except courses listed in the Faculty of Science offerings); RELIG 375, 462; Romance Linguistics; RUSS 453, 454, 498, 511, 512; SLAV 301, 302, 403, 420, 421, 518, 522, 561, 562, 650; Sociology; UKR 453, 454, 498, 511, 517.

(5) Free Options: (courses from outside the Faculties of Arts and Science): Students registered in programs in the Faculty of Arts will normally select their courses from those set out in the Arts and Science sections of this Calendar including the Arts and Science courses in the Faculté Saint Jean listings in this Calendar. Students registered in any program other than the BFA, BMus, and BMus Honors may take up to 12 units of course weight (as options) in faculties other than Arts and Science. In exceptional circumstances a further six units of course weight may be taken with approval of the Dean. These courses, when taken for credit toward the Arts degree, are subject to the following restrictions.

a. The courses may not be used to satisfy the requirements of a junior English course or the requirements set forth under §42.4(4) above.

b. The courses may not be used to meet the requirements of a subject of concentration.

c. Their inclusion in a program is subject to Faculty limitations on the number of junior courses and non-Arts courses that may be offered for credit.

d. The courses must, in each case, carry a minimum unit of course weight of three (★3). Two courses in the same faculty, each with a weight of ★1.5, will be accepted as the equivalent of one course with a weight of ★3.

(6) Prohibited Courses: Some courses duplicate, in central content, courses in the Faculties of Arts and Science. Therefore, a student enrolled in a Faculty of Arts program may not register, for degree credit, in the following prohibited courses:

AG EC 315 (ECON 395)
AG EC 400 (Economics*)
AG EC 416 (ECON 396)
CL TX 150 (Art and Design*)
CL TX 151 (Art and Design*)
EDACT 235 (Art and Design*)
EDACT 274 (CMPUT 161)
EDFDN 456 (PHIL 280, 350, 450)
EDMDA 465 (Art and Design*)
EDMDA 467 (Art and Design*)
EDPSY 163 (PSYCO 223)
EDPSY 371 (PSYCO 368, 469)
EDPSY 469 (PSYCO 223)
EDPSY 473 (PSYCO 463)
ENCMP 100 (Computing Science*)
FAM 110 (SOC 271)
FAM 211 (SOC 271)
FAM 215 (SOC 271)
INT D 365 (ECON 365)
MGTSC 432 (CMPUT 291)
R SOC 415 (SOC 417/515)
* Check course with the department.

(7) Restricted Enrollment Courses: The Faculty of Arts strives to accommodate all students wishing to enroll in a given course when it is appropriate to their program. However, classes in some courses must, for academic reasons, be restricted in size. Such courses will be labelled 'restricted enrollment' courses in the timetable. If such a course is found to be oversubscribed, students whose programs do not require that course may be required to delete it from their registration.

(8) Junior Courses: In those programs requiring diversifications normally no more than 42 units of course weight at the 100-level may be taken for degree credit. In those programs requiring core courses, the 100-level maximum is 48 units of course weight. In no case will this limit be extended to permit students to include a 'free' option at the junior level.

(9) Subjects of Concentration: Courses offered in the department and/or subjects listed below will be accepted by the Faculty of Arts as a subject of concentration unless otherwise indicated in the "Programs of Study" section of the respective departments (§§43.2-43.27): Anthropology; Arabic; Art, Art History, Design; Chinese; Classics (Ancient History, Art, Cartography, Classical Literature in Translation); Comparative Literature; Drama; East European and Soviet Studies; Economics; English; Film Studies; French, French-Canadian; Geography; German; Greek; Hebrew; History; Italian; Japanese; Latin; Linguistics; Mathematics; Music; Philosophy; Polish; Political Science; Psychology; Religious Studies; Romance Linguistics; Russian; Scandinavian; Slavics; Sociology; Spanish; Ukrainian;Women's Studies.

In the minor subject for the BA (General) and BA (Special) degree programs only, the courses listed above, plus courses offered by the Faculty of Science, plus the following science combinations are permissible: Mathematics/Statistics; Biology/Zoology/Microbiology/Entomology/Botany/Genetics; Astronomy/Physics; Chemistry/Biochemistry; Geography/Cartography/Meteorology. The science combinations require a minimum of 24 units of course weight, 12 of which must be at the senior level.

For additional information and advice consult the "Programs of Study" section of the respective departments (§§43.2-43.27).

(10) Options: In the BA (General), BA (Special) and Certificate of Equivalence programs no more than 24 units of course weight may be taken for credit in a single subject other than the major or minor or second subject. For courses not open to students for credit, see §42.4(5) and 42.4(6).

42.5 Grades and Credits

42.5.1 Matriculation Equivalency Assessment

Students who already have sufficient command of a language other than English (LOE) may be able to clear an admission deficiency in an LOE prior to admission. Inquiries may be made to the Student Programs Office.

42.5.2 Advanced Placement

Students who do not hold credit in prerequisite courses, but who feel they have sufficient knowledge, may be permitted registration in a senior-level course upon successful completion of a placement test. For further particulars contact the department offering the senior-level course. These tests are normally conducted for language courses. Also refer to §13.9.4 of this Calendar.

42.5.3 Transfer of Credit

Refer to §§13.9.3, 42.1(5), 42.1(6), 42.1(7) and 42.1(8) of this Calendar.

42.5.4 Credit by Special Assessment

Note: See also §13.9.5.

Students admitted to a degree program in the Faculty of Arts, may receive degree credit in a limited number of courses for knowledge or skill obtained in a non-university context or by private study. "Non-university context" may include work completed at institutions not accredited for degree purposes or may refer to periods of work experience that bear relationship to university courses. The following conditions apply:

(1) Non-university context: Students may apply for credit on this basis, following admission to a degree program.

(2) Private study: Students who have been admitted to a degree program and have successfully completed at least one academic year of work (24 or 30 units of course weight) may apply for credit on this basis.

(3) Number of courses allowed: Normally, only 12 units of course weight obtained by special assessment may be applied to a three-year degree program in the Faculty of Arts, and 18 units of course weight to a four-year degree program. In exceptional circumstances on the recommendation of a department chair, the Dean may permit additional credits by special assessment.

(4) Limitations:

a. Students seeking credit in a prerequisite to a course in which advanced placement has been given, must make application for credit by special assessment no later than the last day for course registration in the term in which the advanced course is being taken and must complete the requirements for assessment within the prescribed three months.

b. Except under the special circumstances specified in (3) above, the number of attempts to obtain credit by special assessment is restricted to a maximum of 18 units of course weight.

Note: This limits the number of courses that may be challenged, regardless of results.

c. Native speakers and readers of Chinese and Japanese are not allowed to challenge the language courses designed for non-native learners. Furthermore, CHINA 211/212 are not open for challenge by native speakers of Chinese.

(5) Timing of assessments (deadlines): The deadline for completion of the examination or assessment is three months from the date of application for credit by special assessment. Unless there are extenuating circumstances, students who fail to complete assessment requirements by the specified deadline will be considered to have cancelled their application and will have to re-apply should they wish to complete that assessment. (See (4) above).

(6) Courses not accepted: Graduate courses and Honors courses (i.e., those open only to Honors students and specified as such in the Calendar) and normally "100-level" language courses (ie. matriculation equivalent) and courses previously audited cannot be attempted by Special Assessment.

(7) Transfer of "credit by special assessment": Students who have obtained credits by special assessment (or similar means) while enrolled in another university, college, faculty, or school, will be given advance credit in such courses only to the extent that the Faculty of Arts accepts such courses in its degree programs. [see also (3) above]

(8) Grades assigned to special assessment courses: In a course attempted by special assessment, the results will be recorded, either as a grade point or pass/fail according to the practice in the regular course. Students may not appeal the results in a course attempted by special assessment.

(9) Failure: A course attempted by special assessment and failed, will be recorded on the transcript of the students concerned and will be computed into their academic record.

(10) Fee: A fee of $113.00 per three or six units of course weight will be assessed and must be paid before the department concerned undertakes the special assessment. The amount of this fee is subject to change.

42.5.5 Grade of 3

The regulation in place prior to September 1986 concerning the grade of 3 will continue to apply to a course completed prior to September 1986 in which students then registered in the Faculty of Arts program received that grade. Also refer to §16.4 of this Calendar.

42.5.6 Academic Record

Students should be aware that their academic record (i.e., transcript) is a continuing one and that all matters relating to courses, grades, academic standing, probation, etc., will permanently appear on the academic record.

42.6 Academic Standing

(1) Academic standing is assessed on the basis of a cumulative grade-point average (CGPA). Students are expected to maintain a 5.5 minimum CGPA. Students who do not maintain this level of academic performance may be permitted to continue under academic warning or may be required to withdraw.

A review of academic performance is conducted for each student at the end of winter session, covering the previous calendar year's work.

The assignment and re-assignment of academic standing is based on students' performance in a minimum of 12 units of course weight. If, at the time of review, students have attempted fewer than 12 units of course weight since the last assignment of a category of academic standing, the review is deferred and the academic standing assigned at the last review remains in effect until the next review.

(2) Terms Used in Assessing Academic Standing:

a. Grade point average (GPA): Grade point average (GPA) is a sessional measure of academic performance. Rules for the computation of the GPA are listed in §16.4(5).

b. Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA): The cumulative grade point average (CGPA) is a measure of academic performance obtained by computing a grade-point average for all sessions attended since Spring 1989 using the computational rules in §16.4(5).

The GPA is printed on the University transcript. Both averages, the GPA and CGPA, are printed on the Statement of Results at the end of each session.

c. Categories of Academic Standing: There are three categories of academic standing which are determined for each student on the basis of the CGPA:

1) Satisfactory Standing: a CGPA of 5.5 and above.

2) Marginal Standing: a CGPA between 4.5 and 5.4 inclusive.

3) Unsatisfactory Standing: a CGPA of 4.4 and below.

(3) Application of Academic Standing:

a. Satisfactory Standing (CGPA 5.5 and above): Students who maintain a satisfactory standing are permitted to continue their studies in the Faculty of Arts subject to meeting the specific requirements of their degree program and the general requirements of the University of Alberta.

b. Marginal Standing (CGPA 4.5 to 5.4 inclusive): Students receiving the first assessment of marginal standing are permitted to continue, under academic warning, until the next assignment of academic standing in order to raise the CGPA to 5.5 or higher, provided their specific degree requirements and the general requirements of the University of Alberta are also met. Such students who succeed in raising their CGPA to at least 5.5 may continue their studies with satisfactory standing; but if their CGPA drops below 5.5 in a subsequent review students are required to withdraw.

Students under academic warning who fail to raise their CGPA to at least 5.5 by the next assignment of academic standing are, with one exception, required to withdraw. The exception to the requirement to withdraw is as follows: Students who do not raise their CGPA to at least 5.5 by the next assignment of academic standing but who, during the same period, achieve an average of at least 6.0 on all courses attempted will be permitted to continue under academic warning. Continuation over subsequent review periods is permitted until the CGPA is raised to at least 5.5, as long as the minimum 6.0 average is maintained in each subsequent review period.

c. Unsatisfactory Standing (CGPA 4.4 and below): Students receiving an unsatisfactory standing are required to withdraw from the Faculty of Arts.

(4) Requirement to Withdraw: In addition to the above, if the average obtained in any review period, on a minimum of 12 units of course weight, falls below 4.5, students are required to withdraw even if their CGPA is 5.5 or higher.

Courses taken during this period of review which resulted in the requirement to withdraw are retained for credit only if a grade of 4 or higher was achieved. Students who are required to withdraw from the Faculty at the end of the Winter Session cannot register for the following Intersession. Students who register for Intersession prior to the requirement to withdraw will have their registration cancelled without penalty.

(5) Readmission After a Requirement to Withdraw: Students required to withdraw from the Faculy of Arts may be considered for readmission after successfully completing with satisfactory standing 30 transferable units of course weight at another recognized post-secondary institution. Such application will be subject to the same rules as all other applications from the same post-secondary institution.

(6) Extension to the Graduating Year: Students who have completed at least 120 units of course weight but who do not meet graduation and continuation requirements in their program of study may be allowed to complete one further Winter Session of study in order to meet graduation requirements. If graduation requirements are not met within the session, students will be required to withdraw.

(7) Further Regulations: Additional requirements concerning academic standing may pertain to the specific program pursued within the Faculty of Arts. These can be found in §43. Regulations concerning First-Class Standing are found in §16.6 and in §43 under specific programs.

42.7 Reexamination

(1) Faculty of Arts undergaduate students may be p mitted reexamination provided that:

a. They have written the final examination in course.

b. Their overall GPA for the academic session 5.5 or greater.

c. The weight of the final exam is 40 percent greater, as originally scheduled for the class a whole.

d. The Dean of Arts, in consultation with the Ch of the Department offering the course, indicat that the student has a high probability of su cess in taking a reexamination.

e. Only one failed course (three or six units course weight) per Winter Session is reexamine

f. Only one reexamination during a student's p riod of academic probation is granted.

(2) If a reexamination is approved, the following pc cies apply:

a. The reexamination will have the same percei age value as the original final examination.

b. The reexamination mark will replace the ori nal examination mark in determining the fir grade in the course.

(3) Students requesting a reexamination must follc the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of this Calenda

42.8 Graduation

(1) Application: Students wishing to receive a Facul of Arts degree or certificate at an upcoming conv cation must obtain an Application for Degree for from the Faculty Office and submit it in accordanc with the deadlines specified in §41.3(4) of th Calendar.

(2) Degree and Certificate Requirements: These r quirements vary from program to program with the Faculty of Arts, and are therefore given, togeth with the details of the relevant program, in §43 this Calendar.

(3) Degrees with Distinction and First Class Honor For regulations concerning the awarding of degree with Distinction, see the requirements for the particul degree program set out in §43 of this Calendar. Fc regulations concerning the awarding of First-Clas Honors to students graduating with a Bachelor Arts degree with Honors, see §43.1.2(3)(k) of thi Calendar.

42.9 Appeals

Students who wish to appeal a ruling affecting the academic standing should direct their appeal in the firs instance to the Associate Dean for Academic Program and Undergraduate Students. Recourse is then avail able to the Faculty of Arts Academic Appeals Committe and the General Faculties Council Academic Appeal Committee, in that order. Further information on suc appeals is available in §16.8 of this Calendar.

Appeals regarding students' standing in a particula course should first be directed to the instructor con cerned. Frequently the issue can be resolved at thi level. If not, the appeal may then be addressed to the Chair of the Department in which the course is being offered. Final recourse is available to the Faculty of Arts Executive Committee which acts at the Faculty's Aca demic Appeals Committee. See §16.5.3(2) of this Calen dar for reappraisal deadlines.

Copies of grade appeal and academic appeal pro cedures and regulations are available from the Studen Programs Office, Faculty of Arts.

42.10 Academic Offences

A breach of the Code of Student Behavior, for example plagiarism or cheating, may result in penalties being imposed. For further information refer to §19 of this Calendar.

Programs of Study

.1 The Degrees of BA, BFA and BMus

.1.1 The Degree of BA (Degree Code AR20)

The general BA degree program is designed to vide kinds of knowledge that use an intellectual proach leading to critical judgement, while producing gible skills including especially proficiency in written d oral communication.

The BA Degree

The BA degree enables students, under the guid-ce of the department of their choice, to obtain a ersified education with specialization in one particular d.

Duration: The BA degree is a program of 120 units of course weight . Students must secure credit in a minimum of 66 units of course weight in courses offered by the Faculty of Arts. Students will normally complete 30 units of course weight in each academic session and will normally complete the program in four academic calendar years.

) Course load requirements: Refer to §42.2(3) of this Calendar.

) Residence Requirements: Refer to §42.1(8) of this Calendar.

. Curriculum

) First Year: Each year consists of 30 units of course weight credited to the program. Within the first 30 units of course weight students are strongly advised to complete junior courses from the core program including ENGL 101.

To prepare for the Major, students should enroll if possible in a course in the Major Subject in first year. Students in the BA degree should seek advice and program approval from the adviser in the department of their major concentration.

2) Compulsory Course Requirements: Students must successfully complete 54 units of course weight in the core program, a major subject of concentration, and a second subject as well as a Canadian Content Coordinate course as part of the 120 units-of-course-weight requirement.

3) Core Program Requirements: The core program requirements include 54 units of course weight:

12 units of course weight from Natural Sciences, Formal Studies, and Science and Technology, consisting of the following:

Natural Sciences (★6)
Formal Studies (★3)
and Natural Sciences (★3) or Formal Studies (★3) or Science and Technology (★3)
ENGL 101(★6)
One language other than English (★6)
Humanities Group A (★6)
Humanities Group B (★6)
Social Sciences Group A (★6)
Social Sciences Group B (★6)
Fine Arts (★6)

The Core Requirements are designed to give the foundations of a Liberal Arts education and students are strongly advised to complete the Core in the first two years of their programs.

a. Language other than English (LOE): The core program requirement of a Language other than English consists of six units of course weight at the 100-level or above in a language other than English. Students who decide to take an LOE in which they matriculated will not be given credit for courses numbered 100-149 in that language; these are for beginners only.

Language courses which do not offer as their goal the acquisition of a language other than English, e.g., those dealing with literature in translation, will not fulfill the LOE requirement. For a list of courses that are not acceptable refer to §43.1.1(III).

b. Humanities Groups A and B: Refer to §43.1.1(III).

c. Social Sciences Group A: Refer to §43.1.1(III).

d. Social Sciences Group B: Refer to §43.1.1(III).

e. Fine Arts: Refer to §43.1.1(III).

f. Natural Sciences, Formal Studies, and Science and Technology: Refer to §43.1.1(III).

(4) Major Subject: Students are required to have a major subject of concentration consisting of a minimum of 30 units of course weight and a maximum of 42 units of course weight. Courses must be at the 200-level or above; 12 units of course weight must be at the 400-level.

Courses in the major subject of concentration at the senior level taken as part of the core program requirements must be counted toward the major. Students must declare their major subject of concentration to the Student Programs Office following the accumulation of the 60th unit of course wieght of their BA program.

See below for the special conditions applying only to Language Majors taking two or more languages other than English.

The Faculty of Arts will accept courses offered in the departments and/or subjects listed in §42.4(9) as a major subject of concentration.

Approved subject combinations are found in the department listings in §43 of this Calendar and advice is available from the respective department advisers.

(5) Second Subject: Students are required to have at least six 400-level units of course weight in an approved subject outside the major subject of concentration. Some departments require more than six units of course weight; see §43.2 onwards.

(6) Canadian Content Coordinate: Students' programs must include at least six units of course weight from an approved list of Canadian-content courses.

Courses taken to satisfy the major subject of concentration or the second subject may also be used to satisfy the Canadian Content Coordinate Requirement, provided such courses are listed in §43.1.1(III) (Classification and Selection of Courses: Canadian Content Coordinate Requirement).

(7) Junior Courses: Students are strongly advised to complete 30 units of course weight at the junior level before registering in senior-level courses. No more than 48 junior (100-level) units of course weight are permitted for credit to the program.

(8) Language Majors: The following conditions apply only to Language Majors taking two or more languages other than English:

a. Students majoring in languages other than English shall be permitted to include two or more languages in the same department in their Major Concentration.

b. Students majoring in languages other than English may take two languages other than English in the first year, deferring one First-Year Requirement in order to do so. The requirement of ENGL 101 should not be deferred for this purpose.

c. Students majoring in languages other than English may count towards the Major Concentration courses below the 200-level in a second or third language other than English taken in the same department (and in the principal language of the Major where that language is not readily available at the matriculation level in Alberta schools). Students majoring in two or more languages other than English in the same department may increase the maximum number of units of course weight in the Major to 54 (including permitted additional junior-level courses).

(9) Prohibited courses: For courses not open to students for credit see §42.4(6) of this Calendar.

(10) Courses in Other Faculties: A maximum of 12 units of course weight may be taken outside the Faculties of Arts and Science as long as they do not duplicate courses already offeredy by these two Faculties (see §42.4(6). Certain courses offered by the School of Native Studies may be counted as Arts courses (see §43.18).

(11) Interdisciplinary (INT D) Courses: INT D courses may be used towards the subjects of concentration, or they may be used as options. Unless otherwise indicated in the course description, an INT D course may be applied toward either the major or the second subject if it appears under the department's course listings in §44.1-44.46.

Note: that six units of course weight at the 400-level in INT D cannot constitute a second subject in the BA (AR 20) program. Normally, a maximum of three units of course weight at the 400-level in INT D may be applied towards the second subject requirement, unless otherwise approved by the department.

IV. Academic Performance

(1) Academic Performance for Graduation: Students must present credit (with a minimum grade of 4 or equivalent) in a minimum of 120 units of course weight, which satisfy program requirements, with a graduation average of at least 5.5. The graduation average is the quotient of (a) the total number of grade points earned by students in courses credited to the degree, and (b) the total weight of those courses. In the case of students who attempted, as part of the program, courses at an institution for which the grades are not precisely equivalent to those of the University of Alberta, the degree will be awarded at the discretion of the Faculty of Arts.

(2) Degree with Distinction: Degrees with Distinction shall be awarded to students who achieve a grade point average of 7.5 or more, both on the last 120 units of course weight of their programs and on all units of course weight in the major subject of concentration. In the case that transfer or other students have attempted, as part of their program, courses at another institution, the Degree "with Distinction" will be awarded at the discretion of the Faculty of Arts.

43.1.2 The Degree of BA with Honors (Degree Code AR07)

Programs leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts with Honors require a minimum of 120 units of course weight (some departments may require more). Normally, these programs will be completed in four consecutive years of study during Winter Sessions. They are designed to provide specialization in the chosen subject or subjects, with study in greater depth than is provided by the General program, and demand a higher standard of performance. A Combined Honors program involving two subjects of concentration may also be considered through consultation with the departments concerned.

(1) Admission: Entrance to the Honors program ordinarily takes place at the end of the first year of university studies. Students who plan to seek admission to an Honors program should consult the appropriate department Honors adviser prior to first year registration. Some departments will consider applications for transfer to Honors submitted by students who have completed the second or even third year of another program. There is normally no admission to Honors in January.

(2) Selection of courses:

a. In each year, Honors students' programs and every change of registration must be approved by the departmental adviser concerned indicating the approval of the department. Also refer to §42.2(1) of this Calendar.

b. Students entering the Honors program from the BA (AR20), or any program except the BA (General) (AR06) and the BA (Special) (AR12), must include in their program six units of course weight of a junior English course (ENGL 101 recommended); six units of course weight in language other than English; 12 units of cours weight chosen from the Social Sciences, Fin Arts and Humanities with at least three units c course weight in each of these areas (it recommended that these courses be chose from the core requirement lists for the B degree, see §43.1.1(III); six units of cours weight in Natural Sciences and/or Formal Stud ies, to be selected from the core requiremen lists for the BA degree (see §43.1.1(III)); si units of course weight from the approved list o Canadian-content courses for the BA degre (see §43.1.1(III)).

c. Students who enter the Honors program fron the BA (General) or BA (Special) shall normall be subject to existing diversification require ments, as follows: ENGL 101 or its equivalent six units of course weight in a Language othe than English; 12 units of course weight choser from the Social Sciences, Fine Arts, and Hu manities with at least three units of cours weight in each of these areas (see §42.4(4)); six units of course weight in Natural Sciences or Formal Studies. Students contemplating an Honors program are advised to meet these requirements in their first year, to study the appropriate department Calendar statement, and consult the departmental Honors adviser for recommended course selection.

Note A: The Humanities requirement is not satisfied by the required junior English or the Language other than English courses, but may be satisfied by subsequent courses in these areas.

Note B: A Language other than English course taken to clear a matriculation deficiency may not be used to fulfill the Humanities or Language other than English program requirement.

d. No student may include more than 48 junior units of course weight or their equivalent in the program. Also refer to §42.4 of this Calendar.

e. Over the four years students will be required to take no fewer than 48 units of course weight in the subject of concentration as defined by the department; for Combined Honors programs, the minimum number of courses in each subject of concentration will be decided through consultation with the departments concerned in planning the total program but in no case will it consist of less than 36 units of course weight in each discipline. Further information on the requirements of a particular program may be found in the appropriate department calendar statement in §43.

(3) Academic Standings and Graduation:

a. Both admission to Honors and promotion from year to year in Honors require a minimum grade point average:

1) Admission to Honors requires a minimum grade point average of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in courses in the areas of concentration, and the recommendation of the department concerned whose required grade point average may exceed the Faculty minimum. The grade point average for admission to Honors must be based on all courses taken during the most recent year in full-time attendance (minimum of 24 units of course weight), or the last 30 units of course weight taken in part-time study.

2) Promotion from year to year in Honors requires a minimum grade point average of 6.5 on all courses taken during the academic session, and the recommendation of the department concerned whose required grade point average for promotion may exceed the Faculty minimum.

b. Students who fail to attain the standard necessary for continuance in Honors must withdraw from Honors but may transfer to another program in the Faculty provided they meet the requirements for that program. After such transfer they must complete all requirements for their new program. However, students who transfer to the BA degree at the end of the second year of their Honors program need complete only six units of course weight in Natural Sciences or Formal Studies to satisfy the Natural Sciences and Formal Studies core requirement. All other requirements for the BA degree must be completed.

Students who are not recommended to continue in Honors at the end of their third year and who transfer to the BA program, may satisfy the Natural Sciences and Formal Studies core requirement with six units of course weight and may have the Humanities B and Social Sciences B core requirements waived. All other requirements for the BA degree must be completed.

Students who are not recommended for graduation with Honors at the end of their fourth year may be granted the BA degree forthwith, provided they have successfully completed 120 units of course weight which include ENGL 101; six units of course weight equivalent from each of the core areas for the BA (except Humanities B and Social Sciences B); the Canadian-content coordinate requirement, and the required Second Subject for the BA (see §43.1.1). In no case shall more than 60 units of course weight in the major subject be counted as part of the required 120 units of course weight. Students deficient in any respect may be required to take one or more courses in a subsequent session.

h. Students who have transferred into the Honors Program from a four-year program shall not be permitted to transfer back into a three-year program or to take a three-year degree forthwith.

In the circumstances in (b), (c) and (d) above, students who entered the Honors Program from the BA (General) or BA (Special) or any other program, except the BA (AR20), shall normally be subject to the existing requirements, as follows: six units of course weight in Natural Sciences or Formal Studies which has been completed as part of the Honors program may substitute for the Laboratory Science course requirement.

g. Students who entered the Honors program from the BA (General) or BA (Special) or any other program, except the BA (AR20), and who are not recommended to continue in Honors at the end of their third year, or who fail to complete the requirements for a degree with Honors in their fourth year, may be granted the General degree forthwith, provided that their program includes either (1) six units of course weight from each of the Fine Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences course offerings, and six units of course weight in Natural Sciences or Formal Studies, or (2) a second area of concentration comprised of not less than 18 units of course weight in a particular discipline, and otherwise meets the requirements of the General program. Students deficient in any respect may be required to take one or more courses in a subsequent session.

h. Students who entered the Honors program from the BA (General) or BA (Special) or any other program, except the BA (AR20), and who, for any reason, are unable to return to university for the fourth year may apply for a General degree under the same conditions as those who have failed to meet the required standards.

i. Students who entered the Honors program from the BA (Special) and who are not recommended for graduation with Honors at the end of their fourth year may be granted the BA (Special) degree forthwith, provided they have successfully completed 120 units of course weight which include six units of course weight from each of the Fine Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences offerings, and six units of course weight from Natural Sciences or Formal Studies and a second subject of concentration consisting of 18 units of course weight. In no case will students be permitted more than 60 units of course weight in their major subject of concentration. Students deficient in any respect may be required to take one or more courses in a subsequent session.

j. A reduced course load (less than 30 units of course weight) in any year of an Honors program, or interruption of such a program, or part-time study must be approved by the department concerned and by the Dean.

k. First-Class Honors: First-Class Honors shall be awarded on the basis of either

1) a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all courses beyond the junior level in the subject of concentration and 7.5 or better on all courses in the final year or the last 30 units of course weight

Or

2) a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all courses in the two final years in the subject of concentration and 7.5 or better on all courses in the two final years or the last 60 units of course weight.

Departments shall choose one of the above options as their departmental policy.

Department recommendation for graduation with Honors may exceed the Faculty minimum of 6.5.

(4) Cooperative Work Option Within Honors Programs: Cooperative education is based on the principle that, for some students, periods of appropriate employment outside the University, when integrated with their academic studies, enhance the benefits that students obtain from their academic programs. The work should be of a type that students can reasonably hope to obtain after they graduate, or suitably related to the content of their academic programs. Cooperative work experience will be wholly additional to and not a substitute for academic courses; it is perceived as a valuable enrichment for some students but not as an alternative to normal course work. Accordingly, the existing requirement for 120 units of course weight will be maintained, with a no-credit course number for the evaluation of a report or project resulting from the work experience.

a. Admission Requirements: Students must have completed a minimum of two years in an academic program and otherwise meet the requirements for admission to the academic honors program. (See §43.1.2.(1)).

b. Program Selection: Two forms of cooperative work are available:

1) full-time employment for a period of not less than three months and not more than one year; such periods, integrated into the normal academic program, are referred to as "work terms."
2) part-time employment equivalent in working hours to no less than three units of course weight; such employment is referred to as a "work assignment".

c. Registration: Work-terms and work assignments must be approved in advance by the department concerned and the Dean's office. Retroactive approval will not be granted.

d. Withdrawal: Students may withdraw from a cooperative program on completion of a work-term or work assignment, or at any time during a normal academic term, and may continue in the academic honors program of their department without penalty, provided that the requirements of these programs have been met. Further information may be obtained from departments offering such programs.

43.1.3 The Degree of BA (General) (Degree Code AR06)

Students previously admitted to the BA (General) may continue in the program, or be readmitted, in order to complete degree requirements by April 30, 1994. Also refer to §42.1(8) of this Calendar.

(1) The BA (General) program is designed to enable students to obtain a diversified education in more than one branch of study, within the limits of a three-year program. Students must secure credit in at least 48 units of course weight offered by the Faculty of Arts.

a. Duration: A program of 90 units of course weight normally taken in three years. This period may be extended at the students' discretion. Acceleration of the program will only be permitted in exceptional circumstances and with the Dean's approval.

b. Language requirement: Refer to §42.1(2) of this Calendar.

c. Course load requirement: See §42.2(3) of this Calendar.

d. Residence Requirement: Students proceeding towards the BA (General) degree must have credit for at least 30 units of course weight offered by the University of Alberta. Refer to §42.1(9).

(2) Curriculum:

a. First Year: 30 units of course weight of junior courses are required; no more than six units of course weight may be selected from each discipline. Also refer to §42.4(3) of this Calendar.

b. Diversification Requirements: Refer to §42.4(4) of this Calendar.

c. Subjects of concentration: Two are required: a principal subject chosen from Fine Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Geography, Linguistics, or Mathematics, and a second subject, which may be chosen from the offerings of either the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Science. In the principal subject, a minimum of 18 units of course weight is required, at least 12 of which must be senior courses; a maximum of 30 units of course weight is permitted. If a combination of Mathematics/Statistics is chosen, a minimum of 24 units of course weight is required, 12 at the senior level. In the second subject, a minimum of 18 units of course weight is required and a maximum of 24 units of course weight is permitted. Refer to §42.4(9) for a listing of acceptable subjects of concentration.

d. Options: Refer to §42.4(10) of this Calendar.

e. Junior courses: Refer to §42.4(8) of this Calendar.

f. Free options: Refer to §42.4(5) and 42.4(6)of this Calendar.

(3) Academic performance:

a. Graduation: To qualify for a BA (General) degree students must present a grade of 4 or better in a minimum of 90 units of course weight courses, and a grade point average of at least 5.0 in all courses credited to the degree after the completion of first-year requirements.

b. Degrees with Distinction shall be awarded to students who achieve a grade point average of 7.5 or higher over all courses completed after the first 30 units of course weight. (Courses declared extra to the degree at the time of registration will not be used in the calculation.)

43.1.4 The Degree of BA (Special) (Degree Code AR12)

Students previously admitted to the BA (Special) may continue in the program, or be readmitted, in order to complete degree requirements by April 30, 1994. Also refer to §42.1(8) of this Calendar.

(1) The BA (Special) program is designed to enable students, under the guidance of the department of their choice, to obtain a diversified education in more than one branch of study, but with a greater degree of specialization in a particular field than is available in the General program. Students must secure credit in at least 66 units of course weight in courses offered by the Faculty of Arts. Students in the BA (Special) degree program must seek counselling and program approval from the adviser in the department of their principal (major) subject.

a. Duration: A program of 120 units of course weight normally taken in four years (30 units of course weight per year).

b. Language requirement: Refer to §42.1(2) of this Calendar.

c. Course load requirement: Refer to §42.2(3) of this Calendar. Part-time study or reduction of course load in any term requires the approval of the departmental adviser.

d. Residence Requirement: Refer to §42.1(8) and 42.1(9) of this Calendar.

(2) Curriculum:

a. First Year: Refer to §42.4(3) of this Calendar.

b. Diversification Requirements: Refer to §42.4(4) of this Calendar.

c. Subjects of concentration: Two are required: a principal subject chosen from Fine Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Geography, Linguistics or Mathematics, and a second subject which may be chosen from the offerings of either the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Science. Normally, in the principal subject a minimum of 30 units of course weight is required, at least 24 of which must be senior courses; a maximum of 48 units of course weight is permitted. See §43.2-43.25 for department variations to the required number of principal subject courses. In the second subject a minimum of 24 units of course weight is required and a maximum of 30 units of course weight permitted. Refer to §42.4(9) for a listing of acceptable subjects of concentration.

d. Options: Refer to §42.4(10) of this Calendar.

e. Junior courses: Refer to §42.4(8) of this Calendar.

f. Free options: (See §42.4(5)and 42.4(6)).

(3) Academic performance:

a. Graduation: To qualify for a BA (Special) students must present a grade of 4 or better in a minimum of 120 units of course weight, and a grade point average of at least 5.0 in the last 90 units of course weight of the program.

b. Degrees with Distinction shall be awarded to students who achieve a grade point average of 7.5 or higher over all courses completed after the first 30 units of course weight. (Courses declared extra to the degree at the time of registration will not be used in the calculation.)

43.1.5 The Degree of BA (East Asian Studies) (Degree Code AR16)

This is a four-year program (120 units of course weight), selected under the guidance of the Chair (or designate) of the East Asian Studies Committee.

Conditions governing junior course limit, course load, final year, and graduation requirements and Degrees with Distinction are as for the BA (AR20) program (§43.1.1).

The core program and Canadian content coordinate requirement are identical to those of the BA(AR20), except that the foreign language requirement must be met by taking CHINA 100 (or CHINA 101 and 102) or JAPAN 100 (or JAPAN 101 and 102).

(1) East Asian Studies as a Major Subject of Concentration: A minimum of 36 and a maximum of 48 units of course weight with significant East Asian content is required, including the following: HIST 280 or 281; CHINA 200 (or 201 and 202) or JAPAN 200 (or 201 and 202); CHINA 301 and 302 or JAPAN 301 and 302; six units of course weight from the following: ANTHR 278, ANTHR 279, ANTHR 280, ECON 310, ECON 311, POL S 300, RELIG 200; 15 to 27 units of course weight at the senior level (12 of which must be at the 400-level or above) from the approved list of East Asian content courses listed in the Program Guide (available from the Chair of the East Asian Studies Program, or the General Office of the East Asian Languages and Literatures Department).

(2) Specialization Requirements: Students may specialize in one or two disciplines. For specialization in a single discipline, students must take a minimum of 24 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level (six of which must be at the 400-level or above). Six units of course weight at the senior level must be from the approved list of East Asian content courses listed in the Program Guide. For specialization in two disciplines, 12 to 21 units of course weight must be at the senior level with three units of course weight in each discipline at the 400-level or above. At least three units of course weight at the senior level in each discipline must be from the approved list of East Asian content courses listed in the Program Guide.

(3) Overlap between the Core Program and the Major Subject of Concentration is allowed, as is overlap between the Core Program and the Specialization. No overlap is allowed between the East Asian Studies concentration and the Specialization.

(4) If Chinese or Japanese language is chosen as the specialization, six units of course weight must be taken in the East Asian language other than the one chosen as the major.

(5) For the Certificate of Equivalence see §43.1.8

43.1.6 The Degree of BA (Criminology) (Degree Code AR15)

(1) This quota program, based in the Department of Sociology, is designed to coordinate several disciplines for the purpose of providing a more thorough analysis of the causes of criminal behavior and the variety of social responses to such conduct. It is a program of 120 units of course weight , with Sociology as the principal subject of concentration. The second subject of concentration composed of a combination of approved courses from the Departments of Anthropology, Economics, Educational Psychology, History, Native Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, and Psychology. The program is designed for students with career interests in the criminal justice system and includes two field placements for supervised work experience.

(2) Since there is a quota of 45 students in the program, admission is determined on a competitive basis from among eligible applicants. To be eligible for consideration for admission the minimum requirements include the successful completion of the five matriculation subject areas as required for the University of Alberta BA (see above), plus the successful completion of 30 units of course weight of the BA or the equivalent at an accredited institution; the achievement of a minimum 6.0 grade point average on the most recent 30 units of course weight; submission of a completed application to the office of the Registrar by the annual deadline in the academic schedule (usually in the first week of March); submission to the Program Director by March 1: two letters of reference attesting to ability and suitability for employment in the criminal justice system; a résumé of personal data and, in particular, experience (volunteer and/or work) relevant to the criminal justice system; and a written statement of career objectives. In addition, applicants are required to attend an interview with one or more members of the selection committee. Applicants are selected for September admission only. No more than 78 units of course weight will be granted transfer credit toward the BA (Criminology) program.

(3) Criminology students are required to consult with the Program Director to review proposed coursework prior to registration for each academic year and in advance of any changes to approved registration. Students initally admitted into the AR20 program or transferring from other faculties or other post-secondary institutions effective Winter Session 1988 must successfully complete the 54 core program units of course weight of the AR20 program as part of the 120 units of course weight requirement for the AR15 program. Normally students are expected to enroll on a full-time basis (30 units of course weight per year), although exceptions may be considered and approved by the Program Director. Students must obtain permission of the Director in advance if they wish to interrupt their program but retain their status in the BA (Criminology) program. To be promoted in each year students will be required to have a minimum grade point average of 6.0 and be recommended by the Department of Sociology. Failure to be promoted for academic reasons is cause for removal from the program. Affected students may transer to another program in the Faculty provided the requirements for such a program are met. All requirements for the new program must be completed after transferring.

(4) Curriculum:

a. For students initially admitted into the three-year BA (General) or four-year BA (Special) program or transferring from other faculties or other post-secondary institutions prior to the Winter Session of 1988:

1) First Year: Same as BA (General).

43.1.7 The Degree of BA (Canadian Studies) (Degree Code AR13)

This is a four-year program (120 units of cours weight), selected under the guidance of the studer adviser (or designate) of the Canadian Studies Commit tee.

Conditions governing junior course limit, cours load, final year and graduation requirements and De grees with Distinction are as for the BA(AR20) program (§43.1.1)

The first two years of this program are identical t those of the BA (AR20). To maximize flexibility i program planning students seeking a BA (Canadia Studies) are advised to satisfy their core program re quirements as much as possible with Canadian-conten courses, and courses in their planned disciplinary spe cialization. Students will normally take French for thei Language other than English. Students planning t transfer into Canadian Studies from outside the Faculty of Arts are advised to consult with the Canadian Studies Adviser or the Student Programs Office to determine which program requirements apply to them.

Students at the University of Alberta or at Alberta colleges with which the University has transfer agreements, who entered the BA (Canadian Studies) program prior to May 1988 may continue under the program requirements then in effect. Such students must complete the program on or before April 30, 1996. Students who entered the program between May 1988 and May 1990 are governed by the requirements in the 1988-89 and 1989-90 Calendar; they must complete the program before 30 April 1998. Students entering the program after 1 May 1990 are governed by the requirements set out below.

(1) Canadian Studies Course Requirements: A minimum of 42 units of course weight with Canadian content is required including at least 18 units of course weight CANST courses and six units of course weight in each of Canadian political science, Canadian history, and Canadian literature in English or French.

(2) Specialization Requirements: Students will specialize in an established discipline (e.g. English, Economics, French-Canadian); or, by special arrangement, will construct a multidisciplinary specialization designed to explore a specific topic or theme.

In both patterns, at least 30 units of course weight are required and no more than 48 are permitted; at least 18 of these must be approved Canadian-content units of course weight.

Language Requirement: Students in Canadian Studies must demonstrate competence in written and spoken French by completing six senior-level units of course weight in French or French-Canadian, or six approved senior-level Canadian-content units of course weight taught in French. With the approval of the Canadian Studies Program adviser, a student may satisfy the language requirement with comparable competency in a Canadian aboriginal language.

Extra-Faculty Options: Six extra-faculty units of course weight selected from the list of approved Canadian content courses may count towards the Canadian Studies requirement but not towards the disciplinary specialization requirements. (§42.4(5) and §42.4(6)).

Degrees with Distinction shall be awarded to students who achieve a grade-point average of 7.5 or higher over all courses completed after the first 30 units of course weight. (Courses declared extra-to-the-degree at the time of registration will not be used in the calculation.)

or the Certificate of Equivalence, see §43.1.8

3.1.8 Certificate of Equivalence (Degree Code AR14)

Applicants holding a University of Alberta BA (General) degree may qualify for a certificate indicating that they have met the requirements of the BA (Special) or BA (Canadian Studies) or BA (East Asian Studies) degree by completing 30 more units of course weight, or more, if required, to meet curriculum requirements. This option is not open to degree holders from other universities.

§§43.2 to 43.27 contain advice offered by the various Arts departments for students selecting courses in their subjects of concentration. Further information may be obtained by consulting members of the department concerned. See also §42.3 for time limit for completing the Certificate of Equivalence.

3.1.9 The BA (AR20), BA (Canadian Studies) (AR13), and BA (East Asian Studies) (AR16) After Another Undergraduate Degree (Other Than Bachelor of Arts)

Applicants having a first undergraduate degree other than a Bachelor of Arts may be admitted to the BA, BA (Canadian Studies), or BA (East Asian Studies) degree programs. All requirements for the degree, as in Calendar §43.1.1 or 43..1.7 or 43.1.5, are to be met, but the total number of required units of course weight for the After Degree program may be reduced by a maximum of 18 Arts and Science units of course weight taken in the first degree, provided these are appropriate to satisfy the requirements of the BA After degree. The program is taken under the direction of the department offering the major subject of concentration.

Notes:

(1) Any deficiency in a matriculation requirement or a prerequisite to a program requirement must be cleared prior to admission to the degree program.

(2) The Free Options open to students in the BA program (§43.1.1(II)(9)) are not available in a BA after a previous degree.

(3) The major subject of concentration may be the same as in the first degree provided it is an Arts subject.

(4) Students applying to a third undergraduate degree will receive no reduction in the units of course weight requirements.

43.1.10 The BA (Honors) After Another Undergraduate Degree

Requirements of a BA (Honors) degree after another undergraduate degree will vary depending on the previous degree held and the Honors degree sought. Students may take a maximum of 48 junior units of course weight in the total program (including both transfer courses and courses taken in the Faculty of Arts and Science.) In all cases, minimum admission and promotion requirements of the Honors degree must be met (see §43.1.2), and departmental recommendation and Faculty approval for admission must be secured. For detailed information, applicants should contact the Departmental Honors Adviser concerned and the Faculty of Arts Student Programs Office.

Notes:

(1) Any deficiency in a matriculation requirement or a prerequisite to a program requirement must be cleared prior to admission to the honors program.

(2) Courses outside the Faculties of Arts or Science are not normally permitted in a BA Honors after a previous degree.

(3) The major subject of concentration may be the same as in the first degree provided it is an Arts subject.

(4) Students applying to a third undergraduate degree will receive no reduction in the course weight requirements.

43.1.11 The BFA or BMus After a Previous Bachelor's Degree

The requirement for a BFA (Art and Design) or a BFA (Drama) or BMus after a previous Bachelor's degree, will normally be three years, (90 units of course weight), but in no case will less than 72 units of course weight be required. The program will be established by the Faculty of Arts.

Notes:

(1) Any deficiency in a matriculation requirement or a prerequisite to a program requirement must be cleared prior to admission to the honors program.

(2) Courses outside the Faculties of Arts or Science are not normally permitted in a BFA or BMUS after a previous degree.

(3) Students applying to a third undergraduate degree will receive no reduction in the units-of-course weight requirements.

43.1.12 Degree of BFA in Art and Design (Degree Code AR09)

General Information

The Department of Art and Design offers a program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts in Art and Design. The program is as follows:

First year: ART H 101/102; ART 132, 133, 240; ENGL 101 or equivalent; an approved three units of course weight Arts or Science option.

Second year: Six units of course weight chosen from History of Art and Design courses at the senior level, ART 340, plus 18 studio units of course weight from the 300-level and six units of course weight of an approved Arts or Science option.

Third year: Six senior units of course weight in History of Art and Design plus 18 studio units of course weight from the 300-, 400- or 500-level; and six units of course weight of an approved senior Arts or Science option.

Fourth year: Six units of course weight chosen from History of Art and Design courses at the 300- or 400-level, plus 18 senior studio units of course weight including a minimum of 12 at the 500-level and six units of course weight of an approved senior Arts or Science option.

The program is subject to the following regulations:

(1) Admission requirements are as set out in §§13.2 and 13.4.2 of this Calendar. (This includes the assessment of a portfolio which must be submitted no later than May 1st).

(2) Promotion:

a. Promotion to each year is by recommendation of the Department for which a grade point average of at least 6.0 is normally required. A copy of the criteria for recommending promotion and graduation is available from the Department Office or the Student Programs Office, Faculty of Arts.

b. A grade of 4 in a central subject may normally be allowed only once in a BFA student's program. Any subsequent three or six units of course weight in which a grade of 4 is received must be repeated for BFA credit, or an alternative three or six, approved by the Department, must be substituted.

c. To qualify for the Bachelor of Fine Arts in Art and Design, students must have successfully completed 123 units of course weight: of these, 72 must be in studio courses (including 12 at the 500-level) and 24 must be in the History of Art and Design (including six at the 300- or 400-level.)

d. Students who are not recommended to continue in the program at the end of the first, second or third year of study must withdraw from the program. Such students may transfer to another program in the Faculty of Arts provided the entrance and promotion requirements for such a program are met. After transfer all requirements for the new program must be completed.

e. Students who fail to meet the final-year requirements in the program will be permitted to fulfill those requirements only with the approval of the department and the Dean of Arts.

f. A Bachelor of Fine Arts program may be interrupted only with the consent of the Department.

(3) The following regulations also apply:

a. Students proceeding towards the BFA Art and Design degree must have credit in at least 60 units of course weight offered by the University of Alberta.

b. When enrolled in the BFA Art and Design program, students are required to take a minimum of 24 units of course weight during each regular academic year. The Department may recommend to the Dean exemption from this regulation.

c. The final year of the program must be taken in attendance at the University of Alberta campus.

d. With the prior approval of the Department, students may substitute for an Arts or Science option in Year 2 or 3 or 4, up to six units of course weight from the following list offered by other faculties:

e. Degrees with Distinction shall be awarded to students who achieve a grade point average of 7.5 or more, both on all of the units of course weight credited to the program and on all of the units of course weight in Art and Design. In the case that transfer or other students have attempted, as part of their program, courses at another institution, the Degree "with Distinction" will be awarded at the discretion of the Faculty.

43.1.13 The Degree of BFA in Drama

General Information

The Department of Drama offers a program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drama. Students must successfully complete either the specialization in Acting or Design.

(1) Admission requirements are as set out in §§13.2 and 13.4.2 of this Calendar. (This includes successful completion of audition requirements). A non-refundable deposit towards tuition fees, on official notification of acceptance, will be required of successful applicants. (See §13.3.2 of this Calendar.)

(2) The following are the required courses in a recommended sequence.

a. Specialization in Acting

First year of residency: DRAMA 335, 336, 338, 345, 346, 348, 351, 355, 356, 358, 393, 399; six units of course weight in Theatre History or Dramatic Literature.
Second year of residency: DRAMA 303, 403, 435, 436, 438, 445, 446, 448, 455, 456, 458, 499.
Third year of residency: DRAMA 534, 535, 544, 545, 551, 554, 595, 599.

b. Specialization in Design

First Year: DRAMA 304, 351, 370, 371, 372, 375, 392, 471.
Second Year: DRAMA 383, 400, 470, 472, 473, 476, 492.
Third Year: DRAMA 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 576.

(3) Promotion:

a. To be promoted to the next year, students will normally be required to have a minimum grade point average of 5.5 plus the recommendation of the Department.

b. In the case of students who receive a grade of less than 6 in any core acting course (i.e., DRAMA 336, 338, 346, 356, 358, 436, 438, 446, 448, 456, 458) the Department's recommendation for promotion may be withheld.

c. A student failing to receive the Department's recommendation for promotion at the end of any term of the first or second year of residence, or failing to achieve a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 5.5 at the end of any Winter session may be required by the Faculty of Arts to withdraw from the BFA (Drama) program immediately. Students who are required to withdraw may apply for transfer to another program in the Faculty of Arts.

d. Final-year requirements include a minimum grade point average of 5.5 and the recommendation of the Department.

e. Students who fail to meet the final-year requirements in the program will be permitted to fulfill these requirements only with the approval of the Dean of Arts upon the recommendation of the Department; otherwise, they must withdraw from the program and may apply for transfer to another program in the Faculty of Arts.

f. A Bachelor of Fine Arts program may be interrupted only with the prior consent of the Department.

(4) Residence Requirement: Students must complete the BFA (Acting) program as full-time students at the University of Alberta.

(5) Academic performance:

a. To qualify for the Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drama, students must have successfully completed the curriculum for the chosen area of Specialization, have met all promotion continuation, final year and residence requirements, and receive the recommendation of the Department.

b. For the degree of BFA with Distinction candidates are required to carry a full course load in each of the last two years and obtain a grade point average of 7.5 or higher over those last two years. Students who have taken part of their work at another university may be granted a degree "With Distinction" at the discretion of the Faculty of Arts.

43.1.14 The Degree of BMus (Degree Code AR11)

General Information

The Department of Music offers a variety of programs leading to the degree of Bachelor of Music or Bachelor of Music with Honors (see §43.1.15). The BMUS (General) is a flexible degree allowing students to take a wide variety of options. The BMUS (Performance) allows students to specialize in performance. The BMUS (School Music) is designed to prepare students for further training in music education, and in particular for admission to the B Ed After Degree program in Music Education.

BMus (General)

(1) Admission requirements are as set out in §§13.2 and 13.4.2 of this Calendar. (This includes successful completion of audition requirements.)

(2) BMus curriculum: This consists of a total of 132 units of course weight, with the required courses in the recommended sequence and other conditions as follows:

a. First year: ENGL 101 or 104/105, MUSIC 121, 140 or 141, 150, 151, 202, 203.

b. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 225, 240 or 241, 250, 251.

c. Third year: MUSIC 425, 439 or 440 or 441, 450, 451.

d. Fourth year: MUSIC 461, 525, 539 or 540 or 541.

e. Six units of course weight in a language other than English.

f. Options: Nine units of course weight in Music options, nine units of course weight in non-Music Arts or Science options, three units of course weight in non-Music Fine Arts options, 15 units of course weight in Music, Arts, or Science options, and six units of course weight in senior options. Options must be approved by the Department.

g. Students entering the BMus program who are not electing a keyboard instrument as a first practical subject will be asked to take a keyboard proficiency examination covering basic technical materials and sightreading (approximately Grade IV Western Board). The requirement may be waived upon presentation of a Grade VI Western Board certificate, or equivalent, earned within three years prior to entering the program. Students who choose not to take the examination or are unable to pass the examination can satisfy this requirement by successfully completing MUSIC 129 in the first year. The keyboard proficiency requirement must be met by the beginning of the second year in the program.

h. Candidates must elect one principal Applied Music Study as part of the program to be chosen from the following: piano, organ, voice, violin, viola, cello, double bass, flute, oboe, clarinet, saxophone, bassoon, trumpet, french horn, trombone, baritone, tuba, harp.

i. Up to nine units of course weight in ensemble (small and/or large) will be permitted in each of the second, third, and fourth years of the program.

j. New first-year students are admitted to the Common First Year outlined in (a) above. Continuation in the BMus program (subject to promotion standards) or transfer to the BMus (Honors) program may be arranged with the Department subject to the approval of the Faculty of Arts.

(3) Promotion:

a. To be promoted to the next year of the program, students will normally be required to have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 6.0 plus the recommendation of the Department. A copy of the criteria for recommending promotion and graduation is available from the Department Office or the Student Programs Office, Faculty of Arts.

b. Successful completion of the program requirements includes a minimum grade point average of 5.5 in the final year of study.

c. Successful completion of a year and any related promotion will also normally require students to have taken at least 33 units of course weight during each regular academic year. The Department may recommend to the Dean of Arts exemption from this regulation.

d. Students who fail to meet the requirements for promotion stated in (a) must withdraw from the program. Such students may transfer to another program in the Faculty of Arts provided the entrance and promotion requirements for such a program are met. After transfer all requirements for the new program must be completed.

e. Students who fail to meet the fourth-year requirements in the program will be permitted to fulfill those requirements only with the approval of the Dean of Arts upon the recommendation of the Department. Otherwise, students must withdraw from the program and, if so desired, transfer to another program in the Faculty of Arts for which they are able to meet entrance and promotion requirements.

f. A BMus program may be interrupted only with the prior consent of the Department and continuation will be subject to any conditions, including reauditioning and new program requirements, that may be specified by the Department.

(4) Residence Requirement:

a. Students proceeding toward the BMus degree will normally have credit in at least 60 units of course weight offered by the University of Alberta.

b. Admission to the BMus program with transfer credits from other programs and institutions requires an overall grade point average of 6.0 with a GPA of 6.0 in music courses. General requirements are set out in §13.9.3.

c. The final year of the program will normally be taken in one regular academic year in attendance at the University of Alberta campus. The Department may recommend to the Dean exemption from this regulation.

d. When enrolled in the BMus program, students will normally take 33 units of course weight during each regular academic year. The Department may recommend to the Dean exemption from this regulation.

(5) Academic Performance:

a. To qualify for the Bachelor of Music degree, students must have successfully completed relevant curriculum requirements, have met the promotion, final year and residence requirements, and have received the recommendation of the Department.

b. Degrees with Distinction shall be awarded to students who achieve a grade point average of 7.5 or more, both on all of the units of course weight credited to the program and on all of the units of course weight in Music. In the case that transfer or other students have attempted, as part of their program courses at another institution, the Degree "with Distinction" will be awarded at the discretion of the Faculty.

BMus (Performance)

(1) Admission: Entrance to the BMus (Performance) program will ordinarily take place at the end of the first or second year of enrollment in the BMus program. Admission to the program is dependent on a minimum cumulative grade point average of 6.0 and the recommendation of the Department.

Candidates may choose from the following: piano, organ, voice, violin, viola, violoncello, double bass, flute, oboe, clarinet, saxophone, bassoon, trumpet, horn, trombone, baritone (i.e. baritone horn), tuba, percussion, harp.

(2) Curriculum: This consists of a total of 129 units of course weight with the required courses in the recommended sequence and other conditions as follows:

a. Second Year: MUSIC 204 and 205, 225, 240 or 241, 250, 251.

b. Third year:

1) Piano: MUSIC 303 and 304, 425, 439, 450, 451.
2) Organ: MUSIC 406, 425, 427, 450, 451.
3) Voice: MUSIC 320, 425, 440, 450, 451.
4) Strings and Harp: MUSIC 425, 439 and 441, 450, 451.
5) Wind and Percussion: MUSIC 425, 439 and 441, 450, 451.

c. Fourth year:

1) Piano: MUSIC 403 and 404, 461, 525, 526, 539.
2) Organ: MUSIC 433 and 444, 461, 525, 526, 531.
3) Voice: MUSIC 430, 461, 525, 526, 539, 540.
4) Strings and Harp: MUSIC 461, 525, 526, 539 and 541.
5) Wind and Percussion: MUSIC 461, 525, 526, 539 and 541.

d. Six units of course weight in a Language Other than English.

e. Options:

1) Piano and organ: six units of course weight in Music options, three units of course weight in non-Music Arts or Science options, three units of course weight in non-Music Fine Arts options, six units of course weight in Music, Arts or Science options, and six units of course weight in senior options.

2) Voice, strings, wind and percussion: six units of course weight in Music options, three units of course weight in non-Music Arts or Science options, three units of course weight in non-Music Fine Arts options 12 units of course weight in Music, Arts or Science options, and three units of course weight in senior options.

3) Options must be approved by the Department.

f. Students will be required to present a junior and senior recital before graduation.

g. Students other than those who elect a keyboard instrument as an applied music subject are required to pass a keyboard proficiency examination (see §43.1.14(2)(g).)

h. Up to nine units of course weight in ensemble (small and/or large) will be permitted in each of the second. third, and fourth years of the program.

i. To be promoted to the next year of the program, students will normally be required to have (1) a minimum cumulative GPA of 6.0, and (2) the recommendation of the Department.

j. Successful completion of the program requirements includes a minimum GPA of 5.5 in the final year of study.

k. Successful completion of a year and any related promotion will also normally require students to have taken at least 30 units of course weight during each regular academic year. The Department may recommend to the Dean of Arts exemption from this regulation.

l. Students who fail to meet the requirements for promotion stated in (i,2) above must withdraw from the BMus (Performance) program. If their GPA meets the standard in (i,1) above, they may elect to transfer to the BMus program. If their GPA does not satisfy (i,1) above, they must withdraw from the Music program altogether. Such students may transfer to another program in the Faculty of Arts provided the entrance and promotion requirements to such a program are met.

m. Students who fail to meet the fourth-year requirements in the program will be permitted to fulfill those requirements only with the approval of the Dean of Arts upon the recommendation of the Department. Otherwise, students must withdraw from the program and, if so desired, transfer to another program in the Faculty of Arts for which they are able to meet entrance and promotion requirements.

n. A BMus (Performance) program may be interrupted only with the prior consent of the Department and continuation will be subject to any conditions, including re-auditioning and new program requirements that may be specified by the Department.

(3) a. Students proceeding toward the BMus (Performance) degree will normally have credit in at lease 60 units of course weight offered by the University of Alberta.

b. Admission to the BMus (Performance) program with transfer credits from other programs and institutions requires an overall grade point average of 6.0 with a GPA of 6.0 in music courses. General requirements are set out in §13.9.3

c. The final year of the program will normally be taken in one regular academic year in attendance at the University of Alberta campus. The Department may recommend to the Dean exemption from this regulation.

d. When enrolled in the BMus (Performance) program, students will normally take 33 units of course weight during each regular academic year except for the fourth year, during which 30 units of course weight will be taken. The Department may recommend to the Dean exemption from this regulation.

(4) Academic Performance:

a. To qualify for the Bachelor of Music (Performance) degree, students must have successfully completed relevant curriculum requirements; have met the promotion, final year, and residence requirements; and have received the recommendation of the Department.

b. Degrees with Distinction shall be awarded to students who achieve a grade point average of 7.5 or more, both on the units of course weight credited to the program and on all the units of course weight in Music. In the case that transfer or other students have attempted, as part of their program, courses at another institution, the Degree "with Distinction" will be awarded at the discretion of the Faculty.

BMus (School Music)

(1) Admission requirements are as set out in §13.2 and 13.4.2 of this Calendar. (This includes successful completion of the audition requirement.)

(2) Curriculum: This consists of a total of 132 units of course weight, with the required courses in the recommended sequence and other conditions as follows:

a. First year: ENGL 101 or 104/105, MUSIC 121, 140 or 141, 150, 151, 202, 203.

b. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 225, 240 or 241, 250, 251.

d. Fourth year: MUSIC 525.

e. Other: MUSIC 209, 211, 216, 217, 220, 230, 231, 315, 416 or 417 or 431, 462 or 207.

f. Six units of course weight in a Language Other than English.

g. Options: 18 units of course weight in non-music options. Up to six units of course weight options may be taken in Faculties other than Arts or Science. Students proceeding to the BEd/After Degrees in Music Education should consult §73.9 for admission requirements and note the requirements for a minor subject area.

(3) For additional requirements and regulations for the BMus in School Music, see §43.1.14(2)(g) through (5)(b).

43.1.15 The Degree of BMus (Honors) Program (Degree Code AR10)

(1) The BMus degree with Honors in Performance requires a minimum of 129 units of course weight, while the BMus with Honors in History and Literature, and Theory and Composition requires a minimum of 132 units of course weight. Normally, this program will be completed in four consecutive years of study during winter sessions. It provides for a greater degree of specialization in a chosen route.

(2) Admission: Entrance to the BMus Honors program will ordinarily take place at the end of the first or second year of enrollment in the BMus program (see §43.1.14). Admission to the program is dependent on a minimum GPA of 6.5 on the last 30 units of course weight with an average of 7.0 or better in all music courses and the recommendation of the Department.

(3) Selection of courses: The following regulations govern the BMus (Honors) program:

a. In each year an Honors student's program and every change of registration must be approved by the Departmental adviser.

b. Students' programs must include ENGL 101 or its equivalent.

c. Candidates in Performance (Voice) will be required to complete six units of course weight in each of two different languages other than English.

d. Candidates in Music History and Literature will be required to complete either 12 units of course weight in one language other than English or six units of course weight each in two languages other than English.

e. All other candidates will be required to complete six units of course weight in a language other than English.

f. Candidates in performance will be required to present a junior and a senior recital before graduation.

g. Candidates other than those who elect a keyboard instrument as an applied-music subject are required to pass a keyboard proficiency examination. See §43.1.14(2)(g).

h. Curricular patterns for each route of concentration are outlined below (see §43.1.15(5)).

(4) Academic standing and graduation: The following regulations govern the BMus (Honors) program:

a. To be promoted in each year students normally will be required to have a minimum GPA of 7.0 plus the recommendation of the Department. Graduation with First-Class Honors requires a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight. A copy of the criteria for recommending promotion and graduation is available from the Department Offices or the Student Programs Office, Faculty of Arts.

b. Students who fail to attain the standard necessary for continuance in Honors must withdraw from Honors. Such students may transfer to the BMus program or to another program in the Faculty provided they meet the requirements for such programs.

c. Students who are not recommended for graduation with Honors at the end of the fourth year may be granted the BMus degree forthwith, provided they have successfully completed 132 units of course weight including the various specifications of the BMus program (see §43.1.14). Students deficient in any respect may be required to take six or more units of course weight in a subsequent session.

d. A reduced course load (less than 30 units of course weight) in any year of an Honors program, or interruption of such a program or part-time study must be approved by the Department and by the Dean.

(5) Routes of Concentration:

a. Performance

1) Keyboard: Required courses in recommended sequence:
   i. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 221, 240, 241, 250, or 251.
   ii. Third year: MUSIC 303 and 304, or 406, 421, 427 or 439, 450, 451.
   iii. Fourth year: MUSIC 403 and 404 or 433 and 434, 461, 521, 526, 531, or 539.
   iv. Six units of course weight in a language other than English.
   v. Options: Nine units of course weight in music options, six units of course weight in non-music Arts or Science options, and six units of course weight in senior options.

2) Strings: Required courses in recommended sequence:
   i. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 221, 241, 250, 251.
   ii. Third year: MUSIC 421, 439, 441, 450, 451, 457.
   iii. Fourth year: MUSIC 458, 459, 461, 521, 526, 539, 541.
   iv. Six units of course weight in a language other than English.
   v. Options: Six units of course weight in music options, six units of course weight in non-music Arts or Science options, and six units of course weight in senior options.

3) Voice: Required courses in recommended sequence:
   i. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 221, 240, 250, 251.
   ii. Third year: MUSIC 320, 421, 440, 450, 451.
   iii. Fourth year: MUSIC 430, 435, 439, 461, 521, 526, 540.
   iv. Twelve units of course weight, each in a different language other than English.
   v. Options: Six units of course weight in music options, six units of course weight in non-music Arts or Science options, and three units of course weight in senior options.

4) Winds and Percussion: Required courses in recommended sequence:
   i. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 221, 241, 250, 251.
   ii. Third year: MUSIC 421, 439, 441, 450, 451.
   iii. Fourth year: MUSIC 461, 521, 526, 539, 541.
   iv. Six units of course weight in a language other than English.
   v. Options: 15 units of course weight in music options, six units of course weight in non-music Arts or Science options, and six units of course weight in senior options.

b. Music History and Literature: Required courses in recommended sequence:

i. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 225, one of 240 or 241, 250, 251.
ii. Third year: MUSIC 237, 425, 450, 451.
iii. Fourth year: MUSIC 461, 501, 502, 505.
iv. Either 12 units of course weight in one language other than English or six units of course weight each in two languages other than English.
v. Options: Nine units of course weight in music options, nine units of course weight in music history options, nine units of course weight in non-music Arts or Science options, and six units of course weight in senior options.

c. Music Theory and Composition: Required courses in recommended sequence:
i. Second year: MUSIC 204, 205, 225, 240 or 241, 250, 251, 259, 260.
ii. Third year: MUSIC 425, 444, 450, 451, 460.
iii. Fourth year: MUSIC 461.
iv. Other: MUSIC 462, 581.
v. Six units of course weight in a language other than English.
vi. Options: Nine units of course weight in music options, three units of course weight in music history options, nine units of course weight in music theory options, six units of course weight in non-music Arts or Science options, three units of course weight in senior options.

43.2 Anthropology

43.2.1 Honors in Anthropology

The BA with Honors is designed to provide both broad training in Anthropology and an opportunity to undertake independent work.

Entrance to Honors in Anthropology will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection which it is recommended should include ANTHR 101.

Honors in Anthropology requires a minimum of 48 units of course weight and, normally, a maximum of 60 units of course weight in Anthropology with at least three units of course weight from each of the following fields: physical anthropology, archaeology, linguistic anthropology, and social and cultural anthropology; additional requirements are the Honors seminars ANTHR 399 and ANTHR 499 (which include the Honors paper).

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 in Anthropology courses is required for admission to the Anthropology program; graduation with First Class Honors requires a GPA of 8.0 on all Anthropology courses beyond the junior and for first-class standing a GPA of 7.5 on all courses in the final year or last 30 units of course weight.

43.2.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Anthropology

(1) The Degree of BA

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Concentration in Anthropology offers a broad, holistic approach to the discipline yet provides an opportunity to specialize in one of the subareas: archaeology/paleo environmental studies; cultural anthropology, including general theory and regional ethnology; physical anthropology/primatology; and symbolic, linguistic, and cognitive studies. Courses at the 400-level offer substantial anthropological method and theory content. Students seeking to concentrate in Anthropology are advised to consult the Undergraduate adviser with respect to the selection of required courses and options. The following requirements must be met in order to complete a concentration in Anthropology: ANTHR 101 or 201; 306, 307, 308, 309; three units of course weight in regional ethnology selected from 246, 250, 255, 261, 262, 270, 271, 274, 277 through 285; 400; and 415.

c. Anthropology as a second subject requires the following: ANTHR 101 or 201; one of ANTHR 306, 307, 308, or 309; and six units of course weight in Anthropology at the 400-level.

(2) The Degree of BA General

a. See §42.4 (9).

b. The Department advises the following sequences:

18 units of course weight sequence: ANTHR 101 or 306 and 307; 308, 309 or three units of course weight in a regional ethnology course; six units of course weight at the 400-level.

24 units of course weight sequence: ANTHR 101 or 306 and 307; 308 and 309; three units of course weight in a regional ethnology; six units of course weight at the 400-level.

30 units of course weight sequence: ANTHR 101 or 306 and 307; 308 and 309; three units of course weight in regional ethnology and 12 units of course weight of senior courses in the subdiscipline or area of specialization.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9)

43.3 Art and Design

43.3.1 Honors in History of Art and Design

Entrance to Honors in History of Art and Design will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Entrance may be granted by the department at an earlier or later stage depending on circumstances. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection which it is recommended should include ART H 101/102, and a language other than English (normally French, German or Italian).

Honors in the History of Art and Design requires a minimum of 54, a maximum of 60 units of course weight in Art History including: ART H 271/272, 281/282, and two from ART H 273/274/283; at least 12 units of course weight taken in seminars at the 400- or 500-levels; ART H 501 (the Honors essay) for which preparation will commence in the third year in consultation with the departmental adviser; six units of course weight at the senior level in a Language other than English (normally French, German or Italian).

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Art History courses is required for admission, continuance and graduation with Honors; graduation with first-class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all History of Art and Design courses at the senior level and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the final year or last 30 units of course weight.

43.3.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Art and Design

(1) The Degree of BA: The Department of Art and Design offers areas of concentration in studio disciplines and in the History of Art and Design. Five specializations are included in studio: Painting, Printmaking, Sculpture, Industrial Design, and Visual Communication Design. The program allows for high concentration in any of these as well as for different combinations of them. For regulations concerning the programs in general, please consult §43.1.1. For information relating to courses in Art and Design, consult §44.5. The Department of Art and Design also offers a BFA degree (§43.1.12) and a BA Honors in Art History (§43.3.1), in addition to graduate programs.

If you wish to concentrate in Art and Design, please contact the Department's student adviser. If you consider a concentration in Studio, you are advised to take ART 131 in your first year as your Fine Arts core requirement in order to have access to senior courses in year two.

Art and Design as a second subject: See §43.1.1.

(2) The Degree of BA (General): See §42.4(9).

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9). Completion of a BA (Special) degree with concentration in Art and Design will require a minimum of 18 units of course weight taken in this Department or 50 percent of the units of course weight declared for the principal area of concentration, whichever is greater.

For the degree of BFA in Art and Design, see §43.1.12.

43.4 Canadian Studies

43.4.1 Honors and Combined Honors in Canadian Studies

The BA Honors in Canadian Studies can be de signed around a single disciplinary specialization, pr specialization across two disciplines, or a multidisciplinar topical specialization (e.g. Alberta studies, northern studies)

Specialization in a single discipline, especially His tory, Political Science, English, French, or French-Cana dian, permits a Combined Honors degree in that disciplin and Canadian Studies; this pattern should be elected i the first year. A Combined Honors degree in Canadia Studies and a discipline requires a minimum of 36 unit of course weight in that discipline, and 54 Canadian content units of course weight of which six are th honors essay (See §43.1.2).

Except for students contemplating Combined Honors entrance to Honors in Canadian Studies will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study Students should consult §43.1.2 for general Honor program requirements and also consult the Canadian Studies Honors adviser for first-year course selection which must include six units of course weight of junio English and should include six units of course weight o junior French.

Honors in Canadian Studies requires a minimum o 54 units of course weight with a primary emphasis on the study of Canada as approved by the Canadian Studies Committee, which must include: six units of course weigh in Canadian history, six units of course weight in Canadian political science, six units of course weight in Canadian literature, which may be chosen from courses offered in the department of English, Romance Languages or Comparative Literature, three units of course weight Canadian Fine Art, CANST 350, CANST 450, six additional units of course weight in CANST courses, and CANST 520 (or INT D 520 for Combined Honors students), the honors essay. The topic for the essay, which is interdisciplinary or cross-disciplinary in nature, will be chosen in consultation with the Honors adviser towards the end of the third year and written during the fourth year under the supervision of at least two faculty members who shall be from different departments.

Language requirement: Students in Canadian Studies must demonstrate competence in written and spoken French by completing six senior-level units of course weight in French or French-Canadian or six approved senior-level Canadian content units of course weight taught in French. With the approval of the Canadian Studies Program adviser, students may satisfy the language requirement with comparable competency in a Canadian aboriginal language.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in all CANST and Canadian-content units of course weight required for the degree is required for admission, continuance and graduation with Honors; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all CANST and Canadian-content units of course weight in the two final years and 7.5 or better on all units of course weight in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

43.4.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Canadian Studies

(1) The Degree of BA (Canadian Studies)

a. See §43.1.7.

(2) The Degree of BA

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Canadian Studies cannot be taken as a subject of concentration in the Degree of BA (AR20).

c. Canadian Studies as a second subject in the Degree of BA (AR20): CANST 200 or approved equivalent in CANST courses; six additional CANST units of course weight at the 300-level; six CANST units of course weight at the 400-level. Note: Students seeking credit in CANST 350, or any 400-level CANST courses, should consult the Canadian Studies Program before registering.

43.5 Classics

43.5.1 Honors in Classics

Entrance to Honors in Classics ordinarily takes place at the end of the first year of university study.

nts planning to apply for admission to the Honors am should consult §43.1.2 for general program ements and the Department's Honors adviser for ear course selection which should include LATIN nd GREEK 100.

nors in Classics requires, as the language com- nt, GREEK 100, 300; LATIN 100, 300; 12 units of e weight in Greek authors, and 12 units of course t in Latin authors; as the Classics component, the am requires 15 units of course weight in Classics a senior level (at least one of these to be at the 400), and CLASS 500 Fourth Year Honors Tutorial. : CLASS 500 may, in certain circumstances, be ced by three units of course weight at the 500-level reek or Latin; consultation with the Department is ired.)

Combined Honors: A Combined Honors degree in or Greek and another discipline requires 36 units urse weight including a 100- and a 300-level course e language with a minimum of 30 units of course ht at the senior level in another discipline. Approval e program by both departments' Honors advisers is ired (see §43.1.2).

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 in sics or Latin and Greek courses is required for ission to the program; graduation with First-Class ors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all depart- ital courses taken in the last two years and a GPA of or better on all courses in the two final years or last nits of course weight.

5.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Classics

The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Major areas of concentration:

1) Classics: minimum of 30, maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level with at least 12 units of course weight at the 400-level.

2) Greek: minimum of 30, maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level with at least 12 at the 400-level.

3) Latin: minimum of 30, maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level with at least 12 at the 400-level.

4) Any combination of the above, totalling a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level with at least 12 at the 400-level.

c. Second subject: Six units of course weight at the 400-level in Classics, Greek or Latin. This option does not apply to students majoring in (b)(4) above.

The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §43.1.3(2)d.

b. Both Greek and Latin may be started at University (GREEK 100, LATIN 100). GREEK 100 and LATIN 100 are followed by GREEK 300 and LATIN 300. Eighteen to 30 units of course weight sequences are available in Greek, Latin, or in Classics (Ancient History, Art, or Literature in Translation).

Degree of BA (Special)

a. See §42.4(9).

b. Thirty to 48 units of course weight sequences in the subjects as listed in (1)b, above. Additional programs may be arranged in Greek Studies and Roman Studies.

43.6 Comparative Literature

43.6.1 Honors in Comparative Literature

Entrance to Honors in Comparative Literature will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department's Honors adviser for first-year course selection which it is recommended should include C LIT 100, and a language other than English. Continuing students must have their program and changes of registration approved by the Honors Adviser:

The Department offers four different Honors programs:

(1) Comparative Literature with an emphasis on literary studies and the study of a second language.

A program of study in Comparative Literature with an introductory study of several literatures (usually in translation) and a basic knowledge of a language other than English. (Please note that independent study through summer language courses or study abroad is strongly recommended in order to achieve an adequate level of proficiency in the language selected.) Program requirements consist of 48 units of course weight in Comparative Literature, 12 in one language other than English, and 24 in a minimum of three different national literatures.

(2) Comparative Literature with an emphasis on the study of one language and literature other than English.

A program of study consisting of 48 units of course weight in Comparative Literature and 36 in one language and literature other than English. The language selection must be made from the list of languages taught at the University of Alberta and for which there exists at least six units of course weight at the 400-level.

(3) Comparative Literature with the study of two languages and literatures.

A program which places the accent on the study of literary relations between two or more national literatures. In addition to a minimum of 24 units of course weight in Comparative Literature, including six on questions of influence and reception, students are required to take an equal number of units of course weight (usually 30) in each national literature selected.

(4) Combined Honors: A program of study which allows students to study in two departments. It is particularly suitable for students who wish to specialize in interrelation studies, for instance literature and fine arts or music, or English and the international study of the theory of literature.

Program requirements consist of an equal number of units of course weight in each department (minimum of 36) and a course selection which conforms to Honors requirements in the respective departments.

Please note that combined honors students seeking admission to the graduate program in Comparative Literature may be required to do additional work in a language other than English.

Language Requirements: As the study of one language other than one's mother tongue is an essential requirement of the Honors program in Comparative Literature, students are required to pursue language studies beyond the language of matriculation. It is therefore expected that program (2) and (3) students will enroll in a 100-level language course and continue studying this language up to the 400-level.

Selection from the following pattern is required of students in Honors programs noted above in (1) and (2). A special course of study will be arranged for students in programs noted above in (3) and (4).

a. C LIT 100 in year I, or C LIT 201/202 in year II.

b. Core Courses (at least 18 units of course weight).

1) Introduction to Periods and Movements: C LIT 320, 330, 362, 376, 475.

2) Introduction to Western Criticism and Theory: C LIT 348, 349, 450.

3) History of Comparative Literature: C LIT 455.

c. World Literature (up to 15 units of course weight with at least six in any of the following subtopics):

1) Literary Relations: C LIT 414, 415.

2) Themes and Motifs: C LIT 266, 358, 359 .

3) Third World, African, Latin American, Caribbean, Modern Middle, Eastern: C LIT 355, 356, 357, 363, 491, 492.

4) Comparative Canadian Literature: C LIT 171, 172, 371, 372, 373, 472, 473.

d. Poetics (up to 15 units of course weight):

1) Criticism and Theory: C LIT 447, 470.

2) Genre Studies: C LIT 244, 245, 246, 341, 342, 440, 464.

3) Interrelation Studies: C LIT 354, 375, 465, 474.

(5) Beginning in 1993, all fourth-year students will take an Honors Tutorial and will write an Honors essay of a nature to be determined by the Department.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Comparative Literature courses is required for admission to the program; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Comparative Literature courses at the senior level and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the final year or last 30 units of course weight.

43.6.2 Concentration in Comparative Literature

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. In order to fulfill the minimum Faculty concentration requirements, students will normally take C LIT 100 in the first year to prepare for the major, six senior Comparative Literature units of course weight in the second year, 12 senior Comparative Literature units of course weight in the third year, and 12 400-level Comparative Literature units of course weight in the final year

Students who do not prepare for the major in the first year will normally take C LIT 201/202 in the second year, 12 senior Comparative Literature units of course weight in the third year, and 18 senior Comparative Literature units of course weight (12 of which must be at the 400-level) in the final year.

c. A maximum of six units of course weight of F ST 200, 205, 311, 312, 313 and 314 are acceptable towards a subject of concentration in Comparative Literature (see §44.16 for F ST courses).

d. Comparative Literature as a second subject: See §43.1.1.

(2) The Degree of BA (General): See §42.4(9).

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

43.7 Drama

43.7.1 Honors in Drama

The Honors program offers the exceptional student an opportunity for intensive study in Drama. Since the performed play is the object of exploration, knowledge of dramatic literature, theatre and aesthetics is as essential as familiarity with the creative process of theatre art. The program is, therefore, flexible enough to embrace both components. Students are encouraged to participate in departmental productions.

Entrance to Honors will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for General program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection which should include DRAMA 101/102.

Honors in Drama requires a minimum of 48, maximum of 66 units of course weight in Drama including DRAMA 101/102, 350/353, 379/391 and 500; and the following Honors core courses: DRAMA 304, 400 and 505 (Tutorial and Essay) which, under the supervision of a member of the department, will be commenced in the spring of the third year and continued throughout the fourth. The Honors seminars DRAMA 405 and 503 are required in addition to normal course requirements. Proficiency in one language other than English must be demonstrated either by taking six units of course weight at the senior level or by passing a departmental competency test.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7 or better in Drama courses is required for admission into the program; promotion from year to year requires a minimum GPA of 6.5 with a grade of 7.0 or better in the Honors core Drama courses and the Honors seminars; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Drama courses in the last two years and 7.5 or better on all courses in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

43.7.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Drama

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Concentration in Drama requires DRAMA 101 and DRAMA 102 as foundation courses which should be taken in the first year and which fulfill the requirements for a Fine Arts Core Requirement. At the senior level, the Department requires a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight in Drama. The program requires core courses in Theatrical History (DRAMA 304), Acting (DRAMA 350 and 353), and Production (DRAMA 379 and 391). Twelve units of course weight chosen from these should be taken in the second year, with completion of core courses in the third year. Further courses are available in acting, design, directing, improvisation, oral communication, playwriting, technical theatre, theatre history, and youth drama. Students may select Drama options to obtain broad exposure to theatre, or may focus on specific areas of interest.

The sequential nature of the program requires careful planning of third- and fourth-year choices. Students must obtain program approval from the Department of Drama each year, prior to registration.

c. Drama as a Second Subject: Students are advised that most 400-level Drama courses have specific prerequisites, and need consent from the Department. Students interested in Drama as a second subject are advised to take DRAMA 149 and DRAMA 101 as their Fine Arts Core Requirement, and obtain registration approval from the Department prior to registration in any Drama course.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. Students presently enrolled in, and thus now completing this program, are advised that the Department recommends 30 units of course weight including core courses DRAMA 304, 350, 353, 379, 391, and 12 units of course weight in Drama. Registration approval must be obtained from the Department of Drama prior to registration in any Drama course.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special)

a. See §42.4(9).

b. Students presently enrolled in, and thus now completing this program are advised that the Department requires a minimum of 36 units of course weight in Drama and recommends the inclusion of core courses DRAMA 304, 350, 353, 379, and 391. Most senior courses require consent in addition to other prerequisites. Program approval must be obtained from the Department of Drama each year prior to registration.

For the degree of BFA in Drama, see §43.1.13.

43.8 East Asian Languages and Literatures

43.8.1 Honors in East Asian Languages and Literatures

Entrance to Honors in East Asian Languages and Literatures will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection.

The department offers four Honors programs:

(1) A program of study in either Chinese or Japanese which will consist of a minimum of 48 units of course weight in either of the two languages.

(2) A program of study which will consist of a combination of Chinese and Japanese including a minimum of 36 units of course weight in one of the two languages and a minimum of 12 in the other.

(3) A Combined Honors program which will consist of either Chinese or Japanese and one other discipline. A minimum of 36 units of course weight will be required in each discipline.

(4) A Combined Honors program which will consist of either Chinese or Japanese and East Asian Studies. This program will consist of a minimum of 36 units of course weight in either of the two languages plus 36 units of course weight taken from the list of approved courses for the BA (Special) degree in East Asian Studies. In this case, approval for the East Asian Studies component will be granted by the chair of the East Asian Studies Committee.

In each of the programs listed above, the maximum number of units of course weight to be taken in either discipline of the Department is 60.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Chinese and Japanese courses is required for admission to the program; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all East Asian Languages and Literatures courses in the last two years and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

43.8.2 Concentration and Second Subject in East Asian Languages and Literatures: Chinese, Japanese

(1) The Degree of BA: Programs of study in the Department of East Asian Languages and Literatures for the BA degree include concentrations in Chinese, Japanese and a combination of both. Students intending to major in one of these areas are strongly advised to begin with the intensive route in the first year: I.e. CHINA or JAPAN 100 and 200. Students wishing to take a second subject in either Chinese or Japanese are strongly advised to take either CHINA or JAPAN 100 and 200 before proceeding to any of the 400-level courses. Students who wish to combine a study of the two languages will be required to have a minimum of 24 units of course weight in one of the languages and a minimum of 12 in the other.

Students with a background in one of the languages should consult with the Department before making course selections.

All prospective students are asked to contact the Department for information, advice and program planning. For general program requirements, consult §43.1.1.

(2) The Degree of BA (General): See §42.4(9).

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

(4) The Degree of BA (Honors): See §43.8.1.

43.8.3 The Degree of BA (East Asian Studies)

See §43.1.5.

43.9 Economics

43.9.1 Honors in Economics

Entrance to Honors in Economics will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Entrance may be granted by the Department at an earlier or later stage depending on circumstances. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection which it is recommended should include ECON 101/102, MATH 113/120 or equivalent (Note: Mathematics and statistics courses fulfill the Faculty requirement for six units of course weight in Formal Studies).

Honors in Economics requires a minimum of 54 and a maximum of 60 units of course weight in Economics including ECON 281/282, ECON 384, ECON 386/387, ECON 407/408, ECON 481/482, STAT 255 or equivalent. ECON 386/387 should be taken in the third year of the program and ECON 407/408 should be taken in the fourth year.

Additional courses in mathematics, especially MATH 115 and 121, statistics and computing science are recommended as options. ECON 401/402 are highly recommended for students contemplating graduate school.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Economics courses is required for admission to the Honors program; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Economics courses beyond the 100-level and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the final year or last 30 units of course weight.

43.9.2 Honors in Economics and Mathematics

See §43.1.2 for Faculty regulations concerning the Honors program.

First and Second Years:

ECON 101/102, ECON 281/282, MATH 117/118, MATH 217/218, STAT 265/266.

Third and Fourth Years:

ECON 386/387, ECON 407/408, 481/482, M[illegible] 227, at least one additional Economics option, at [illegible] one additional MATH/STAT option.

Each program must have the approval of the [illegible]partments of Economics and Mathematics. It is [illegible]ecommended that students have at least one course [illegible] Computing Science.

43.9.3 Concentration and Second Subject in Economics

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. For students concentrating in Economics [illegible] following courses are required: ECON 101/1[illegible] MATH 113 or equivalent, STAT 255 or equi[illegible]lent, ECON 281/282 and ECON 384 and eit[illegible] ECON 399 or ECON 407/408.

Notes:

1) In order to have the greatest possible fle[illegible]ibility in their choice of the 300- and 40[illegible] level courses required to complete [illegible] concentration in Economics, students a[illegible] advised to complete all the departmen[illegible] requirements listed above earlier rather th[illegible] later in their programs. In particular, it [illegible] highly desirable that students complete t[illegible] ECON 101/102, MATH 113, STAT 25[illegible] ECON 281/282, and ECON 384 requiremen[illegible] as part of their first 60 units of cour[illegible] weight. Furthermore, students should no[illegible] that MATH 113 is a prerequisite for STA[illegible] 255 which in turn is a prerequisite f[illegible] ECON 399. Thus, students who have n[illegible] started the sequence by their second ye[illegible] may not be able to graduate in four years[illegible] Students are urged to begin the sequenc[illegible] with MATH 113 as soon as possible, pre[illegible]erably in their first year.

2) No substitutes for STAT 255 will be accepte[illegible] without formal consent of the Department.

3) Students who have obtained credit in STA[illegible] 141 (formally 241) or equivalent may, with[illegible] written permission from both Economic[illegible] and Statistics Departments, enroll in STA[illegible] 255. However, they must declare one o[illegible] those two statistics courses extra to thei[illegible] degree.

4) Completion of STAT 255 satisfies the For[illegible] mal Studies requirement of the BA degree.

c. Economics as a second subject: All courses offered by the Department of Economics at the 400-level require, at least, the prior completion of either ECON 281 or ECON 282. Some 400-level Economics courses require both. Students interested in Economics as a second subject should take the appropriate prerequisite(s) prior to their fourth year to allow themselves access to 400-level Economics courses.

d. If students concentrating in Economics select Mathematics as their second subject, the following courses are recommended: MATH 113/115, MATH 120/121 and MATH 214/215; and two of MATH 334, MATH 347, MATH 373, MATH 432 and MATH 447.

e. If students concentrating in Economics select Statistics as their second subject, the following courses are recommended: STAT 255, STAT 265, STAT 266 and two of STAT 361, STAT 377, STAT 466, STAT 471, and STAT 479. It is recommended that students taking Statistics as a second subject take ECON 407 and ECON 408 instead of ECON 399.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(8).

b. General program students who may wish to transfer to the Honors program or to proceed later to graduate study in Economics should consult the Department. Such students are reminded that basic courses in Calculus, Linear Algebra, and Statistics are prerequisites to graduate work in the Department. Note: 400-level courses in Economics presume some familiarity with calculus.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special):

a. See §42.4(8).

b. The Department requires ECON 281/282, STAT 255 or equivalent, and ECON 399 of students in this program; students interested in graduate work in the Department are reminded that basic course work in Calculus, Linear Algebra, and Statistics are prerequisites for such study. Note: 400-level courses in Economics presume some familiarity with calculus.

c. If the second subject is Mathematics, MATH 113/115, MATH 120/121, MATH 214/215 and STAT 265/266 are strongly recommended.

3.10 English

3.10.1 Honors in English

There is no admission to first-year Honors in Eng-n. Students planning to enter the second year of the ogram should consult §43.1.2 of the Calendar for neral program requirements and the Chair of the partment Honors Committee (the Honors Adviser) for vice on first-year course selection which should in-ude the following: ENGL 101 or its equivalent; six units course weight in a language other than English; six its of course weight in an approved Philosophy and/or story and/or Classics course(s); six units of course eight in approved Science and/or Formal Studies courses, d at least three units of course weight in each of Fine ts and Social Sciences. Students deciding during or at e end of the first year to undertake Honors in English ust consult the Honors Adviser at the earliest possible oment in order to ascertain that their first-year courses ovide an adequate basis, or to discuss what extra ork should be taken to rectify the situation. The normal quirements of the program are set out below. Variations the program (including directed reading courses) eed the permission of the Honors Adviser.

In the second, third and fourth years of the program minimum of 54 and a maximum of 66 senior English nits of course weight is required, including ENGL 532 Tutorial), which will be commenced in the spring of the ird year and continued throughout the fourth. The onors seminars, ENGL 510, 520, 530, are required in ddition to normal course requirements.

Choice of senior courses:

(1) Required: ENGL 201, and six units of course weight in each of the following areas:

a. Old and Middle English; courses numbered ENGL 220-229, 320-329, 420-429.

b. Early Renaissance Literature, including Shakespeare: courses numbered ENGL 230-239, 330-339, 430-439.

It is strongly recommended that Honors students take six units of course weight in Shakespeare.

c. Later Renaissance Literature, including Milton; Restoration and Eighteenth-Century Literature: courses numbered ENGL 240-249, 340-349, 440-449.

d. Romantic and Nineteenth-Century Literature: courses numbered ENGL 250-259, 350-359.

e. Twentieth-Century British and American Literature: courses numbered ENGL 260-269, 360-369.

f. Canadian Literature: courses numbered ENGL 270-279, 370-379, 470-479.

Note: All Honors English students will be required to take 12 English units of course weight at the 400-level. As the content of these courses varies from year to year, students should check with the Department of English Honors Adviser to see which group requirements will be met by 400-level courses that are not included in the above list.

(2) Strongly Recommended: A genre course (drama, the novel, poetry).
Language requirements: Students must satisfactorily complete six units of course weight at a senior level in a language other than English.

Admission to Honors English requires a minimum GPA of 7.0 on the last 30 units of course weight, as well as a minimum GPA of 7.0 in English courses (at least six units of course weight). A GPA of 6.5, with a GPA of 7.0 or better in all English courses for any year, is required for promotion. Effective May, 1989, graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all English courses beyond the junior level, with the seminars (weighted) included, and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the final year or the last 30 units of course weight. Graduation in Honors English requires a GPA of 6.5 with a GPA of 7.0 or better in all English courses of the last three years of the program.

Note: Students who entered the Honors program prior to May 1989 may continue to meet the graduation requirements then in effect.

43.10.2 Concentration and Second Subject in English

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Concentration in English requires a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the 200-level or above. Faculty regulations stipulate that these must include 12 units of course weight at the 400-level. In addition to ENGL 201, the concentration will include at least 12 units of course weight in English literature before 1800 (ENGL courses numbered 220-249, 320-349, 420-449).

c. Unless otherwise stated, the prerequisites for 400-level courses are as follows:

ENGL 101 (prerequisite to all senior courses)

ENGL 201

Six units of course weight in 300-level English courses.

Notes:

i. Certain 300- and 400-level courses have specific 200-level and/or 300-level prerequisites.

ii. ENGL 201 may be taken concurrently with 300-level courses but the Department strongly recommends that it be taken in second year, before 300-level courses.

iii. It is strongly recommended that English majors take six units of course weight in Shakespeare.

d. English as a second subject: ENGL 101, 201, six units of course weight at the 300-level, and six units of course weight at the 400-level.

e. Students taking English as a major concentration or as a second subject are strongly recommended to consult with the Department BA Adviser on their choice of courses. This is of crucial importance in entering third year.

f. The major concentration in English is not designed to meet specific requirements for entrance into graduate programs in the Department of English; students desiring such preparation should consult the Graduate Committee Chair before enrolling in the third year of the BA program.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. Students who choose English as a subject of concentration are advised to include in their program a language other than English.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

43.11 Film Studies

43.11.1 Concentration and Second Subject in Film Studies

(1) See §43.1.1.

(2) Concentration in Film Studies requires a minimum of 30 units of course weight and a maximum of 42 at the senior level (12 must be at the 400-level, of which three must be either 401, 402, or 404) in F ST and cross-listed Film Studies courses (see §43.11.1d). Students wishing to concentrate in Film Studies are advised to take F ST 200 as their Arts option in second year. F ST 200 is normally the prerequisite for all 300- and 400-level F ST courses, but not for F ST cross-listed courses.

(3) Film Studies as a second subject requires a minumum of 18 units of course weight in either F ST or cross-listed Film Studies courses at the senior level, six of which must include F ST 200 or 205. The required 400-level six units of course weight must be chosen from either the 400-level F ST courses or the cross-listed Film Studies courses.

(4) Cross-listed courses in Film Studies:
ART 131 Visual Fundamentals (★6)
FR CA 499 Directed Reading (★3 or ★6)

Note: More cross-listed courses will be identified. Please consult the Film Studies Adviser. These courses cannot be used by students concentrating in Film Studies to fulfill the requirement for the second subject of the BA (AR 20) degree.

43.12 Geography

43.12.1 Honors in Geography

The Department of Geography offers both the BA and the BSc degrees with Honors in Geography. Students wishing to stress the humanities and social sciences should register in the BA program; those wishing to stress the physical and biological sciences should register in the BSc program. The BA with Honors is designed to combine a broad training in Geography with an opportunity to develop special interest in some branch of the subject.

Entrance to Honors in Geography will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Entrance may be granted at an earlier or later date depending on circumstances. Recommended courses include GEOG 130/131 (and 150/151 if admitted to the first year), and six units of course weight chosen from anthropology, economics, history, or sociology. In the second year, GEOG 150/151 should be taken. Students who enter the program after the end of the second year may substitute any pair of GEOG 244, 250, 264, 281, 359, or 370 in place of GEOG 150 and 151.

Honors in Geography requires a minimum of 54 and a maximum of 90 units of course weight; required courses include six units of course weight in Cartography, GEOG 220 and 222; 21 units of course weight in senior Arts geography, six units of course weight senior science geography, six units of course weight in regional geography. Students may elect to present an Honors thesis in their fourth year; to do this, they must contact the Departmental Undergraduate Program Committee by February 1 of their third year of the program and advance register for GEOG 453.

Promotion from year to year requires a minimum GPA of 6.5 with a minimum grade of 6.0 in Geography courses and in any course which is explicitly required by the department; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Geography courses in the last 60 units of course weight.

43.12.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Geography

(1) The Degree of BA: See §43.1.1.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

(3) The Degree of BA (Special):

a. See §42.4(9).

43.13 Germanic Languages

43.13.1 Honors in German

Entrance to Honors in German will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for further information.

Honors in German normally requires 60 units of course weight equivalents in German, including GERM 301, 350, and GERM 505. GERM 330 or 340 is highly recommended for non-native speakers and GERM 411 and 412 for prospective graduate students.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in German courses is required for admission to the Honors program; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a GPA of at least 8.0 on all German courses in the last two years and a GPA of at least 7.5 on all courses in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

43.13.2 Combined Honors in German

A Combined Honors Degree in German and another discipline requires a minimum of 36 units of course weight in German, of which at least 30 must be senior courses. These must include GERM 301, 350, and six units of course weight in literature at the 400-level.

43.13.3 Concentration and Second Subject in German

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. The Faculty requires that students with a concentration in German take between 30 and 42 senior units of course weight, 12 of which must be at the 400-level. Students may select one of three routes:

1) Concentration in German Literature. This requires 30 to 42 senior units of course weight, including GERM 301, 350, and 12 400-level units of course weight in German Literature.

2) Concentration in Germanic Linguistics. This requires 30 to 42 senior units of course weight, including GERM 301, 306/307 or 308, and 12 400-level units of course weight in German Language/Linguistics (drawn from GERM 406, 407, 408, 409, 411, 412.) Students may also combine German and Scandinavian Language/Linguistics courses. For this option students should consult the undergraduate adviser.

3) Concentration in German Literature and Linguistics. This requires 30 to 42 senior units of course weight, including GERM 301, 306, 307 or 308, 350, and six 400-level units of course weight in German Literature and six in Germanic Linguistics. The Department encourages all students to consult with the undergraduate adviser.

Note A: Students should note in planning their programs that GERM 150/151 is the prerequisite for all senior level courses (with the exception of GERM 265, 221, and 222); that GERM 301 is the prerequisite for GERM 441/442; that GERM 306 is the prerequisite for GERM 406/407; and that GERM 350 is the prerequisite for all 400-level German literature courses with the exception of GERM 496 and 498.

Note B: GERM 301, 330, 340 and 350 may not be taken after completion of any 400-level German course except with special departmental permission.

Note C: German-speaking students and students beginning their studies with more than matriculation German may be admitted to courses numbered 301 and above in their first year, provided they pass a departmental placement test and obtain the permission of the Dean of Arts. Such students are required to consult with the Department before registration.

Note D: Courses in German culture and literature will be taught in German and texts will be read in German unless otherwise noted. Essays and examinations in these courses may generally be written in German or English, with no reward or penalty to the student for choosing one language rather than the other. However, those majoring in the BA (Honors), BA (Special), BA, and BEd programs must write at least one substantial essay in German in each course.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. Students may take any senior-level course after GERM 150 or 151 (except German 441/442), but are advised to discuss their course selections with the Department.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. Students who want to develop a strong concentration in German language and literature and other disciplines supporting the study of German culture, such as History, Political Science, Philosophy or Music, should contact the departmental BA (Special) Adviser.

43.13.4 Combined Honors in Scandinavian

A degree with Honors in Scandinavian and another approved subject may be awarded. Such a program of study requires a minimum of 36 units of course weight in each subject. For the Scandinavian component the required courses are the same as for the major in Scandinavian (see §43.13.5(1)b).

43.13.5 Concentration and Second Subject in Scandinavian

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. The Faculty requires that students with a concentration in Scandinavian take between 30 and 42 senior units of course weight, of which 12 units of course weight must be at the 400-level. The Department, however, normally requires the following courses as the minimum:

1) NORW 100 or SWED 100

2) NORW 200 or SWED 200

3) SCAND 340

4) SCAND 410

5) SCAND 475 or SCAND 480

6) Six more units of course weight at the 400-level

Note A: Students may take only one of NORW 100 and SWED 100, likewise only one of NORW 200 and SWED 200.

Note B: NORW 200 or SWED 200 are the prerequisites for all 400-level Scandinavian courses.

Note C: SCAND 410 is required for all students with a major subject of concentration in Scandinavian and is strongly recommended as pre- or co-requisite for all students in senior Scandinavian literature courses at the 400-level.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. The Department of Germanic Languages advises the following sequences:

1) For students beginning a Scandinavian language: NORW 100 or SWED 100 in the first year; SCAND 175 in the first or second year, NORW 200 or SWED 200, 340 or 351/352 in the second year; one or two of SCAND 340, 351/352, 400, 405, 475, or 480 in the third year.

2) For students with matriculation or equivalent: NORW 200 or SWED 200 in the first year; SCAND 175 in the first or second year, one or two of SCAND 340, 345, 351/352, 450, 475, 480 in the second year; one or two of SCAND 340, 345, 351/352, 450, 475, 480 in the third year.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

Note: Students fluent in one of the Scandinavian languages should consult the Department. In courses where the readings are in the original Scandinavian languages, essays and examinations may generally be written in a Scandinavian language or English, with no reward or penalty to the student for choosing one language rather than the other. However, those majoring in Scandinavian in the BA (Special) and the BA programs must write at least one essay in a Scandinavian language in each course.

43.14 History

43.14.1 Honors in History

Entrance to Honors in History will ordinarily take place at the end of the first or second year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selections which it is recommended should include a 100-level History course.

In the remaining years of the Honors program students should select courses that will provide them with a broad background of historical knowledge ranging widely in place, time and perspective.

Honors students should have at least six units of course weight in any three of the following eight fields: Africa or Middle East, Asia, Britain, Canada, Latin America, Medieval or Classical, modern Europe, United States. Normally, students should take courses in two additional fields to provide them with the breadth intended in the History Honors Program. In certain circumstances courses in ancient history offered by the Department of Classics are accepted as the equivalent of history department courses. A historiography seminar, HIST 500, is required during the third year, while registration in HIST 501 allows for completion of the Honors essay required during the fourth year. Students prepare the Honors essay under the supervision of a member of the de ment. The department may require any studen addition to submitting the essay, to pass an or written examination on the subject of the essay. At 12 units of course weight are required in each o areas of the Honors essay and a second field. Stud must satisfy the department of their ability to rea language other than English. Examinations for purpose are conducted by the department and norn are written during the second or third year and in case must be written and passed for completion of degree.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7. better in History courses is required for admission to program; graduation with First-Class Honors require minimum GPA of 8.0 on all History courses in the two years and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all course the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

43.14.2 Concentration and Secon Subject in History

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Students may count six units of course wei at the senior level and above from the follow Ancient History courses offered by the Dep ment of Classics towards a major concentrat in History:
CLASS 230, 231, 363, 364, 369, 370, 3 374, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 4 469, 470, 471, 472, 499.

c. History as a second subject: 18 units of cour weight in History, including six at the 400-lev Students may count three units of course weig from the following Ancient History courses fered by the Department of Classics : CLA 110, 230, 231, 363, 364, 369, 370, 373, 37 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 4 470, 471, 472, 499 towards a second subject History.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. The Department offers the following advic Students who select History as a principal sul ject of concentration are advised to take HIS 120 or CLASS 110/HIST 110 in their first yea However, students may, except when a prere uisite is specifically required, take any senio History course (those in the 200 range) in the second or third year without a previous cours in History. Students in their third year shou choose an advanced course (in the 400 range only if they have taken at least 12 previou units of course weight in History, though excep tions may be made in the case of students wit special interest and an adequate background i other related disciplines. Advanced courses ar provided for third-year students who wish som specialization within areas covered generall by senior courses.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

43.15 Linguistics

43.15.1 Honors in Linguistics

The Department of Linguistics offers courses leading to the BA degree with Honors in Linguistics.

Entrance to Honors in Linguistics will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection.

Honors in Linguistics requires a minimum of 48 units of course weight including LING 203, 204, 317 or 318, 400, 405, 407 or 315, 409, 410, 501 and 502; a minor of 24 or 30 units of course weight in a field such as Anthropology, Classics, East Asian Languages and Literatures, English, Germanic Languages, Psychology, Romance Languages, or Slavic and East European Studies.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Linguistics courses is required for admission, continuance, and graduation with Honors in Linguistics. Graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Linguistics courses beyond the junior level and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the final year or last 30 units of course weight.

.15.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Linguistics

The Department of Linguistics offers courses leading to the BA degree. Students are urged to consult the partment of Linguistics regarding the following degrees and their program sequences:

The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Students majoring in Linguistics must include the following courses in their program: LING 203, 204, 405, 407 or 315, 409 and 410.

The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. In all cases, the program must include LING 203 and 204.

The Degree of BA (Special):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. The BA Special Program in Linguistics is designed to give the student a broader background in Linguistics than the General Degree. The program should be arranged in consultation with the Department, and will include:

1) at least 30 units of course weight in Linguistics, to include LING 203, 204, 405, 407 or 315, 409, 410;

2) Twenty-four or 30 units of course weight in an appropriate minor field of concentration (see §43.1.4).

3.16 Mathematics

3.16.1 Honors in Mathematics

The BA Honors in Mathematics is a flexible program. Students can design the degree for a general beral education or for a specific career. The Department also offers three different BSc programs with honors in Mathematics (see §193.14.1).

Entrance to Honors in Mathematics will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Entrance may be granted at an earlier or later date depending on circumstances. Recommended courses include MATH 117/118 and, if admitted to first year, MATH 127/128.

Honors in Mathematics requires MATH 117; 118; 127; 128; 217; 227; 318; 336; 373 or 421; 411; 417; 418; 426; 427; 447; 448; 486; 496. Note that MATH 426, 427, 447, 448 and 486 are normally offered only every second year. The remaining options must include at least 42 units of course weight from the Faculty of Arts.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Mathematics courses is required for admission to the Mathematics program; graduation with First Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Mathematics courses in the last two years and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

43.16.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Mathematics

(1) Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. In order to ensure access to as wide a variety as possible of 400-level courses, students should include MATH 113/114, 115, 120, 214 and 215 in the first two years of their program. MATH 121 and 223 are recommended.

c. Mathematics as a second subject: see §43.1.1.

d. Students concentrating in Economics who wish to take Mathematics as a second subject should refer to §43.9.3(1)(d).

(2) The Degree of BA (General): See §42.4(9).

The usual first year calculus course for a general program student in Arts is MATH 113/115 or 114/115. However, general program students may take MATH 117/118 provided they have the permission of the Department. If students pass MATH 117/118, they may apply to the Department for admission to second year Honors. Students with a good record in MATH 113/115 or 114/115 may also apply to the Department for admission on the understanding that their record will be considered equivalent to MATH 117/118. If such students are granted admission they must satisfy all the requirements of the Honors program they have chosen.

A list of Mathematics courses, together with their descriptions, appears in §194 of the Faculty of Science Calendar.

Students should consult the Department as early as possible regarding the choice of their courses.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

43.17 Music

43.17.1 Honors in Music

The BA degree with Honors in Music is available to undergraduates interested in history and/or theory.

Entrance to Honors in Music will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Entrance may be granted at an earlier or later date depending on circumstances. Recommended courses include MUSIC 150/151 and, if admitted to the first year, MUSIC 124; an audition is required for admission to MUSIC 124 (auditions take place in June and mid-August).

Honors in Music requires 72 units of course weight including Theory: MUSIC 150, 151, 250, 251, 450, 461; History: MUSIC 202, 203, 204, 205, 501, 502, 505; Applied Music: 124, 224, 424; a further 15 units of course weight in Music history or theory; six non-Music history units of course weight; language other than English requirement (including the first year) in German, French, Italian, or Latin: one year each of two languages or two years of one language at levels appropriate to the background of the student.

Admission to the program is dependent on a successful audition for MUSIC 124 and, if admitted to the first year, a high matriculation average; admission to subsequent years requires a minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Music courses; graduation with First Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Music courses in the last two years and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

Note: For BMus (Honors) program, see §43.1.15.

43.17.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Music

(1) The Degree of BA

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Concentration in Music must include studies in applied music, music theory, and music history. At least six units of course weight in each of applied music (selected from MUSIC 124, 140, 141, 224, 240, 241,or 343), music theory (selected from MUSIC 150, 151, 237, 250, 251, or 259 and 260), and music history (selected from MUSIC 101, 165, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 213, or 215) is required. The program must include at least 12 units of course weight at the 400-level. MUSIC 150 and 151 should be taken as early as possible in the program. No junior-level courses may be counted toward the major subject of concentration. See §43.1.1(II)(4).

c. Music as a second subject: 18 units of course weight in Music including six at the 400-level. MUSIC 100 cannot be used to satisfy the second subject requirement.

(2) The Degree of BA (General): See §42.4(9).

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

For the degree of BMus, see §43.1.14.

43.18 Native Studies (School of Native Studies)

Native Studies as a second subject in the BA (AR20) degree requires a minimum of six Native Studies (NS) units of course weight at the 300-level and six Native Studies (NS) units of course weight at the 400-level. At the 300-level, students are required to take NS 310 and 311. (Students with credit in HIST 368/369 need not take NS 310).

The Faculty of Arts has approved a number of NS courses which may be used to complete a second subject in the BA (AR20). When used in this way, they will be counted as Arts courses. Students should consult the School of Native Studies as to when these courses are being offered.

The Faculty of Arts has also agreed that NS 101 Introductory Cree and NS 151 Intermediate Cree may be used to fulfill the Language Other than English requirement of the BA (AR20) (see §43.1.1(II)(3)). When used in this way, the courses will be counted as free options.

43.19 Philosophy

43.19.1 Honors and Combined Honors in Philosophy

Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and arrange for counselling from the department's Honors adviser.

Honors in Philosophy requires a minimum of 54 units of course weight in Philosophy, including the Honors seminar (PHIL 496/497) and the Honors tutorial (PHIL 422/423, 552/553) in the fourth year. There is a Logic requirement, normally satisfied by taking PHIL 389, and a History of Philosophy requirement, normally satisfied by taking PHIL 335, 336, 345 and 347.

Note 1: A second subject of concentration consisting of six units of course weight at the 400-level is also required.

Note 2: A Combined Honors degree in Philosophy and another discipline such as Greek, Political Science, etc., requires a minimum of 36 units of course weight in another discipline (see §43.1.2).

Admission to Honors in Philosophy requires a 7.0 average or better in Philosophy courses and a minimum GPA of 6.5 overall; the distinction of First Class Honors upon graduation requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all philosophy courses in the two final years, and a 7.5 or better on all courses in the two final years or the last 60 units of course weight.

43.19.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Philosophy

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1. for general Faculty requirements for a concentration, in addition to the Philosophy Department's specific requirements below (b).

b. Philosophy as a major subject of concentration requires one of PHIL 130 or 140; one of PHIL 121, 122, or 389; one of PHIL 335, 336, 345, 347; one of PHIL 333, 334, 339, 340, 350, 382, 383; one of PHIL 321, 322, 323, 324.

c. Philosophy as a second subject requires completion of 18 units of course weight in Philosophy, including six at the 400-level.

(2) The Degree of BA (General) See §42.4(9) and consult the Department.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9) and consult the Department.

43.20 Political Science

43.20.1 Honors in Political Science

Entrance to Honors in Political Science will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. First-year students with an interest in Honors are advised to enroll in the four-year BA program (see §43.1.1) and choose courses in consultation with the Department Honors adviser. These courses should include POL S 100, and six units of course weight at the junior level in a language other than English, which normally will be French. In special circumstances, an alternative language other than English (not French) may be substituted if it is particularly relevant to students' academic programs.

Honors in Political Science requires a minimum of 54, maximum of 60 units of course weight in Political Science; it is possible to reduce the minimum to 48 by counting six units of course weight from "an associated discipline". Required courses are: POL S 310, POL S 415, POL S 416, POL S 499, and six units of course weight in Canadian Politics (normally met by POL S 320). Competence in statistics is required: this may be fulfilled by POL S 316, or by an equivalent course from another department. At least six or 12 units of course weight are required in each of two fields other than Canadian politics and political theory, selected from comparative government, international relations, political behavior and psychology, urban government and politics. In the first 48 units of course weight in Political Science there shall be a maximum of 12 in any single field. Honors seminar POL S 399 is recommended for third-year students and POL S 499 is required for fourth-year students.

Admission to Honors in Political Science requires a minimum GPA of 7.0 on the last 30 units of course weight, as well as a minimum grade point average of 7.0 in Political Science courses (at least six units of course weight). Graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Political Science courses taken in the last two years of the program, with a 7.5 average or better on all courses in the two final years or last 60 units of course weight.

43.20.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Political Science

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Concentration in Political Science requires a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight in Political Science at the senior level with at least 12 at the 400-level. Normally these courses must include POL S 310 and POL S 320, plus six units of course weight in each of two fields other than Canadian politics and political theory, selected from the fields of comparative government, international relations, political behavior and psychology, urban government and politics. Note: the requirements described as "normal" may be varied only in very special circumstances and only with departmental approval. Students should note that most 400-level courses presuppose specific 300-level prerequisites. Students proposing to concentrate in political science should take POL S 100 in the first year and, in the second year, six units of course weight from: POL S 300, 310, 320, 323, 360, 390. The latter courses meet the Social Sciences Group B requirement. It is also recommended that students take French to satisfy the requirement for a language other than English.

c. Political Science as a Second Subject: Students are advised that most 400-level courses in Political Science presuppose specific 300-level "core" courses as prerequisites.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. The Department advises the following sequences:

For the 18, 24 and 30 units of course weight sequences: POL S 100 plus the equivalent of 12, 18 or 24 other senior Political Science units of course weight.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. The department requires at least 36 but no more than 48 units of course weight in Political Science. Normally students must include POL S 310 and POL S 320 in their programs. They must also include six units of course weight from each of two of the following fields of study: comparative government, international relations, political behavior and psychology, urban government, and politics.

43.21 Psychology

43.21.1 Honors in Psychology

The Department offers courses leading to the degrees of BA and BSc with Honors in Psychology. Departmental requirements for both degrees are identical. However, students wishing to emphasize the humanities and social sciences in their program are advised to register for the BA; those who wish to emphasize the physical and biological sciences are advised to register for the BSc. With either degree, the program is especially appropriate for students considering postgraduate study, training, or research in any area of psychology. However, students considering postgraduate training in other fields (e.g., medical research) that require research skills also may find this program appropriate.

The Honors program is designed to provide students with experience that will help them determine whether they would like to continue on to postgraduate work. In the program, students learn specific skills and knowledge that will ease their transition from undergraduate to graduate study. Honors students are encouraged to become involved in ongoing departmental activities and to view the Department as an academic home during their undergraduate studies.

Entrance to Honors in Psychology can take place at the end of the first or second year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should take PSYCO 104/105 in their first year and should consult general faculty requirements. Because many areas of psychology utilize biological and quantitative knowledge, prospective honors students are advised to take courses in these areas during their first and second years. ZOOL 120 or BIOL 197 and either CMPUT 114 or MATH 113 or 114 are strongly recommended. Questions regarding course selection may be discussed with a department Honors adviser.

Honors in Psychology requires a minimum of 48 and a maximum of 60 units of course weight in Psychology including the following: (a) PSYCO 104/105, (b) PSYCO 211 (prerequisite Mathematics 30) or, with consent of the department, an equivalent course (e.g., STAT 141 or 155), (c) the Honors seminars PSYCO 306/307 (taken in the third year of university study) and PSYCO 406/407 (taken the following year), and (d) at least six additional units of course weight from the Psychology listings in both the Arts and Science sections of the Calendar. Students should select additional psychology courses offered by both the Faculties of Arts and Science to ensure a well-rounded background in Psychology. They are also encouraged to take a lab course (e.g., PSYCO 208, 266 or 475). An important feature of the Honors program is the opportunity for the students to engage in independent study and research. During the third year, students will complete a year-long, non-credit research apprenticeship and, during the fourth year, will write an empirical Honors thesis (PSYCO 490), under the guidance of a Faculty member of the Department of Psychology. To help students learn to communicate about research, students present their thesis projects to other students and staff in the department at the annual Honors Conference held in the spring.

A minimum of 30 units of course weight will be taken in related subjects. These courses may be taken all in one field (e.g., mathematics, biology or sociology) or in several, depending on students' special interests and relevance of the courses to the subject matter of psychology. In choosing related subjects, students should consider both skills courses (e.g., expository writing, advanced statistics, mathematics and computer programming) and subject matter courses that will broaden their education and enhance their preparation for graduate training. To count as a course in a related subject, a course must be approved individually by the Psychology Honors adviser.

A minimum overall GPA of 7.0 and a 7.0 GPA or better on all Psychology courses is required for admission to the program. Second-year students completing their first year of university courses at another institution or second-year students who did not take PSYCO 104 or 105 in their first year are not eligible for entrance into the program until their third year at university. There is no admission after the beginning of the third year. Promotion from year to year requires a minimum GPA of 7.0; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 in all Psychology courses taken during the last 60 units of course weight and 7.5 or better on the last 60 units of course weight.

43.21.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Psychology

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. The Department of Psychology offers courses leading to both BA and BSc degrees. Students wishing to emphasize the humanities and social sciences in their programs are advised to register for the BA and follow one of the sequences suggested in the Faculty of Arts section of this Calendar. Students wishing to emphasize the biological sciences are advised to register for the BSc. However, to ensure a well-rounded background in psychological inquiry, students in the General program are required to take Psychology courses from both the Faculties of Arts and Science. Students selecting Psychology as a major subject of concentration are required to take: (a) PSYCO 104/105, (b) PSYCO 211 (prerequisite Mathematics 30) or, with consent of the department, an equivalent course (e.g. STAT 141 or STAT 155), (c) a minimum of six units of course weight at the 200-level must be courses offered by Science, and a minimum of six units of course weight at the 200-level must be from courses offered by Arts. In addition, a minimum of six units of course weight at the 300- or 400-level must be from the courses offered by Science, and a minimum of six units of course weight at the 300- or 400-level must be from the courses offered by Arts. (STAT 378 may be counted as a Science Psychology course by students taking Psychology as a major subject of concentration). At least 12 units of course weight must be at the 400-level.

c. Students selecting Psychology as a second subject are required to take (a) PSYCO 104/105, (b) PSYCO 211 (prerequisite Mathematics 30) or, with consent of the department, an equivalent course (e.g. STAT 141 or STAT 155), (c) a minimum of three units of course weight at the 200-level must be courses offered by Science, and a minimum of three units of course weight at the 200-level must be from courses offered by Arts. In addition, a minimum of three units of course weight at the 300- or 400-level must be from the courses offered by Science, and a minimum of three units of course weight at the 300- or 400-level must be from the courses offered by Arts. At least six units of course weight must be at the 400-level. Note: Since PSYCO 211 is a prerequisite or corequisite for several senior courses it should be taken in the second year.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

The Department advises the following sequences:

18 units of course weight sequence: PSYCO 104 and 105; PSYCO 211; three senior units of course weight (with laboratory) offered by Science; six senior Psychology units of course weight offered by Arts.

24 or 30 units of course weight sequence: As above, plus either six or 12 senior Psychology units of course weight which may be chosen from the Calendar listings of either Faculty.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. The Department advises the following sequences:

1) PSYCO 104 and 105.
2) PSYCO 211 (or, with the consent of the Department, STAT 155.)
3) at least one of PSYCO 208, 266, 281, or 353.
4) at least one of PSYCO 233 or 241.

43.22 Religious Studies

43.22.1 Honors in Religious Studies

Entrance to Honors in Religious Studies will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection which it is recommended should include ENGL 101 and six units of course weight in Religious Studies at the junior level.

Honors in Religious Studies requires a minimum of 60, maximum of 78 units of course weight in Religious Studies with at least 15 in each of the three parts into which the program is divided: western religions; eastern religions; thematic studies. (Note: SCAND 340 counts as a course in Western Religions.) The program must include RELIG 501 (Honors Essay) and at least 15 units of course weight at the 400-level or above. The topic for the Honors essay and its supervisor will be chosen in consultation with the Honors adviser during the third year and it will be written in the fourth year.

Students are required to demonstrate the ability to translate, at sight and with the help of reference work, from an approved language other than English. Students may fulfill this requirement by successfully completing 12 units of course weight of university-level study, or by taking an examination arranged by the Department. The requirements must normally be fulfilled by the end of the dents' third year. It is strongly recommended that the guage be related to students' selected area of con-tration in Religious Studies, e.g. the language of ied texts. ARAB 302, CHINA 200 or 202, GREEK , HEB 302, JAPAN 200 or 202, or LATIN 300 will be matically approved; senior level courses in other guages, or their equivalents, will require prior ap-val.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or ter in Religious Studies courses is required for ad-ission to the program; promotion from year to year and duation with Honors requires a minimum GPA of 7.0; duation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum A of 8.0 on all Religious Studies courses beyond the ior level and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in final year or last 30 units of course weight.

3.22.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Religious Studies

The Degree of BA: See §43.1.1.

The Degree of BA (General): See §42.4(9).

The Degree of BA (Special): See §42.4(9).

3.23 Romance Languages

3.23.1 Honors in Romance Languages

Entrance to Honors in Romance Languages will dinarily take place at the end of the first year of iversity study. Students planning to apply for admis-on to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for eneral program requirements and the department Honors dviser for first-year course selection which it is recom-ended should include ENGL 101 and six units of ourse weight in a language other than English selected om FREN 150 or 152, ITAL 100 or 150, SPAN 100, or, r those with the necessary preparation, a 300-level ourse in one of these languages.

Five programs are available:

(1) Romance Languages: 72 units of course weight in two or three Romance fields (French, Italian, Romance Linguistics, or Spanish), with a minimum of 36 in at least one field and a maximum of 48 in any field.

If French is the principal subject, courses selected must include FREN 258, 300, 520, six units of course weight in French Canadian Literature and/or Civilization, 12 units of course weight from among no more than two of FREN 360, 370, 380 and/or FRENCH 400, 430, 431, 440, 441, 450, 451, 461, 471, 481, 490, FR CA 421, 422, 423, 424, 428, 429, 471, or any 500-level French or French Canadian literature or translation course, three units of course weight from remaining courses listed for Honors in French. If French is the second or third subject, courses selected must include at least 18 units of course weight chosen from among courses listed for Honors in French.

If Italian is the principal subject, courses selected must include ITAL 201, 302, 403, and at least 36 units of course weight in Italian at the senior level, two of which must be at the 400-level or above.

If Spanish is the principal subject, SPAN 201, 302, 403 must be taken and minimum requirements for concentration must be met.

(2) French: Required courses are as follows: FREN 222, 223, 258, 300, 358, 415, 416, 426, 520, R LIN 370, six units of course weight in French Canadian Literature and/or Civilization, and 21 units of course weight from among no more than two of FREN 360, 370, 380, and/or FREN 400, 430, 431, 440, 441, 450, 451, 461, 471, 481, 490, FR CA 421, 422, 423, 424, 428, 429, 471, or any 500-level French or French Canadian literature or translation course.

Students wishing to enter an Honors program in French in their third year may do so only if they have received a grade of at least 8 in FREN 250 or 350; they will not be required to take FREN 258.

Students wishing to prepare for the MA program in French or French Canadian Literature are advised to select literature courses at the 400- and 500-levels as part of their Honors program, while those who wish to prepare for the MA in French literary translation are advised to select FREN 400, 515, and 516.

(3) Romance Linguistics: Any combination of 72 approved units of course weight in Romance Linguistics, Linguistics, and the Romance Languages, with a minimum of 36 units of course weight in Romance Linguistics and a minimum of 12 in Linguistics.

(4) Spanish and Spanish American Studies: Required courses are as follows: SPAN 201, 250, 252, 253, 302; nine units of course weight from SPAN 309, 310, 312, 313; six units of course weight from SPAN 315, 320, 350, 355; SPAN 403; SPAN 520; 12 additional units of course weight at the 400-level or above, of which at least six must be in literature; six units of course weight selected from courses in Romance Linguistics with Hispanic content, 12 approved units of course weight from another department.

(5) Combined: 36 units of course weight in a Romance field (French, Italian, Romance Linguistics, or Spanish) and a minimum of 36 units of course weight in an approved subject in another department. Requirements in the Romance field are as for Honors in Romance Languages.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 in Romance Languages courses is required for admission to the program; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a GPA of 8.0 on all Romance Languages courses in the last two years and a GPA of 7.5 on all courses in the final year or last 30 units of course weight.

43.23.2 Concentration and Second Subject in Romance Languages

(1) The Degree of BA:

a. See §43.1.1.

b. Students wishing to concentrate in French are required to take a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level, 12 of which must be at the 400-level. Courses selected must include six units of course weight in French language (FREN 250, 350, 258 or 358), six units of course weight in French literature (either FREN 300 or any two of 360, 370, 380), FREN 222 or 223, FREN 415 or 416, and three units of course weight in French Canadian Literature or Civilization.

c. Students wishing to concentrate in French Canadian Studies are required to take a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level, 12 of which must be at the 400-level. Courses selected must include FREN 250 or 350, FR CA 222 or 223, FR CA 300 or 330, FREN 415 or 416, and three units of course weight in French Literature or Civilization.

d. Students wishing to concentrate in Italian are required to take a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level or above, 12 of which must be at the 400-level.

e. Students wishing to concentrate in Romance Linguistics are required to take a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level, 12 of which must be at the 400-level.

f. Students wishing to concentrate in Spanish are required to take a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level, 12 of which must be at the 400-level. The following program is recommended: nine units of course weight from SPAN 250, 252, 253; nine units of course weight from SPAN 309, 310, 312, 313; six units of course weight from SPAN 315, 320, 350, 355; 12 units of course weight at the 400-level or above, six in language and the other six in literature.

g. Students shall be permitted to include two or more languages (this does not include Romance Linguistics) studied in the Department of Romance Languages in their subject of concentration (see §43.1.1(II)(7)(b)).

h. French, French Canadian, Italian, Romance Linguistics, and Spanish may each be taken as a second subject. In all cases, students are required to take at least six units of course weight at the 400-level and are advised to anticipate this requirement by ensuring that they acquire the appropriate prerequisites.

(2) The Degree of BA (General):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. Students may concentrate in French and/or French-Canadian, or in Italian, or in Spanish, or in Romance Linguistics. A combination of courses within any one of these areas will be accepted as a subject of concentration.

c. Students in the BA (General) with Romance Linguistics as a subject of concentration may include LING 203 with prior approval of the Faculty.

(3) The Degree of BA (Special):

a. See §42.4(9).

b. In the principal subject a minimum of 36 units of course weight is required by the Department.

c. Students in the BA (Special) with Romance Linguistics as a subject of concentration may include LING 203 with the prior approval of the Faculty.

Note: French-Canadian courses can be taken in meeting requirements for the BA degree in Canadian Studies (see §43.1.7).

43.24 Slavic and East European Studies

43.24.1 Honors in Slavic Languages

Entrance to Honors in Slavic and East European Studies will ordinarily take place at the end of the first year of university study. Students planning to apply for admission to the Honors program should consult §43.1.2 for general program requirements and the department Honors adviser for first-year course selection which should include six units of course weight in the proposed language of concentration.

The fourth year of programs requires an original Honors thesis on a topic related to senior course material; the thesis will be written under the supervision of an adviser chosen by the department in consultation with the student and may be done in conjunction with course work.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Slavic and East European Studies courses is required for admission to the program; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Slavic and East European Studies courses beyond the junior level and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the first year or last 30 units of course weight.

Five programs are available:

(1) Russian/Ukrainian

a. Russian: A minimum of 54 units of course weight in the major subject of concentration; 24 units of course weight in an approved second subject.

The program with Russian as the major subject of concentration must include: RUSS 100 or 101; 201/202 or 203, 205, 215/216, 401/402, 405 or 406, 453/454, 501/502.

Students are also required to take nine units of course weight in Russian Literature at the 400-level. RUSS 479 (Honors Thesis) is required of all students. Honors students are encouraged to take RUSS 401/402 and six units of course weight at the 400-level in Russian Literature concurrently.

b. Ukrainian: A minimum of 54 units of course weight in the major subject of concentration; 24 units of course weight in an approved second subject.

The program with Ukrainian as the major subject of concentration must include: UKR 150 (or 100 and 201/202), 205, 215/216, 401/402, 405, 453/454, 503/511. Students are also required to take nine units of course weight chosen from the following: UKR 411, 412, 433, 471, or three units of course weight in Ukrainian Folklore at the 400-level. UKR 479 (Honors Thesis) is required of all students. Honors students are encouraged to take UKR 401/402 and six units of course weight at the 400-level in Ukrainian Literature concurrently.

(2) Slavic Languages and Literatures: Russian or Ukrainian as the major subject of concentration, and Polish, Slavics or Ukrainian/Russian (depending on major subject) as the second subject.

The program requires 48 units of course weight in the major subject, and a minimum of 24 units of course weight in the second subject. The program must include SLAV 403, and SLAV 420 and 515.

(3) Combined Honors Program: A Combined Honors degree in either Russian or Ukrainian and another discipline, for example, French, German, Comparative Literature, normally requires a minimum of 36 units of course weight in each discipline (see §43.1.2).

(4) East European and Soviet Studies: A minimum of 57 units of course weight in the major subject of concentration and 24 in an approved second subject. The major subject must include: INT D 346, 347, 444 or 445, 447, 479, 546; ECON 393, 593; POL S 341; GEOG 502; six units of course weight chosen from: HIST 314, 315, 320, 417, or 419; 12 units of course weight in a Slavic language; and three units of course weight in Slavic literature-in-translation. Recommended options, to be chosen in consultation with the Honors adviser, are POL S 471, POL S 488, POL S 489, additional Slavic language courses, C LIT 465, or any other courses in East European topics pertinent to the program, if these are not already included in the approved second subject.

(5) Ukrainian Folklore: A minimum of 54 units of course weight in the major subject of concentration and 24 in an approved second subject. The major subject of concentration must include: UKR 150 (or 100 and 201/202), 205, 215/216, 326, 401/402, 411, UKR 422/423, 425/426, 451/453, 471 and 479. Recommended options are SLAV 403, 420/421, ANTHR 307 (a prerequisite or corequisite for UKR 425/426) and C LIT 341. The suggested second subject is History, and should include HIST 315, 316/317, 261 and 367.

A minimum GPA of 6.5 with an average of 7.0 or better in Slavic and East European Studies courses is required for admission to the program; graduation with First-Class Honors requires a minimum GPA of 8.0 on all Slavic and East European Studies courses beyond the junior level and a GPA of 7.5 or better on all courses in the final year or last 30 units of course weight.

43.24.2 The Degree of BA in Slavic and East European Studies

To satisfy the requirements for a major in Slavic and East European Studies students must take a minimum of 36 and a maximum of 42 units of course weight at the senior level; of these at least 12 must be at the 400-level. Students are advised that most 200-, 300- and 400-level courses have specific prerequisites which must be met prior to the start of the major. All students intending to major in Slavic and East European Studies should consult with a departmental adviser as soon as possible. Students majoring in one of the following fields are encouraged to take other area-related courses in Comparative Literature, Economics, History, Linguistics, Political Science, and Slavic and East European Studies. Students majoring in East European and Soviet Studies must choose their second subject carefully to make sure that it is outside the major subject of concentration. They are allowed to choose the language they passed at the second-year level in 1(a), but they are not allowed to choose the subject or subjects taken to satisfy the "area-related" requirement in 1(f).

The Department of Slavic and East European Studies offers the following Majors:

4) The following courses are open-number courses allowing for variable content. In years when their content is relevant to Women's Studies, they can be used for credit toward a major or second subject in Women's Studies. The Women's Studies Coordinator may recommend in writing for each student that these courses may be used for credit toward a concentration in Women's Studies in a given year:
CANST 401 Seminar in Canadian Studies (Credited when the topic is Canadian Feminism: Contexts and Critiques)
ENGL 490 Special Studies in the Literature of Women (Credited when the topic is literature by women)
Other courses with variable content may, upon the decision of the Women's Studies Committee, be used for credit when they have Women's Studies subject matter. Please consult the Women's Studies Coordinator.

Note: These courses cannot be used by students concentrating in Women's Studies to fulfill the requirement for the second subject of the BA (AR20) degree.

44 Details of Courses

44.1 General Information

Courses are listed alphabetically by discipline designation, e.g., Art, English, Interdisciplinary Studies, etc.

Each course is designated by its computer abbreviation and a number. Students should use this abbreviation and number when filling in their registration forms.

Courses numbered 100 to 199 are junior courses, normally taken by first-year undergraduates. Those numbered 200 to 499 are senior courses, normally taken after the first year. Courses numbered 500 and up are normally restricted to graduate students and fourth year Honors students and others upon recommendation of the department.

Following the title of the course is the symbol "★" standing for "units of course weight", and a number indicating the weight of the course as used in computing grade-point averages. Some courses are offered for credit only, and carry no weight.

In parentheses, after the units of course weight, will be found the term in which the course is offered and the weekly lecture, seminar and laboratory hours. The latter are arranged according to the following three-position format:

First position:
lecture hours
Second position: s - seminar hours
d - demonstration hours
c - clinic hours
L - lecture-laboratory hours
Third position:
laboratory hours

Examples: (first term, 3-0-3) means 3 hours lecture, no seminar, three hours lab per week.

(second term, 0-1s-2) means no lectures, 1 seminar hour, and two hours of lab per week.

(either term, 3-0-0) means three lecture hours per week, no seminar, and no lab.

Departments are authorized to cancel the registration of those students registered in a course offered by the department who do not meet the prerequisite and/or corequisite requirements as stated in the course description in this Calendar.

Note A: The hours of instruction for a six units of course weight course are the same in both terms unless otherwise indicated.

Note B: "either term' means that the course may be offered either in the first term or in the second term or in both terms, at the discretion of the department concerned.

Note C: Effective 1990-91 the Faculty of Arts renumbered many of its undergraduate courses. Tables listing the old and new numbers can be found under individual Department entries in §44.

Some departments offer reading courses designed to fit the interests of advanced students not covered in the departments' other courses. Interested students should seek departmental assistance.

The appearance of a course description in the following list does not constitute any guarantee that the course will actually be offered in the forthcoming session. Information as to which courses will be offered, the names of the instructors, and all further details must be sought from the department concerned.

Physical Requirements for University

The University has a commitment to the education of all academically qualified students and special services are frequently provided on campus to assist disabled students.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoidable demands on students, with respect to the possession of a certain level of physical skill or ability, if the academic objectives of the course are to be realized. In case of doubt, students are advised to contact the department concerned and the Disabled Student Services Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all off-campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse registration in such courses.

Note: Since presence at lectures and seminars, participation in classroom discussion, and the completion of assignments are important components of most courses, students will serve their best interest by regular attendance.

This particularly applies to studio courses and to seminars in the history of art and design, where attendance will be a factor in grading.

The Department of Art and Design normally retains amples of students' work executed for class projects tudio courses.
Safe studio practice is of great concern and stunts are advised to refer to §16.5 of this Calendar.

51.3 General Information

The Faculty of Business offers the degrees of Bachelor of Commerce, Master of Business Administration, Master of Public Management, and Doctor of Philosophy in Business Management.

51.3.1 PhD Program in Business Management

The doctoral program in Business Management is designed to prepare students for a research career in academia, business, or government. The program offers major areas of study in accounting, finance, industrial relations, marketing, and organizational analysis. The program seeks prospective students with an excellent schoiastic record and a strong interest in research related to their chosen field of business studies. Applicants must hold a minimum of a bachelor's degree from any undergraduate program in order to be considered for admission.

For further information, contact the Director of the PhD Program, Faculty of Business and consult §204.11.6 of this Calendar.

51.3.2 MBA Program

The degree of Master of Business Administration is designed for students preparing for a career in general management. The program accepts students from a wide variety of undergraduate disciplines and strives to provide them with the analytical foundations necessary to be effective managers of modern enterprises. Through lectures, case studies, and group projects, students learn to generate courses of action, make decisions, implement policies, and communicate information.

For further information contact the Associate Dean, MBA/MPM Programs, Faculty of Business, and consult §204.11.2 of this Calendar.

51.3.3 MPM Program

The degree of Master of Public Management will prepare students for eventual senior management positions in municipal, provincial, and federal governments, and for other public enterprises in Alberta, Canada, and abroad. It will focus on both management theory and skills, on public issues, and on policy formulation and implementation.

For further information, contact the Associate Dean, MBA/MPM Programs, Faculty of Business and consult §204.11.3 of this Calendar.

51.3.4 BCom Program

The Bachelor of Commerce program seeks to provide the student with a broad background in the different areas of business as well as in related fields in the humanities and social sciences. The business world and its environment have changed enormously in the last twenty years and will change at an even faster pace in the next twenty. In this trend, questions about the environment will become increasingly important. No school of business can possibly teach the solution to problems which will arise several years from now. A school should, therefore, seek to provide a basis for effective self-learning through actual experience by teaching the broad underlying fields of knowledge which are basic to business. The emphasis is upon the development of a comprehensive analytical framework within which various organizational problems can be analyzed.

51.3.5 BCom Program After Approved Degree

Requirements for a BCom degree after another approved degree will depend, in part, on the previous degree held.

Individuals who have been admitted to the Faculty and have an approved degree conferred in the last 8 years shall be required to satisfy the requirements of the Business Core plus 3 senior business electives. This is subject to completing a minimum of 45 units of course weight of coursework and not more than 72 units of course weight of coursework in the Faculty of Business.

For further information, contact the Undergraduate Student Records Office of the Faculty of Business.

51.3.6 Special Students Studying to Satisfy Requirements of Professional Accounting Organizations

The policy of the Faculty of Business with respect to special students taking courses to satisfy the requirements of professional accounting organizations such as the Institute of Chartered Accountants, the Society of Management Accountants, and the Certified General Accountants, is as follows:

(1) Special accounting students must meet the same deadlines for application as any other student. Admission to the First and Second terms are made during the First term only. Students who wish to be admitted to Intersessions must meet the same academic criteria as outlined in item numbers 2 and 3 below.

(2) Students who hold a Bachelor of Commerce Degree from the University of Alberta, which was awarded after 1979, will be admitted to take the courses which are required in order to meet professional accounting requirements. Students who received the Bachelor of Commerce Degree from the University of Alberta before 1979 must have graduated with a grade point average of at least 6.6 during their final year of study in order to qualify as special accounting students.

(3) All other applicants who hold an approved degree must have obtained a grade point average of at least 6.6 during their final year of study in order to be admitted. Students who fall into this category will be allowed to take a maximum of 24 units of course weight in order to satisfy professional accounting requirements. In all cases, course prerequisites must be satisfied. If the total number of courses required exceeds 24 units of course weight, including prerequisites, then the applicant will be considered for the BCom Program for applicants holding an approved degree.

(4) If you wish further information about the professional accounting organizations, please write to:

51.3.7 Career Opportunities

The opportunities for Bachelor of Commerce graduates are many and varied. They range anywhere from positions in government (Federal, Provincial, and Municipal) and large enterprises, to partner or owner of small firms. The types of positions the graduates have within these organizations range from systems analysts to financial analysts, from sales managers to accountants.

Opportunities in any given year fluctuate with the general level of economic activity in the country. Although it is generally difficult to forecast the job market several years ahead, the demand for graduates is expected to grow or at least remain constant in the next few years; the job market outlook is therefore generally favourable.

Additional information about employment opportunities can be obtained from the Faculty of Business, Office of Placement Services, 2-21 Business Building.

Information regarding the various areas of specialization within the field of business administration is contained in §53.2.

51.3.8 Student Organizations Within the Faculty

Undergraduate Associations

BSA (Business Students' Association)
Office: BUS 2-10

The largest undergraduate student organization within the Faculty. Undergraduates registered in the Faculty are automatically members of the Association and are entitled to run in BSA elections for both executive and class representative positions. These representatives sit on BSA Council which manages the affairs of BSA. Student representatives are also elected to serve on Faculty Committees and the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce. This provides a liaison between students, Faculty, and the business community.

The Association publishes a handbook called the "Porthole" and a monthly newsletter called the "BSA Flasher"; it also organizes annual functions such as the Bavarianfest, Commerce Week, and the graduation banquet and dance.

AIESEC (International Association of Students of Economics and Commerce)
Office: BUS 2-12

A French acronym for "International Association of Students of Economics and Commerce", AIESEC offers an international job-exchange program in which students from foreign AIESEC locals have found jobs here in Canada, and Canadian AIESEC members have found jobs in foreign countries. The jobs last from six weeks to 18 months, and are memorable experiences. AIESEC activities also include Career Day, Contact Talks with local business people, as well as numerous other events.

Accounting Club
Office: BUS 2-08

The Accounting Club provides the opportunity for students to find out more about the world of accounting and what it has to offer through such activities as Hospitality Night, CA Student Rap Session, CMA Rap Session, CGA Day, as well as speakers and guest lectures.

Marketing Club
Office: BUS 2-02

For students interested in marketing, this club offers a wonderful opportunity to find out more about the field of marketing. As well as offering information on jobs currently available in the field, the marketing club aids students in gaining useful marketing experience.

RMBS (Rocky Mountain Business Seminar)
Office: BUS 2-06

RMBS is a three-day seminar that occurs every February during the first half of Reading Week. Approximately 100 commerce students arrive at a hotel in the Rockies to attend seminars given by prominent Canadian business people during the day. Social activities are planned for the evenings. Organized by a group of Commerce students, RMBS is another memorable experience that should not be missed.

Investors' Club
Office: BUS B-04

If you have always wanted to invest in the stock market but never had the funds then this is the club for you. The Investors' Club is designed to familiarize its members with the importance of financial planning and to allow them to gain an understanding of the operation of investment markets. This is accomplished through interactive seminars, guest speakers, and our computerized mock market simulation.

Entrepreneurs Club
Office: BUS 3-02

This is a club for students, regardless of the faculty in which they are registered, who are interested in entrepreneurial pursuits. The Club acts as an organization and network through which its members can meet to exchange ideas, share experiences, and learn new skills that will help them succeed in their goals. Numerous guest speakers and social events will be featured throughout the year.

The MBA Association and the MPM Society

The MBA Association and the MPM Society are the official bodies representing the masters' degree students in the Faculty of Business. They are non-profit servic organizations solely administered by the students of th two respective programs. The purposes of these organ zations are: to promote fellowship between studen through their activities; to promote cooperation an rapport between the students and the academic an administrative staff; to represent the students on a organizations and bodies on which the Association an or the Society has representation; to promote conta between graduate students and members of the busine community; and extend the academic and non-academi interests of the members through forums, special lecture and discussion groups; and to advise, counsel, and a on student problems which cannot be handled effective through Faculty channels.

51.3.9 The Banff School of Advanced Management

The Faculty of Business and the University o Alberta proudly continue sponsorship of the executiv development program at the Banff School of Advance Management (BSAM). Established in 1952 by the Un versities of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, an Saskatchewan, BSAM has gained for itself an enviabl reputation in the Canadian private and public sectors Over 3800 executives from some 800 organization have participated in the program. The splendid residenc and conference facilities of The Banff Centre, plus a outstanding teaching staff, have combined to mak BSAM one of the leading executive development institution on the continent.

52 Faculty Regulations

52.1 Admission

52.1.1 Graduate Study

For information regarding Graduate Study please consult the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research section of the University Calendar.

52.1.2 Undergraduate Study

High School Applicants

Admission requirements are set out in §13 of this Calendar.

Note: All applications for admission into the BCom program must be received not later than June 1, 1991 and all supporting documents received by the Office o the Registrar not later than August 1, 1991.

Transfer Applicants from other Faculties, Colleges, or Universities

Under normal circumstances, a transfer applicant is defined as a student who presents a minimum of 30 units of course weight of transferable work to the University The number of transfer applicants admitted to the Faculty is limited by the existing quota as approved by the Board of Governors of this University. Academic performance is the basis used in selecting applicants to be admitted. Transfer of credit may be granted depending on the nature of the program, applicability of the courses taken, and results achieved to a maximum of 60 units of course weight. Any courses to be considered for transfer credit to the BCom program must normally have been completed within eight years prior to admission to the Faculty. An application for a transfer must be received by June 1, 1991 and all supporting documents must be received by the Office of the Registrar not later than July 1, 1991.

52.1.3 Readmission

Students previously enrolled in the Faculty of Business who have interrupted their studies by as much as an academic year or more must apply for readmission by completing an Application for Readmission form which is available from the Office of the Registrar.

Readmission after being required to withdraw will normally not be approved until at least one year has elapsed since the withdrawal. Applicants for all such readmissions must be interviewed by the Undergraduate Admission Committee of the Faculty.

52.1.4 Continuing Students

Students in good standing who are continuing their program without interruption are not required to re-apply for admission; they need only to obtain their registration material and register by using the telephone registration system.

52.2 Changes in Registration

The Faculty makes every effort to assure that program requirements are being met by the courses in which a student is registered. However, the responsibility for the completeness and accuracy of registration rests with the student, and he/she should be satisfied that the program is in accordance with degree specifications.

Adding or Dropping Courses

The deadline for adding first term and full-session courses is September 11 and for second-term courses, January 10. Courses dropped before the deadline will not be part of the student's record.

Withdrawing from Courses

The deadlines for withdrawing from courses are as follows: November 15 for first-term courses; January 10 for full-session courses; March 20 for second-term courses.

A grade of W (withdrawal) will be recorded on a student's record if he/she withdraws from a course after the add/drop deadline but before the withdrawal deadline. No withdrawal after the deadline for withdrawing from courses will be permitted except for major causes beyond a student's control, such as extended illness.

52.3 Withdrawal from the University

Subject to the provisions specified in §52.2.2, a student is free to withdraw from the University at any time but is encouraged to seek advice from Faculty advisers or Student Counselling Services prior to taking action to do so. Further information regarding fee refunds or exemption from fees may be found in §15.2.5 of this Calendar.

52.3.1 Discontinuance of Attendance

The following policies regarding discontinuing registration relate to the status of students registered in the Faculty of Business. Students must apply for permission before discontinuing their registration. The consequence of unapproved discontinuances is the loss of registration privileges in the Faculty except by re-application and consideration with all other applicants under the quota provisions in force at the time of re-application.

(1) Individuals registered as students in the Faculty of Business must have the permission of the Associate Dean, Undergraduate (or designee), if they wish to discontinue their attendance and retain their status in good standing in the Faculty of Business.

(2) Discontinuance is defined to be no course completions for a full Winter Session (September-April).

(3) Normally, discontinuance will be allowed for many reasons related to an individual's personal well-being. These may include health reasons, the necessity for personal reflection or other similar reasons, and they may or may not relate to circumstances related to employment. It is expected that a date of re-commencement and expression of commitment to degree completion will be established at the time discontinuance is allowed.

(4) Normally, discontinuance will not be allowed for the purpose of pursuing other normal academic programs or degrees. It would be deemed unusual to provide a commitment for a place in the BCom Program when discontinuance is directed to pursuing other academic studies.

52.4 Academic Standing and Graduation

(1) Records of academic performance for individual students are maintained in the Student Records Office. Students are encouraged to consult their records from time to time to attest to their accuracy.

Academic performance is normally measured by grade point average attained during the academic year. In this determination, marks of W are ignored throughout; marks of ABF and INF are considered to be marks of 1.

Determination of each student's academic performance will normally occur after the end of the regular academic year, on the basis of the work attempted during that year. However, no student will be classified as probationary or required to withdraw on the basis of fewer than 15 units of course weight attempted since initial enrollment in the Faculty or since the last year-end evaluation of performance. A student whose academic performance evaluation is deferred under the terms of this provision may be evaluated at either or both of the following mid-year and year-end times, with appropriate classification and possible action as described below.

(2) Promotion of the student from year to year is contingent upon satisfactory academic performance.

Satisfactory performance is defined as that which yields a grade point average of 5.0 or more.

Probationary performance is that which yields a grade point average of less than 5.0 but not less than 4.5. In such cases, the student must repeat all work for which a mark of less than 4 was received.

Unsatisfactory performance is that which yields a grade point average of less than 4.5. In such cases, the student may not continue in the Faculty.

Required to withdraw from the Faculty is performance having a quality index of 2.0 or less. (The quality index is the grade point average multiplied by the credits passed divided by the credits attempted.) In such cases, credit is earned only for courses in which a mark of 5 or more was received.

Students whose performance has once been classified as either probationary, unsatisfactory, or required to withdraw from the Faculty, must in all subsequent years in the degree program demonstrate satisfactory performance, or else they may not continue in the Faculty.

(3) First Class Standing is awarded to each student who achieves a grade point average of at least 7.5 on 27 or more units of course weight of academic study during a Winter Session.

(4) The notation "With Distinction" is inscribed on the permanent record and graduate parchment if the candidate has obtained a grade point average of 7.5 or higher, averaged over the last two years of the program.

(5) The Dean's List commends the superior academic performance of each student who has completed 30 units of course weight of study during the Winter Session with a grade point average of 8.0 or more.

(6) Graduation: In order to qualify for graduation, the student must satisfy all degree requirements as specified in §53.1 below and demonstrate satisfactory academic performance (as defined in (2) above) during the last academic year of the program. If such final year involved less than 15 units of course weight of study, a sufficient number of immediately preceding full terms of study shall be added to the basis of evaluation to provide a minimum of 15 units of course weight.

The student's attention is directed to the deadlines in the Academic Schedule (§11) regarding application for Bachelor of Commerce degrees to be awarded at Spring and Fall Convocations.

(7) Reexaminations:

a. An undergraduate student in the Faculty of Business may be permitted a reexamination provided:

1) The student's overall GPA for the session is 5.0 or greater and otherwise has a satisfactory academic standing.

2) The weight of the final examination is 40% or higher.

3) Positive recommendation from the instructor based on a) consultation with the student; b) review of the student's total performance in the course; c) discussion as to why the student's performance on the final was poor.

b. If a reexamination is approved the following policies apply:

1) The reexamination mark replaces the original examination mark in determining the final grade in the course.

2) Students are permitted only one reexamination during their program.

c. Students requesting a reexamination must follow the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of this Calendar.

52.5 Transfer of Credit

BCom students who do not hold a prior university degree must normally (a) successfully complete at least 60 units of course weight in University of Alberta courses during the latter half of the program, and (b) be registered as a student in the Faculty of Business while taking these courses. The above minimum of 60 units of course weight could be reduced to 45 for students who do hold a prior university degree.

52.6 Course Load Requirements

Each BCom student normally must, at sometime during the program, be registered as a full-time student during at least two terms (not necessarily consecutive) of the regular academic year.

30 units of course weight is the normal course load for undergraduate students during the Winter Session. Students considering a heavier load are encouraged to consult with the Undergraduate Student Records Office before making a final decision.

Students who plan to do a significant portion of the degree on a part-time basis are advised to consult with the Undergraduate Student Records Office concerning the difficulties they may encounter. The University and the Faculty are unable to assure that courses will be available during terms and at times that are convenient for students with full-time employment. In particular, resource constraints prevent the University from offering large numbers of evening classes.

52.7 Time Limit on Completion of Program

Each BCom student normally must complete all degree requirements within eight years, beginning with the year original admission to the program was granted.

52.8 Appeals and Grievances

There are two major areas in which appeals may be made in the Faculty of Business. They are appeals concerning:

(1) academic matters (eg. promotion, requirements to withdraw, graduation); and

(2) course grades.

Policies and procedures may differ according to the reason for appeal. The formal policies of the Faculty in these areas are available from the Undergraduate Office, 2-20 Business Building. Students should consult these policies and procedures.

52.9 Student Advising

The administrative details associated with students' programs are handled by (a) the Undergraduate Student Records Office for undergraduates, (b) the MBA/MPM Office for masters students, and (c) the PhD Office for doctoral students. These offices maintain records of their students' course registrations, course marks, and status within the program. Students should consult the appropriate office regarding all questions about the program regulations and administration, e.g., admissions, course enrollment, and degree requirements.

All academic members of the Faculty are available to students in all programs for consultation relating to areas of study and career planning.

52.10 Credit by Special Assessment

The Credit by Special Assessment procedure is available for a limited number of courses taught by the Faculty. In all cases the assessment will be by written examination. Further details may be obtained from the Undergraduate Student Records Office. See also §13.9.5 of this Calendar.

53 Programs of Study

53.1 Degree of Bachelor of Commerce

53.1.1 Detailed Requirements

Students who were admitted to the BCom program prior to 1987 will have to contact the Student Records Office for program counselling. Students admitted September 1987 and later should consult the program requirements that follow. The four-year BCom degree requires 120 units of course weight. Courses typically involve three lecture hours per week; some courses have additional time scheduled for laboratories or seminars. Required subjects total 69 units of course weight, as listed below. The remaining 51 units of course weight are taken in elective subjects selected from the areas indicated below.

Required Courses

	Units of Course Weight
ACCTG 311, 322 and 334	9
BUS 301, 379	6
CMPUT 157 (see note (2) below)	3
ECON 101 and 102	6
ENGL 110 (see note (1) below)	6
FIN 301	3
IND R 301	3
LEG R 301	3
MGTSC 301, 312, and 352	9
MANEC 301, and 379	6
MATH 113 or 114, 120	6
	(see note (3) below)
MARK 301	3
ORG T 301 and 311	6

The following courses are formally recognized as substitutes for the corresponding courses listed above:

ECON 383 for MANEC 301
ECON 282 for MANEC 402
CMPUT 114 or 251 for CMPUT 157.

Other courses may be recognized as substitutes on a case by case basis; contact the Student Records Office for this purpose.

Degree credit will not be granted for both a course and its substitute as indicated above. Further, degree credit will not be granted for a pair of courses where prohibited in the calendar description of either of them.

Credit towards the BCom degree will not be granted to a student transferring from the BCom into another degree program for any course taken after transfer and credited to the other degree's requirements.

Electives

	Units of Course Weight
Humanities and/or Social Sciences	6
Natural Sciences (a minimum of 3 units of course weight with laboratory)	6
Humanities, Social Sciences, Natural Sciences, Mathematics, and/or Computing Sciences, in any combination	12
Unrestricted (No more than 21 units of course weight in the above four groups of electives may be at the100-level.)	15
Business subjects (No more than 24 units of course weight in Business plus Economics electives may be credited to the program.)	12

Notes:

(1) The English requirement must be completed during the first two years of the program.

(2) Students with an interest in computers are encouraged to seek advice from the Student Records Office.

(3) Students who have completed Mathematics 31 are advised to register in MATH 114. Students with an interest in Mathematics are encouraged to take MATH 115 and/or MATH 121 as junior electives.

(4) Students intending to meet the requirements of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Alberta (CA) should take a minimum of ACCTG 414, 416, 418, 424, 426, and MANEC 466. Other provinces may have different requirements. Students should contact the provincial institute to determine other professional requirements.

(5) Students intending to meet the requirements of the Society of Management Accountants of Alberta (CMA), should take the following courses: ACCTG 414, 418, 424, 426, 456 and MANEC 466. Students should contact the Society to determine other professional requirements.

(6) Students wanting to choose elective courses which satisfy the educational requirements of other professional organizations are encouraged to obtain advice and suggestions directly from the organization(s) of interest.

(7) The following courses are not eligible for credit as required or elective courses, within the Bachelor of Commerce degree: ECON 281, POL S 316, 317; SOC 210; STAT 141, 155, 235, 236, 237, 255; PSYCO 211. Students may take either or both of MANEC 466 and ECON 353, but credit will be granted for one only.

53.1.2 Suggested Course Sequence

The normal sequence of courses within the program is listed below and is indicated in the following flow diagram.

First year: CMPUT 157, ECON 101/102; ENGL 110; MATH 113 or 114; MATH 120, six units of course weight of Natural Sciences (see Classification of Electives, below), and three units of course weight in any area of study other than Business.

Second Year: ACCTG 311/322; BUS 301; MGTSC 301/312, and 15 units of course weight of electives other than Business. (See note about LEG R 301 in the statement of Third Year courses.)

Third Year: ACCTG 334; FIN 301; IND R 301; LEG R 301; MANEC 301; MARK 301; MGTSC 352; ORG T 301/311, and three units of course weight of elective.

At the student's option, LEG R 301 may be moved to the Second Year of the program in exchange for three units of course weight of elective.

Fourth Year: BUS 379, MANEC 379, and 24 units of course weight of electives as required by the elective subject area restrictions.

53.1.3 Classification of Electives

(1) Natural Sciences: These electives are to be chosen from the following: ASTRO 110; BIOL 100; BOT 199, CHEM 100, 104, 160; ENT 120; GENET 165, 197; GEOL 102, 103, 201; MICRB 193; PHYS 105, 141; ZOOL 120; and all higher-level Science courses which cite one of these as a prerequisite.

(2) Humanities and/or Social Sciences: Courses from the following departments: Anthropology; All language courses; Canadian Studies; Christian Theology; Classics; Comparative Literature; Economics; English; Geography (except GEOG 130); History; Philosophy; Political Science; Psychology; Religious Studies; Romance Languages; and Sociology.

(3) Humanities and/or Social Sciences and/or Natural Sciences and/or Math and/or Computing Sciences: Courses listed under (1) and (2) above, plus those offered by the departments of Mathematics and Computing Science, other than core requirements.

(4) Unrestricted: Chosen from the following faculties: Agriculture and Forestry; Arts; Business; Home Economics; Education; Engineering; Native Studies; Physical Education and Recreation; Saint-Jean; and Science.

53.1.4 Flow Diagram of Prerequisite Relationships

The position of a course in the diagram reflects its relative position in the program. The course boxes in the diagram have been positioned to indicate when a course is likely to be taken. However, a course does not have to be taken in the particular term indicated. Rather, its relationship to preceding and ensuing courses, as indicated by the arrows, determines the time by which it has to be taken in order not to delay future required courses. However, most courses have a certain leeway in this respect. This leeway is indicated by the lines extending in both directions from the respective course box.

53.1.5 Engineering Options for Business Students

Recognizing the technological component of many modern businesses, the Faculty of Business has entered into an agreement with the Faculty of Engineering to permit some business students to take some engineering courses. The intent of the agreement is to permit a business student to gain some exposure to certain engineering topics or engineering disciplines. This can be accomplished through industrial stand-alone courses. Alternately, students may tailor a concentration of electives in a given technological area. Possible areas include: robotics, computers, land development, oil exploration, and manufacturing processes. Interested students should enquire at the Business Undergraduate Office and develop a program with the Engineering-Business Adviser.

53.2 Specialization Fields in Business

Students can specialize in any of the areas of Business mentioned below, or in other areas of study offered at the University by selecting their options accordingly. A description of the various areas of specialization follows.

53.2.1 Accounting

Description of the Field

Accounting is concerned with the provision, interpretation, and application of financial and other economic information essential to the efficient conduct and evaluation of an organization's activities. It includes a study of data processing and reporting methods, and of the many related measurement and conceptual problems such as how to assess and report the effects of inflation on the organization's earnings and financial status. The information provided by accounting is employed for:

(1) effective planning, control, and decision making by management; and

(2) discharging the accountability of organizations to investors, creditors, government agencies, taxing authorities, employees, consumers, and other users.

Because decisions made by various users are partly based on accounting information, accounting has to adapt to changing business and social needs. In order that the professional accountant be able to meet and/or initiate change, his or her education must therefore extend beyond a mastery of techniques and practices to include a study of their conceptual foundations, rationale, and limitations; and must include an examination of alternative accounting models.

Career Opportunities

Every organization needs to keep track of its financial operations and financial position, and has to make economic decisions. Graduates with an accounting concentration are therefore in demand by industrial and commercial enterprises, financial institutions, and government, as well as by firms of public accountants. An accounting specialization is recommended for students who want to become Chartered Accountants, Certified General Accountants or Certified Management Accountants.

53.2.2 Finance

Description of the Field

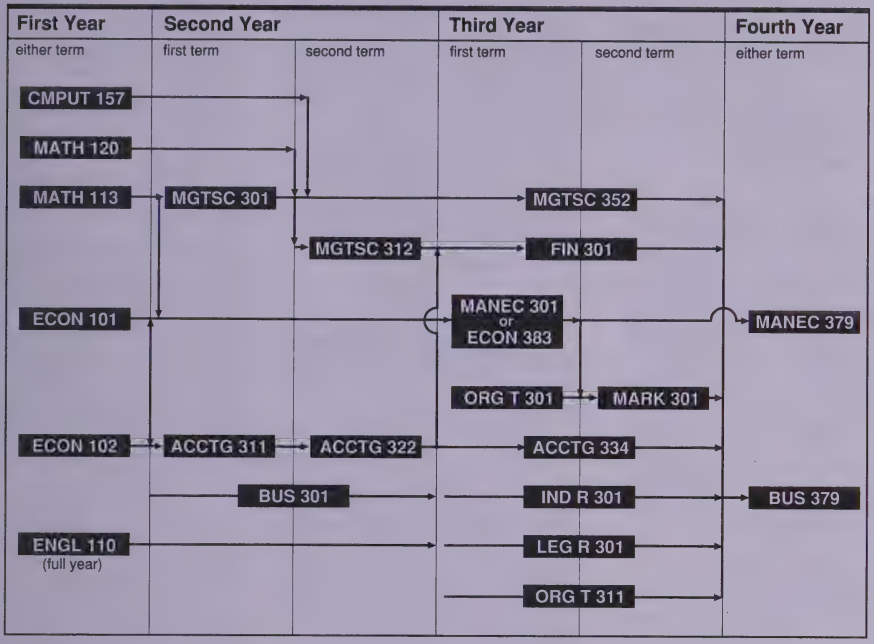
The finance program has three facets: (a) business finance, (b) the institutions of finance, and (c) financial topics of interest to individuals.

(1) Business finance includes the evaluation of the business firm's need for money, and the choice of how this money should be procured: through borrowing, sale of stocks, or other means.

(2) Financial institutions include stock and bond markets, brokers and investment banks, commercial banks and other lending institutions, and government agencies that participate in, or regulate, financial processes.

(3) Topics of interest to individuals include the evaluation and acquisition of common stocks and other investment opportunities. These topics are closely related, for personal and business financing are often two sides of the same coin, with the personal investor acting as a buyer for securities that are sold by a business.

BCom Program (for students admitted after 1986)



Electives

Note: No more than 21 units of course weight of junior electives will be credited to the program.
No more than 24 units of course weight of electives in Business plus Economics will be credited to the program.

Career Opportunities

Corporations and government enterprises employ many finance specialists in finance, controllership, investment analysis, and general management positions. Banks, insurance companies, government financial regulatory agencies, and other organizations specializing in financial affairs hire finance specialists both in specialized staff positions and as part of their regular management.

Instruction in finance provides valuable insights and information for students who plan to enter business for themselves. The problems of obtaining financing and evaluating investment opportunities are frequently critical to the survival and success of the entrepreneurial venture.

53.2.3 Industrial Relations and Human Resources Management

Description of the Field

Studies in industrial relations and human resources management focus on the relations between employees and employers, and on the methods used for determining conditions of work, including collective bargaining and techniques for resolving employer-employee disputes. This study prepares graduates for government or industry positions such as manpower recruitment, selection and placement; administration of wage and salary programs; collective agreement negotiations; collective agreement administration; and labor-management relations research.

Career Opportunities

Employment opportunities in the industrial relations field for those with a Bachelor of Commerce degree exist in business enterprises (both large and small), institutions (such as hospitals, schools, etc.) as well as in federal, provincial and municipal government. Most graduates start in the personnel area and become responsible for the recruiting, hiring, and training of personnel. After several years experience, graduates often move into the labor relations area where they assume the responsibilities of negotiating with trade unions and handling the grievances that arise out of the administration of the union agreement.

53.2.4 Legal Relations

Description of the Field

Studies in legal relations focus on the role of law as it relates to business transactions. This is a new and developing area of studies in the Faculty and was created in response to the ever increasing involvement of public policy and regulatory agencies in business. Students are introduced to the Canadian legal system as well as selected topics from the fields of contract and tort. Those considering a career in business will analyze the major types of legal contracts encountered in daily life. The legal relations courses also deal with the law of business organizations, the legal regulations of business, and commercial transactions.

Career Opportunities

Legal relations courses broaden the legal knowledge of the Faculty's graduates and may be a stepping stone on the way to a career in law.

53.2.5 Management Science

Description of the Field

The Management Science curriculum in our Faculty is composed of three major areas: Operations Research, Statistics, and Computing and Data Processing. The focus in Management Science is upon the application of quantitative techniques to problems of decision-making and resource allocation in business, industry, and government. The problems may involve one or more of the collection, analysis, processing, and management of data or the modelling and simulation of a system for the purpose of optimization. Many of the techniques developed are frequently used in the other functional areas such as finance, business economics, marketing, accounting, and organizational theory.

Career Opportunities

Opportunities are found in such areas as forecasting, inventory management, sales promotion analysis, new product evaluation and introduction, profitability and price analysis, work force turnover analysis, financial budgeting/forecasting, product quality measurement, production planning and scheduling, and plant/facility location analysis. Specialization in management science is also useful for undergraduates whose primary specialization is in other areas such as finance, business economics, and marketing.

53.2.6 Managerial Economics

Description of the Field

Economics is the study of the allocation of scarce resources. Managerial economics focuses on the allocation of scarce resources within the business community. There are two areas of study. The first area of study concentrates on how the business manager can apply economic theory to the operation of the business in all of its functional dimensions, including finance, marketing, industrial relations, and production. The second area of study is concerned with an analysis of the relationships between the business and the economy in general. The roles of economic growth, unemployment, and inflation are examined in terms of how they affect business decision-making.

Career Opportunities

Graduates who specialize in managerial economics have job opportunities in a wide number of positions which require a good understanding of the interface between the business firm and the rest of the economy. Business organizations and government require managerial economists in forecasting and planning departments. Opportunities are also found in private consulting firms.

53.2.7 Marketing

Description of the Field

Marketing is one of the most broadly based areas in the study of business administration. Among those fields which are important to the study of marketing are anthropology, economics, geography, law, mathematics and statistics, psychology and social psychology, and sociology. Further, a marketing student must be keenly aware of the cultural and historical environments in which decisions are made.

Career Opportunities

Graduates who specialize in marketing find opportunities in both the private and public sectors. New and exciting opportunities have recently become available as governments and non-profit organizations use marketing principles in marketing their goods and services. Traditional employment opportunities are also open in staff and operational functions.

Specialization in marketing research and quantitative analysis leads to staff positions in private and public organizations. Operating positions in marketing strategy and development are frequently found as well as those in advertising and promotion management, physical distribution and logistics management, product development, and pricing analysis.

53.2.8 Organizational Theory and Behavior

Description of the Field

Organizational Theory and Behavior is concerned with the management of complex organizations. Organizations to which the field is relevant include government agencies, non-profit organizations such as hospitals, large business firms, and small privately owned businesses. Topics covered include the strategic positioning of organizations in terms of their context, the design and impact of planning and human resource management systems, alternative structures of authority and responsibility, the role of leadership and supervision and their effects upon motivation and human performance, communications, group dynamics, the nature of power, politics and conflict within the work place, and the ethical premises of contemporary approaches to management.

As a consequence of studying this field, a student can expect to understand why organizations and individuals in them function as they do, and what can be done to improve their effectiveness.

Career Opportunities

Organizational theory and behavior prepares the students for positions in management, personnel and industrial relations, consulting, and a variety of staff assignments in private industry and government service.

54 Details of Courses

54.1 General Information

All courses taught by the Faculty of Business are listed and briefly described below. However, any course offered within the University (except those listed in §53.1.1(7)) may be counted as an elective within the BCom program.

Each course is designated by its abbreviation and number. Courses numbered 100 through 199 are junior courses, normally taken by first-year undergraduates. Those numbered 200 through 499 are senior courses. All Business courses required by the BCom program carry 300-level numbers; all Business electives carry 400-level numbers.

Following the title of the course is the symbol ★ standing for "units of course weight", and a number indicating the weight of the course as used in computing grade-point averages. The next three figures, enclosed in parentheses, indicate the hours of instruction required by the course in a week. The format is as follows: the first position indicates lecture hours; the second position indicates seminar hours (s), demonstration (d), clinic (c) or lecture-lab (L); and the third position indicates laboratory hours.

Normally, a full-year course represents six units of course weight and a half-year course three units of course weight, with or without laboratory hours as indicated. If the course is a single-term course, the term in which it is usually offered is mentioned before the hours of instruction.

The appearance of a course description in the following list does not constitute any guarantee that the course will be offered in the forthcoming session. It is not intended that all courses shall be offered each year. Enrollment in all courses, except ACCT 300 and LEG R 301, is restricted to students registered in the Faculty of Business, or to students registered in specified programs that require Business courses to meet degree requirements and who have obtained prior approval of their Faculty. Furthermore, a number of changes usually occur after the preparation of the Calendar. Information as to which courses will be offered, the names of the instructors, and all further details must be sought from the Undergraduate Student Records Office.

The following table lists the old and the new (effective 1987) numbers of the undergraduate courses taught by the Faculty of Business.

Physical Requirements for University Courses

The University has a commitment to the educati of all academically qualified students and special se ices are frequently provided on campus to assist dis bled students.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoidable demands on students with respect to the possession of a certain level of physical skill or ability if the academic objectives of the course are to be realized. In case of doubt, students are advised to contact the Department concerned and the Disabled Student Services Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all off-campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse registration in such courses.

54.2 Accounting

ACCTG 300 Financial Accounting
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Accounting and reporting to persons outside of the organization. Note: Not open to students registered in the Faculty of Business.

ACCTG 311 Introductory Accounting
★3 (either term, 3-1.5s-0). Postulates, principles, the accounting cycle, capital and income measurement, financial statement preparation and analysis; emphasis on reporting to shareholders, creditors and other external decision-makers. Prerequisite: ECON 101, 102.

ACCTG 322 Managerial Information and Control Systems
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Corporate goals, planning and control concepts, cost accumulation for pricing purposes, and product costing. Prerequisite: ACCTG 311.

ACCTG 334 Accounting Information Systems
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Introduction to total information systems with emphasis on the role of accounting, using both conceptual reviews and case material pertaining to decision-making by owners, creditors, and managers. Prerequisite: ACCTG 322.

ACCTG 414 Intermediate Financial Accounting
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). An in-depth treatment of the theory and methods of the GAAP (Generally Accepted Accounting Principles) model of Accounting, and an evaluation of its strengths and weaknesses. Comparative reference to alternative Accounting models will be made on a selective basis. Prerequisite: ACCTG 311, ACCTG 322, MANEC 301.

ACCTG 416 Accounting Theory
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). An examination of the structure of accounting theory, including a thorough study of theories of income and value relevant to accounting. A framework for evaluating these theories, including the theories supporting generally accepted accounting principles, is considered. Other current topics in financial accounting may be included from time to time. Prerequisite: ACCTG 414, FIN 301. Open only to fourth-year Business students, or by consent of the Department Chair.

ACCTG 418 Advanced Financial Accounting
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Analysis of complex accounting problems with emphasis on current issues in accounting practice. Prerequisite: ACCTG 416. Open only to fourth year Business students or by consent of the Department Chair.

ACCTG 424 Intermediate Managerial Control Concepts
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Accounting for managerial decision-making. Emphasis on cost and revenue accumulation for control and pricing problems as well as on product costing. Prerequisite: ACCTG 322, MGTSC 352, ORG T 301, ORG T 311.

ACCTG 426 Advanced Managerial Control Concepts
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Current research and cases in managerial accounting. Prerequisite: ACCTG 424. Open only to fourth year Business students or by consent of the Department Chair.

ACCTG 436 Advanced Accounting Information Systems
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Managerial decision-making with stress on the role of accounting measurements. Emphasis on the use of the computer in processing data. Prerequisite: ACCTG 334.

ACCTG 456 Auditing History, Theory, and Current Thought
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Internal and external auditing history and philosophy. Functional or operational auditing, the nature of evidence, ethics, and independence. Prerequisite: ACCTG 414.

ACCTG 468 Corporate Taxation
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A study of the major tax concepts and ideas in the taxation of corporations, corporate distributions and transactions between corporations and their shareholders. Prerequisite: MANEC 466 or ECON 453.

ACCTG 494 Individual Research Projects
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for advanced undergraduates. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor and Associate Dean. (When a student registers in this course for a second or third time subsequent higher course numbers are to be used: ACCTG 495, 496.)

54.3 Business

BUS 301 Introduction to Canadian Business
★3 (either term, 1.5-1.5s-0). This is an interdisciplinary course which addresses in an integrative manner the basic characteristics of the Canadian business system, takes a management and decision-making perspective and examines how these fit into and contribute to Canadian society. Within this context, reasons for studying the basic disciplines in business will be examined, as will theories of choice, behavioral theories, institutional arrangements and other aspects of business. (Not open to first year students).

BUS 379 Business Policy
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Case studies in business policy. Prerequisite: FIN 301, IND R 301, MGTSC 352, MARK 301, and ORG T 311.

BUS 424 Administration of the Small Business
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Issues related to the small business. Prerequisite: FIN 301.

54.4 Finance

FIN 301 Business Finance
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Introduction to financial decision-making. Prerequisite: ACCTG 322, MGTSC 312, CMPUT 157.

FIN 412 Investment Principles: Security Analysis
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Theories of investment with special reference to types of securities, prices, and market operation. Analytical techniques in the selection of securities. Prerequisite: FIN 301.

FIN 413 Risk Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). This course examines the markets and valuation models for options and future contracts, and their application to hedging and the valuation of the other financial contracts. Prerequisite: FIN 412.

FIN 414 Securities Markets and Investment Banking
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). This course covers the organization and operation of primary and secondary securities markets. It deals with such topics as alternative methods of placing new issues, the role of investment dealers in pricing new issues, underwriting and brokerage compensation, a comparison of auction versus negotiated secondary markets, and the economics of money management. Prerequisite: FIN 301.

FIN 416 Advanced Portfolio Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Recent developments in capital markets theory, empirical studies and the implications for theoretical developments for investment planning and evaluation of investment performance. Prerequisite: FIN 412.

FIN 422 Capital Investment
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Capital budgeting and the determination of the cost of capital to the firm. Prerequisite: FIN 301.

FIN 434 Advanced Corporate Finance
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). This course covers advanced topics in corporate finance such as capital structure, dividend policy, asset selection, agency problems, mergers and acquisitions. Prerequisite: FIN 422.

FIN 442 International Financial Markets
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). An overview of the international financial environment and the financial function in the multi-national corporation. Its purpose is to provide decision-making skills in international money and capital markets. Prerequisite: FIN 301.

FIN 488 Selected Topics in Finance
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Prerequisite: FIN 301 and consent of Department Chair.

FIN 495 Individual Research Projects
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for advanced undergraduates. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor and Associate Dean. (When a student registers in this course for a second or third time, subsequent higher course numbers are to be used: FIN 496, 497.)

54.5 Industrial Relations

IND R 301 Industrial Relations in Canada
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A general introduction to studying employment relationships in unionized and non-unionized organizations and how they are affected by factors within the larger legal, socio-economic, and political environment.

IND R 402 Collective Bargaining
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A comprehensive study of collective bargaining including the theories of bargaining, negotiating techniques and the implications of collective bargaining for public policy. A simulation of contract negotiations is conducted. Prerequisite: IND R 301.

IND R 403 Administration of Agreements
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A detailed analysis of the day-to-day administration of collective agreements and grievance arbitration procedures and jurisprudence. Prerequisite: IND R 301.

IND R 422 Human Resource Planning
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). An introduction and examination of human resource planning (manpower planning) at the firm, industry, and economy levels, as well as relevant government policies. Prerequisite: ORG T 301 and IND R 301.

IND R 423 Staffing
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Philosophy and procedures in obtaining and maintaining an efficient work force with emphasis on the methods of initiating and carrying out an effective human resource management program. Includes recruitment, selection, training, and development of human resources. Prerequisite: ORG T 301 and IND R 301.

IND R 424 Compensation Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Focus on the development and administration of programs for job evaluation, wage surveys, wage and salary systems and administration, performance analysis and evaluation, employee services and fringe benefits. Prerequisite: ORG T 301 and IND R 301.

IND R 432 Labor Relations Law and Legislation
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). An examination of the legal framework within which collective bargaining takes place in Canada.

IND R 442 Comparative Industrial Relations Systems
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). This course examines the economic, political and social philosophy of the industrial relations systems of several countries in various stages of industrialization. Prerequisite: IND R 301.

IND R 495 Individual Research Projects
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for advanced undergraduates. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor and Associate Dean. (When a student registers in this course for a second or third time, subsequent higher course numbers are to be used: IND R 496, 497.)

54.6 Legal Relations

LEG R 301 Legal Foundations of the Canadian Economy
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A synoptic view of the Canadian legal system, with emphasis on underlying considerations of social policy. While considering the nature, sources, philosophy, and policy objectives of the law, selected topics from the fields of tort and contract will be analysed.

LEG R 402 Business Contracts
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). An examination of the special types of contracts that are encountered in business and commercial life. Topics include contract of sale, agency, negotiable instruments, insurance, bailment, employment contracts and contracts involving land as well as societal regulation of the freedom of contract. Prerequisite: LEG R 301.

LEG R 495 Individual Research Projects
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for advanced undergraduates. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor and Associate Dean. (When a student registers in this course for a second or third time, subsequent higher course numbers are to be used: LEG R 496, 497.)

54.7 Managerial Economics

MANEC 301 Micro-economics for Canadian Business Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Theories of choice as applied to consumer behavior and business decisions, production and price determination in alternative market forms; interrelatedness of firm decisions and of market outcomes; the impact of uncertainty. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102, MATH 113 or equivalent. Students may receive credit for only one of ECON 381, 383 or MANEC 301.

MANEC 379 Government and Business
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). This course analyzes public attitudes and institutional arrangements which affect the interfaces between government and business, as well as the interaction of private management and public planning in the Canadian environment. It also deals with the structure of the macroeconomic environment and its responses to changing conditions, as well as the impact of changes in the macroeconomic environment on forecasting and decision-making in particular industries and enterprises. Prerequisite: ECON 383 or MANEC 301.

MANEC 402 Aggregate Income Analysis
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The theoretical examination of the determinants of national income. Ways in which governments, consumers, and investors combine to determine income, employment growth, and stability. Prerequisite: ECON 101/102. Credit will not be given for both MANEC 402 and ECON 382.

MANEC 414 Competitive Strategy
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). An analysis of the ways in which firms develop competitive plans. An examination of the effect of trade regulation on the design of competitive plans. Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MANEC 424 The Energy Industry, Public Utilities, and Regulation
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A theoretical and empirical examination of the determinants of energy supply and demand. Problems in pricing and regulation of energy industries and public utilities are analyzed. Canadian Federal and Provincial policies are reviewed in depth. Prerequisite: MANEC 301.

MANEC 434 Canadian Business History
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The development of the Canadian business system. Special attention is given to the environmental and technological forces that gave shape to the growth of Canada and how these have influenced the character and organizational structure of business.

MANEC 444 International Business
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A course to acquaint students with the problems and opportunities arising when a firm operates in more than one country: the choice between operating abroad, export and licensing, the nature and causes of the emergence of new capital markets, international institutions facilitating export finance, commodity price stabilization programmes, the implications of commercial, tax and integration policy for business decisions, aspects of international management such as hedging of foreign exchange risk, transfer pricing and choice of optimal capital structure.

MANEC 445 Competitive Strategies in the International Business Environment
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). This course provides an understanding of the process of the design and implementation of competitive strategies by firms with either multi-country or global operations. Emphasis is placed on competitive strategy frameworks, changing patterns of international competition, levels of analysis of international competition, and formulation and implementation of international competitive strategies. The material is illustrated by means of special case studies of Canadian firms. Prerequisite: Manec 301

MANEC 454 Urban Land Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Economic characteristics of urban real estate markets; nature of urban land use; city growth and development; locational factors in determination of land use; types of interest in land; government regulations affecting land ownership. Prerequisite: MANEC 301.

MANEC 466 Taxation in Theory and Practice
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). An examination of the Canadian tax structure from economic, legal, and administrative points of view. BCom degree credit will not be granted for both MANEC 466 and ECON 353.

MANEC 484 Economic Problems
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Current economic problems in business.

MANEC 495 Individual Research Projects
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for advanced undergraduates. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor and Associate Dean. (When a student registers in this course for a second or third time, subsequent higher course numbers are to be used: MANEC 496, 497.)

54.8 Management Science

MGTSC 301 Probability and Statistics for Business, Part I
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Introduction to data anaylsis; probability; discrete and continuous random variables and probability distributions; expectation and variance; normal and binomial distributions; sampling; sampling distributions for means and proportions; quality control; confidence intervals and tests of hypotheses for means and proportions; Bayesian decision theory. Prerequisite: MATH 113 or 114.

MGTSC 312 Probability and Statistics for Business, Part II
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Statistical inference for the variance; statistical inference for the means, proportions and variances from two populations; analysis of variance; non-parametric statistics; joint probability distributions; marginal and conditional distributions; covariance, correlation and independence; contingency tables; simple linear regression, multiple linear regression, time series analysis. Prerequisite: MATH 120, MGTSC 301.

MGTSC 352 Operations Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A problem-solving course which introduces the student to deterministic and stochastic models which are useful for production planning and operations management in business and government. Prerequisite: MATH 120, MGTSC 301, CMPUT 157.

MGTSC 404 Decision Analysis
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Analysis of decision-making under uncertainty. This includes: single-person decision theory (Bayesian analysis); group decision theory, risk-sharing, and the theory of syndicates; and competitive game theory. The course seeks to develop a framework for rational behavior in the face of uncertainty. Prerequisite: MGTSC 301.

MGTSC 413 Multivariate Statistical Methods in Business
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Estimation techniques for statistical models relating large sets of variables. Models discussed may include multiple regression, multiple and partial correlation, anaylsis of variance, multivariate analysis of variance, canonical correlation, discriminant analysis, principal components, factor anaylsis, cluster analysis, multi-dimensional scaling, log linear and logit models, and multidimensional contingency tables. Prerequisite: MGTSC 312 or equivalent.

MGTSC 414 Statistical Models in Business
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Estimation techniques for various types of statistical models. Emphasis on application of techniques to examples from the functional areas of business. Models may include multiple regression, lagged models, models with autocorrelated errors, simultaneous equations, and time series models. Prerequisite: MGTSC 312.

MGTSC 422 Simulation and Computer Modelling Techniques in Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). This course will discuss computer modelling of management systems in such functional areas as accounting, finance, marketing and production; basic concepts of deterministic and probablistic (Monte Carlo) simulation; implementation using various computer languages; case studies. Microcomputer applications will be particularly emphasized. Prerequisite: CMPUT 157 and one course in Accounting (FIN 301 is also recommended).

MGTSC 424 Stochastic Systems
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A course in modelling and optimizing probabilistic time-varying systems such as airport operations, traffic flow, hospitals, production processes, and consumer purchasing behavior. The following topics are covered: Markov processes; qu ing models; dynamic programming; policy iteration inventory theory; simulation. Prerequisite: MATH MGTSC 301 and CMPUT 157.

MGTSC 426 Operations Management in the Priv and Public Sectors
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Management science and erations research models applied to real operating tems. This course will present case studies illustr all aspects of the application of quantitative mode actual problems. Modelling the system and interpr the results will be stressed as opposed to develo solution techniques. Areas of application may incl marketing, finance, urban problems, health care deliv scheduling, inventory and routing. Prerequisite: MG 352.

MGTSC 427 Topics in Mathematical Programmin
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A course in mathematical gramming topics which may include problems of optimization, the decomposition principle, int programming, optimal search techniques, quadratic gramming, general non-linear programming, dyn programming and network programming. Prerequi MGTSC 352.

MGTSC 433 Business Data Processing
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The detailed study of busi data and file structures; mainframe programmin COBOL; on-line interactive data processing; datab management structures and languages; developme database systems on microcomputers; design and i agement of large database; case studies. Prerequi CMPUT 157 or equivalent. Students registered with Department of Computing Science are required to the consent of the Chair of the Department of Fina and Management Science.

MGTSC 454 Production Management
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). A systems oriented view o production management field. Analytical tools avail to the production manager and their relationship t performance of the total system. Topics may inc statistical control, scheduling, assembly line balan simulation, inventory, work measurement, forecas location and aggregate planning. Prerequisite: MG 352.

MGTSC 488 Selected Topics in Management Science
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Prerequisite: Consent o Department Chair.

MGTSC 495 Individual Research Projects
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for adva undergraduates. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor Associate Dean. (When a student registers in this co for a second or third time, subsequent higher co numbers are to be used: MGTSC 496, 497.)

54.9 Marketing

MARK 301 Fundamentals of Marketing
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The marketing concept, m segmentation and measurement, buyer behavior, keting planning and budgeting, strategic and tac decisions concerning elements of the marketing Prerequisite: MANEC 301 and ORG T 301. Open or third and fourth year Business students.

MARK 412 Marketing Research
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Nature and significanc marketing research. Marketing research methods vestigation and analysis of specific research probl Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 415 Quantitative Techniques in Marketing Analysis
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Mathematical concepts techniques that can be used in the analysis and sol of marketing management problems. Prerequisite: M 412.

MARK 422 Consumer Behavior
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). The study of the factors af ing the consumer decision process. Analysis of cons behavior models and their application to marketing sion-making, with an emphasis on empirical rese Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 432 Communication Processes in Market
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Basic concepts and functio advertising and communication in the economy; cons motivation; measurement of communication effectiver Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 442 Seminar in International Marketing
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Analysis of problems of national marketing; development of marketing strat in light of world cultural, economic, geographic, and political factors. Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 452 Marketing Decision Simulation
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Marketing decision-making in a ynamic simulated environment. Emphasis on a compu- erized marketing decision game, plus readings in the terature. Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 462 Channel Management
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Marketing organization at the etail and wholesale levels of the marketing channel. pecialization and integration of marketing organization; mphasis on systems analysis. Problems in physical istribution and transportation. Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 468 Retail Management
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Planning and managing enter- rises. Topics include: location theory; competition analysis; ricing, promotion, and merchandising strategies; busi- ess design; buying/supplier policies;and consumer be- avior. Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 474 Industrial Marketing Strategy
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Nature and importance of industrial narketing strategy; analysis of industrial marketing roblems; cases will be used to explore selected dimensions f industrial marketing in depth. Prerequisite: Any two of MARK 412, 422, 432, or 462. Credit will not be given for oth MARK 474 and MARK 475.

MARK 475 Marketing Management
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Advanced marketing strategy nd planning in consumer marketing organizations. Pre- equisite: MARK 301.

MARK 488 Marketing Policies and Problems
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special topics in marketing, to e announced in advance by the instructor. Prerequisite: MARK 301.

MARK 495 Individual Research Projects
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for advanced ndergraduates. Prerequisite: MARK 412 or equivalent, onsent of instructor, and Associate Dean. (When a tudent registers in this course for a second or third, ubsequent higher course numbers are to be used: MARK 496, 497.)

54.10 Organization Theory

ORG T 301 Behavior in Organizations
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Examines the sociological and sychological bases of individual behavior in organizations. opics of individual psychology examined will include ognition, perception, attitude formation and change, ersonality structure and change, and motivation. The ourse will also investigate the behavior of individuals in roups and organizations. In this context various aspects f group dynamics such as leadership, communication, nterpersonal sensitivity, morale and satisfaction, and he formation and attainment of individual and group oals will be discussed.

ORG T 311 Theory of Formal Organizations
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). An examination of the structural nd functional imperatives of formal organizations. For- nation, structure, and change in complex organizations ncluding bureaucratic, matrix, and process-oriented types f organizational designs. Power, authority, and legiti- nacy variables are examined using anthropological and ociological methodological constructs.

ORG T 402 Seminar in Advanced Theories of Behavior in Organizations
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). The same general areas will be overed as in ORG T 301. However, the coverage will e in-depth and the seminar format will be utilized in rder to develop a maximal interchange of ideas between nstructor and student. Prerequisite: ORG T 301.

ORG T 412 Seminar in Advanced Concepts of Formal Organization Theory
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). An analysis of the philosophical nd empirical bases of organization theory. The implica- ons of bureaucratic dysfunctions, structural modifica- ons, scientific management concepts and industrial umanism. Critical issues in adapting traditional organi- ation structures to technological and societal changes ill be explored. Prerequisite: ORG T 311.

ORG T 432 Sex Roles in Organizations
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). The factors affecting differences etween males and females in opportunities and per- ormance in managerial positions in organizations. Pre- equisite: ORG T 301 and 311 or consent of the instructor.

ORG T 495 Individual Research Projects
•3 (either term, 3-0-0). Special study for advanced ndergraduates. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor and ssociate Dean. (When a student registers in this course or a second or third time, subsequent higher course umbers are to be used: ORG T 496, 497.)

61.2 Faculty Objectives

(1) To provide an academic and intellectual milieu in a University setting that facilitates all aspects of education and research in dentistry and allied health and scientific fields by:

a. attracting, selecting, and motivating the most qualified academic and non-academic staff;

b. creating a University environment that emphasizes the quality of life for staff and students.

(2) To contribute to the advancement of knowledge in dentistry and allied fields by doing research, publishing research papers, and communicating and interacting with:

a. other health sciences and other disciplines of the University in order to promote comprehensive health care;

b. the dental profession, dental auxiliaries, auxiliary-training programs, and the community in order to promote oral health;

c. basic and clinical science organizations and granting agencies in order to promote disciplinary and inter-disciplinary research.

(3) To graduate competent undergraduate dentistry students and dental hygienists, and graduate and post-graduate students by:

a. attracting, selecting, and then motivating the most suitable and well-qualified students who have the ability to acquire the education and training for a professional and/or academic career;

b. maintaining an undergraduate dentistry curriculum that integrates basic medical and dental sciences, behavior and social sciences, dental clinical sciences, community and preventive dentistry, hospital dentistry, and practice management; and incorporates recent concepts, materials, techniques, advances, and research in all areas; and reflects the existing and projected provincial, national, and international oral health needs;

c. maintaining a dental hygiene curriculum that produces a student who will complement the present and future dental-care-delivery system;

d. maintaining an educational program that allows for the smooth transition from graduation to practice and which ensures that the student is competent to practise in an efficient and responsible manner;

e. graduating students who are competent to assume a role of leadership and service in their profession and community.

(4) To provide the opportunity and stimulus for continued learning through post-graduate, graduate, research, and continuing education programs.

(5) To provide efficient and quality dental treatment for the community that emphasizes and recognizes the needs of the patient.

61.3 General Information

61.3.1 BSc Degree

Students registered in the DDS Program may apply for the BSc degree after successful completion of the first two years of the dental program.

61.3.2 DDS Degree

Dental education was instituted at The University of Alberta in 1917 in the School of Dentistry under the Faculty of Medicine. The first full degree program was offered in 1923, and the first class graduated in 1927. The School became the Faculty of Dentistry in 1944. Dental Auxiliary training was instituted in 1961. In 1962 the School of Dental Hygiene came into being and offered both the Dental Auxiliary and Dental Hygiene programs. A program of graduate studies was formally approved in 1962.

The following academic structure was approved in 1980 and modified slightly in 1982:

Department of Dental Health Care
Division of Community Dentistry
Division of Dental Hygiene
Division of General Practice

Department of Oral Biology
Division of Anatomy
Division of Biochemistry
Division of Pathology
Division of Physiology

Department of Restorative Dentistry
Division of Biomaterials
Division of Endodontics
Division of Fixed Prosthodontics
Division of Operative Dentistry
Division of Removable Prosthodontics

Department of Stomatology
Division of Diagnosis
Division of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgery and Hospital Dentistry
Division of Orthodontics
Division of Pediatric Dentistry
Division of Periodontics
Division of Radiology

Curriculum

The Faculty of Dentistry offers a four-year program of study leading to the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery (DDS), following satisfactory completion (after senior matriculation) of at least two pre-professional years of university education. The pre-professional years provide the necessary background in inorganic chemistry, organic chemistry, biology, physics, the humanities, and social sciences.

In the dental curriculum, lecture and laboratory instruction in such fundamental subjects as Anatomy, Bacteriology, General Pathology, and Medicine, are offered by the respective departments of other faculties. The lectures, laboratories, seminars, and clinics offered by the Faculty of Dentistry relate and integrate these fundamental disciplines with the knowledge, skills, judgement, and performance required of the dental practitioner.

In addition to bedside and operating instruction in medicine and surgery, the senior students are assigned to the Dental Department and the Department of General Anaesthesia at the University Hospital. An experience in the General Practice Clinic, the Satellite Dental Clinic, and the Geriatric Youville Hospital is a requirement in the final year of the program. Thus students are afforded an opportunity to relate their field of health service to the science and art of preventing, curing, or alleviating disease in general.

Information on programs of graduate study and continuing education offered by the Faculty will be found in §§63.2, 63.4, and 63.5.

Library

The Medical Sciences reading room of the John W. Scott Health Sciences Library contains a comprehensive selection of reference materials and textbooks on dentistry and related subjects. In addition, it contains most current dental journals in English and other languages, and the Index to Dental Periodical Literature, an index to all dental periodicals since 1839.

61.3.3 MSc and PhD Degrees

(1) The Faculty of Dentistry has research laboratories and instructional facilities for a limited number of graduate students proceeding to the Master of Science degree; it also offers programs leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

(2) Dental graduates may undertake graduate programs in either oral biology or clinical science. Students without dental qualifications, holding a BSc degree in biological or physical science, are eligible for graduate study; however, science students accepted into the PhD program will normally hold the equivalent of a 4 year (Honors) BSc degree.

(3) The research interests of the staff include: Anatomy: human growth and development, embryonic induction of dental tissues and organs. Biochemistry: structure, crosslinking of collagen, connective tissue research and calcification. Oral Pathology: immunology and oral tumors. Physiology: neuromuscular function. Public Health and Community Dentistry: health care, delivery systems, administration of public health programs. Clinical Dentistry: studies in diagnosis and clinical trials. Biomaterials: fluoride, physical properties of dentine, evaluations of dental materials.

(4) Fellowships and Assistantships are available. Applications can be submitted to the Director, Division of Graduate Studies and Research.

(5) More detailed information can be obtained from the Director, Division of Graduate Studies and Research.

61.3.4 Dental Hygiene Diploma

The Faculty of Dentistry offers a Diploma in Dental Hygiene. The objective of the Dental Hygiene Program of Study is to facilitate the student's acquisition of knowledge and development of skills and attitudes so that they will be able to assume positions of responsibility in private dental practice or community health care settings.

The dental hygienist is an integral member of the health care team who strives to improve oral health by providing preventive and educational services to the public. Clinical dental hygiene services may include assessing patients' health status, inspecting hard and soft tissues of the oral cavity, removing deposits and stain from teeth, exposing and developing dental radiographs, applying topical fluorides, taking impressions to study models and polishing amalgam restorations. Educational and management services for individuals and groups may include nutritional and oral hygiene counseling and community dental health program planning, implementation and evaluation.

The Dental Hygiene curriculum includes courses from the Faculties of Arts and Medicine. Dental Science faculty from other clinical and basic science departments provide lectures and instructional assistance in clinic and classroom. During second year students participate in field experiences in a variety of community settings such as hospitals, schools, and facilities for the handicapped, chronically ill, and aged. An experience in the Satellite Dental Clinic is a requirement.

The Dental Hygiene Program is approved by the Councils of Dental Education of the Canadian Dental Association and of the American Dental Association. Successful students in the Dental Hygiene Program are encouraged to write the National Board Dental Hygiene Examinations of the American Dental Association.

Further details may be obtained from the Chairman, Division of Dental Hygiene, Faculty of Dentistry.

61.3.5 MSc Degree and Certificate in Orthodontics

The Faculty of Dentistry offers a postgraduate program designed to prepare dental graduates for specialty certification in orthodontics. Further details may be obtained from the Director, Graduate Studies and Research, Faculty of Dentistry.

61.4 Registration and Licensing

61.4.1 DDS Degree

The Faculty of Dentistry of the University of Alberta is approved by the Canadian Dental Association and the American Dental Association.

Graduates in dentistry from the University of Alberta may register in the Province of Alberta upon payment of a licensing fee without further examination.

Regulations regarding the practise of dentistry in any of the other provinces in Canada may be obtained by writing to the Dental Registrar of that province:

62 Faculty Regulations

62.1 Admission

62.1.1 DDS Degree

(1) Academic requirement. The basic requirement for admission to the Faculty of Dentistry is the satisfactory completion (after senior matriculation) of at least two full years (i.e. 60 units of course weight) of university work (30 of these units of course weight must be taken during one Winter Session), including six units of course weight in university courses in organic chemistry, inorganic chemistry, physics, and biology. Students completing these pre-professional requirements at the University of Alberta must include in their programs the following:

a. CHEM 100, 104 or 204

b. CHEM 160 or 260

c. Two of BIOL 100, GENET 197, MICRB 193, or ZOOL 120

d. PHYS 105 and 106 or PHYS 141 and 143

e. Six units of course weight in English (ENGL 101 or equivalent).

The requirement can be met in various patterns in different faculties. Students are urged to take the program that they find most interesting, and that will still give them these prerequisites. For information, the Registrar should be consulted. Applicants having sequential high school background courses in English, Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, and Physics will best be prepared to succeed in the two-year predental program.

(2) Dental Aptitude Test: Each applicant will be required to take the Canadian Dental Association Aptitude Test. The dental aptitude test is an important component in the selection process. If the test is taken more than once the better set of scores will be used. It is up to each applicant to decide whether or not the test should be re-taken. Information and application forms are available from the Admissions Office, Faculty of Dentistry.

(3) Personal Interview: Although scholarship is a prime criterion, admission cannot be guaranteed on the basis of academic standing alone. Before acceptance, an applicant will be interviewed by a team to determine if he/she possesses the personal qualities necessary for the profession. The interview is designed to evaluate an applicant's degree of maturity and motivation, initiative, ability to communicate, and personal qualities and interests. Candidates will be advised of the interview dates. An interview in subsequent years of application may not be required unless the student and/or Faculty requests same.

(4) Final Selection: Applicant profiles are made up of:

a. the cumulative academic average

b. an average of the grades of the applicable Science courses*

c. the dental aptitude test scores

d. the interview scores

*Applicable science courses are: Anatomy, Biochemistry, Biology, Chemistry, Genetics, Microbiology, Pharmacology, Physics, Physiology, Psychology, and Zoology.

Minimum criteria are established for each of the above factors. An applicant who falls below the minimum in any one of the factors will not be considered for admission.

For applicants who have completed four or more years of University, the cumulative (academic) average is calculated with the deletion of the lowest annual average, provided it is not the most recent year. Any applicable sciences taken during the deleted year are included in the calculation of the science average.

In order to be competitive, candidates should strive for an overall and applicable sciences GPA of 7.0 to 7.5 in the university studies. Students with an academic profile of less than 6.5 GPA in the overall and/or applicable sciences average will not be considered.

(5) Residence Requirements: A minimum of 5% foreign students and 10% non-Alberta Canadians may be accepted providing that no non-resident of Alberta is admitted who is less qualified than any Alberta resident who is denied admission. The remaining 85% may be reserved for Canadian citizens who are residents of Alberta or of the Northwest Territories or Yukon.

(6) Application Deadline: All candidates for admission to the first year of study in the Faculty of Dentistry are required to make application on or before February 1 of the year in which admission is sought. The earliest date for filing such applications is September 30 of the previous year.

(7) Limitation of Enrollment: Enrollment is limited to the number of students who can be accommodated.

(8) Deposit: Upon notification of acceptance successful applicants will be required to confirm their intention to register by submitting a non-refundable $50.00 deposit within a specified time. The deposit will be credited toward payment of tuition upon completion of registration.

(9) Changes in Registration: The last day for changes in registration will be that date designated in §11 of this Calendar.

(10) The Admissions Committee reserves the right to use its judgement with respect to individual cases. For example, in some instances, certain candidates such as applicants who have had extensive university education or have had extensive previous work experience in areas acceptable to the Admissions Committee may be given special consideration. Less weight may be given to the minimum criteria established for any one of the factors identified for admission. Applicants will normally be expected to have completed the prerequisite courses in chemistry, physics and biology or their equivalent, the Dental Aptitude Test and the interview.

(11) Applicants are reminded of the regulations set out in §13.1.2 of this Calendar. Admission will normally be refused to an applicant who has had to write what the Faculty considers an inordinate number of examinations in order to attain the nominal entrance requirements of the University.

(12) A dental examination is required of all accepted candidates.

(13) Hepatitis "B" Vaccine: It is strongly recommended that all applicants obtain a hepatitis "B" vaccine prior to entry.

(14) Candidates seeking any other advice with respect to matters related to admissions should contact the Admissions Officer, Faculty of Dentistry (492-2945).

(15) English Language Proficiency: English is the primary language of instruction in all faculties except Faculté Saint-Jean, where French is the primary language. Therefore, all applicants to undergraduate faculties other than Faculté Saint-Jean must possess an adequate knowledge of written and spoken English as a prerequisite to admission. For example, non-matriculated applicants and unclassified program students must comply with the requirement along with other applicants.

Applicants to Faculté Saint-Jean need not demonstrate proficiency in English prior to admission being granted. However, they must demonstrate proficiency in English before they may be granted a degree from this institution.

Regardless of country of origin or citizenship status, all applicants except for Faculté Saint-Jean will be required to demonstrate proficiency in the English language prior to admission. This demonstration may take any one of several forms:

a. Six full years of education in English in Canada or the equivalent in another country where English is the principal language. Such education must include the Alberta Grade 12, or equivalent level, and can be in a combination of secondary and post-secondary training.

b. Successful completion of the equivalent of six years of full-time instruction in a school/institution in Alberta in which the major language of instruction is other than English, but where the level of English proficiency required for graduation is equivalent to that in English language schools/institutions in Canada.

c. A grade of 80% or better on the diploma examination portion (only) of the Alberta English 30 course, or a grade of 6 or 7 on the International Baccalaureate Higher Level English course, or a grade of 5 on the Advanced Placement English (Language Composition: Literature and Composition) course.

d. Graduation from a degree program offered by an accredited university at which English is the primary language of instruction and in a country where English is the principal language.

e. A score of at least 580 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or a score of at least 90 on the Michigan English Language Assessment Battery (MELAB). The TOEFL results must include a score of at least 50 on each of the three components.

Note: Authority to hear petitions and to waive the requirement for undergraduate applicants to write the TOEFL resides with the Registrar acting on behalf of the faculties. Exemptions will be based on assessments of the applicants' English language proficiency as evidenced by a written petition and a personal interview. Please direct enquiries and petitions to the Associate Registrar, Admissions.

f. Test of Spoken English (TSE): All applicants who are required to submit the results of the TOEFL must also submit the results of the TSE with a minimum score of 200. For further information contact the Examinations and Timetabling Division of the Registrar's Office, Room 120, Administration Building, University of Alberta.

Further information is available from the Schedules Division, Office of the Registrar, Room 120, Administration Building. TOEFL application forms are available from the Student Access Centre, Office of the Registrar, Administration Building; or by writing directly to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, USA, 08540.

(16) Aboriginal Applicants: In addition to the regular quota positions, one additional position per year is available in the DDS program for a qualified student of Aboriginal ancestry, within the meaning of the Constitution Act of 1982, Section 35, Part 2. Applicants interested in this program are encouraged to contact the Admissions Officer, Faculty of Dentistry.

62.1.2 Postgraduate Training in Dentistry as Interns and Residents

Interns and residents in the Department of Dentistry in the University of Alberta Hospitals are registered as students in the Division of Postgraduate Medical Education in the Faculty of Medicine. See §123.6 of this Calendar.

62.1.3 MSc and PhD Degrees

The requirements for admission as a graduate student are:

(1) A baccalaureate degree, with a grade point average of at least 6.0 in the work of the last two undergraduate years at the University of Alberta, or an equivalent qualification from another institution; and

(2) A statement from the chair of the department concerned to the effect that the applicant is, in all respects, acceptable to the department. A special graduate student or an exchange graduate student, however, not being a candidate for a degree, does not require department recommendation.

(3) All non-Canadians for whom English is not the major language (a) first must write and pass satisfactorily either the Michigan English Language Examination (The Director, Testing and Certification Division, English Language Institute, The University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48104, U.S.A.) or the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540, U.S.A.) before formal admission can be given; and (b) in addition, if formally admitted, must arrive on campus and write, one week before registration, an English Language Examination set and administered by The University of Alberta. Students whose performance is unsatisfactory in this English Examination will be allowed to continue their graduate work, but may be required to take English language instruction as part of their regular program.

Application for admission to the Faculty must be submitted on forms supplied by the Office of Graduate Studies and Research, Faculty of Dentistry. No assurance can be given that applications received after August 1 (for First Term, Winter Session), November 1 (for Second Term, Winter Session); March 1 (for Spring Session) or April 1 (for the Summer Session) can be processed in time to permit registrations in that session. Refer to §62.1.5. A graduate of another university must arrange with the Registrar of that institution to forward two transcripts of his/her academic record to the Direct Graduate Studies and Research, Faculty of Den prior to these dates. The Dean may require the appl to furnish an official description of the content o courses listed on the transcripts.

Applicants interested in this program are encouraged to contact the Admissions Officer of the Division of Dental Hygiene, Faculty of Dentistry.

62.1.5 MSc Degree and Certificate in Orthodontics

The normal closing date for receipt of applications is October 15. No assurance can be given that late applications can be processed in time for registration in the following academic year. Application is made to the Director of Graduate Studies and Research, Faculty of Dentistry.

62.2 Academic Standing

62.2.1 DDS Degree

(1) In the first and second year of the Dentistry Program all course requirements in the year must be met in order to be eligible for promotion. A third-year student may, at the discretion of Faculty Council, be promoted with a course deficiency when all of the following apply:

a. the deficiency is in a single clinical course;

b. there is no provision for remediation and re-evaluation in the course;

c. the student's overall GPA for the year is 6.0 or better.

A student promoted with a deficiency will be required to meet all normal course requirements in the fourth year of the Program in order to be eligible for graduation.

(2) Students will be required to pass both the practical and the theoretical examinations of any course having a practical and theoretical component.

(3) Course grades of 3, 2, and 1 are failing grades. A grade of 4 is a conditional pass and will permit a student to meet promotion/graduation requirements when:

a. the student's overall GPA is 5.5 or better;

b. the combined course weight in which grades of 4 are achieved does not exceed 20% of the total course weight in the program year; and

c. satisfactory course standing is approved by Dentistry Faculty Council. Notwithstanding (b) above, Faculty Council may deny a student promotion/graduation when grades of 4 are achieved in critical subjects and/or when reexaminations are not available.

(4) Reexaminations

a. Students in the DDS program may be permitted a reexamination at the discretion of the Dentistry Faculty Council provided that:

1) The student's GPA is 5.0 or greater.
2) The weight of the final examination is 40% or higher.

b. If a reexamination is approved the following policies apply:

1) The reexamination will have the same percentage value as the original final examination. However, a greater value may be assigned at the discretion of the department concerned.

2) Regardless of the reexamination result, the final grade may not exceed a grade of 6. The reexamination results will not alter the student's class standing.

3) In any one year, reexamination privileges will not exceed a combined maximum of 10 units of course weight, or a total of three reexaminations regardless of the units of course weight.

4) Over the total program, reexamination privileges will not exceed a combined maximum of 20 units of course weight, or a total of 5 reexaminations regardless of units of course weight.

5) Any student who, after reexamination and/or evaluation, fails to meet promotion/graduation requirements will be deemed to have failed the year. (See §62.2.1(4)).

c. Reexaminations are not allowed in the following instances:

1) Reexaminations are not available in laboratory or clinical courses.

2) Repeating students will not be permitted a reexamination in the repeating year.

d. First and second year Dentistry students will take the reexamination in the first week of July (application deadline is June 20).

Third and fourth year students can write the reexamination during Reading Week for first-term courses (application deadline is January 20), and during the first week of July for second- term or full-term courses (application deadline is June 20).

Students requesting a reexamination must follow the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of this Calendar.

(5) Normally, a failed student will retain no credits towards the DDS degree for any courses in the failed year. A failed student in the final year of the program who is designated a Special Category repeating student may retain Faculty approved course credits towards the DDS degree.

(6) Students will be permitted to repeat first-year Dentistry only in circumstances determined to be exceptional by the Council of the Faculty of Dentistry. Normally, a first-year Dentistry student permitted to repeat the failed year will be required to withdraw for one year before continuing in the program. Repeating students will be considered for awards and, with the exception of repeating Special Category fourth year Dentistry students, will be given a class standing.

(7) A student permitted to repeat a failed year, who does not achieve a grade-point average of 5.5 at the end of the first and second terms of the repeated year, will be required to withdraw from the program. A repeating student will not be permitted to carry a reduced academic load.

(8) Course Exemptions: Students in the dentistry program are not permitted to carry a reduced academic load but when eligible may be permitted course substitutions. Applications for course substitutions must be made to the Chair of the Academic Standing Committee.

(9) A Special Category repeating fourth year dentistry student is one who meets the following criteria:

a. has achieved a minimum GPA of 6.0 in the fourth year program.

b. has clinical deficiencies in no more than two clinical courses and the appropriate Division Chairmen advise that the deficiency could be corrected within a four month period of instruction.

c. has successfully completed all written examinations in the DDS program.

(10) Faculty Adviser: At the discretion of the Academic Standing Committee, a Faculty Adviser may be assigned to students who are having difficulty meeting promotion requirements. The method of assignment and role of the Faculty Adviser shall be determined from time to time by the Dentistry Faculty Council.

(11) All students registered in the Faculty of Dentistry are required by Provincial legislation to be registered in the Educational Register of the Alberta Dental Association. This registration permits the practice of dentistry within the confines of the formal dental curriculum.

62.2.2 MSc and PhD Degrees

Except in a qualifying year, the pass mark in any course taken for credit towards an advanced degree is a grade of 6. Grades of 5 may be accepted in two single-term courses or one full-session course provided a minimum average of 6.0 is acquired at the time of completion of work for the degree. In this connection the student should keep in mind that courses are weighted differently. Thus a grade of 7 in a session or term course does not necessarily bring one's average up to 6.0 if a grade of 5 was received in another course which carried a greater weight. In a qualifying year, a grade of 4 or 5 may be accepted in an individual course, provided that the grade point average for the year's work is at least 6.0. (Note: The above are minimum grades which the Faculty will accept. Individual departments may require higher grades than these.) A grade of 4 obtained by Probationary, Special, or Exchange Graduate Students will be recorded as a failure.

Graduate students are not permitted to take reexaminations. If, after consulting the department or the committee concerned, the Faculty decides that a graduate student is not making satisfactory progress in either course work or research, the student may be required to withdraw. For further information see §202.7 of this Calendar.

62.2.3 Dental Hygiene Diploma

In addition to the regulations set out in §16 of this Calendar, the following apply to students in the Dental Hygiene Program:

(1) Alberta certification in CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation) at the Basic Rescuer Level is required prior to entry into second year Dental Hygiene.

(2) Students entering the first year of the Dental Hygiene Program may be granted credits for the following courses on submitting acceptable proof of course completion to the Chair of the Academic Standing Committee:

a. English (six units of course weight in a junior course required)

b. SOC 100

c. PSYCO 104

d. Students who graduated from the NAIT or SAIT Dental Assisting Technology Program within 24 months of admission to the Dental Hygiene Program may be granted credit in D HYG 210 (Dental Auxiliary Practice I) and may apply to do a Credit by Special Assessment examination in D HYG 240 (Radiography I).

e. Students who graduated from the NAIT or SAIT Dental Assisting Technology Program, regardless of year of graduation may apply to do a Credit by Special Assessment examinations in the courses listed in d.

f. In addition to d. and e. students who graduated prior to September 1988 from the SAIT Dental Assisting Technology Program may apply to do a Credit by Special Assessment examination in MMID 422.

Students with approved course exemptions may elect to take an approved option or carry a reduced academic load. Students carrying a reduced academic load exceeding a total of six units of course weight will not be eligible for awards and will not be given class standing. Dental Hygiene students who have not received approved credit in any or all of the above courses will be required to take them as an integral part of the first year Dental Hygiene Program without course withdrawal privileges.

(3) Recommendations for promotion and graduation will be on the basis of a grade of at least 4 in each subject and a grade point average of at least 5.0.

(4) Reexaminations:

a. Students in the Dental Hygiene program may be permitted a reexamination at the discretion of the Dentistry Faculty Council, provided that:

1) The student's GPA is 5.0 or greater.

2) The weight of the final examination is 40% or higher.

b. If a reexamination is approved, the following policies apply:

1) The reexamination will have the same percentage value as the original final examination. However, a greater value may be assigned at the discretion of the department concerned.

2) Regardless of the reexamination result, the final course grade may not exceed a grade of 6. Reexamination results will not alter the student's class standing.

3) In any one year, reexamination privileges will not exceed a combined maximum of six units of course weight, or a total of two reexaminations regardless of units of course weight.

4) Over the total program, reexamination privileges will not be granted to exceed a combined maximum of nine units of course weight or a total of three reexaminations regardless of combined units of course weight.

5) Any student who, after reexamination and/or evaluation fails to meet promotion/graduation requirements will be deemed to have failed the year. (See §62.2.1(4)).

c. Reexaminations are not allowed in the following instances:

1) Reexaminations are not allowed in laboratory or clinical courses.

2) Repeating students will not be permitted a reexamination in the repeating year.

d. First year Dental Hygiene students will take the reexamination as scheduled in the first week of July (application deadline is June 20). Students in second year will write after the end of the first term for first term courses (application deadline is January 20), and during the first week of July for second or full term courses (application deadline is June 20).

Students requesting a reexamination must complete the procedures detailed in §16.5.4.

(5) Students will be permitted to repeat First Year Dental Hygiene only in exceptional cases as determined by the Council of the Faculty of Dentistry. A first year Dental Hygiene student permitted to repeat the failed year will be required to wait out one year before continuing in the program. Repeating students will be considered for awards and will be given a class standing.

(6) Students seeking readmission after having been required to withdraw from the program will have their application for readmission considered in competition with all other applicants by the Admissions Committee.

(7) A student who is permitted to repeat the first year of the Dental Hygiene Program will retain no credit towards the Diploma in Dental Hygiene or any course in the year, except those in which exemption was previously granted, and in SOC 100, PSYCO 104, and the full term junior English courses when passing grades were achieved.

A student who has failed the final year of the program may retain Faculty approved course credits towards the Diploma in Dental Hygiene, but all course credits will be withheld until satisfactory standing is achieved in all courses.

(8) A student permitted to repeat the first year who does not achieve a grade-point average of 5.5 at the end of the first and second terms of the repeated year will be required to withdraw from the program.

(9) Faculty Adviser: At the discretion of the Academic Standing Committee, a Faculty Adviser may be assigned to students who are having difficulty in meeting promotion requirements. The method of assignment and the role of the Faculty Adviser shall be determined from time to time by the Dentistry Faculty Council.

62.2.4 MSc Degree and Certificate in Orthodontics

Regulations are as shown for MSc or PhD degrees, see §62.2.2.

62.3 Appeals and Grievances

A student adversely affected by the Academic Standing Regulations (§62.2) may file a formal appeal with the Dean, stating the basis of the appeal in writing and in detail, and indicating clearly the relief sought. The Dean will then place the issue before the Executive Committee of the Council of the Faculty of Dentistry which shall elect an 'Ad Hoc' Appeals Committee of five academic members from the Faculty of Dentistry and one student from the appropriate program (Dentistry or Dental Hygiene). One of the elected Faculty members shall be designated as the Chair of the Committee.

Procedural guidelines for the Faculty Appeals Committee are those approved by the Dentistry Faculty Council, a copy of which may be obtained from the Office of the Dean.

The deadlines for receipt of notice of intent to appeal are June 30 of the academic year in question when the Faculty Council decision being appealed is based on final examination results, and September 15 when the decision is based on supplemental examination results.

In the event of an unsuccessful appeal, a student may go to the Academic Appeals Committee of General Faculties Council (See §16.8 of this Calendar). Notice of intent to appeal will be filed with the Graduate Faculty Council Secretary within thirty days of the Faculty Appeals Committee decision.

62.3.1 MSc and PhD Degrees

Student grievances of an academic nature sometimes arise. If this occurs, students in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research are advised to first contact the instructor concerned from whom, in most cases, satisfactory explanations will be obtained. If the matter is not resolved, students are advised to see the Department Chair and the Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, in that order.

For further information regarding Appeals Procedures at the Faculty level the student should seek the advice of the Dean.

For further information related to Appeals and Grievances, students are directed to §16.8 and §202.15 of this Calendar.

62.4 Professional Standards

The University Code of Student Behavior describes a range of non-academic and academic offences which are deemed unacceptable and for which a student may be penalized. Additionally, the Faculty of Dentistry has filed with the Campus Law Review Committee a list of offenses which represent gross professional misconduct. The Faculty of Dentistry will act to initiate the most severe penalty permissible within the Code where a student has been found to be guilty of gross professional misconduct.

63 Programs of Study

63.1 DDS Degree

The courses prescribed for the degree program 1990-91 are listed below for each of the four years of the program. The format is as follows: the first position indicates total lecture hours per term; the second position indicates total clinic hours per term; and the third indicates total laboratory hours per term. In §64, Details of Courses, they are grouped by subject area.

63.2 MSc and PhD Degrees

1) The courses of study for the degree program are selected by the thesis supervisor or supervisory committee and the Committee of Graduate Studies and Research of the Faculty of Dentistry within the regulations and guidelines of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

2) The thesis requirements for the Master of Science degree or Doctor of Philosophy degree are detailed in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research §203 of the University Calendar.

3) A list of courses available in Graduate Studies in the Faculty of Dentistry is given in §64.2 below.

4) Students are permitted to undertake graduate courses in other faculties of the University.

5) Courses for the MSc Degree and Certificate in Orthodontics are given in §63.4 below.

63.5 Continuing Education

Courses are offered by various departments from time to time to provide a program of continuing education for the dental profession. A program outlining dates, course descriptions, participation, and length is prepared annually and distributed to the profession.

64 Details of Courses

64.1 DDS Degree

64.1.1 General Information

Courses open to students in the Faculty of Dentistry are listed here in alphabetical order, whether they are offered by the Faculty of Dentistry or by another faculty, except the graduate courses, which are listed separately in §64.2.

Each course is designated by its computer abbreviation and a number.

Following the title of the course is the symbol "★", standing for " units of course weight", and a number indicating the weight of the course as used in computing the grade-point average.

The figures, enclosed in parentheses, indicate the total hours of instruction in the course. If the course is a single-term course, the term in which it may be offered is mentioned before the hours of instruction.

A list of recommended textbooks will be available at registration.

The appearance of a course description in the following list does not constitute any guarantee that the course will actually be offered in the forthcoming session. Course descriptions outlined below are those courses offered during the 1991-92 session. Information as to which courses will be offered, the names of the instructors, and all further details must be sought from the department concerned.

Physical Requirements for University Courses

The University has a commitment to the education of all academically qualified students and special services are frequently provided on campus to assist disabled students.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoidable demands on students, with respect to the possession of a certain level of physical skill or ability, if the academic objectives of the course are to be realized. In case of doubt, students are advised to contact the department concerned, and the Disabled Student Services Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all off-campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse registration in such courses.

64.1.2 Basic Sciences

ANAT 412 Gross Anatomy

★5.5 (second term, 107 hours). The course is designed to provide basic information on the structure of the human body which is necessary for dental practice. Lectures emphasize organ relationships in the thorax and head and neck that are important for understanding the spread of disease, diagnostic principles, and surgical treatment. Lectures are followed by student dissections of the human body, prosection demonstrations, laboratories of radiological anatomy, and clinics.

ANAT 413 Cell Biology and Histology

★6 (first term, 90 hours). The goal of the course is to equip the students with histological skills and sufficient knowledge of cell structure and function so that normal life processes and diseases can be understood at the cellular level. Topics in modern cell biology as they relate to clinical medicine and dentistry are examined in a series of lectures in the first part of the course. Histology of human tissues is taught in lectures and laboratories.

ANAT 419 Neuroanatomy

★2 (second term, 30 hours). A basic course in the main structural and functional aspects of the central nervous system, with emphasis on the practical importance of neurological science rather than theoretical concepts. Available only to dental students.

MMID 422 Bacteriology

★2.5 (first term, 38 hours). An introduction to general bacteriology, aspects of infection and resistance, selected examples of infectious diseases. Special bacteriology of the mouth, including dental caries and periodontal diseases. Course for dental hygiene and dentistry students.

PATH 422 General Pathology

★3 (first term, 61 hours). Lectures on the principles of pathology, laboratory instruction in histo-pathology and an introduction to the functions of a pathology laboratory in a hospital.

64.1.3 Anaesthesia

DENT 386 Anesthesia

★1 (first term, 15 hours). This course deals with local anesthesia in didactic form covering anatomy, physiology and pharmacology of different local anesthesics. Discussion of different armamenterium and techniques forms the major part of this course. Complications which can arise from their use including prevention and treatment are also covered.

DENT 387 Anesthesia

★0.5 (first term, 14 hours). Local anesthetic techniques covering all types of infiltration and intraoral blocks form the major component of the laboratory course. Students practice anesthetic techniques by using each other as patients. Emphasis is on mandibular block and Gow-Gates techniques.

DENT 436 Pain Control
★2 (second term, 33 hours). The control of pain in a dental office. Lectures, labs and clinics cover different drugs including analgesics, sedatives and tranquilizers. Main emphasis is on teaching N_2O/O_2 as conscious-sedation. Physiology, pharmacology, technique and administration of N_2O/O_2 inhalation are covered. Use of Diazepam and other drugs for conscious-sedation and intravenous injections are also part of this laboratory.

64.1.4 Dental Health Care

DENT 340 Community Dentistry
★2 (first term, 30 hours). Such topics as history of dentistry, dental manpower resources, utilization of auxiliaries, epidemiology of dental disease as a community problem, dental public health programs, purchase of dental care and dental care delivery systems are presented.

DENT 341 Preventive Dentistry
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The course will outline population dental health status including aetiological factors of dental diseases and preventive methods of control.

DENT 347 Communications
★1 (second term, 15 hours). The purpose of this course is to help students understand the significance of interpersonal communication, to help them develop their own communication experiences and challenge them to change and improve conditions relative to their profession and society in general.

DENT 394 Nutrition
★2 (first term, 25 hours). A study of nutrients, the role these play in metabolism and dental health. The art of diet counselling with particular emphasis on dental as well as general health is discussed for the life cycle.

DENT 396 Ethics and Dentistry
★1 (first term, 15 hours). To raise the student's level of consciousness concerning the ethics of dental health care and to provide information that will assist them in moral reasoning.

DENT 442 Practice Management
★1 (second term, 15 hours). Introduction of practice administration concepts necessary for the practice of dentistry including office management, accounting principles, handling of insurance cases and effective integration of dental auxiliaries.

DENT 443 Patient Management
★1 (30 hours). This course provides experience in the comprehensive care and management of assigned dental patients. Students are expected to plan, organize and coordinate the delivery of dental care, consistent with established Faculty guidelines.

DENT 445 Geriatrics
★1 (second term, 13 hours). An introductory course describing the needs of the elderly. The course will examine the changing population balance in Canada involving both medical and dental aspects of people over sixty years of age. Course requirements include an additional one day hospital program at the Youville Memorial Hospital for fourth year Dentistry students.

DENT 490 Community Dentistry
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The moral and legal aspects of the practice of dentistry. The legal factors are presented and discussed by members of the Faculty of Law. The teaching of Forensic Odontology will be coordinated with related material presented in other courses.

DENT 492 Practice Management
★1.5 (23 hours). A continuation of DENT 442 given in third dental year.

DENT 493 Patient Management
★2 (52 hours). This course provides experience in the comprehensive care and management of assigned dental patients. Students are expected to plan, organize and coordinate the delivery of dental care consistent with established Faculty guidelines. Students will be required to attend the Admitting Clinic to assist with the management of patients. Lectures and discussions will focus on ethical dilemmas encountered when treating patients.

DENT 496 Geriatric Dentistry
★1 (36 hours). The student will be treating patients in the Youville dental clinic and other hospital departments. The primary objective of the course is to give the student additional experience in providing dental care to well and unwell elderly patients.

DENT 498 General Practice
★3 (90 hours). Each student will be provided an opportunity to develop clinical skills in dental auxiliary utilization, practice management, and practice management in a general practice setting. This course is a practical extension of Dentistry 492.

DENT 499 Satellite Dental Clinic
★2 (60 hours). Each student will spend two weeks in a mobile dental clinic in an area of need in the province. This course is a practical extension of DENT 492.

64.1.5 Dental Materials

DENT 309 Material Sciences
★1 (first term, 15 hours). This course provides a background for the study of materials used in the health professions. The following topics are introduced: atomic structure, bonding, material properties, metals, polymers, ceramics, multiphase materials, and corrosion.

DENT 359 Dental Materials
★2 (first term, 30 hours). This course provides in depth discussions of the materials used in dentistry. Topics include: gypsum products, impression materials, polymers, restorative resins, dental amalgam, gold casting alloys, waxes, investment materials, casting, porcelain, cements, nonprecious casting alloys, steels, high speed instrumentation and materials research methodology.

64.1.6 Diagnosis

DENT 332 Diagnosis
★1 (first term, 22 hours). An introduction to the fundamental principles involved in the patient's historical and clinical data, and the clinical study of disease in order to arrive at a diagnosis and a treatment plan based on the needs of the patient.

DENT 382 Diagnosis
★1 (second term, 10 hours). A continuation of the study of the oral manifestations and diagnosis of local and systemic disease. Emphasis will be upon interpretation of presenting objective and subjective symptoms and altered laboratory values of the disease processes affecting oral and para-oral structures.

DENT 383 Diagnosis
★0.5 (12 hours). Students will be assigned patients throughout the year for clinical examination in order to gain experience in gathering patient data, making the diagnosis, formulating treatment plans, and practicing communicative skills in case presentation. The students will also be expected to provide the necessary dental treatment for their assigned patients.

DENT 432 Diagnosis
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The fundamental principles involved in dental management of the diagnosed medically compromised patient will be discussed by lectures and audio-visual presentation of case examples.

DENT 433 Diagnosis and Treatment Planning
★ 3 (54 hours). Students are assigned to a Diagnosis/Treatment Clinic in order to further refine skills in collecting and interpreting the dental patient's medical treatment, formulating an accurate diagnosis and rational treatment plan under the supervision and instruction of dentistry staff from various divisions and specialties. Each student will be responsible for personally treating or managing the treatment of assigned patients, one of which will be a medically compromised patient.

DENT 482 Diagnosis
★1 (first term, 15 hours). Cases of the oral manifestations of local and systemic disease will be presented in a conference setting and students will be selected at random to participate in the diagnosis and management of each case.

DENT 483 Diagnosis and Treatment Planning
★6 (45 hours). This course is intended to have students acquire an appropriate level of professional competence in patient evaluation, diagnosis and treatment planning and subsequent critical evaluation of the treatment performed. Formative evaluation will be based on the student's ability to perform a proper patient evaluation relative to the medical and dental histories, develop a rational diagnosis and treatment plan and present these logically and effectively to the patient and the clinical instructor. Summative evaluation will occur in accordance with Faculty defined procedures.

64.1.7 Endodontics

DENT 365 Endodontics
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The conservation of pulp-involved and pulpless teeth. Procedures for diagnosis and treatment described, demonstrated and correlated with the related dental and basic sciences.

DENT 366 Endodontics
★2 (second term, 66 hours). Laboratory practice on mannequins under simulated clinical conditions.

DENT 415 Endodontics
★1 (first term, 15 hours). A continuation of DENT 365 with advanced endodontic considerations.

DENT 416 Endodontics
★2 (60 hours). An introduction to clinical procedures with treatment carried out on selected patients.

DENT 465 Endodontics
★1 (second term, 10 hours). A continuation of DENT 365 and 415 with advanced endodontic considerations.

DENT 466 Endodontics
★1 (36 hours). A continuation of DENT 416 with application to clinical practice. Endodontic treatment will be carried out on selected patients.

64.1.8 Fixed Prosthodontics

DENT 310 Dental Anatomy
★2 (first term, 49 hours). Coronal, radicular and pulpal morphology of the primary and permanent dentitions.

DENT 311 Occlusion
★1 (second term, 15 hours). A multidisciplinary didactic program of biomechanical principles of occlusion.

DENT 312 Occlusion
★1.5 (second term, 45 hours). A laboratory program in occlusal relationships and instrumentation.

DENT 363 Fixed Prosthodontics
★2 (30 hours). A didactic course of the biomechanical considerations in providing extracoronal restorations and fixed prosthesis. Emphasis is placed on problem-solving and development of clinical judgement.

DENT 364 Fixed Prosthodontics
★3 (90 hours). A preclinical laboratory course in the principles of tooth preparation, temporization, impressions and cementation correlated with laboratory fabrications of extracoronal restorations.

DENT 413 Fixed Prosthodontics
★2 (30 hours). A didactic course of the biological considerations in providing extracoronal restorations and fixed prosthesis. Emphasis is placed on treatment planning.

DENT 414 Fixed Prosthodontics
★4.5 (120 hours). Laboratory instruction in esthetic considerations of ceramic veneers. The clinical component requires a designated number of extracoronal restorations to be completed.

DENT 464 Fixed Prosthodontics
★3 (90 hours). Practical application of the techniques covered in the lecture portion.

64.1.9 Operative Dentistry

DENT 317 Operative Dentistry
★2 (30 hours). Included will be discussions of basic operating principles; cutting instruments; principles of cavity nomenclature and classification; the principles of cavity preparations along with the manipulation requirements of amalgam and gold foil.

DENT 318 Operative Dentistry
★3 (90 hours). Cavity preparations will be cut in artificial and extracted natural teeth and manipulation of both silver amalgam and gold foil will be practiced. Students are responsible for supplying both anterior and posterior natural teeth for their own use.

DENT 367 Operative Dentistry
★2 (30 hours). A continuation of DENT 317 with emphasis being given to the use of gold foil in situations other than class V, the use of gold inlays, an introduction into the use of white restoratives and the use of amalgam with pin retention in extensively broken down teeth.

DENT 368 Operative Dentistry
★4.5 (135 hours). Both natural (extracted) teeth and artificial teeth will be used in practising the techniques related to gold foils, gold inlays, some white restoratives and large pin amalgams. The second term will be an introduction to the clinic where students will prepare and place silver amalgam restorations in patients.

DENT 417 Operative Dentistry
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The principles and procedures necessary to successful clinical practice will be emphasized. This is a continuation of DENT 367 in which the material will be covered in more depth and oriented specifically to dealing with patients rather than just in a laboratory situation. All the materials used in operative dentistry will be included in the discussions but special emphasis will be given to white restoratives.

DENT 418 Operative Dentistry
★5 (150 hours). Clinical practice on patients will be provided to allow the student to develop the necessary operative skills. All materials, amalgam, gold inlays, gold oil and white restoratives will be used. The proper operating environment using rubber dam along with orderly procedures will be mandatory.

DENT 467 Restorative Dentistry
★0.0 (second term, 15 hours). Integrated course in restorative dentistry. Clinical cases are presented and discussed by members of the various disciplines. Combinations such as endo/operative/materials, or endo/fixed will be encountered.

DENT 468 Operative Dentistry
★5 (150 hours). A continuation of DENT 418 in which students will be expected to increase their skills and efficiency in operative dentistry to the point where they are capable of completely independent professional judgement and execution. The use of all the types of operative materials is mandatory as is the use of rubber dam in providing a proper operating environment. Observing when and how other students are doing as well as critically assessing that which is observed will be a part of the seminar portion of the course.

64.1.10 Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery and Hospital Dentistry

MED 434 General Medicine
★1 (second term, 15 hours). General aspects of medicine with particular reference to local and systematic diseases of dental interest.

DENT 438 Oral Surgery
★2 (30 hours). This course covers the diagnosis and treatment of basic principles of oral surgery. The student is introduced to the science of exodontia and related subjects. This course also covers other minor oral surgery procedures, e.g., biopsy technique, preprosthetic surgery.

DENT 439 Oral Surgery
★1 (30 hours). Clinical practice of exodontia with assisting introduced. Use of different instruments for oral surgery are emphasized. Suturing techniques and use of different forceps for extraction is taught in this course.

DENT 475 Hospital Dentistry
★2 (60 hours). A two week period of hospital training for senior students where they become familiar with hospital protocol and operating room procedures, observe oral surgery and anesthesia, attend other medical and dental clinics, perform physical evaluation of patients and provide emergency dental care and patient treatment services. An experience in a Geriatric Treatment Hospital will be provided.

DENT 488 Oral Surgery
★1 (30 hours). Minor oral surgery leads to teaching of other aspects of oral surgery. Most aspects of oral and maxillofacial surgery are taught in lecture form. Student is also taught to diagnose and refer difficult procedures to the specialist.

DENT 489 Oral Surgery
★1 (30 hours). Clinical practice of oral surgery continues in fourth year. Student is taught more difficult procedures, e.g., complicated exodontia. Student also gains experience in simple impactions and other minor oral surgery procedures.

64.1.11 Oral Biology

DENT 301 Oral Histology
★3 (45 hours). The development and histology of the teeth and adjacent structures in man.

DENT 302 Ontogeny and Phylogeny
★1.5 (first term, 22 hours). A two-part course dealing with aspects of development of the craniofacial complex. The first part of the course is concerned with ontogeny - the embryological development of the Oropharyngeal apparatus. The second part of the course addresses the phylogeny of the stomatognathic system - the evolution of mankind, and specifically, the dentition.

DENT 304 Biochemistry
★4 (60 hours). Designed to give students in first year dentistry an appreciation of general biochemical concepts in relation to metabolism. In addition, certain topics in oral biochemistry are considered.

DENT 306 Human/Oral Physiology
★6 (90 hours). A comprehensive lecture course on mammalian and human physiology with emphasis on oral physiological topics. The lectures are supplemented with laboratory sessions.

DENT 355 Oral Pathology
★4.5 (second term, 70 hours). The diagnosis, pathology and treatment of common diseases of the teeth and adjacent structures.

DENT 357 Pharmacology
★5 (75 hours). An introduction to the principles of pharmacology including mechanisms of drug action; pharmacokinetics and drug metaboiism; and mechanisms of drug interactions and adverse drug reactions. These principles will be applied to groups of drugs acting on various organ systems of the body, representative drugs being selected whenever possible for their physiological and clinical significance to the practice of dentistry. Particular emphasis will be placed on anaesthetics, antacoids, autonomic drugs and drugs with selective toxicity employed in infections and malignancies.

DENT 401 Dental Therapeutics
★1 (second term, 15-0-0). Lectures will be presented on the following topics: pharmacology and therapeutics, prescription writing, drug schedules and interactions, cardiovascular, geriatric, hemostasis and nutritional considerations, desensitizing agents, sterilization and disinfection, and other agents used in practice.

DENT 454 Applied Oral Biology
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The student will be introduced to the organization and use of the dental research literature. A number of papers will then be selected and critically evaluated in terms of the underlying biological science and significance and potential application of the findings.

DENT 455 Clinical Oral Pathology
★1 (first term, 15 hours). Reading assignments on diseases will be made and cases presented for each student to diagnose. Discussions will follow and will include treatment considerations.

DENT 456 Correlated Science Seminars
★1 (second term, 15 hours). Seminars will include prophylaxis, gingivitis, periodontitis, local anaesthesia, endodontics, orthodontics, extractions, TMJ, operative dentistry, removable prosthodontics and fixed prosthodontics.

64.1.12 Orthodontics

DENT 380 Orthodontics
★2 (30 hours). Growth and development of the craniofacial complex, etiology and diagnosis of malocclusion, biological and mechanical principles of tooth movement, orthodontic examination and records.

DENT 430 Orthodontics
★2 (30 hours). Diagnosis and treatment options, cephalometric eruption guidance and interceptive procedures, introduction to bonding/banding techniques.

DENT 431 Orthodontics
★3.5 (99 hours). Lab/clinic split. Fabrication of some common orthodontic appliances, clinical cases for treatment planning and care, orthodontic screening cases, molar uprighting cases if available, some functional appliance cases.

DENT 480 Orthodontics
★1 (first term, 15 hours). Treatment planning, treatment options and appliance mechanisms for a variety of clinical situations and malocclusions.

DENT 481 Orthodontics
★2 (60 hours). Clinical experience, involving preventive, interceptive and simple treatment of orthodontic problems of particular concern to the general practitioner, is designed to enable the student to apply knowledge acquired in the lectures and laboratory.

64.1.13 Pediatric Dentistry

DENT 378 Pediatric Dentistry
★1 (second term, 15 hours). The lectures are designed to acquaint the student with examination and treatment planning for the child patient, as well as aspects of child behavior management techniques, restorative dentistry and pulp therapy.

DENT 379 Pediatric Dentistry
★1.5 (second term, 45 hours). This lab technique course stresses basic clinical skills performed on dentoforms. Procedures performed include a variety of cavity designs for amalgam, stainless steel crown restorations, the pulpotomy procedure and the fabrication of space maintainers.

DENT 428 Pediatric Dentistry
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The lecture course deals with treatment and management of the adolescent patient as well as space maintainers, preventive and interceptive orthodontics, flourides in caries prevention and management of traumatic tooth injuiries.

DENT 429 Pediatric Dentistry
★2.5 (75 hours). Introduction to clinical dental diagnosis and treatment of children and adolescents.

DENT 478 Pediatric Dentistry
★1 (first term, 15 hours). This lecture course focuses on the dental treatment needs of the physically and mentally handicapped and medically compromised child patient. Additional topics covered include myofunctional therapy, development of the dentition, dental anomalies and prosthodontics for the child patient.

DENT 479 Pediatric Dentistry
★1.5 (45 hours). A clinical course designed to provide the student with the diagnosis, treatment and management of children and adolescents with more complex dental needs. The use of nitrous oxide analgesia is demonstrated on select cases.

64.1.14 Periodontics

DENT 326 Periodontics
★1 (second term, 15 hours). Students will be presented with detailed information and instructions pertaining to the etiology, pathogenesis, microscopic and clinical characteristics of diseased and healthy periodontium. An introduction to the fundamental concepts of diagnosis, prevention and treatment of the early periodontal lesion will also be given.

DENT 327 Periodontics
★1 (second term, 30 hours). Introduction to the periodontal examination and charting procedures. The student will also learn to identify and record the primary etiological factors in the initiation and progression of periodontal disease and preventive oral hygiene procedures to control these etiological agents. A great portion of the clinical experience will emphasize the use of scalers and curettes.

DENT 376 Periodontics
★2 (30 hours). Detailed information will be presented pertaining to the fundamental concepts of diagnosis, prevention and treatment of periodontal disease. Material will cover a more in depth view of periodontal disease and the therapies which are available. The role of occlusion as it relates to periodontal tissue will be covered in more depth. Emphasis is placed on procedural techniques, their indications and contraindications.

DENT 377 Periodontics
★2.5 (67 hours). Students will be introduced to periodontal treatments of patients. Emphasis is placed on application of skills learned in lecture and pre-clinic exercises from DENT 327. The student will develop the skills to diagnose and treat early forms of periodontal disease.

DENT 426 Periodontics
★2 (30 hours). A continuation of the previous year which expands and gives a more in depth view of periodontal disease and the therapies which are available. Emphasis is placed on the surgical techniques as methods for treating periodontal disease.

DENT 427 Periodontics
★3.5 (105 hours). Continues to involve the treatment of patients. Emphasis is placed on the initial preparatory phase of therapy, showing more versatility in the types of periodontal treatments and how these are interrelated with other dental disciplines. The student will develop the skills to diagnose and to treat moderate forms of periodontal disease and be able to learn how to integrate these treatments into a general dentistry practice.

DENT 477 Periodontics
★2 (60 hours). Students will further expand their skills in diagnosis and treatment of advanced cases of periodontal disease by means of periodontal surgery. Patients treatment progress will be assessed by recall checks. Emphasis will be placed on interdisciplinary treatment approaches for handling patients' dental problems.

64.1.15 Radiology

DENT 334 Radiology
★1 (second term, 15 hours). The elementary principles of radiology including the basic electronics, physics and geometry of image formation as well as the photographic basis of image production on film.

DENT 384 Radiology
★1 (first term, 15 hours). The fundamentals in the interpretation of normal and radiologic signs of disease in the jaws. A systematic review of the radiologic evidence of disease in the jaws will also be presented.

DENT 385 Radiology
★1 (24 hours). A laboratory course involving two segments: an introductory experience in production of x-ray films on mannequins and in patients; an introduction to the interpretation and reporting of dental x-ray films.

DENT 435 Radiology
★0.5 (12 hours). Ongoing clinical experience in radiographic film production and the reporting of radiographs on clinical patients.

DENT 485 Radiology
★0.5 (18 hours). (a) Clinical experience in radiologic interpretation and supervision of auxiliaries in the performance of radiographic film production. (b) Clinical experience in reporting of radiographs in conjunction with diagnosis.

64.1.16 Removable Prosthodontics

DENT 321 Removable Prosthodontics
★2 (30 hours). A lecture-audio/visual series that will relate to the DENT 322 laboratory experience; an introduction to removable partial dentures specific to classification, component parts, physiological/psychological design concepts and natural tooth recontouring.

DENT 322 Removable Prosthodontics
★2 (second term, 69 hours). A laboratory experience that simulates clinical procedures and which requires the application of the concepts presented in DENT 321.

DENT 371 Removable Prosthodontics
★2 (first term, 30 hours). A lecture/audio-visual series that relates to the DENT 372 laboratory and clinical experience.

DENT 372 Removable Prosthodontics
★5 (144 hours). A laboratory/clinical experience emphasizing the technical aspects and a clinical experience in treating an edentulous patient requiring complete dentures.

DENT 421 Removable Prosthodontics
★3 (45 hours). A lecture-audio/visual series emphasizing the biological principles of complete denture construction. Prosthodontic pathology, relines, resilient liners, partial dentures, overdentures, immediate dentures and related nutritional concerns are presented.

DENT 422 Removable Prosthodontics
★5 (150 hours). A clinical experience in all treatment phases of basic removable prosthodontics.

DENT 472 Removable Prosthodontics
★2 (60 hours). An advanced clinical prosthodontic experience in treatment of patients requiring complete dentures, removable partial dentures, immediate surgical dentures, relines and overdentures.

64.1.17 Selective Study

DENT 497 Selective Study
★2 (36 hours). Advanced study program. Options will be in different disciplines. These options include research, independent study, laboratory and/or clinical projects. Students must select at least one program.

64.2 Graduate Courses

The hours of instruction in the course per week are indicated by the three figures in the parentheses after the term. The format is as follows: The first position indicates lecture hours; the second position indicates seminar hours (s), demonstration (d), clinic (c) or lecture-lab (L); and the third position indicates laboratory hours. The hours of instruction for a full session course are the same in both terms unless otherwise indicated.

DENT 500 Oral Biology I
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). Functional anatomy of head and neck. Development, structure, function and biochemistry of connective tissues associated with the jaws. (For graduate students in Orthodontics.)

DENT 501 Oral Biology II
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). A continuation of Oral Biology I. Growth and development of skull. Anthropology. Selected topics in physiology.

DENT 502 Oral Biology (Applied Anatomy)
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Consideration of developmental and gross anatomy related to the appreciation and practice of dentistry.

DENT 503 Advanced Oral Pathology
★3 (first term, 3-0-0). A review of diseases that affect the oral tissues and an exploration of recently acquired knowledge pertaining to them.

DENT 504 Oral Medicine
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). A study of the mechanisms of oral disease as a basis for rationale of treatment.

DENT 505 Recent Advances in Oral Medicine
★1 (first term, 1-0-0). Oral pathology is reviewed in a series of 14 lectures on the current status of oral medicine. Emphasis is on the application of new knowledge of the diagnosis and management of dental and paradental disease processes in adolescents.

DENT 506 Dental Biochemistry and Physiology
★2 (second term, 2-0-0).

DENT 520 Orthodontic Pre-clinical Lectures
★7 (2-0-0;5-0-0). The pre-clinical lecture series is designed to give the student entry-level skills for orthodontic case management. The second term is the beginning of a 40-week program designed to enhance diagnostic skills, treatment planning objectives and mechanics.

DENT 521 Orthodontic Pre-clinical Lectures
★3 (5-0-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. A continuation of DENT 520.

DENT 522 Orthodontic Seminar
★4 (first term, 0-4s-0). Designed to provide knowledge base for ortho records and synthesize that knowledge base into treatment analysis.

DENT 523 Orthodontic Seminar
★4 (second term, 0-4s-0). A continuation of DENT 522. Orthodontic theory and practice including etiology and diagnosis of malocclusion.

DENT 524 Orthodontic Seminar
★3 (0-4s-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. A continuation of DENT 523. Includes advanced treatment planning and different treatment philosophies.

DENT 525 Orthodontic Technique
★1 (first term, 1-0-0). Theory and biomechanical principles involved in orthodontic appliances are presented.

DENT 526 Cephalometrics Seminars
★3 (first term, 0-3s-0). Theory of cephalometrics and the various angular, linear and proportional measurements utilized to assist treatment planning are presented.

DENT 527 Surgical/Functional Appliances
★1 (second term, 1-0-0). Lectures alternate between surgical/ortho and functional appliances. Co-ordinate with the oral surgery division.

DENT 528 Surgical/Functional Appliances
★1 (1-0-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. A continuation of DENT 527 which presents a more detailed knowledge base to allow comprehensive treatment planning.

DENT 529 Adult Orthodontics
★1 (1-0-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. Pre-clinical lecture/seminar series to introduce the graduate student to adult orthodontics.

DENT 530 Orthodontic Clinic
★9 (0-3c-0; 0-15c-0). The clinical orthodontic experience to compliment DENT 520. The student commences treatment on 2-4 patients the first term with an additional 10-16 new patient starts in the second term.

DENT 531 Orthodontic Clinic
★5 (0-15c-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. A continuation of DENT 530 during which active patients are transferred to junior students.

DENT 532 Growth and Development
★2 (second term, 2-0-0). A detailed review of the postnatal growth and development of human craniofacial structures. Longitudinal and cross sectional growth data are presented.

DENT 533 Research Methodology
★1 (first term, 1-0-0). Review of scientific methodology and direction of students in technic of evaluating dental literature. A research proposal or literature review is required as part of this course.

DENT 535 Orthodontic Technique Laboratory
★4.5 (first term, 0-0-9). Lab sessions allow the students to apply skills necessary to manipulate ortho material in addition to fabricating appliances required to treat simulated ortho clinical cases.

DENT 536 Cephalometrics Lab
★1.5 (first term, 0-0-3). A lab or technique course where the student applies the knowledge of DENT 526. Computerized cephalometrics and growth predictions based on cross sectional data is available to the students.

DENT 537 Surgical/Functional Appliances
★1.5 (second term, 0-3c-0). Clinical course to complement DENT 527. Assigned cases are treatment-planned, and appropriate appliance therapy is initiated.

DENT 538 Surgical/Functional Appliances
★1 (0-3c-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. Clinical compliment to DENT 537. Transfer cases from senior to junior students. Alternate clinics.

DENT 539 Adult Orthodontics
★1 (0-3c-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. Clinical component associated with DENT 529. Students will assist with, and later assume treatment responsibility during this transfer quarter.

DENT 540 Advanced Pedodontics
★11 (1-9c-0).

DENT 550 Statistics and Epidemiology
★2 (15-0-0). This course will develop principles of scientific methodology of problem solving, statistical terms and the qualitative and quantitative evaluation of oral disease. (Course offered in alternate years).

DENT 561 Orthodontic Seminar
★2 (second term, 0-2s-0). Seminars in the diagnosis and treatment of temporomandibular joint problems. Includes a comprehensive literature review. Emphasis placed on orthodontic considerations in the prevention and management of mandibular dysfunction.

DENT 570 Dental Materials
★2 (first term, 2-0-0). The course will cover the structure, properties and testing methods relative to dental materials. Specific materials and the clinical and biological significance of their properties will be discussed.

DENT 571 Orthodontic Clinical Research
★1.5 (second term, 0-3c-0). Participation in the clinical research project based at the University of Alberta Hospital.

DENT 601 Seminars in Oral Biology
★2 (0-1s-0). Seminars will include the major areas of research in the Department of Oral Biology. Student will present one seminar.

DENT 607 Conference Seminars in Oral Biology I
★3 (first term, 0-3s-0) This course will include seminars and conferences on selected aspects of oral biology. Continuous evaluation of student preparation and participation throughout the course will be used for assessment. This is an optional course open to students outside the Faculty of Dentistry by consent of the Chair, Department of Oral Biology.

DENT 608 Conference Seminars in Oral Biology II
★3 (second term, 0-3s-0) This is a continuation of DENT 607.

DENT 609 Connective Tissue Research
★2 (0-1s-0). This course will critically survey recent research on connective tissues and will aim to provide students practice in communicating research data.

DENT 620 Orthodontic Pre-clinical Lectures
★5 (first term, 5-0-0). This course contains the third and last block of the above 40-week program.

DENT 621 Orthodontic Seminar
★4 (first term, 0-4s-0). Continuation of DENT 524 where current pertinent literature review and post retention cases are discussed.

DENT 622 Adult Orthodontics
★2 (1-0-0). Continuation of DENT 529. Includes information on the treatment objectives and limitations associated with non-growing patients.

DENT 623 Adult Orthodontics
★1 (1-0-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. Conclusion of the adult ortho theory seminar. Current pertinent literature is reviewed and critiqued.

DENT 624 Surgical/Functional Appliances
★2 (1-0-0). Continuation of DENT 528. Includes literature reviews as well as case analysis.

DENT 630 Orthodontic Clinic
★15 (0-15c-0). Continuation of DENT 531. Students have increased case loads to approximately 55 active patients which present a cross section of treatment stages.

DENT 631 Orthodontic Clinic
★5 (0-15c-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. Continuation of DENT 630. The senior students gradually transfer caseloads to junior students.

DENT 632 Adult Orthodontics
★3 (0-3c-0). Continuation of DENT 539. Multi-disciplinary cases are given treatment priority. Caseload is 6-8 active patients.

DENT 633 Adult Orthodontics
★1 (0-3c-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. Continuation of DENT 623. Transfer cases from senior to junior students.

DENT 634 Surgical/Functional Appliances
★3 (0-3c-0). Continuation of DENT 538. Each student has between 3-4 active cases in each sub-clinic.

DENT 635 Surgical/Functional Appliances
★1 (0-3c-0). Intersession program of 10 weeks. Cases transferred from senior to junior students.

DENT 640 Advanced Pedodontics
★11 (1-0-9).

DENT 699 Research Project
★6 (240 hours). Credit equivalent to a two-term course. The work undertaken can include critical evaluation of a designated area of dentistry which may or may not include original research. The work completed will be presented in the form of a report to the dental department offering the program. No more than one project can be undertaken by any student in a program leading o a graduate degree in oral biology or dentistry. Prereq-uisite: Consent of the department offering the graduate degree.

DENT 800 Special Registration
★0 (either term, unassigned). Dentistry undergraduate students registered in universities other than the Univer-sity of Alberta and who have been admitted to the U of A, Faculty of Dentistry as a "Visiting Student" in accordance with the Faculty guidelines may be required to register in this course for the purpose of entitlement to the University library and registration in the Alberta Dental Association Education Register.

64.3 Dental Hygiene Diploma

64.3.1 General Information

In the following list of courses open to students in the Dental Hygiene Program, each course is designated by its computer abbreviation and number.
The courses are listed in subject order.

Following the title of each course is the symbol "★" ("course weight", and a number indicating the weight of the course as used in computing grade-point averages.

The figures, enclosed in parentheses, indicate the total hours of instruction in the course. If the course is a single term course, the term in which it may be offered is mentioned before the hours of instruction.

The appearance of a course descripton in the following list does not constitute any guarantee that the course will actually be offered in the forthcoming ses-sion. Course descriptions outlined below are those courses offered during the 1991-92 session. Information as to which courses will be offered, the names of instructors, and all further details must be sought from the department concerned.

64.3.2 Dental Hygiene Courses

D HYG 201 Anatomy and Embryology
★2 (first term, 32 hours). Basic human gross anatomy with emphasis on the head and neck regions and their clinical implications.

D HYG 202 Histology
★4 (52 hours). Basic microscopic anatomy pertinent to the main body systems and a more detailed treatment of the structure and development of oral tissues, with special reference to the teeth and their supporting structures.

D HYG 204 Biochemistry
★3 (second term, 42 hours). This course is designed to provide the students in the dental hygiene program with a general understanding of biochemical concepts. In addition, certain topics in oral biochemistry are consid-ered.

D HYG 206 Physiology
★3 (second term, 42 hours). A comprehensive lecture and laboratory course on basic human physiology.

D HYG 210 Dental Auxiliary Practice I
★5.5 (133 hours). An introductory course designed to provide the student with dental auxiliary skills required in clinical dental practice. The theory and technique of working with dental materials is integrated with chairside experiences.

D HYG 211 Concepts in Dental Hygiene Practice
★7 (102 hours). A lecture course integrating the knowl-edge, practice and skills of various dental disciplines. Dental hygiene skills, dental assisting skills, and dental practice and administration are emphasized. The course stresses an experiental approach to dental diseases, including individual patient instruction in oral physi-otherapy.

D HYG 212 Preclinical Dental Hygiene
★4.5 (first term, 135 hours). A pre-clinic course integrat-ing the knowledge, practice and skills of various dental disciplines. Dental hygiene skills, dental assisting skills, and dental practice and administration are emphasized. The course stresses an experiental approach to dental diseases, including individual patient instruction in oral physiotherapy.

D HYG 213 Clinical Dental Hygiene I
★3 (second term, 90 hours). A clinical course integrating the knowledge, practice and skills of various dental disciplines. Dental hygiene skills, dental assisting skills, and dental practice and administration are emphasized. The course stresses an experiential approach to dental diseases including individual patient instruction in oral physiotherapy.

D HYG 222 Community Health I
★1 (second term, 23 hours). The historical and philo-sophical background of community health, the function of dentistry in public health services, the fundamentals of planning, organizing and delivering public health dental care are included. The role of the dental team in community health and the delivery of services is exam-ined within the context/structure of a management scheme which utiiizes a systems approach. Emphasis is placed on dental health programs currently delivered in Canada, particularly in Alberta. Field experience on applying epidemiological methods are included.

D HYG 230 Dental Anatomy
★3 (first term, 39 hours). A self-study course that is concerned with nomenclature, biologic considerations of tooth form and function; permanent and deciduous teeth are studied in detail.

D HYG 240 Dental Radiography
★2 (32 hours). An introductory course covering the history of dental radiography as well as lectures in radiation physics, radiobiology, radiation control and radiation hygiene. Common types of radiographic films and film characteristics will be discussed as well as photographic chemistry and methods of processing. Projection geometry, principles of dental radiography and normal radiographic anatomy as it relates to identi-fication and mounting of radiographs will be stressed. Each student will also rotate through the clinics in the Second Term for preclinical experience.

D HYG 300 Introduction to Pharmacology
★2 (26 hours). Lectures are used to illustrate the principles of pharmacology including rational application of commonly used drugs to the treatment of disease. This course is available only to students registered in the Dental Hygiene Diploma program.

D HYG 305 Pathology
★3 (first term, 42 hours). Introduction to the principles of pathology with consideration of the more common diseases affecting the human body. Visual differentiation between normal and abnormal tissues; the physiological and pathological changes which affect the teeth, their supporting structures and the oral mucosa, including oral manifestations of selected systemic disturbances.

D HYG 311 Dental Auxiliary Practice IV
★2 (second term, 28 hours). A lecture course that emphasizes the clinical care and management tech-niques required for patients with special needs: the physically and/or mentally disabled patient, the sensory disabled patient, and the medically compromised pa-tient. Students will be responsible for completing rel-evant projects for course evaluation.

D HYG 313 Clinical Practice
★15 (441 hours). This is an advanced clinical course that integrates the knowledge and practice of dental hygiene skills, dental assisting skills, dental practice management and administration.

D HYG 314 Practice Management
★1 (first term, 13 hours). An introduction to practice management concepts necessary for the practice of dentistry, including keeping of office and patient records, and effective integration of dental auxiliaries into prac-tice.

D HYG 315 Professional Practice
★1 (second term, 14 hours). This course explores trends and issues arising from societal forces which have implications on dental hygiene practice at provin-cial, national and international levels. Students will ex-amine significant demographic, political and economic issues with consideration of scientific and technological change, that impact on professional practice.

D HYG 316 Ethics and Jurisprudence
★1 (second term, 14 hours). This course discusses models of professionalism with emphasis on professio-anl ethics and the law and dental hygiene.

D HYG 320 Dental Health Education I

71.2 General Information

The Faculty of Education provides professional preparation for teachers and graduate study opportunities for those interested in more specialized advanced work in the field of education. Undergraduate teacher preparation programs are available for those anticipating careers in preschool, elementary, secondary, or post-secondary/adult education.

Each program for the Bachelor of Education degree provides for certification to practise as a teacher in Alberta. Certificates are granted by the Minister of Education, on the recommendation of the Faculty of Education. Student Visitors (persons on student visas) will not be recommended for certification.

Inquiries should be addressed to the Office of the Associate Dean (Undergraduate Studies), Faculty of Education, the University of Alberta.

72 Faculty Regulations

72.1 Admission

72.1.1 Admission Requirements

Admission requirements are set out in §13 of this Calendar. For English Language Proficiency requirements see §13.22.

72.1.2 Application for Admission

Application procedure is explained in §14.2 of this Calendar.

No definite and final ruling concerning admission can be given until all certificates and transcripts of standing have been reviewed by the Office of the Registrar and/or the Faculty of Education. It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that the University receives all documents. Admission cannot be guaranteed for any prospective applicant for whom transcripts and other documents are not received by the document deadlines.

Quota

In September, 1991, the Faculty of Education will impose a quota on admission to all routes of the BEd degree program and the Combined BEd/BSc and BPE/BEd degree programs. The quota will be imposed at Year 2 for the Industrial Arts and Vocational Education (high school specialization) routes and at Year 3 for the Elementary and Secondary routes and the Combined BEd/BSc degree program.

The quota will also be imposed for applicants to the BEd After Degree program (refer to §75 for details).

Elementary Route

300 applicants to Year 3 will be accepted.

To qualify for admission to Year 3, a student must present:

(1) A minimum Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of 5.5 on 60 units of course weight which must include the following:

a. EDFDN 201, EDPSY 163, ED PR 151

b. EDACT 274 or CMPUT 161

c. 27 units of course weight from the Elementary Education Elements
Language/Literature - 6 units of course weight
Mathematics - 3 units of course weight
Social Science - 3 units of course weight
Natural Science - 3 units of course weight
Fine Arts - 3 units of course weight
Canadian Studies - 6 units of course weight
Physical Education - 3 units of course weight

d. 21 units of course weight of Non-Education courses, 12 of which must be at the senior level. Students who are interested in the Special Education, Music Education, Early Childhood Education, or Intercultural Education minors, should present courses appropriate for these areas. A list of suggested courses is available from the Faculty of Education.

(2) Satisfactorily complete the Faculty of Education Speech Screen (ED ES 132).

(3) Present evidence of work or service experience with children or youth.

(4) Provide letters of reference from two persons familiar with the applicant's work, personality, and character.

(5) Provide a focused written statement.

(6) An interview may be required.

Selection and admission will be based primarily on the rank order of the CGPA.

Secondary Route

340 applicants to Year 3 will be accepted. Quota limits within this number will be imposed as follows:

Art	20
Business Education	20
Drama	20
English	40
Home Economics	20
Mathematics	40
Modern Languages	20
Music	20
Physical Education	40
Sciences:
Biological	20
General	20
Physical	20
Social Studies	40

To qualify for admission to Year 3, an applicant must present:

(1) A minimum Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of 5.5 on 60 units of course weight which must include the following:

a. EDFDN 201, EDPSY 163, ED PR 151

b. EDACT 274 or CMPUT 161

c. English Language/Literature - 6 units of course weight

d. A minimum of 18 units of course weight in the major area (First Choice). Courses presented should be those outlined in §73.3.

e. A minimum of 15 units of course weight in the Minor area (Second Choice). Courses presented should be those outlined in §73.3.
Applicants presenting less than 15 units of course weight (but more than 9), in the Minor may be considered for selection to the program in their Major (first choice) only.

f. Nine units of course weight in options. Where (b) or (c) is presented as part of (d) or (e), then (f) is increased by the appropriate number of weights.

(2) Satisfactorily complete the Faculty of Education Speech Screen (ED ES 132).

(3) Present evidence of work or service experience with children or youth.

(4) Provide letters of reference from two persons familiar with the applicant's work, personality, and character.

(5) Provide a focused written statement.

(6) An interview may be required.

Selection and admission will be based primarily on the rank order of the CGPA.

Special Admission (Aboriginal Students)

The Faculty of Education is committed to the encouragement of aboriginal students' study toward the BEd degree. The Faculty of Educaiton recognizes that aboriginal applicants have traditionally been under-represented in the teaching field, and in order to assist more aboriginal students to achieve education degrees, the Faculty of Education will name an additional 20 qualified applicants over and above the faculty quota.

Aboriginal students who wish to be considered for these 20 places must meet the selection factors of the route they wish to follow.

72.1.3 Admission with Transfer Credit

(1) A maximum of 60 units of course weight may be granted for work completed at other institutions. Applicants should not expect to receive more than 60 units of course weight (the maximum allowed); but the amount of credit granted will depend upon the program selected, and previous applicable course work.

Credit to a maximum of 24 units of course weight in junior courses taken by correspondence from another recognized university may be allowed, although the actual number will vary with the program. There is no such limitation on courses taken at Athabasca University.

2) Students will be allowed entrance to the Faculty of Education only if they have a satisfactory standing in the faculty or college from which they wish to transfer. The academic records of students who have attended other post-secondary institutions will be examined, and where there is evidence of unsatisfactory performance (CGPA of less than 5.5) such students will not be admitted to the Faculty of Education.

(3) Appeals regarding admissibility or transfer credit should be submitted, in writing, to the Assistant Dean (Student Services).

(4) Students entering the Faculty of Education with transfer credit who expect to teach in Alberta should obtain an evaluation of their present credentials for salary purposes from the Teacher Qualification Service, Alberta Teachers' Association, Barnett House, 11010-142 St., Edmonton, Alberta, T5N 2R1. An evaluation for salary purposes may not necessarily agree with an evaluation for admission purposes.

Note: Quota limits will be applied to on-campus ansfer students (see §72.1.2).

A student transferring into the four-year BEd pro-ram of the Faculty of Education from another faculty ithin the University of Alberta should complete Re-dmission or On-campus Transfer forms and submit ese to the Registrar's Office before the published eadline (see §14.2). Applicants contemplating a change f faculty are encouraged to apply for admission prior to ompletion of a maximum of one year (30 units of ourse weight). Applicants who have completed more an 30 units of course weight should complete the first ndergraduate degree and seek admission to the BEd/D program to complete the requirement for teacher ertification.

Students will be allowed entrance to the Faculty of ducation only if they have a satisfactory standing in the culty from which they wish to transfer.

72.1.6 Transfer of Credits ) Bachelor of Education (as the only degree): A student proceeding towards the BEd Degree must complete a minimum of two years (60 units of course weight) after being admitted to and registering in the Faculty of Education. (Students should be aware that because of the highly structured nature of the program, full-time attendance will be mandatory at specific points in the program).

!) Certification after an Approved Degree: A student is permitted to enter one of four routes, i.e. Elementary Education, Secondary Education, Industrial Education, or Vocational Education and must complete a minimum of one year (30 units of course weight) after being admitted and registering in the Faculty of Education. A student cannot present for transfer credit any courses normally considered part of a "professional" term or year (normally curriculum courses integrated with practicum) which were completed while registered in another Faculty or at another university.

72.2 Registration Requirements

(1) Registration Procedure: The procedure for registration is that set out in §15 of this Calendar.

(2) Course Load: The normal course load each term of the Winter Session is 15 units of course weight. Permission to take 18 units of course weight each term may be granted if the student has:

a. a GPA of at least 7.5 on the last 30 units of course weight recorded in the Faculty of Education;

b. a CGPA of at least 6.0, and will meet graduation or certification requirements during the Winter Session in which the overload is requested.

Students registered in Practicum courses (4-10 weeks) are restricted to the normal load of 15 units of course weight per term.

(3) Full-time and Part-time Registration: Students should note where as the first two years of the program may be taken on a part-time basis, students promoted to years three and four are expected to register on a full-time continuing basis. Students with special needs will require the permission of the Associate Dean (Undergraduate Studies) to proceed on a part-time basis or to interrupt their program.

(4) Registration in Condensed Courses (four-week, six-week and ten-week) during the regular term will be restricted to students who are registered in the associated Practicum courses.

(5) Changes of Registration may be made by accessing the On Line Telephone Registration system up until the published deadlines of September 11, 1991 for the first term and full-session courses and January 10, 1992 for second-term courses.

After the above date, students must complete the Notice of Withdrawal/Audit form and obtain the appropriate signatures. Deadlines for such changes will be strictly adhered to (§11 of this Calendar) and in the Schedule for Professional Year/Term in this section.

72.2.1 Education Practicum

(1) Registration in practicum courses is a two-part registration. After registering in the practicum courses using the On Line Telephone Registration system, students must report to the Undergraduate Studies Office, 833 Ed. S. to complete the practicum registration. Students with problems related to health, speech, or any other disability are advised to consult with Dr. A.H. Borys, Assistant Dean (Field Experiences).

(2) Registration in practicum courses beyond ED PR 151 will not be permitted while on academic probation.

(3) Any student who has received a failing grade in two education practicum courses will not be allowed to register in any further education practicum courses and will be required to withdraw from the Faculty of Education. Appeals should be directed in the first instance to Dr. A.H. Borys, Assistant Dean (Field Experiences).

(4) Any student who has withdrawn from a Phase II or III education practicum course must have the approval of Dr. A.H. Borys, Assistant Dean (Field Experiences) in order to register again in the course.

(5) Although special services are regularly provided on campus to assist disabled students, these same services may not be available for off-campus practicum experiences which are required for the BEd degree. The teaching profession places some unavoidable demands upon the teacher with respect to a certain level of physical skills or ability. Students with any doubts should consult with Dr. A.H. Borys, Assistant Dean (Field Experiences).

(6) The Faculty of Education is committed to a regional placement program in which students are encouraged to complete practicums in rural Alberta. An opportunity to undertake a practicum in a rural setting provides valuable experience for student teachers and a broader view of the variety of educational settings. Regional placements are made in school districts beyond a 40 kilometer radius of Edmonton, but are limited to pre-established boundaries so as not to infringe upon the needs of other Faculties of Education in this province. Students wishing rural placements should contact Field Experiences in early September for Term I and early November for Term II.

(7) Students are required to purchase a Practicum Handbook from the University Bookstore prior to the beginning of the practicum. The Practicum Handbook provides specific information about the practicums and outlines the student expectations and procedures.

(8) Students in schools during the practicum are expected to conduct themselves according to The Alberta Teachers' Association Code of Professional Conduct (refer to §73.0) and the University of Alberta Code of Student Behaviour: Conduct and Discipline.

a. Recognize and accept that the welfare of the students is of ultimate concern and that the cooperating teacher has the final responsibility for what occurs in the classroom.

b. Maintain an ethical and professional attitude towards all members of the school community. Become familiar with The Alberta Teachers' Association Code of Professional Conduct. It is expected that this code will be a guideline for your behaviour in the school community.

c. Students are held accountable to these standards and answerable to Dr. A.H. Borys, Assistant Dean (Field Experiences) and the Dean.

(9) The Office of Field Experiences does not use geographical factors and access to transportation as a criteria of making placements in the Edmonton area. Students will student teach anywhere within the Greater Edmonton Metropolitan area including St. Albert and Sherwood Park.

(10) Education Practicum course are not offered during Intersession.

72.3 Student Advising

Undergraduate Studies Office

This unit is an amalgamation of the former Student Records and Field Services office.

Staff will provide assistance in matters related to admission, readmission, program requirements, practicum placements, and similar matters related to student records and practicum.

This office maintains the faculty record of each student's academic record as well as the student teaching reports.

Most queries will be handled by the staff in the Undergraduate Studies Office but when necessary, students will be referred to the appropriate university officer for resolution.

Office of the Associate Dean (Undergraduate Studies)

The Associate Dean is responsible for the overall administration of all matters related to the undergraduate program, and has responsibility for liaison with the colleges and other university matters. The Associate Dean works with the Registrar's Office, Faculty Departments, the Undergraduate Studies Office, and the two Assistant Deans (Undergraduate Studies and Field Experiences) on program related concerns and any problems arising in the administration of Faculty policies and regulations.

Students who are encountering special difficulties are advised by the Undergraduate Studies Office to make an appointment with the Assistant Dean (Undergraduate Studies). She assists students who have problems related to program planning or other problems of an individual nature. Students are required to obtain her approval for certain special requests and are required to consult with her before submitting a formal appeal to the Faculty Academic Appeals Committee.

Dr. A.H. Borys, the Assistant Dean (Field Experiences) is responsible for making practicum placements, including arranging for Practicum Coordinators who provide students with information about practicum programs and counsel them on matters related to student teaching, and for arranging for cooperating teachers and faculty consultants who work with the student on a regular basis throughout the practicum rounds.

Professors of the Faculty

Professors of the Faculty offer advice on academic matters related to fields of study within education or preparation for graduate study. Students are encouraged to consult with professors in the Faculty departments for information about specific courses, discussion of program alternatives, or other academic or professional concerns.

72.4 Academic Standing and Promotional Standards

(1) Academic standing will be assessed on the basis of a cumulative grade-point average (CGPA). Students are expected to maintain a 5.5 minimum CGPA. Students who do not maintain this level of academic performance may be permitted to continue under academic probation or may be required to withdraw.

An initial review of academic performance was be conducted for each student at the end of winter session 1989-90, covering the previous calendar year's work; subsequent reviews will be conducted at the end of each session.

The assignment and re-assignment of categories of academic standing is based on a student's performance in a minimum of 12 units of course weight. If, at the time of review, the student has attempted fewer than 12 units of course weight since the last assignment of a category of academic standing, the review will be deferred and the academic standing assigned at the last review will remain in effect until the next review.

(2) Terms Used in Assessing Academic Standing:

a. Grade Point Average (GPA): Grade point average (GPA) is a sessional measure of academic performance. Rules for the computation of the GPA are listed in §16.4(5).

b. Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA): The cumulative grade point average (CGPA) is a measure of academic performance obtained by computing a grade point average for all sessions attended since Spring 1989. For students readmitted on probation after the requirement to withdraw, the CGPA will be computed from the time of such readmission.

The GPA is printed on the University Transcript. Both averages, the GPA and CGPA, are printed on the Statement of Results at the end of each session.

72.4.1 Categories of Academic Standing

There are three categories of academic standing which are determined for each student on the basis of the CGPA.

Category A: Satisfactory Standing: Students with a CGPA of 5.5 or greater may continue in the program and must maintain a minimum CGPA of 5.5 on the last 90 units of course weight to graduate.

Category B: Unsatisfactory Standing: Students with a CGPA between 4.0 and 5.4 inclusive will be placed on academic probation.

Category C: Extremely Unsatisfactory Standing: Students with a CGPA of 3.9 or less will be required to withdraw.

72.4.2 Academic Probation

(1) A student who is placed on academic probation will be bound by the following requirements:

a. A student must complete 30 units of course weight in the two consecutive terms (September-December and January-April) with a minimum CGPA of 5.5; or

b. complete 24 or 27 units of course weight with a minimum CGPA of 6.0.

c. No failing grades (1, 2, 3, or WF) will be permitted.

d. Registration in practicum courses beyond ED PR 151 will not be permitted while on academic probation.

(2) Failure to meet the probationary requirements:

a. Students failing one or more courses in any term while on probation will be required to withdraw from the Faculty immediately, and all pending registrations will be cancelled by the Faculty office. Students failing to meet the conditions of their probation will have subsequent registrations cancelled.

b. Students will not be allowed to be on academic probation more than once during the BEd degree program. Students who fail to meet the standards and requirements of the probation will be required to withdraw from the Faculty, and will not normally be readmitted to the Faculty.

72.5 Appeals

Faculty decisions regarding academic standing or standing in an individual course can become the subject of an appeal. A student wishing to appeal an academic decision must attempt to resolve the issue first with the professor concerned (if applicable) then with the Department Chair, and if still unresolved, with the Associate Dean (Undergraduate Studies). If the matter remains unresolved, the student may then appeal to the Faculty Academic Appeals Committee.

Further details of the Faculty's appeal procedur can be obtained from the Office of the Associate De (Undergraduate Studies). Certain decisions of the Fa ulty Academic Appeals Committee may be appealed the General Faculties Council Appeals Committee. S §16.8 of this Calendar.

72.6 Reexamination

(1) A student may be permitted a reexamination pr vided that:

a. The performance on the final examination w adversely affected by extenuating circumstance Normally, students who experience persona difficulties at examination time, should consi the instructor or Department Chair before ta ing the examination in order to determine t best course of action.

b. The Associate Dean, in consultation with t Chair of the Department offering the cours indicates that the student's situation warrants reexamination.

(2) Students requesting a reexamination must follo the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of this Calenda For first term courses, application must b made by January 31. For second or full term course application must be made by July 15.

72.7 Graduation

(1) To receive the Bachelor of Education degree student's program must show a minimum CGPA 5.5 on the last 90 units of course weight. A stude will be allowed to take no more than 12 units course weight beyond the number of units of cour weight normally required for the degree, in order raise the CGPA to the required graduating averag

(2) A student transferring to the BEd program, wi more than 30 units of course weight, from anoth faculty of the University or from another universi or college must obtain a CGPA of at least 5.5 on courses subsequently completed in the Faculty Education and which are credited to the degree.

(3) A student achieving a GPA of 7.5 or higher on t final 60 units of course weight of the degree progra will have the notation "With Distinction" printed the diploma. A student who has taken part of t final 60 units of course weight at another universi may be granted the degree "With Distinction" at t discretion of the Dean.

(4) To receive the BEd degree a student must comple all practicum requirements.

(5) Students expecting to convocate at Spring Conv cation should be aware that all course requiremen must be completed by the end of April. Tho completing degree requirements during Interse sion will graduate in the Fall Convocation.

(6) There are special regulations applying to particul routes of the BEd degree and are detailed in §74 this Calendar.

72.8 Special Regulations

(1) Transfer from one route to another: Students wh wish to change their route should consult wi personnel in the Office of the Associate De (Undergraduate Studies). Route changes are pos ble but students must expect to meet all of t requirements of the new route. This may involv additional course work and will involve re-applic tion to the quota of the new program.

(2) Advance Credits for Certificated Teachers: No mally one year's credit in the four-year program given for basic teacher education programs.

(3) Review of Inactive Programs: A student who BEd program has been inactive for three years who has failed to complete the degree in fifte years may have the program reviewed and, if ne essary, rearranged according to prevailing requir ments.

(4) Established students who expect to receive cre on their University of Alberta program in the Facul of Education for a course completed elsewhe must get prior permission in writing from the Assoc ate Dean (Undergraduate Studies).

2.9 Certification

Alberta teaching certificates are issued by the Di- ctor of Teacher Certification and Development of berta Education. The Faculty of Education recom- ends for certification those students who have completed e necessary requirements. Students on visitor visas ll not be recommended for certification.

To be recommended for the first certificate a stu- nt must obtain a CGPA of at least 5.5 on all courses edited toward the certificate (pertains to After Degree d Vocational Education Route students).

Students completing certification requirements in ecember who wish to receive a recommendation be- re the Faculty of Education Records Review Commit- e meets in late January should contact the Undergraduate udies Office.

Further details of the regulations respecting certifi- tion of teachers in the Province of Alberta may be tained from the Director of Teacher Certification and velopment (Alberta Education), Devonian Building, 160 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

Note: All persons applying for certification as a acher in Alberta will be subject to the following striction on eligibility:

Except where the Minister of Education decides otherwise, the Registrar for Alberta Education shall not issue a teaching certificate to:

a. a person who has been convicted of an indictable offence under the Criminal Code; or

b. to a person whom the Registrar has reason to believe should not be issued a certificate.

Applications for a teaching certificate shall be directed to the Registrar. As part of the application process, applicants will be asked whether they possess a criminal conviction. If the response is yes, the nature of the conviction and when and where they were convicted must be detailed.

The Registrar shall refuse to issue a teaching certificate to any applicant possessing an indictable criminal conviction. The Registrar may refuse to issue a teaching certificate to an applicant possessing a criminal conviction of a nature deemed unsuitable for teaching children or for any other reason. Applicants may appeal the decision of the Registrar to a Certification Appeal Committee established by the Minister. Appeals must be made in writing within 30 days of being advised of the Registrar's decision to not issue a certificate.

For additional information please contact the Registrar, Teacher Certification and Development Branch of Alberta Education at 427-2045.

3 Professional Standards

he Alberta Teachers' Association Code of rofessional Conduct

Relation to Pupils

) The teacher teaches in a manner that respects the dignity and rights of all persons without prejudice as to race, religious beliefs, color, sex, physical characteristics, age, ancestry, and place of origin.

) The teacher is responsible for diagnosing educational needs, prescribing and implementing instructional programs and evaluating progress of pupils. The teacher may not delegate these responsibilities to any person who is not a teacher.

) The teacher may delegate specific and limited aspects of instructional activity to non-certificated personnel, provided that the teacher supervises and directs such activity.

) The teacher treats pupils with dignity and respect and is considerate of their circumstances.

) The teacher may not divulge information about a pupil received in confidence or in the course of professional duties except as required by law or where, in the judgment of the teacher, to do so is in the best interest of the pupil.

) The teacher does not accept pay for tutoring his or her own pupil in the subjects in which the teacher is responsible for giving classroom instruction to that pupil.

) The teacher may not take advantage of a professional position to profit from the sale of goods or services to or for pupils in the teacher's charge.

In Relation to School Authorities

(8) The teacher protests the assignment of duties for which the teacher is not qualified or conditions which make it difficult to render professional service.

(9) The teacher fulfills contractual obligations to the employer until released by mutual consent or according to law.

(10) The teacher provides as much notice as possible of a decision to terminate employment.

(11) The teacher adheres to agreements negotiated on the teacher's behalf.

In Relation to Colleagues

(12) The teacher does not undermine the confidence of pupils in other teachers.

(13) The teacher criticizes the professional competence or professional reputation of another teacher only in confidence to proper officials and after the other teacher has been informed of the criticism.

(14) The teacher, when making a report on the professional performance of another teacher, does so in good faith and, prior to submitting the report, provides the teacher with a copy of the report.

(15) The teacher does not take, because of animosity or for personal advantage, any steps to secure the dismissal of another teacher.

(16) The teacher recognizes the duty of protest through proper channels, administrative policies and practices which the teacher cannot in conscience accept; and further recognizes that if administration by consent fails, the administrator must adopt a position of authority.

(17) The teacher as an administrator provides opportunities for staff members to express their opinions and to bring forth suggestions regarding the administration of the school.

In Relation to the Profession

(18) The teacher acts in a manner which maintains the honor and dignity of the profession.

(19) The teacher does not engage in activities which adversely affect the quality of the teacher's professional service.

(20) The teacher submits to the Association disputes arising from professional relationships with other teachers which cannot be resolved by personal discussion.

(21) The teacher makes representation on behalf of the Association or members thereof only when authorized to do so.

(22) The teacher accepts that service to the Association is a professional responsibility.*

74 Programs of Study

74.1 The Degree of BEd

Underlying Principles

The following principles underlie teacher preparation programs in the faculty:

(1) The BEd degree consists of a minimum of 120 units of course weight.

(2) A number of alternative programs should be available in order to accommodate the individual differences in the motivation, knowledge, career objectives and preferred learning styles of students and the differing perspectives, preferences and approaches in the field of education which are reflected in the Faculty.

(3) The activities, courses and programs of the Faculty should be satisfying and meaningful to students.

(4) The education of a teacher is a continuous, life-long process. In addition to emphasizing basic or fundamental preparation, the initial pre-service experience should aid the development of attitudes which will encourage self-evaluation and improvement and the acquisition of the knowledge and skills which will facilitate life-long learning.

(5) Skills and knowledge essential to successful teaching should be an important part of all of the Faculty's teacher preparation programs. These various elements are identified within, and guaranteed by, the component model.

(6) Teacher preparation is a multi-partner, multi-faceted endeavor. The various partners, including all departments of the Faculty, numerous other departments of the University, and the profession, through their collective involvement, should provide intending teachers with essential practical skills, a knowledge of theory and its relationship to practice, liberal studies and subject-matter competence.

(7) Intending teachers should experience in their professional preparation, exemplary models of a variety of teaching styles and modes of effective instruction. This implies that differing methodologies and techniques should be utilized in the education of teachers in the Faculty.

(8) The Faculty of Education is committed to the provision of quality teacher preparation programs and recognizes the importance of continuously monitoring, evaluating and refining its offerings so that they adequately reflect changes in society and advances in knowledge.

Program Planning

At the time of admission, the Faculty of Education provides students with a copy of their program. From this students are expected to be able to identify course requirements to be met for the BEd degree.

It is the candidate's responsibility to be acquainted with all rules and regulations and to meet the requirements for the degree as outlined. Any exceptions to the requirements must be approved in writing by the Associate Dean (Undergraduate Studies) with one copy to be placed in the candidate's file and one to be given to the candidates.

Students entering the Faculty in September 1987 or later are required to complete a 3-credit educational computing science course or equivalent before graduation. Courses which currently satisfy the requirement are CMPUT 161 or EDACT 274. One of these two courses (or equivalent) should be completed as early as possible in the program. Students who have completed another course, or plan to take another course which appears to be equivalent must inquire at the Undergraduate Studies Office to determine whether or not the course meets the requirement.

Students must register in one of the following routes: Elementary, Secondary, Industrial Arts or Vocational Education.

For holders of approved degrees, §74.8 gives details concerning the requirements for admission and certification.

Students who hold a Professional Teaching Certificate and an approved degree should consult §74.9 for information about advanced study in Education.

74.2 Elementary Education Route

Admission:

Beginning September 1991, student quotas will exist for entry to the third year of the Elementary Route of the BEd degree program for students who have not completed ED PR 310 prior to September 1991.

In order to qualify for admission to the third year of the program students must present all of the following:

(1) A minimum Cumulative Grade Point Average (CPGA) of 5.5 or equivalent on 60 units of course weight which must include the following:

a. EDFDN 201 (3 units of course weight)
EDPSY 163 (3)
ED PR 151 (3)

b. EDACT 274 or CMPUT 161 (3)

c. Elements (27 units of course weight)
Language/Literature (6)
Mathematics (3)
Social Science (3)
Natural Science (3)
Fine Arts (3)
Physical Education (3)

d. Non-Education courses (21 units of course weight)

A total of 12 units of course weight of the specified elements and unspecified Non-Educaiton courses must be at the senior level. Students who are interested in specific focus areas must present courses appropriate for these.

(2) Satisfactorily complete ED ES 132.

(3) Present evidence of work or service experience with children or youth.

(4) Provide letters of reference from two persons familiar with the applicant's work, personality, and character.

(5) Provide a focused written statement.

(6) An interview may be required.

Selection and admission will be based primarily on the rank order of the CGPA.

74.2.1 General

The Department of Elementary Education is committed to preparing teachers through the elementary school level who are generalists, i.e. teachers competent to teach all subjects and able to facilitate the learning of all children within our mulitcultural society. The Department believes that to be a teacher is to make the choice to be a life-long learner and facilitate the learning of others. The instructional program is based on the belief that teaching proficiency is dependent upon knowledge of subject matter, pedagogy, critical thinking and problem-solving skills, professional ethics, sensitivity to and respect for children and the sociocultural contexts in which they live, and an understanding of schooling in the social/political/economic environment in which they live. The development of the attributes, the fostering of a sense of community, and the development of a strong professional commitment reflected in a personal philosophy of education are the intent of the Department's program of studies.

Components of the BEd — Elementary Route

I. Non-Education

The four-year program must include 48 units of course weight chosen from outside of the Faculty of Education. Twelve of these must be senior courses, and 27 must be chosen from the courses categorized according to the seven elements:

Element I- Language/Literature (6)
Element II- Mathematics (3)
Element III- Social Science (3)
Element IV- Natural Science (3)
Element V- Fine Arts (3)
Element VI- Canadian Studies (6)
Element VII- Physical Education (3)

The remaining 21 of the 48 units of course weight should be selected from the course offerings of a faculty other than Education. Courses listed for the seven elements may also be considered. Further information is available from either the Department of Elementary Education or the Undergraduate Studies Office.

Element Requirements for Non-Education Component

If specific courses are listed, only those will be accepted for completion of an element. Where broad areas are listed, any course selected from an area is acceptable. Students must meet prerequisite requirements of any course selected.

Element I- Language/Literature (6 units of course weight required)
Select from: CLASS 102, 160, 201, 359, 360
Comparative Literature
ENGL 101, 104, 105
LING 101, 203, 204, 319

Element II- Mathematics (3 units of course weight required)
Select from: Mathematics (MATH 160 recommended)
PHIL 125

Element III - Social Sciences (3 units of course weight required)
Select from: Anthropology
Economics
Geography (Faculty of Arts)
History
Philosophy
Political Science
Sociology

Element IV- Natural Sciences (3 units of course weight required)
Select from: Astronomy
Biology
Botany
Chemistry
Entomology
Geology
Genetics
Geography (Faculty of Science)
HIST 396
Meteorology
PHIL 266/310
Physics
Plant Science
Soil Science
Zoology

Element V- Fine Arts (3 units of course weight required)
Select from: Art and Design
CL TX 151
DANCE 340, 433
DRAMA 101, 102, 149
F ST 200, 205, 311
MUSIC 100, 101, 150, 151

Element VI- Canadian Studies (6 units of course weight required)

The purpose of this element is to increase student knowledge of the cultural heritage and physical environment of Canada. Courses may be found in a wide variety of disciplines, such as Anthropology, Art History, Canadian Studies, Drama, Economics, English, Geography, Geology, History, Music, Political Science and others. The term 'Canada', 'Canadian', or a term referring to a region of Canada should normally occur in the course title or Calendar description of any course to be credited towards this element.

Students may wish to consult the Faculty of Arts section of the Calendar under the title Canadian Content Coordinate Requirements for a quick reference to these courses. Courses other than those listed in this section are also acceptable.

Element VII- Physical Education (3 units of course weight required)
Select from: PESS 292, 293 PAC 320, 361

II. Basic Education

Courses in three departments, Educational Foundations, Educational Psychology and Educational Administration, constitute the Basic Education component.

Study in Educational Foundations is designed to provide students with a socio-historical understanding of Canadian education and an opportunity to study important theoretical questions through one of the recognized disciplines.

Required study in Educational Psychology focuses on child/adolescent development and learning theory and their implications for diagnosing the needs of learners.

In Educational Administration study is concerned with the legal, organizational and professional aspects of a teacher's role.

III. Elementary Education Curriculum and Instruction

In this component, courses focus on general teaching strategies, curriculum and instruction related to specific subject areas, and the shaping of these ideas as related to particular groups of children.

In year three all students are required to take introductory courses in the following subject areas related to the elementary school curriculum:

(1) Communications through Language and Mathematics in the Elementary School (6 units of course weight)

(2) Expressive Arts in the Elementary School—art, movement, and music (6 units of course weight)

(3) Environmental Studies in the Elementary School—health, science, and social studies (6 units of course weight)

(4) Reflective Teaching in the Elementary School (3 units of course weight)

IV. Field Experiences/Practicum

There will be field experiences throughout the program and three levels of practicum. The practicum, a total of 13 weeks, begins in year I with ED PR 151, and is completed in two professional terms later in the program, with ED PR 310 one term and ED PR 328/329 or 330 in the remaining professional term. Admission to ED PR 328/329 or 330 is based on successful completion of ED PR 310 and 16 units of course weight of introductory courses noted in §74.2.1 (III) above.

V. Other Requirements

(1) Students must select an area of focus that has been designed to help develop further competence in an area of school instruction, or to develop a focus which would integrate learnings from several disciplines. Focus areas offered may vary each year. Students should check with the Department of Elementary Education regarding offerings for specific years.

(2) Senior education requirement: Courses have been designed to provide students with a wide range of opportunities for a synthesizing and integrating experience, combining elements of both reflection and action. Students choose one of EDFDN 493, 495 or EDPSY 493, 495.

(3) The Education option courses allow students to choose any senior course in Education.

In summary, the program consists of a total 120-123 units of course weight in the five program components.

The following program will apply to all students who are admitted under the quota regulations beginning September 1991.

Students who completed Ed PR 310 or equivalent prior to September 1991 will normally complete their program as outlined in the 1990-91 Calendar (Generalist Programs). In some instances students in existing programs will need to consult an advisor to determine whether any modifications may be necessary due to course availability.

First and Second Years (60 units of course weight)

The following courses must be completed in the first two years and no later than the end of the winter session of the year for which entry to the third year is being requested. Students are advised to complete specific requirements, e.g. Elements, before selecting non-specified courses.

First Year
ED ES 132 (0) must be completed in first year
ED PR 151 (3)

Either Year
EDFDN 201 (3)
EDPSY 163 (3)
EDACT 274 or CMPUT 161 (3)
Non-Education—Element I (6)
Non-Education—Element II (3)
Non-Education—Element III (3)
Non-Education—Element IV (3)
Non-Education—Element V (3)
Non-Education—Element VI (6)
Non-Education—Element VII (3)
Non-Education courses (21)*

*Students should note that some focus areas require the use of one or more of the non-education courses as prerequisites, as follows:

Early Childhood Education
a. one of ANTHR 307, FAM 350, or SOC 271
b. one of ENGL 388, 389
c. one of DANCE 433, PESS 492
d. one additional course from b. or c.

English as a Second Language
An approved course in introductory linguistics.

Intercultural Education
Complete the Anthropology, Sociology, and Linguistics course as directed in §74.2.2

Third and Fourth Years (60 units of course weight)

Under revision. Details will be provided when program changes have been approved.

74.2.2 Intercultural Education Program

The BEd program provides an opportunity for students to undertake special studies in Intercultural Education. These studies are designed to prepare teachers for service in areas where other cultures prevail, such as Indian, Métis, and Eskimo communities, or third-world countries. The student must complete a prescribed pattern of courses and must be prepared to accept a practicum experience in a cross-cultural setting.

During the four years of the BEd program, the Intercultural Education student must complete a minimum of 21 units of course weight to meet the following requirements:

(1) Social Sciences - Linguistics: Any combination or sequence of courses from the following list to a minimum of 9 units of course weight:

a. Anthropology: ANTHR 101 (3), ANTHR 150 (3), ANTHR 201 (3), ANTHR 307 (3), ANTHR 308 (3), ANTHR 327 (6);

b. Sociology: SOC 100 (3), SOC 101 (3), SOC 261 (3), SOC 368 (3), SOC 300 (3), SOC 437 (3);

c. Linguistics: LING 101 (3), or LING 203 (3).

The above courses should be selected as Non-Education Element Requirements:

Either
a. ED EL 450 (3) (note prerequisite requirement)
b. ED EL 461 (3) or ED EL 460 (3)

c. EDFDN 422 (3) or EDFDN 431 (3), or EDFDN 432 (3), or EDFDN 474 (3)

d. EDFDN 410 (3)

or

a. EDFDN 410 (3)

b. EDFDN 422 (3) or EDFDN 431 (3), or EDFDN 432 (3), or EDFDN 474 (3)

c. Special Interest Area. Six units of course weight selected from courses in a special interest area, such as Native Canadian, Latin American, or Far Eastern Studies. Courses taken in this area must be approved by the Coordinator of Intercultural Education.

Note A: EDFDN 410 requires either EDFDN 310 or anthropology prerequisite, and ED EL 450 requires a nguistics prerequisite.

Note B: Intercultural Education students should take)FDN 310 or 360 as part of their Basic Education quirements.

At the request of the student, the intercultural focus ll be recognized by a letter from the Dean stating that a student has completed the course requirements in tercultural Education.

Any student interested in Intercultural Education is ivised to consult the Coordinator of the Intercultural ogram, Department of Educational Foundations. The ordinator must approve all programs.

4.3 Secondary Education Route

4.3.1 General

In September, 1991, the Department of Secondary ducation will impose a quota on admission to year 3 of e program.

Students who have completed ED PR 353 (Phase and the associated courses of Phase II should refer to e program outline in the 1990-91 Calendar or contact e Student Programs Office.

The Secondary Education route provides the use of o professional terms. The first professional term will ke place during year three or four. Four courses will be ken during the first ten weeks of the term and will be llowed by a four week full-day practicum experience hase II).

The second professional term will take place during ar three or year four. Three courses will be taken on mpus interspersed with a full day eight-week practicum perience.

For those students who have specialization courses nich are comprised almost entirely of full-year courses, g., Art and Drama, it may be necessary to take Phase and Phase III of the practicum during the same ademic year, that is, Phase II during term one and ase III during term two.

Note: All students who require or plan to take full ar courses should take these courses in year one or o where possible.

4.3.2 Majors - Secondary Education Route

Six full-course equivalents (36 units of course weight) r a major are required on the secondary education ute. Students must choose a major from the following:

Art
Biological Sciences
Business Education
Drama
English
General Sciences
Home Economics
Mathematics
Modern Languages (French, German, Slavic Languages)
Music
Physical Education
Physical Sciences
Social Studies

Provision is also made for a minor. It is expected at all students will choose a minor from either a bject discipline, or an area identified as a non-subject ea specialization.

Students will choose a minor from the subject areas s listed under the majors. A minimum of 18 units of urse weight in the subject area will be required for the inor. Three units of course weight of the 18 units of urse weight total may be comprised of a Curriculum nd Instruction course in the field of specialization. The maining 15 units of course weight will be offered by culties other than the Faculty of Education.

Minors that are not subject specific have been developed. Such programs consist of clusters of courses (up to a maximum of 18 units of course weight) distributed throughout the four year program.

The following component model will illustrate the areas and credits required for a BEd degree in Secondary education.

Component	Units of Course Weight
Basic Education
EDPSY 163 and 371	6
EDFDN 201 and one of: EDFDN 310, 340, 341, 350, 360, 361	6

Note: General Studies: Courses to fulfill this component must be selected from areas outside the major and minor and outside the Faculty of Education. Unspecified: Courses to fulfill this component may be selected from those offered by any department of the University.

ED PR 151 (Phase I), EDFDN 201, and EDPSY 163 can be taken either during Year 1 or Year 2 of the program, but preferably during Year 1. EDPSY 371 and the 300 level specified course in Educational Foundations will be taken concurrently with EDSEC 200 and Phase II practicum during either Year 3 or Year 4, preferably Year 3. Phase III practicum and associated Curriculum and Instruction courses (integrated program) will be taken during Year 3 or Year 4, preferably term two of Year 3 or term one of Year 4. The Senior Education Requirement course and EDADM 401 will be taken where possible following the integrated program, preferably during Year 4. The major, minor, and options will be distributed throughout the four year program (excluding professional terms).

Outlined below for each major and each minor are:

(1) A list of courses, elements of which should be chosen to complete requirements for the major component.

Note A: 36 units of course weight are required on the major component and 18 units of course weight are required on the minor component over the four year program

Note B: Unless otherwise indicated, the first course(s) listed are the recommended registration for the first year.

(2) Those Curriculum and Instruction courses which are required in the major. (Note: Curriculum and Instruction courses on the major are normally taken with ED PR 354, 355, 356, 370.)

(2) UKR 401 and 402

(3) 3 units of course weight chosen from UKR 311, 312, 326, 411, 412, 422, 423, 425, 426, 453, 454, 455, SLAV 301.

(4) EDSEC 270

Modern Languages - Other Languages

Note: It may be possible to arrange a program for students who intend to teach a language other than those listed above, and for which a 10-20-30 sequence exists in the school system.

Music

Major

(1) a. MUSIC 150 and 151
b. MUSIC 124
c. MUSIC 220
d. MUSIC 209 and 211
e. MUSIC 216 and 217
f. MUSIC 230
g. MUSIC 315 and one of: MUSIC 416, 417 or MUSIC 431

(2) EDSEC 344 and 345

Students are strongly urged to take MUSIC 231 as an option.

First year students will take MUSIC 150 and 151 and MUSIC 124. Entry to MUSIC 150/151 normally depends on demonstrated theoretical competence while entry to MUSIC 124 normally depends on the successful passing of an audition during May, June, and August preceding the student's first year. Under certain circumstances the first year requirements may be waived or postponed until second year.

Students who have not passed the audition and taken MUSIC 124 by the end of their second year will not be allowed to continue in the Music major.

Students wishing greater specialization in secondary music education than what is provided for by the above program should consult with the faculty adviser in the Department of Secondary Education.

Level II - PAC 360, 361, 362
e. Individual Activities
Level I - PAC 145, 154, 163, 166, 170, 171, 172
Level II - PAC 354, 370

(3) EDSEC 349 and 350

Note A: PESS 120 and PESS 260 are open to majors if offered during Intersession. These courses can be taken as open options.

Note B: It is recommended that PESS 180 be taken in Year 3 or 4.

(4) Options: PESS 209, PESS 304, PESS 401, PESS 404, PESS 408.

Minor

(1) PESS 294

(2) Activity Courses (PAC)

Activity courses are those which focus on a physical activity or group of activities.

Level I courses focus specifically on personal skill acquisition and thus the evaluation process in these courses is designed to assess personal skill.

Level II activity courses focus specifically on the analysis and instruction of a physical activity or group of activities.

In total, every minor must present 12 activity units of course weight prior to graduation with a maximum of 3 units of course weight selected from any one of the seven activity dimensions.

a. Aquatics
Level I - PAC 100
Level II - PAC 300, 400
b. Dance
Level I - DAC 155, 160
Level II - DANCE 340, 350, DAC 355, 360,

(3) EDPSY 417

(4) EDFDN 434 or 456

Secondary Special Education

(1) EDPSY 341

(2) EDPSY 329

(3) EDPSY 207

(4) ED ES 348

(5) EDPSY 309

(6) 3 units of course weight option to be selected in consultation with an adviser from the Department of Educational Psychology.

Educational Media

(1) Instructional Technology Emphasis

a. EDMDA 351 and 471
b. 6 to 9 units of course weight from: EDMDA 465, 467, 470, 473, 481, 483, EDACT 274, EDPSY 479, 481, 487, 489, CMPUT 114, 161, 162
c. 3 to 6 units of course weight from: ANTHR 101, 308, 330, ART 131, PHIL 240, 301, 326, PSYCO 341, 358, 361, 383, SOC 100/201, 241, 344, F ST 200, or other related courses approved by the Faculty adviser.

(2) Learning Resources Emphasis

a. EDMDA 351 and ED ES 346
b. 3 units of course weight from: LIS 515, EDMDA 470
c. 3 to 6 units of course weight from: EDMDA 465, 467, 471, 473, 481, 483, CMPUT 114, 161, 162, EDPSY 479, 481, EDACT 274
d. 3 to 6 units of course weight from: ANTHR 101, 308, 330, ART 131, PHIL 240, 301, 326, PSYCO 341, 358, 361, SOC 241, 344, F ST 200, or other related courses approved by the Faculty adviser.

English as a Second Language (Minor)

(1) LING 101 or 203

(2) LING 204

(3) LING 320 or EDPSY 477

(4) ANTHR 101 or 307

(5) 3 units of course weight chosen in consultation with an adviser

(6) EDSEC 271 or an additional 3 units of course weight chosen in consultation with an adivser.

Environmental Education (Minor)

(1) 3 units of course weight chosen from: BIOL 110, GEOG 131, ZOOL 260.

(2) 3 units of course weight chosen from: BOT 381, PHIL 355, SOILS 316, ZOOL 460.

(3) 3 units of course weight chosen from: AG EN 308, AG EN 313, AN SC 350, BOT 383, ECON 365, ECON 366, ENT 408, FOR 200, FOR 310, FOR 314, INT D 365, INT D 369.

(4) 3 units of course weight chosen from : FOR 360, FOR 365, GEOG 424, SOILS 485, ZOOL 361.

(5) 3 units of course weight chosen from: (1), (2), (3), or (4) or ANTHR 330, BOT 230, BOT 231, BOT 333, BOT 431, FOR 316, FOR 318, FOR 430, FOR 431, GEOG 331, GEOG 336, GEOL 207, MA SC 430, PHYS 261, PHYS 263, PL SC 352, SOC 462, SOILS 330, SOILS 360, SOILS 450, SOILS 460, ZOOL 231, ZOOL 331, ZOOL 366, ZOOL 371.

(6) 3 units of course weight chosen from : EDSEC 463, EDSEC 254, EDSEC 266, or 3 units of course weight chosen in consultation with an adviser.

74.3.4 Intercultural Education Program

The BEd program provides an opportunity for students to undertake special studies in Intercultural Education. These studies are designed to prepare teachers for service in areas where other cultures prevail, such as Indian, Métis, and Eskimo communities, or third-world countries. The student must complete a prescribed pattern of courses and must be prepared to accept a practicum experience in a cross-cultural setting.

Secondary Intercultural Education students should complete the Intercultural Education minor based on the following sequence:

(1) Social Sciences - Linguistics: Any combination or sequence of courses from the following list to a minimum of 9 units of course weight:

a. Anthropology: ANTHR 101 (3), ANTHR 150 (3), ANTHR 301 (3), ANTHR 307 (3), ANTHR 308 (3), ANTHR 327 (6);

b. Sociology: SOC 100/101 (6), SOC 261 (3), SOC 368 (3), SOC 300 (3), SOC 437 (3);

c. Linguistics: LING 101 (3), or LING 203 (3)

(2) Educational Foundations: 6 units of course weight:

a. EDFDN 410 (3), and

b. one of EDFDN 422 (3), 431 (3), 432 (3), or EDFDN 474 (3).

(3) Special Interest Area: Six units of course weight selected from courses in a special interest area, such as Teaching English as a Second Language, or Native Canadian, Latin American, or Far Eastern Studies. Courses taken in this area must be approved by the Coordinator of Intercultural Education.

Note A: Intercultural Education students should take EDFDN 360 or EDFDN 310 as part of their basic education requirements.

Note B: EDFDN 410 requires either EDFDN 310 or an anthropology prerequisite.

At the request of the student, the intercultural focus will be recognized by a letter from the Dean stating that the student has completed the course requirements in Intercultural Education.

Any student interested in Intercultural Education is advised to consult one of the advisers of the Intercultural Program, Department of Educational Foundations. Advisers must approve all programs.

74.4 Industrial Arts Route

74.4.1 General

The Industrial Arts Education Route provides teacher preparation with a specialization in teaching industry and its application of various crafts and technologies. The program in the schools is part of a general education, with emphasis at the junior high school level on exploring the technological society in which we live. At the senior high school level the range of activity usually narrows and may include orientation to various career fields. The program focuses on industry, its materials and its technologies, as well as the occupational characteristics of careers in a modern technological society.

A large part of the Industrial Arts Education program is conducted in laboratories where students learn to use the materials, machines and technology of modern industry.

The University of Alberta and the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology are presently exploring a collaborative approach to the teaching of technical content for Industrial Arts Route students. Although registered at the University, students receive instruction in some of their courses at the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology. Industrial Arts students will continue to learn to teach in a laboratory environment on the University of Alberta campus.

Note: Students entering the Faculty in September 1987 or later are required to complete a 3-credit educational computing science course or equivalent before graduation. Courses which currently satisfy the requirement are CMPUT 161 or EDACT 274. One of these two courses (or equivalent) should be completed as early as possible in the program. Students who have completed another course or plan to take another course which appears to be equivalent must inquire at the Faculty Records Office to determine whether or not the course meets the requirement.

Quota

A quota on enrolllment in the Industrial Arts Route of the BEd degree program exists for students who will be entering Year 2 of this program. Thirty applicants will be accepted.

Admission to Year 2 of the Industrial Arts Route will be based on the following criteria:

(1) Presentation of the following courses with a minimum Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of 5.5:

ED ES 132
EDFDN 201
English (6)
Social Science (6)
Science (6)
EDACT 274
ED PR 151

(2) Documented experience with children or youth.

(3) Two confidential letters of reference.

(4) A focused written statement.

(5) A personal interview may be required.

74.4.2 Program

Normally, the four year program will be as follows:

First year

1. EDPSY 163	6. EDACT 274
2. EDFDN 201	7. ED PR 151
3. ENGL	8. ENGL
4. Social Science	9. Social Science
5. Science	10. Science

Second year

11. EDACT 211	16. EDPSY 341
12. EDACT 213	17. EDPSY 371
13. EDACT 233	18. EDACT 391
14. EDACT 235	19. EDFDN 3xx
15. EDACT 237	20. ED PR 351

Third year

21. EDACT 395	26. EDACT 412
22. EDACT 457	27. EDACT 416
23. EDADM 401	28. EDACT 436
24. Minor	29. EDACT 438
25. Minor	30. EDACT 477

Fourth year

31. EDACT 485	37. Senior Ed Requirement: One of ED FDN/EDPSY 493/495
32. EDACT 497	38. Minor
33. ED PR 357	39. Option
34. ED PR 358	40. Option
35. ED PR 359
36. Minor

Notes:

(1) Courses 3 and 8 will normally be ENGL 101 or 104 and 105.

(2) Courses 4 and 9 will normally be one of: SOC 100/101; ANTHR 101/201, or ECON 101/102.

(3) Courses 5 and 10 will normally be selected from the following: BIOL 100, GENET 197, BOT 199, ZOOL 120; or CHEM 100, 104; or MATH 113, 114, 115, 153, 154; or PHYS 105, 106.

(4) Course 19 will be one of EDFDN 310, 340, 341, 350, 360 or 361.

(5) Minor courses are taken in subject matter areas offered in the secondary schools or they may be taken in one of the three non-teaching minors (Intercultural Education, Secondary Special Education or Educational Media). A description of minors may be found in §74.3 Secondary Education Route. Industrial Arts Route students are not able to complete minors that require courses extending over both terms.

(6) Option courses may be selected freely and used in the area of the minor education or general interest.

(7) Students transferring from other faculties or other institutions may experience course scheduling difficulties and should therefore contact the Department of Adult, Career and Technology as early as possible for individual program planning.

74.4.3 Intercultural Education Program

The BEd program provides an opportunity for students to undertake special studies in Intercultural Education. These studies are designed to prepare teachers for service in areas where other cultures prevail, such as Indian, Métis, and Eskimo communities, or third-world countries. The student must complete a prescribed pattern of courses and must be prepared to accept a practicum experience in a cross-cultural setting.

Students in the Industrial Arts and Vocational routes will follow the course sequence outlined for Secondary route students.

At the request of the student, the intercultural focus will be recognized by a letter from the Dean stating that the student has completed the course requirements in Intercultural Education.

Any student interested in Intercultural Education is advised to consult one of the advisers of the Intercultural Program, Department of Educational Foundations. Advisers must approve all programs.

74.4.4 Minor in Secondary Special Education

For students wishing to pursue a minor in this area, the following courses are to be included in the program:

(1) EDPSY 341

(2) EDPSY 207

(3) and (4) two of:

EDPSY 329
EDPSY 411
EDPSY 419
EDPSY 475
EDFDN 463
ED ES 348
EDSEC 440
PSYCO 341
PSYCO 358
SOC 224
SOC 377
FAM 321
PESS 140

(5) EDACT 391. This course is mandatory for all Industrial Arts students. For those in the Secondary Special Education minor, the practicum experience will be with atypical adolescents and would involve working with exceptional pupils, individualizing instruction by taking into account the pupil's strengths and weaknesses and, in general, adapting programs to pupils. In addition, ED PR 351 or one of ED PR 358 or 359 will take place in a Special Education context.

74.5 Vocational Education Route

74.5.1 General

The Vocational Education Route to the BEd degree provides preparation to teach in two general instructional specializations:

) High School Specialization ) Adult Education Specialization: See §74.6.

uota

A quota on enrollment in the Vocational Education oute of the BEd degree program (High School Spe- alization) exists for students who will be entering Year of the program. Admission will be limited to 30 udents.

Admission to Year 2 of the vocation education route ligh school Specialization) will be based on the follow- g criteria:

) Full matriculation or non-matriculated adult admission requirements as defined for the Faculty of Education.

) Evidence of current competency through documentation of at least a four-year training period and appropriate Journeyman Certificate or equivalent in one of the following areas: Autobody, Automotives, Beauty Culture, Building Construction, Business, Drafting, Electricity, Electronics, Food Preparation, Graphic Arts, Health Services, Horticulture, Machine Shop, Piping, Sheet Metal, Visual Communications, Welding. (Note: Admission may be limited within some subject areas and may vary annually.)

) Documented work experience, closed letters of reference outlining employment period, nature of job requirements, and quality of work performed. In areas where a Journeyman certificate is not issued, equivalency will be determined by relevant documents, letters of reference, and, in the case of Business applicants, a documented typing speed of not less than 55 wpm net on a 5-minute timed test with not more than eight errors.

) Documented previous experience with children or youth.

) Two confidential letters of reference.

) A focused written statement.

) ED ES 132 (Speech Screen).

) A personal interview may be required.

(2) Subject Area: A minimum of 15 units of course weight and a maximum of 30 units of course weight (one year) of transfer credit is available on the program in recognition of training and experience in the identified trade/business or technical/business area. (This is detailed in the "Transfer Credit" section below).

(3) "Minor" courses must be selected from one subject area other than vocational education as specified in §74.3.2 of the Education Calendar (High School Specialization). Although 12 units of course weight are required in this area, it is recommended that students take a minimum of 18 units of course weight. For Business Education students the minor will be Business Education.

(4) "Non-Education" courses must be taken outside the Faculty of Education and may be used to extend competency in the minor or for a more general education.

(5) "Option" courses may be selected freely and used in the area of minor, special education courses, such as EDPSY 341 (exceptional children), or for general interest.

(6) ED PR 351 occurs full days in the latter part of the term, therefore must be accompanied by courses scheduled for 10 weeks.

Transfer Credit

Subject Area: A minimum of 15 units of course weight and a maximum of 30 units of course weight of transfer credit is available on the program in recognition of training and experience in the identified trade, or business/or technical areas.

Training: Successful completion of a four-year training period (or equivalent) including appropriate certification is a required and integral part of the program.

(1) Normally, students will present documentation of training and Alberta certification and be awarded transfer credit in the Industrial Practicum courses EDACT 223-443.

(2) Students admitted with an incomplete training program will receive credit toward the Industrial Practicum requirements according to the amount of training documented on entry. Students are required to register in the remaining work experience courses and carry out the requirements specified in receiving further credit.

Experience: On entry into the program, students presenting work experience beyond the four-year training period receive additional transfer credit on the basis of 3 units of course weight for each full year of experience, up to a maximum of 15 units of course weight.

74.6 Postsecondary/Adult Education

74.6.1 General

The Vocational Education Route to the BEd degree provides preparation in two general instructional specializations:

(1) High School Specialization: See §74.5.

(2) Adult Education Specialization: This career specialization is designed for adult educators teaching in a wide variety of school and non-school settings. The program provides for a campus-based set of course offerings as well as provision for distance delivery of a portion of the program to groups of students at selected centres.

Admission Requirements

See §13.4.5 of this Calendar.

Special Entrance Requirements

In order to meet the circumstances of many current teachers and instructors of adults, provision has been made for applicants to be admitted on a conditional basis without the normal admission requirements and constraints noted above.

Admission for this career goal is limited to skill areas represented by either on-going or formally-planned education/training programs. Admission is subject to current competency in the required subject area and the required experience to teach in that area by providing documentation of:

(1) At least a four-year training period including an appropriate competency certificate or equivalent, letters of reference outlining employment period, nature of job requirements, and quality of work performed, and

(2) a. A minimum of one year's successful full time teaching experience in the referent adult program.

b. In the case of formally planned programs for future implementation, a letter of reference from appropriate program administrators attesting to the suitability of the candidate's potential for teaching adult programs may be accepted in lieu of teaching experience.

(2) Subject Area: A minimum of 15 units of course weight and a maximum of 30 units of course weight (one year) of transfer credit is available on the program in recognition of training and experience in the subject area. (This is detailed in the "Transfer Credit" section below).

(3) "Minor" courses will be chosen in consultation with a program adviser to develop content skills in a second teaching area.

(4) "Non-Education" courses must be taken outside the Faculty of Education and may be used to extend competency in the minor or for a more general education.

(5) "Option" courses may be selected freely and used in the area of minor, special education courses, such as EDPSY 341 (exceptional children), or for general interest.

Transfer Credit

Subject Area: A minimum of 15 units of course weight and a maximum of 30 units of course weight (one year) of transfer credit is available on the program in recognition of training, experience and teaching in a recognized subject area.

Training: Successful completion of a four-year training period (or equivalent) including appropriate certification is a required and integral part of the program.

Experience: On entry into the program, students presenting work/teaching experience beyond the four-year training period receive additional transfer credit on the basis of 3 units of course weight for each full year of experience, up to a maximum of 15 units of course weight.

Sample Program - Adult Education

Sequence of Courses - Recognizing that most students on this route will attend part-time for most of the program (probably only attending one year as a full-time student), a year by year course plan is not relevant. However, planning for course sequencing is necessitated by certain course prerequisites. The program is divided into four major components.

(1) Potential transfer credit based on appropriate training and experience in an approved subject area:

EDACT 223	Non-Education
EDACT 243	Non-Education
EDACT 323	ED PR 151
EDACT 343	ED PR 351
EDACT 423	ED PR 357
EDACT 443

(2) Andragogy courses focusing on instructional planning and delivery in adult education, some of which may be offered on a distance delivery basis:

Level I
EDACT 245	EDADU 460
EDACT 390	Option
EDPSY 371
Level II
EDADU 461	ED PR 454
EDACT 485	Option
EDMDA 351

(3) 30 units of course weight of non-education courses that can be transferred from other institutions:

ENGL	Minor
ENGL	Minor
Minor	Non-Education
Minor	Non-Education
Non-Education	Non-Education

(4) A year of residence:

EDPSY 163	EDFDN —
EDFDN 301	Senior Ed Requirement
EDADM 401	Non-Education
Option	Non-Education
Option	ED PR 455

Courses may be taken at various places in a student's program depending on individual plans for attending university. Normally, the minimum requirement of one year of full-time attendance occurs toward the end of a student's program.

Further information may be obtained from the Office of the Chair, Department of Adult, Career and Technology Education.

74.7 Combined BEd/BSc Degree Program

74.7.1 General

The Faculty of Education and the Faculty of Science have implemented a new combined degree program which is more highly structured and provides less flexibility in course choice and sequencing since it is designed to meet the minimum requirements of both degrees in five years. In addition, it must meet teacher certification requirements.

To accommodate the variety in subject studies needed in secondary school teaching, students in the combined program will select a major/minor from areas of concentration as follows:

Biological Sciences: Biochemistry, Botany, Biology Entomology, Genetics, Microbiology, Pharmacology, Physiology, Zoology.

Physical Sciences: Astronomy, Biochemistry, Chemistry, Geophysics, Mathematical Physics and Physics.

Mathematical Sciences: Computing Science, Mathematics, Statistics and Applied Probability.

A quota on enrollment in the BEd/BSc degree program exists for students who will be entering Year 3 of this program.

(1) 60 units of course weight with a minimum CGPA of 5.5. The 60 units of course weight will be those described in Year 1 and 2 below for the specific major. i.e. Biological Sciences, Physical Sciences, Mathematical Sciences.

(2) Evidence of work or service experience with children.

(3) Letters of reference from two persons familiar with the applicant's work, personality, and character.

(4) A focused written statement.

(5) An interview may be required.

Selection and admission will be based primarily on the rank order of the CGPA.

(1) Six units of course weight from: GENET 197, BOT 199, MICRB 193, ZOOL 120

(2) Six units of course weight from: Group 1 (BOT 201, 210, ZOOL 225, 250); Group 2 (BIOL 202, BOT 219); Group 3 (BOT 220, 230, 231, 333, ZOOL 231); Group 4 (GENET 270, 275, 280); Group 5 (BIOL 201, MICRB 370); Group 6 (BOT 240, 250, ZOOL 241)
Note: 3 units of course weight must be selected from at least two groups.

(3) Six units of course weight from: BIOL 315, BOT 419, 431, 422, 455; GENET 300, 304, 308, 312, 315, 318, 319, 364, 371, 381, 390; ZOOL 321, 331, 332, 335, 340, 341, 342, 351, 361, 464, 366, 370, 371; Marine Science at the 400-level or any other 400-level course in Biological Science approved by an adviser.

Mathematical Science Minor

(1) MATH 113 or 114 and 115

(2) MATH 241 and CMPUT 251 or equivalent

(3) Six units of course weight, 3 of which must be at the 400-level.

Physical Science Minor

(1) CHEM 104

(2) PHYS 141 and 143 or 105 and 106

(3) Six units of course weight from: CHEM 330, 361, 363, 375, 313; PHYS 301, 302, 309, 307; ASTRO 310.

74.7.3 Transfer

Transfer into the Combined Program from a University of Alberta BEd or BSc Program

A student in either a BEd or BSc program may transfer into the combined degree program after the first or second year providing that all course and academic standing requirements of the first and second year of the combined degree program and all admission requirements have been met at the time of transfer.

Transfer from Other Faculties and Universities

Transfer into the combined program from other faculties or universities will normally not be possible. The applicant is advised to apply for admission to either the BEd or BSc program and upon completion enter an after-degree program in Science or Education.

Transfer from Alberta Colleges

Transfer into the combined program by applicants from certain two-year collége programs may be possible after the first year providing that all course and academic standing requirements of the first year of the combined program and all admission requirements have been met at the time of transfer.

Normally, a student will be able to transfer from the combined program to a BEd or BSc General program after Year 1, 2 and 3 and should be able to complete a single degree in one to three years.

A student transferring into the combined program with transfer credit normally will be required to complete at least 90 (normally the last 90) units of course weight while registered in the combined program.

74.7.4 Registration Requirements

(1) A student in the combined program will not be granted the privilege of repeating a failed course more than once during the program except with the permission of the Dean of Education and the Dean of Science. A student will not be permitted to repeat a course in which a grade of 4 or more has been received except with the permission of the Dean of Education and the Dean of Science.

(2) Courses with prerequisite requirements may only be used for credit if the prerequisite requirements have been met. A grade of 4 is the minimum grade acceptable in a course which is to be used as a prerequisite.

(3) First year students must restrict their registration to junior level (normally 100-level) courses. Senior courses may be taken by a first year student only upon approval by the Dean of Education and the Dean of Science.

(4) Normally, no more than 48 units of course weight at the junior level are permitted in the combined program.

(5) A full time student in the combined program should normally register in 30 units of course weight during the winter session of each year of the program.

(6) A student may be permitted to complete the requirements for the combined program over a longer period than five years upon approval by the Dean of Education and the Dean of Science.

74.7.5 Academic Standing

Admission to and continuation in the combined BEd/BSc program requires a Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of at least 5.5. A student who does not meet the requirement to continue in the combined degree program must withdraw from the combined program and may apply for admission to either a BEd program or a BSc program, if eligible. See §72.4 regarding the definition of Cumulative Grade Point Average. Refer to §72.4 or §192.6 and §192.7 to determine the academic standing regulations for admission to either the BEd or BSc General programs.

74.7.6 Graduation

(1) To receive the BEd and BSc degrees concurrently, a student must have completed all requirements of the combined program and must have achieved a CGPA of at least 5.5 on all courses with numeric grades credited to the combined program. Moreover, a GPA of at least 5.5 must be attained in all courses in the major Subject or Area of Concentration.

(2) A student will be allowed to take no more than 12 units of course weight beyond the number of credits normally required for the degree in order to raise the CGPA to the required graduating average.

(3) A student achieving a CGPA of 7.5 or higher in the final 60 units of course weight with numeric grades will have the notation "With Distinction" printed on each diploma.

74.7.7 Appeals and Grievances

(1) A student in the BEd/BSc combined program, seeking a review of a decision on academic standing must first consult with an Associate Dean in the Faculty of Education and submit a written statement pertaining to the specific decision affecting the student's academic standing. This statement should include related documents upon which an appeal can be based and must be made within 30 days of the original decision on academic standing. The Associate Dean of Education will consult with the Associate Dean of Science. They will make a decision on the appeal and inform the student.

(2) If the student is not satisfied with the decision, the student may appeal, in writing, to the Dean of Education. The Dean of Education will consult with the Dean of Science. They will make a decision on the appeal and inform the student. An appeal to the Dean must be made within 15 days of receiving the written decision from the Associate Dean.

(3) If the student is still not satisfied, the student may appeal, in writing, to the BEd/BSc Combined Program Appeals Committee on Academic Standing. An appeal to this committee must be made within 30 days of receiving the written decision from the Deans.

(4) If the latter appeal decision is not satisfactory, the student has the right of appeal to the GFC Academic Appeals Committee. An appeal to this committee must be made within 30 days of receiving the written decision from the Combined Program Appeals Committee.

A copy of the regulations regarding Appeals may be obtained from the Faculty of Education Undergraduate Studies Office or the Faculty of Science Office.

74.7.8 Reexaminations

(1) A student is permitted to take a reexamination(s) in up to 6 units of course weight from among all eligible courses (including those offered by faculties other than Education and Science) while registered in the combined program.

(2) For a student failing to meet the graduation CGPA, a reexamination in an Education or a Science course in the last session, whether failed or passed, may be approved in the final year (last 30 units of course weight) of the combined program in which the session CGPA is less than 5.5 on the condition that the maximum number of reexaminations (6 units of course weight) has not been previously taken.

74.8 Combined BPE/BEd Degree Program

During this five-year program, Physical Education courses and Education courses will be studied concurrently. Students will initially apply for admission to the Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation and will be considered to be registered in that Faculty for the first three years of the program. Following this, they apply for admission to the Faculty of Education in order to complete the requirements of the combined degree program where they will be considered along with the Physical Education majors in the Faculty of Education for the quota places of the Secondary Route, Physical Education major. Unsuccessful applicants may stay in the Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation to complete the fourth year of the BPE degree program.

74.9 BEd Program for Certificated Teachers

Certificated teachers are granted credit for the first year of the general Education program for their Normal School or Junior E training, provided this training was of not less than seven months duration.

Teachers who have not attended the University of Alberta should seek admission by contacting the Registrar's Office, University of Alberta, to obtain Application for Admission forms.

Teachers who completed a one-year program offered by the University of Alberta (prior to 1962) should contact the Registrar's Office to obtain Application for Readmission or On-Campus Transfer forms.

75 BEd Programs for Holders of Approved Degrees

75.1 General

The Faculty of Education offers a program to prepare holders of approved degrees for the Professional Teaching Certificate issued by the Alberta Department of Education.

Candidates will register as BEd/AD students.

75.2 Admission

Admission to the BEd/AD program is limited by a quota to Year 3 of the BEd degree program.

Candidates seeking admission to the BEd After Degree program must present:

(1) A degree which includes adequate preparation in an area of teaching concentration relevant to the elementary and/or secondary schools.

(2) A CGPA of at least 5.5 on the last two years of the degree program.

(3) Evidence of work or service experience with children or youth.

(4) Letters of reference from two persons familiar with the applicant's work, personality, and character.

(5) A focused written statement.

(6) An interview may be required.

Selection and admission will be based primarily on the rank order of the CGPA.

Elementary

Candidates seeking admission to the BEd/AD, Elementary route, are required to present 36 units of course weight of work in areas relevant to subjects taught in elementary schools. A minimum of 15 units of course weight in five of the seven following areas must be presented: Canadian Studies, Fine Arts, Language and Literature, Mathematics, Natural Science, Physical Education, Social Science.

Secondary:

Candidates seeking admission to the BEd/AD, secondary route, are required to present 36 units of course weight in one of the specialization areas described below (major). As well, candidates must have a second area of specialization designated as a minor with at least one full course equivalent (6 units of course weight) already completed (See §74.3.2 for details of major and minor).

In each major area of specialization, specific courses are required and these or their equivalents form part of the prerequisite.

Art: ART 131; ART H 101, 102 or 306, 356. Twenty-seven units of course weight in either Art and Design or, from SOC 461; F ST 205; PSYCO 495; ANTHR 427, 428; PHIL 380, 382; NS 360; CLASS 367, 368.

Biological Sciences: CHEM 160 or 260; BIOL 100, GENET 197, 201, 202; BOT 199; ZOOL 120, and 12 units of course weight from senior offerings in Biology, Botany, Biochemistry, Entomology, Genetics, Microbiology, Zoology.

Business Education: ECON 101, 102; ACCTG 311; ORG T 301, 311; LEG R 301, 402; EDBUS 341, 357; and 12 units of course weight from EDBUS 343, 351, 355, 460, 461, 481, 483, 485, CMPUT 157, ECON 318, 319, FIN 301, IND R 301, 432, MANEC 301, MARK 301, MATH 113 or 114, FAM 430, 460, LAW 302, 303, 304, SOC 225, 327, or other approved courses in Business or Computing Science.

Note: Successful completion of Typewriting 20 is required.

Drama: DRAMA 149; 247; and 30 units of course weight from the following: DRAMA 275, 303, 304, 321, 323, 353, 359, 383, 425, 442, 459, 483, 492.

English: ENGL 101 or equivalent; 12 units of course weight chosen from senior English courses, 3 units of course weight of which must be in Canadian literature; and 18 units of course weight of which 9 units of course weight are from ENGL 212, 298, 299, 311, 312; LING 101, 203, 204; and the remainder are from other senior English courses or CLASS 359, 360; C LIT 301, 302, 371, 372; F ST 200; DRAMA 347, 442; LIS 515.

General Sciences: CHEM 100 or 104; PHYS 105, 106, 204; BIOL 100, GENET 197; one of ASTRO 110 or GEOL 102, 103; 9 units of course weight from CHEM 212, 260, 270, 330; BIOL 201, 202; BOT 199; ZOOL 120; or any senior Biology, Chemistry or Physics. (A major in Biological Sciences or Physical Sciences with suitable options is acceptable for entry into the General Sciences program).

Home Economics: One of CL TX 155 or 203; one of FAM 110 or 211 or SOC 271; one of FD NU 320 or 321; FD NU 225 or 227. An additional 21 units of course weight must be chosen from: CL TX 150, 160, 270, 300, 306; FAM 215, 310, 320, 321, 343, 347, 430; FD NU 320, 321.

Note: Foods and Nutrition majors may substitute advanced nutrition courses for FD NU 225 or 227.

Mathematics: MATH 113 or 114, 115, 120, 241; STAT 141; and an additional 21 units of course weight from: mathematics courses; CMPUT 161, 162; PHYS 141, 143; or up to 6 units of course weight of approved senior science courses.

Modern Languages

French: FREN 150 and 250; or 152 and 350; R LIN 372; FREN 222 and 223 or FR CA 222 and 223; and 15 units of course weight approved by a subject area adviser.

German: GERM 150 or 151; 330 or 340; and 306, 307, 350; plus an additional 15 units of course weight as approved by subject area adviser.

Ukrainian: UKR 150, 311, 312, 326, 401, 402 and 6 units of course weight from SLAV 301 or UKR 411, 412, 422, 423, 425, 426, 453, 454, 455; and additional units of course weight approved by subject area adviser.

Other Languages: It may be possible to arrange a program for students who intend to teach a language other than those listed above, and for which a 10-20-30 sequence exists in the school system.

Note: Oral proficiency in the language is required.

Music: A minimum of 36 units of course weight in Music courses including: MUSIC 211, 217, 220, 121, or 124, 150, 151, 230, 315, and one of MUSIC 416, 417, 431.

Note: An audition may be required.

Physical Education: 21 of the required 36 units of course weight must be from groupings listed below with a minimum of 1.5 units of course weight from each group.

Industrial Arts

Candidates seeking admission to the BEd/AD, I dustrial arts route, must normally present a degree engineering or specialized areas in science. Consu tion with the Department of Industrial and Vocatic Education is mandatory prior to application.

A minimum of 30 units of course weight must completed after being admitted to and registering in Faculty of Education. (See §72.1.6 (2)).

Vocational Education

Applicants must possess a recognized degree cluding 6 units of course weight in English) in additio the previously identified vocational entrance requireme (see §74.5.1).

A minimum of 30 units of course weight must completed after being admitted to and registering in Faculty of Education (see §72.1.6 (2)).

75.3 Programs

Elementary Education

The BEd/AD program, Elementary Route, is c

75.4 Advanced Study in Education

75.4.1 BEd For Holders of Approved Degrees Who Also Hold the Alberta Professional Certificate

1) Holders of approved degrees who have not completed the Professional Diploma of the University of Alberta will be required to complete a minimum of ten full course equivalents (60 units of course weight) in order to qualify for the BEd Degree.

2) Holders of approved degrees who hold the Professional Diploma of the Faculty of Education and the Alberta Professional Certificate may qualify for the BEd Degree by completing a five full-course equivalent (30 units of course weight) program planned in one of the six departments of the Faculty of Education.

75.4.2 Diploma of the Faculty of Education

The Faculty of Education offers, through its six departments, a series of diploma programs providing additional special qualifications in designated areas. Normally admission to a diploma program will include an undergraduate degree and a professional teaching certificate. Where exceptional circumstances warrant, one or both of the above requirements may be waived. Additional requirements may be set and quotas may be imposed on particular diploma programs. Students who now hold the MEd degree may not obtain the Diploma on the basis of courses credited on the MEd degree program. Courses credited toward the diploma may not also be credited toward the BEd degree. The pass mark for courses to be credited toward the Diploma is a grade of 5. Students who fail to complete the diploma program requirements in four years from date of commencement of the program may have their diploma program reviewed, and, if necessary, rearranged according to prevailing requirements.

A candidate who does not hold a Professional Teaching Certificate will not receive one upon the completion of a Diploma program. A student wishing to obtain certification must take the basic Certification program described in §72.9.

A student who has not attended the University of Alberta must complete an Application for Admission form and submit it along with all relevant documentation to the Office of the Registrar by the published deadline.

A student who has attended the University of Alberta should complete an Application for Readmission or On-Campus Transfer form by the published deadline.

More detailed information is available by communicating with the department chair as follows:

Department of Adult, Career and Technology Education (Dr. AG Konrad)
Department of Educational Administration (Dr. EW Ratsoy)
Department of Educational Foundations (Dr. MK Bacchus)
Department of Educational Psychology (Dr. EW Romaniuk)
Department of Elementary Education (Dr. RK Jackson)
Department of Secondary Education (Dr. KG Jacknicke)

(1) Diploma in Early Childhood Education: Program planning and advising for students pursuing a diploma in Early Childhood Education will be offered by appointment only. Please contact the Department of Elementary Education office for further information.

(2) Diploma in General Special Education: This diploma program is designed for experienced teachers who wish to extend their skills in practical classroom settings. Two programs are available. Diploma A is designed for students with a BEd, who lack undergraduate preparation in Special Education. Diploma B is designed for students with the BEd minor, or equivalent, in Special Education at the elementary or secondary levels.

(3) Diploma for Teachers of Hearing Impaired Children: This diploma is designed for certified teachers and others who wish to teach or work in a specialist setting with hearing impaired children. It may be completed in fourteen months, and can be individually designed to meet a variety of academic and practical backgrounds from within or outside the Province of Alberta. It focuses on practical skills applicable in a variety of remedial settings. Additional information may be obtained from the Department of Educational Psychology.

(4) Diploma for Teachers of the Multiple, Dependent Handicapped: This diploma program is designed to train teachers and other personnel to work with the multiple dependent handicapped. The program is twelve to fourteen months' duration and provides comprehensive training in medical and physical management, sensory and communication problems, assessment, curriculum development, instruction, and behavior management. Students must complete practicums and an internship. Additional information may be obtained from the Department of Educational Psychology.

(5) Diploma in Postsecondary Education: A diploma in Postsecondary Education is available for persons holding a first degree in education or in other fields of study. It is intended to provide professional development in andragogy. Program requirements are flexible to allow students to develop concentrations in various applied fields such as teaching, curriculum development, administration, adult basic education, English as a second language, etc.

It should be noted that no formal certification is required at present to teach at the postsecondary level in Alberta. The Diploma program does not result in certification as a teacher.

The program consists of eight three credit courses, four of which must be directly relevant to adult or higher education. There is no residency requirement, but the program must be completed in four years.

Inquiries should be directed to the Chair, Department of Adult, Career and Technology Education.

(6) Diploma in Personal Career and Life Management Education: This Diploma is designed for certified teachers who wish to teach in one or more of Health, Health and Personal Life Skills, and Career and Life Management Programs K-12. A maximum of 12 units of course weight of this 24 units of course weight program may be taken by correspondence and independent study. There is no residence requirement but the program must be completed in four years. Persons holding a bachelor's degree in fields other than education may also apply but will be not granted a teaching certificate on the basis of this program. Enrollment may be restricted. Additional information may be obtained from the Department of Secondary Education.

75.4.3 Graduate Degree Programs in Education

The Faculty of Education offers graduate work for the preparation of teachers, supervisors, guidance counsellors, administrators and other educational specialists, and may lead to the degrees of Master of Education, Doctor of Education and Doctor of Philosophy. Candidates for these advanced degrees choose an area of concentration corresponding to the specialization of a particular department as follows:

Department of Adult, Career and Technology Education: Adult and higher education, industrial arts and vocational education. (Chair - Dr. AG Konrad)

Department of Educational Administration: Administration (elementary, secondary and post-secondary), general supervision, financial and business administration, planning and policy, school leadership, and chief administrative roles. (Chair - EW Ratsoy)

Department of Educational Foundations: Philosophy, sociology, and history of education, anthropology and education and international/intercultural education. (Chair - Dr. MK Bacchus)

Department of Educational Psychology: Counselling psychology, educational psychology, school psychology, special education. (Chair - Dr. EW Romaniuk)

Department of Elementary Education: Curriculum and instruction in kindergarten, primary, and elementary education (Grades I-VI). (Chair - Dr. RK Jackson)

Department of Secondary Education: Curriculum and instruction in secondary education. (Grades VII-XII). (Chair - Dr. K Jacknicke)

In order to meet the needs and interests of candidates, the departments permit considerable flexibility in the programs leading to advanced degrees. In general, students pattern their courses from the offerings of the department of their choice supplemented by approved courses from other departments. Normally a candidate for the master's degree must present a program consisting of either five full courses (30 units of course weight) and a thesis or 7 full courses (42 units of course weight) and a project. For specific details students should consult with the appropriate department chair. A candidate for the master's degree is required to spend at least one academic year in study and research in residence at the University of Alberta. A candidate for the doctor's degree (if the candidate already holds a Master's degree) is normally required to spend two academic years in study and research in residence at the University of Alberta.

Graduate courses in education are offered in the Winter Session, and the Intersession.

Students who wish to inquire about graduate programs should address their preliminary inquiries to the Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, the University of Alberta, Edmonton.

Having decided upon an area of specialization, the student should communicate directly with the appropriate department chair and, if possible, arrange for an interview. By this means the student's eligibility will be determined and further information given about the degree programs available in the department.

All candidates for graduate degrees register with the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research which administers graduate programs throughout the University.

75.4.4 Special Students

Students holding a BEd degree or the equivalent and not desiring to register for a graduate degree, or not meeting all the requirements for admission to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, may apply to the Faculty of Education as a Special Student.

76 Details of Courses

76.1 General Information

The courses listed in §§76.2 to 76.10 inclusive represent the total offerings of the Faculty of Education. Courses on the specializations are usually offered by the other faculties.

Each course is designated by its computer abbreviation and by a number which indicates the level at which it is offered. Courses numbered 100 to 199 are junior courses normally taken by first-year undergraduates. Those numbered 200 to 499 are senior courses normally taken after the first year. Courses numbered at the 500 and 600 level are open only to graduate students. In special cases, students in BEd programs may be permitted to register in 500 level courses but special permission to do so must be obtained in writing from the Chair of the Department offering the course. Only in cases where there is sufficient evidence provided that an undergraduate course will not meet the needs of the student will a registration in a graduate level course be permitted.

The course title is followed by the symbol "★" and a number indicating the units of course weighting used in computing the grade-point average. Usually a single-term course carries a weight of 3, a full course a weight of 6. The next three figures, enclosed in parentheses, indicate the hours of instruction required by the course in a week. The format is as follows: the first position indicates lecture hours; the second position indicates seminar hours (s), demonstration (d), clinic (c), or lecture-lab (L); and the third position indicates laboratory hours. For the single-term courses the term in which the course is offered is listed first. For full courses the time allotment is normally the same in both terms.

The appearance of a course description in the following list does not constitute any guarantee that the course will actually be offered in either or both terms of the forthcoming session. Information as to which courses will be offered, the names of the instructors, and all further details must be sought from the department concerned.

Physical Requirements for University

The University has a commitment to the education of all academically qualified students and special services are frequently provided on campus to assist disabled students.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoidable demands on students, with respect to the possession of a certain level of physical skill or ability, if the academic objectives of the course are to be realized. In case of doubt, students are advised to contact the department concerned and the Disabled Student Services Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all off-campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse registration in such courses.

Note: Effective 1990-91, the Faculty of Education renumbered many of its courses. The following tables list the old and new courses.

EDACT 201 Developmental Course
★1 (either term, 1-0-1). Content varies as new courses are developed. Topics announced prior to registration. The student's transcript carries title descriptive of content. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

EDACT 202 Developmental Course
★2 (either term, 2-0-2). Content varies as new courses are developed. Topics announced prior to registration. The student's transcript carries title descriptive of content. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

EDACT 203 Developmental Course
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Content varies as new courses are developed. Topics announced prior to registration. The student's transcript carries title descriptive of content. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

EDACT 207 Drafting for Industrial Arts Teachers
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Development of necessary techniques for teaching and applying drafting in an industrial arts setting.

EDACT 211 Materials I: Metals and Materials Testing
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Study of the processes and machines inherent in the metal and material testing technologies.

EDACT 213 Materials II: Woods, Plastic, and Earths
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Study of the processes and machines inherent in the wood, plastic and earth technologies.

EDACT 223 Industrial Practicum
★2 (17 weeks).

EDACT 233 Technology I: Power Technology
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Study of energy conversion systems; and energy transmission and control.

EDACT 235 Technology II: Graphics Technologies
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Study of the processes, procedures and materials inherent in the graphics technologies.

EDACT 237 Technology III: Electronic and Computer Technologies
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Study of the concepts and practices inherent in the electrical, electronic, and computer technologies.

EDACT 243 Industrial Practicum
★2 (17 weeks).

EDACT 245 Introduction to Vocational Technical Education
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Background and role of vocational education in Canada and abroad, including the early influences of apprenticeship and guilds.

EDACT 274 Introduction to Microcomputers in Education
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Educational applications of microcomputers. Practically oriented course which mphasizes applications. Other topics include the his-orical development of the computer, an introduction to perating systems and computer programming.

EDACT 323 Industrial Practicum
★2 (17 weeks).

EDACT 343 Industrial Practicum
★4 (33 weeks).

EDACT 375 Applications of Microcomputers in Education
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Integration of the microcom-puter into the educational environment through the ad-anced application of BASIC and spreadsheets/databases. Prerequisite: EDACT 274 or CMPUT 161 or consent of Department. Credit will not be granted for both EDACT 375 and EDACT 575.

EDACT 385 Methods of Performance Evaluation in Vocational Education
★3 (either term, 3-0-0).

EDACT 390 Occupationally Based Instructional Planning
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). This course focuses on the following topics as they relate to industrial and voca-ional education: mastery learning; vocational program goals and objectives; long range curriculum planning; occupational analysis processes; writing performance objectives; psycomotor skill development. Prerequisite: EDACT 245. Corequisite: EDPSY 371.

EDACT 391 Multiple Activity Laboratory I
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Prerequisite or corequisite: EDACT 211, 213, 233, 235, 237.

EDACT 392 Industrial Arts Activities for Elementary Teachers
★3 (second term, 3-0-3).

EDACT 395 Man and Technology I
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Study of the interrelationship of man and technology utilizing simulated industrial environment.

EDACT 396 Skills and Modes of Teaching Voca-tional Education
★3 (either term, 2-0-2). A study of a variety of teaching techniques as they may be used in vocational education laboratories. Emphasis is placed on application of con-cepts with practice in micro-teaching and peer-teaching settings. Considerable time is devoted to the study of student-teacher relationships, communications, problems and conflict resolution. EDACT 396 is intended as the methods course preparatory for the Phase II practicum and Professional Term. Prerequisite or corequisite: ED PR 151, EDACT 245, EDPSY 371.

EDACT 401 Developmental Course
★1 (either term, 1-0-1). Content varies as new courses are developed. Topics announced prior to registration. The student's transcript carries title descriptive of con-tent. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

EDACT 402 Developmental Course
★2 (either term, 2-0-2). Content varies as new courses are developed. Topics announced prior to registration. The student's transcript carries title descriptive of con-tent. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

EDACT 403 Developmental Course
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Content varies as new courses are developed. Topics announced prior to registration. The student's transcript carries title descriptive of con-tent. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

EDACT 404 Developmental Course
★3 (either term, 3-0-0). Content varies as new courses are developed. Topics announced prior to registration. The student's transcript carries title descriptive of content. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Consent of Department.

EDACT 412 Materials I-A
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Further study of Metals. Pre-requisite: EDACT 211.

EDACT 416 Materials II-A
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Further study of Woods, Plas-tics, and Earths. Prerequisite: EDACT 213.

EDACT 423 Industrial Practicum
★4 (34 weeks).

EDACT 434 Technology I-A
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Further study of Power Tech-nology. Prerequisite: EDACT 233.

EDACT 436 Technology II-A
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Further study of Graphics Technologies. Prerequisite: EDACT 235.

EDACT 438 Technology III-A
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Further study of Electronic and Computer Technologies. Prerequisite: EDACT 237.

EDACT 443 Industrial Practicum
★1 (either term, 8 weeks).

EDACT 457 Multiple Activity Laboratory II
★3 (either term, 2-1s-4). Synthesizing activities with content from the material and technology components of productive society.

EDACT 465 Manpower and Curriculum Implications
★3 (second term, 3-0-0). Further study of vocational technical education including implications for manpower training.

EDACT 474 Educational Applications of Microcomputers
★3 (either term, 3-0-3). Practically oriented course which emphasizes applications. Other topics include the his-torical development of the computer, an introduction to operating systems and computing progamming. Re-stricted to Faculty of Education diploma and graduate students. Credit will not be granted for both EDACT 274 and 474.

EDACT 477 Man and Technology II

82.1 Admission and Registration

The general admission requirements, application procedure, registration procedure, and fee schedule are set out in §§13, 14 and 15 of this Calendar. Students wishing to enter the Faculty of Engineering with transfer credit (this includes students returning to the Faculty) must submit their application by June 1 and all documents by June 15.

Prospective students requiring counselling or further information should contact the Associate Dean (Student Services) prior to June 30 (telephone: 492-3320 or 492-3399).

The admission requirements are:

(1) Applicants from Alberta High Schools: Applicants for admission from the high schools of Alberta must normally possess a High School Diploma, a minimum grade of at least 50% and an overall average of at least 70% in the following subjects: Chemistry 30, English 30, Mathematics 30, Mathematics 31 and Physics 30.

(2) Applicants from other Provinces and Territories of Canada: Students from other provinces who have a clear senior matriculation and would be acceptable in a similar program in those provinces may be considered for admission at the University of Alberta. Such applicants must have completed senior matriculation courses in the same subject areas as required of applicants from Alberta High Schools.

(3) Applicants from Outside Canada: Admission requirements for students presenting other than Canadian admission qualifications are outlined in §13.6 of this Calendar.

(4) English Language Proficiency: In addition to the English requirements included above and regardless of country of origin or citizenship status, applicants will be required to demonstrate proficiency in the English language as a prerequisite to admission as indicated in §13.2.2 of this Calendar.

82.2 Residence Requirements

A student proceeding towards a BSc degree in engineering must normally attend at least the equivalent of two academic years in the Faculty of Engineering and complete four full terms of approved course work comprising a minimum of 72 units of credit. This should comprise the last four terms of the student's program.

Where a student has been accepted as a transfer student from another accredited engineering program at a Canadian university and has the equivalent of six full terms of transfer credit, consideration may be given to reducing the residence requirement to one academic year consisting of two full terms.

82.3 Academic Regulations

(1) Quotas: Student quotas exist for initial entry to the Faculty of Engineering and again at the second-year level to a specialized program.

Entry to a specialized program is based upon the student's academic performance in the first, or qualifying, year. All students in a first or qualifying year, and new applicants to the faculty with sufficient advance credit to be considered for the second year quota, must submit a "Second Year Engineering Program Selection Form" by June 15. A student entering the Faculty directly from high school must normally qualify for a specialized program in not more than four terms (two years); others in not more than two terms (one year). Failure to do so will result in the student being required to withdraw.

(2) Requirements to Graduate: Pass in all courses as required by the specific program in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Faculty of Engineering and the University.

(3) Course Load:

a. The normal course loads for each term are outlined in the appropriate section of the calendar under "Programs of Study" (§83 of this Calendar). Students at their own request, or upon the advice of a counsellor, may extend the course load of terms three to eight over a total of eight terms. Students wishing to do so should consult with their departmental adviser at the start of the third term.

b. Students in their qualifying year for a specialized program may not normally take a course load of less than 20 units per term.

c. Other students may not normally take a course load of less than 15 units per term.

d. Students may not take more than a normal load except with Faculty permission. Students on probation must not take a course load in excess of a normal load.

(4) Promotion to Next Term: At the end of each term, a student's progress will be evaluated as follows:

a. Pass: Term GPA not less than 4.5. Proceed to next term, repeating any failed course(s).

b. Conditional: Term GPA less than 4.5 but not less than 4.0. Proceed to next term on probation repeating any failed course(s) except if already on probation or has been twice before, in which case student must withdraw. The only exceptions are: (i) if the student is in "First Term" (§83.2 of this Calendar) of the program the student may proceed to the next term without penalty, repeating any failed course(s); (ii) If a student is in the final term of the program and has not achieved a term average of 4.5 (a passing average), then one more term will be allowed in which the student must complete the degree requirements by obtaining a term average of not less than 4.5.

c. Fail: Term GPA less than 4.0. Required to withdraw except if in "First Term" of the program the student may repeat the term once without penalty, receiving credit for those courses completed with a grade of 4 or better.

The term GPA will be the weighted average for all courses taken in that term. A full-year course will be included in the second term GPA using its full-session unit value. Where a course grade is WF, then the term GPA will be calculated using a numerical value of 1 for such grades.

(5) Deficiencies From a Previous Term: Where a student is deficient in credits in a course (or courses) from a previous term either through failure or otherwise, that student must normally clear that deficiency the next time the course (or courses) is (are) offered.

Where the deficiency is the result of failure or withdrawal from an elective course, another course may be substituted provided that Faculty approval is first received to do so.

(6) Re-enrollment After Being Required to Withdraw: A student who is required to withdraw may make application for re-enrollment for the same term the following year, receiving credit for those courses completed with a grade of 4 or better.

A student who is required to withdraw a second time will not normally be re-admitted to the Faculty of Engineering.

(7) Withdrawal From Courses: Where permitted, a student wishing to drop a course must do so prior t the following dates: First term courses, Novembe 15; Second term courses, March 20. A withdraw after these dates will be assumed to be due t imminent failure in the course(s) and a grade of W will be assigned. For students changing from "credi to "audit" status, see §12.2.3 of this Calendar.

A student's course load may not be reduce below the limits given in (3), Course Load.

(8) Reexaminations:

a. An undergraduate student in the Faculty Engineering may be permitted a reexaminatio provided that:

1) The term engineering average is 5.5 greater.

2) The course load in the term is 15 units more.

3) The grade in the failed course is 3.

4) The student has failed only one course the term.

b. If students are in good standing (4.5 ter average) and are otherwise eligible for graduatio they may be granted a reexamination in or course only in the penultimate term. Th reexamination is to be written by the end Reading Week.

c. If students have passed the reexamination u der clause (b) above, are in good standing (4 term average) and are otherwise eligible f graduation, they may be granted reexaminati privilege in one course only in the next term i is the final term.

d. If students have not written a reexaminati under clause (b) above, are in good standi and are otherwise eligible for graduation, th may be granted reexamination privileges in tw courses only in the final term.

e. Students requesting a reexamination must f low the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of th Calendar.

(9) Part-Time Students: A student unable, for acce able reasons, to carry the course load required §82.3.3 above, may enroll as a part-time student Such a student may not totally complete t degree requirements on a part-time basis but mu meet the normal Faculty residence requiremen (see §82.2 of this Calendar).

(10) Academic Awards and Recognition

a. Unless otherwise specified, consideration an academic award or recognition is norma based upon the work of an academic sessi (two terms), in which the student must ha completed at least a total of 36 units of cred

b. For purposes of determining the eligibility o student to be considered for a particular awa when completion of, or entry to, a year specified, the following guidelines will norm be used:

Year completed (entering)	Minimum units completed
1st (2nd)	36
2nd (3rd)	72
3rd (4th)	108
4th	Degree awarded
5th (Co-op Students Only)	Degree awarded

(11) Appeal of Academic Decisions: Students m appeal an academic decision (but not a spec grade) of a senior administrative officer to Faculty Academic Appeals Committee. To do they must make their decision known to the D within 10 days of the date of the decision. unsuccessful appeal within the Faculty may carried to the General Faculties Council Acade Appeals Committee. See §16.8 of this Calendar copy of the Faculty of Engineering regulations regard Appeals may be obtained from the Faculty Off 5-1 Mechanical Engineering Building.

82.4 Professional Associations and Technical Societies

The practice of Engineering throughout Canad regulated by Professional Associations in each provi The right to practice and accept professional responsib is limited to those who are registered with the pro sional organization in the particular province concer n Alberta this is The Association of Professional Engineers, Geologists and Geophysicists of Alberta. Members of the Engineering Students' Society are automatically student members of the Association. Graduates are encouraged to join the Association as Engineers in Training. Two years of acceptable experience following graduation is necessary for registration as a Professional Engineer.

The practicing engineer keeps abreast of technological developments through membership in one of several technical societies. Student Branches of these societies (CSAE; CSChE; CSCE; IEEE; CSME; CIM; SA) have active chapters on campus. Engineering students are encouraged to join the society closest to their specialty.

82.5 Cooperative Education Program

The Faculty of Engineering operates a co-operative education option for students in all engineering disciplines, including Agricultural Engineering (which is a program offered jointly with the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry). Co-operative education is an educational plan in which students alternate periods of study with periods of paid, discipline-related work experience in cooperating employer organizations. All students, who are Canadian citizens or hold landed immigrant status in Canada, are eligible to compete for places in the co-operative program following the successful completion of the first year of studies in Engineering. In order to qualify for the Co-operative Degree, students accepted into the program must successfully complete the following six courses in addition to the regular requirements for the engineering degree within their specialization: ENGG 300 (Orientation to the Co-operative Education Program); WKEXP 901 (4-Month work placement; prerequisite ENGG 300); WKEXP 902 (4-Month work placement; prerequisite WKEXP 901); WKEXP 903 (4-Month work placement; prerequisite WKEXP 902); WKEXP 904 (4-Month work placement; prerequisite WKEXP 903); WKEXP 905 (4-Month work placement; prerequisite WKEXP 904).

Students registered in the cooperative program will complete 20 months of work experience. In order to accommodate the work experience portion of the program, students will normally require 5 years to complete the requirements of the Cooperative Degree.

The actual sequencing of academic and work terms for each discipline is illustrated in Table 1 below.

Students registered in the cooperative program are considered to be full-time students of the University of Alberta for the full 12-months of any academic year (July 1-June 30).

All Work Experience courses are graded on a pass-fail basis. Grades are determined by the student's job performance as evaluated by the employer, by the student's performance in the completion of a work term report, and by the student's ability to learn from the experiences of the work terms. Students who fail a work term are required to withdraw from the cooperative program and the Faculty of Engineering.

Students registered in the cooperative program are provided with considerable assistance in the location of suitable work term placements. The Centre for Co-operative Education (502 Students' Union Building) is responsible for developing engineering related jobs for co-operative education students and for preparing co-operative education students to conduct an active, personal job search. However, the ultimate responsibility for obtaining suitable work term employment rests with the student.

82.6 Registration in Engineering Courses by Students in Other Faculties

Although the Faculty of Engineering is a restricted enrollment Faculty, it is possible for students who are registered in other faculties to enroll in a limited number of engineering courses.

However, students who are not registered in the Faculty of Engineering must obtain permission to enroll in engineering courses. The appropriate Department Chair in the Faculty of Engineering is authorized to grant permission.

Note: This requirement does not apply to students who are in programs (eg. Agricultural Engineering) which include engineering courses as a formal part of the program.

83 Programs of Study

A degree of BSc in Engineering is offered and is described in §83.1. A four-year program in Agricultural Engineering is offered jointly by the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Engineering. For details of the program see §83.10 of the Calendar.

83.1 Degree of BSc in Engineering

83.1.1 General Information

The program for the degree of BSc in Engineering begins with two terms in which the courses are common to all students.

In subsequent terms some of the courses are common to all students and many options are available to give the student an introduction to a specialized field of Engineering. In the final terms each department suggests one or more specialized patterns although each student has freedom in the choice of electives.

Students, with the consent of the Faculty or departmental advisers, may make substitutions in a recommended course pattern; however, each department will require certain courses, prerequisites and corequisites before registration can be approved.

The Faculty of Engineering recognizes the need for exposure of all engineering students to certain fundamental engineering, science, human relations, public relations, and communications courses. Therefore the following courses must be taken by all students within the Faculty of Engineering.

		No. of units
(1)	CHEM 103 (Introductory University Chemistry I)	4.3
(2)	CHEM 105 (Introductory University Chemistry II)	3.8
(3)	A single-term course in Engineering Economics (See Note A)	3.0
(4)	ENCMP 100 (Computer Programming for Engineers)	3.8
(5)	ENGG 200 (Orientation to the Engineering Profession I)	1.0
(6)	ENGG 201 (Orientation to the Engineering Profession II)	1.0
(7)	ENGG 210 (Engineering Graphics)	3.5
(8)	ENGG 230 (Engineering Mechanics I)	4.0
(9)	ENGG 231 (Engineering Mechanics II)	4.0
(10)	ENGG 300 (Orientation to Cooperative Education) (Co-op students only)	1.0
(11)	ENGG 500 (The Practice of the Engineering Profession)	1.0
(12)	ENGL 199 (Essentials of Writing for Engineering Students)	3.0
(13)	MATH 100 (Calculus I)	3.5
(14)	MATH 101 (Calculus II)	4.5
(15)	MATH 200 (Linear Algebra and Infinite Series) (or equivalent)	3.0
(16)	MATH 201 (Differential Equations I) (or equivalent)	3.5
(17)	MATH 209 (Calculus III)	3.5
(18)	PHYS 131 (Mechanics)	3.8
(19)	PHYS 137 (Wave Motion and Electricity)	3.8
(20)	SOC 366 (People in Industry) (See Note C)	3.0
(21)	A total of two single-term courses in the areas of humanities, social sciences, or administrative studies. These courses should be selected from the following list of approved electives, although students may seek the permission of their Department Chair or program adviser to take alternate courses.

Approved complementary Studies Electives:

Anthropology

ANTHR 101, 201, 230, 301, 306, 307.

Business

ACCT 300, LEG R 301. A quota exists on the number of engineering students permitted to register in other courses in the Faculty of Business. Please check with your Deparment Adviser if you wish to select your complementary studies electives from the Faculty of Business.

Classics

CLASS 141, 363, 364, 369, 370, 373, 374

Economics

ECON 204, 331, 355, 363, 365, 366, INT D 369. Where students have only three units of course weight as an elective which can be devoted to Economics, ECON 204 is the obvious choice.

English

ENGL 206, 239, 361, 365, 376

Engineering

ENGG 502

History

HIST 100, 242, 247, 260, 261, 298, 364, 377, 385, 396

Linguistics

LING 101, 102, 203, 204, 312, 319, 400, 407, 412. Either LING 101/102 or LING 203 will provide an introduction to the field of linguistics. LING 101/102 will give you a general overview of linguistics. LING 101 may be taken independently. LING 102 requires LING 101 as a prerequisite. LING 203 is a required prerequiste for many of the advanced courses.

Philosophy

PHIL 120, 125, 160, 205, 250, 301, 310, 322, 326, 350

Political Science

POL S 321, 322, 363. The Department of Political Science does not sequence their service courses, therefore, students taking POL S 321, 322, and 363 cannot contiue to other 300- and 400-level courses.

Psychology

PSYCO 104, 105, 258, 267

Romance Languages

Students can be admitted to courses appropriate to their background. Examples are: FR CA 222, FR CA 223, FREN 155, FREN 156, FREN 222, FREN 223, SPAN 252, SPAN 253. Please see your adviser. Students with the equivalent of French 30 from High School may register for FREN 155 or 156. Students who already have a reading knowledge of French may wish to consider registering for a course at a higher level and may take any of FREN 222, 223, FR CA 222, 223. Students may also be admitted to other courses offered by the Department of Romance Languages in French, Italian, Romance Linguistics, and Spanish provided they are able to demonstrate that they have the appropriate prerequisites or the equivalent.

Rural Economy

AG EC 323, 333, INT D 356, 365, 456, 465, R SOC 355, 391.

Sociology

SOC 100, 251, 300, 353

Please refer to the Calendar for the required prerequisites for each course listed above.

(22) At least 3 units of course weight in each of at least three of the following five areas:

a. Strength of Materials
b. Thermodynamics
c. Materials Science
d. Fundamental Electrical Engineering
e. Engineering Mechanics (Dynamics)

Note A: The course which meets this requirement will be found in the program for each Department.

Note B: Pass-Fail courses will not be accepted for credit unless specifically approved by the Dean.

Note C: A limited number of students will be permitted to replace SOC 366 with ENGG 505.

83.1.2 Business Course Electives for Engineering Students

Engineers often spend over 80% of their professional life in administrative and managerial positions. The Faculty of Engineering has entered into an agreement with the Faculty of Business to permit a limited number of engineering students to take business courses. The intent of the agreement is to permit an engineering student to select a number of electives in a given business area. Possible areas include: accounting, finance, industrial relations and management science. Interested students should contact the Office of the Dean of Engineering for referral to the Engineering-Business Adviser.

Programs of study within the Faculty of Engineering must meet the requirements set out in §83.1.1.

83.1.3 Combined Degree BSc in Engineering/Master of Business Administration

The Faculty has an arrangement with the Faculty of Business whereby students with suitable academic standing may choose electives which can be applied for advance credit towards a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree. In this manner it is possible to complete part of the MBA degree requirements during the undergraduate engineering program. The MBA degree requires at least one additional year of study after graduation with a BSc in Engineering.

The combined program may be pursued in any of the engineering disciplines. Second year students interested in this program should consult with their Department to obtain complete details.

83.3 Chemical Engineering — Third to Eighth Terms

83.3.1 General Information

The BSc program in Chemical Engineering provides a technical background to prepare students for careers in the chemical and petroleum processing industries, and in a variety of related fields. The program consists of courses in the basic sciences, fundamentals of chemical engineering and elective courses. The elective courses provide an opportunity to obtain background in areas such as computer applications, natural gas processing, environmental engineering, process dynamics and control, industrial catalysis, management sciences, biotechnology, food processing, and polymer engineering.

The Department program gives emphasis to computer applications both in the undergraduate and graduate courses of instruction and in research. This is made possible by the interest of the staff, by the unique facilities available in the Data Acquisition Control and Simulation Centre located in the department, and by University Computing Systems. Instruction is offered in computer oriented mathematical techniques, modelling, digital computer simulation, systems engineering, and in real-time computer applications.

83.3.2 Required Courses

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1, the following are required courses for a BSc in Chemical Engineering:

CHEM 261, CHEM 271; CH E 324, 356, 385, 412, 414, 416, 424, 451, 456, 485, 518, 534, 546, 553, 554, 556, 576, 581 and 583; E E 354.
Credit in one of MET E 352, MEC E 350, or CIV E 360.
Credit in ECON 204 or equivalent.
Credit in STAT 235 or equivalent.
Credit in CH E 476 or MATH 300.
Credit in CH E 558 or a technical elective.
Credit in five additional single-term approved technical electives. See Note B.

Note B: One of the technical electives must be an approved three units of course weight chemistry course.

Note C: Total units are approximate depending upon choice of electives.

Note D: All programs require the approval of the Department of Chemical Engineering.

83.3.4 Elective Courses

In addition to required courses, programs in Chemical Engineering offer considerable flexibility through electives to develop interdisciplinary interests or to study certain fields in some depth. Subject only to feasibility of timetabling and course availability, a student may choose from technical elective courses offered by the Department (CH E 502, 520, 522, 536, 540, 555, 562 and 564) or courses offered by other Departments such as CIV E 520; MEC E 512, 513, 515, 543, 565; MET E 432, 457, 458, 530, 545; PET E 464, 466, 564, 568, 573, 575; ENGG 420, 506; BIOCH 301; CHEM 311; MICRB 193; CMPUT 169, 172; E E 379, 405, 479, 487, 514; GEOL 290, 292; FD SC 453, 454, 587.

A brief description of some fields in which electives may be chosen follows:

Computer Process Control

Industrial plants although designed for steady state operation often do not operate in this manner due to planned changes in process conditions or from unexpected disturbances, such as changes in raw materials. Process control is concerned with the development of control systems ranging from schemes that use simple instruments to sophisticated distributed digital computer systems which will keep industrial units operating at the desired conditions. An introduction to some of the more advanced concepts in process control can be obtained by selecting one or more of the appropriate elective courses given by the Department (CH E 540, CH E 562, CH E 564). Students interested in pursuing a career in the control and instrumentation field should consider the "Computer Process Control Option" described in §83.3.5.

Oil and Natural Gas

Chemical engineering graduates often find employment in industries which produce, process and refine natural gas, petroleum and oil sands. The Department offers electives in natural gas processing, energy resource development and properties of heavy oils and petroleum. Elective courses, concerned with petroleum production, are offered by the Department of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineering.

Industrial Engineering and Management Sciences

Chemical engineers very frequently are employed in a position in which their primary function is technical management. For engineers involved in production or lesign, many tasks will involve establishing optimal operating conditions. The Department elective course in optimization, taken in conjunction with courses offered by the Department of Mechanical Engineering in the operations management area (eg. MEC E 512, MEC E 513, MEC E 515) will provide pertinent background material for students interested in technical management.

By proper choice of electives, students may, depending on their academic standing, be able to select courses that may be applied for advance credit towards a Master of Business Administration (MBA) or Master of Arts (MA) in Economics.

Environmental Engineering

As a result of the need to protect the quality of our environment many chemical engineers are involved in developing technically and economically feasible solutions to environmental pollution problems. Electives such as the department elective course, CH E 502 and courses offered by the Departments of Civil and Mechanical Engineering will help students to become aware of environmental technology and also serve as appropriate background for those desiring to specialize in the environmental field.

83.3.5 Computer Process Control Option in Chemical Engineering

With the increased use of distributed digital computer control systems in the process industries, as well as microprocessor-based analyzers and instruments, there is a need for process engineers that have a background in areas that have traditionally been in the domain of the electrical engineer and computing scientist. This program, which retains all of the core chemical engineering courses, is designed to provide the necessary background for engineering positions that are concerned with the application of computers to the control of process systems.

Note: Enrollment in this option is limited.

Note C: All programs require the approval of the Department of Chemical Engineering.

83.3.6 Biotechnology Specialization in Chemical Engineering

Advances in molecular biology have given rise to important new biotechnology industries, which produce a range of products for medical, agricultural, food and chemical applications. Chemical engineers work in this industry on the design, development, and operation of production and separation processes. Interested students can pursue specialization in biotechnology by supplementing their chemistry training with courses in the life sciences, without sacrificing any core chemical engineering courses. Students graduating with these electives are qualified to enter conventional chemical engineering positions, and also have the training to work in biotechnology, pharmaceutical, and food process companies as process engineers. This program also provides the necessary background for graduate study in engineering aspects of biotechnology.

Departures or substitution from the regular Chemical Engineering program on a term by term basis are:

Term 3: CHEM 261 (Organic Chemistry I) to replace elective.

Term 4: CHEM 263 (Organic Chemistry II) as a technical elective.
MICRB 193 (Introductory Microbiology) to replace ECON 204.
ECON 204 to be taken instead in Term 7.

Term 5: BIOCH 301 (first half of General Biochemistry) to replace CHEM 261

Term 6: BIOCH 301 (second half of General Biochemistry) as a technical elective.
GENET 197 (Heredity) as a technical elective

Term 7: GENET 270 (Foundations of Molecular Genetics) as a technical elective.
ECON 204 (from Term 4)

Term 8: MICRB 265 (General Microbiology II) as technical elective.

Other courses in Microbiology, Biochemistry, Genetics, and Food Science may be substituted or added subject to prerequisites and general degree requirements.

83.4 Civil Engineering — Third to Eighth Terms

83.4.1 General Information

The Civil Engineering curriculum provides the preparation required for a professional career in the design, construction and management of civil engineering projects. The curriculum concentrates initially on mathematics, pure sciences and engineering sciences. The study of these subjects serves as preparation for professional courses in a variety of Civil Engineering disciplines which follow later in the program.

All students take a core program which provides the basis for professional practice in the disciplines of: construction engineering, which involves the management of a variety of civil engineering construction projects; environmental engineering, which deals with water supply, municipal development, and the treatment of industrial and municipal wastes; geotechnical engineering which deals with foundations, embankments, dams and tunnels; water resources engineering which deals with the control, distribution and drainage of surface and subsurface water for power production, irrigation and other human needs; structural engineering, which deals with buildings and bridges; and, transportation engineering, which deals with planning and design of all forms of transportation systems. Elective courses are provided to permit some degree of specialization in the above disciplines. Patterns of elective courses are also offered in surveying.

Mathematics and computer courses are oriented to engineering practice. Use of the computer is introduced early in the program, and other courses in civil engineering apply computer techniques to the solution of problems in the particular specialized disciplines of civil engineering.

To balance the necessary technical emphasis, civil engineering students study economics, communicative arts and humanities so that they will be aware of the influence of their decisions on the lives of others.

83.4.2 Required Courses

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1, the following courses are required for a BSc in Civil Engineering:

(1) CIV E 305, 320, 350, 351, 360, 361, 401, 404, 406, 409, 410, 430, 431, 441, 460, 471, 480, 500, 503, 520, 570, 572, 590; E E 301; ENGG 420; GEOL 290; MEC E 350; MET E 352.

(2) MEC E 413 (to satisfy the economics course requirement of §83.1.1(3)).

(3) Two additional courses must be taken as technical electives for a total unit value greater than six, which may be selected from:

a. the technical electives listed in §83.4.6, or

b. approved courses offered by other Engineering Departments, or,

c. approved courses offered by other faculties.

All programs must be approved by the Department of Civil Engineering.

83.4.3 Construction Engineering

A series of four courses may be taken in the field of construction engineering (CIV E 402, CIV E 403, CIV E 506, CIV E 507) in the third and fourth years of the program. Students with a particular interest in a career in construction engineering should plan to take two of the construction engineering electives as the two required technical electives and to take CIV E 507 in lieu of ENGG 420. This substitution of CIV E 507 for ENGG 420 will only be accepted if the student takes a minimum of two construction engineering electives, not including CIV E 507. With Department approval, students may take the fourth construction engineering elective as an extra course.

Note A: As noted in §83.4.2(3), alternate technical electives may be taken upon approval by the Department.

83.5 Computer Engineering — Third to Eighth Terms

83.5.1 General Information

Computer Engineering is a program which provides a grounding in both software and hardware aspects of computers and their applications. The program is offered co-operatively by the Departments of Electrical Engineering and Computing Science. Software topics include operating systems, programming languages, and data structures, while the hardware aspect includes electronics, digital logic, and microprocessors. Please note that Faculty of Engineering quota restrictions apply.

83.5.2 Required Courses

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1 the following are required courses for a BSc in Computer Engineering:
CMPUT 169, 172, 204, 225, 379; CMP E 413, 482, 501; E E 331, 355, 356, 379, 417, 435, 470, 471, 479, 487, 489, 535, 537, 538, 562; ENGG 500; MATH 205, 206, 209; MEC E 413; PHYS 238; two of CH E 324, MEC E 350, MET E 451; two technical electives of which one must be a 300- or 400-level Computing Science course.

Note B: One of the technical electives must be 300- or 400-level Computing Science course.

83.6 Electrical Engineering — Third to Eighth terms

83.6.1 General Information

The Electrical Engineering program is a gene program balancing theory and practice. It allows fo choice of third and fourth year options. In this progr the core material consists of courses in the ba sciences and electrical engineeering. This provide basis for more intensive studies in a number of spec ized areas in Electrical Engineering. These areas covered by elective courses which may be chosen meet the student's requirements. Some of these ar are Lasers, Plasmas, Control Systems, Power Syste Microwave, Communications, High Vacuum, Biomed Engineering, and Digital Electronics.

83.6.2 Required Courses

In addition to the other courses listed under §83. the following are required courses for a BSc in Electr Engineering: E E 331, 355, 356, 379, 415, 416, 4 431, 435, 460, 470, 471, 487, 489, *521, 538, 560, 5 ENGG 502 or other Complementary Studies Elect MATH 205, 206, 209, 311; PHYS 238; CH E 324; ME 350, 413; and credit in six technical electives wh must include one of the following subject groups:
Power: Three of EE 501, 507, 525, 527, 531, 533, 5
Electronics: E E 479, 571, 572.
Control Systems: E E 479, 535, 537, 561.
Communications: E E 539, 571, 588, 591.
Digital: E E 479, 535, 537, 571
Computer: E E 479, 535, 537; CMPUT 115 or 169, 1 204 or 291.

Note: For the computer stream E E 521 is no required course and the required courses E E 415 416 are to be taken in the seventh and eighth te respectively.

The remaining technical electives for each subject group require the consent of Department.

In addition to this list, other courses (e.g., BIOL 110, CMPUT 358, LEG R 301, etc.) may be taken on approval of the Department.

83.7 Engineering Physics — Third to Eighth Terms

83.7.1 General Information

The Engineering Physics Program, offered in co-operation with the Department of Physics, leads to the degree of BSc in Engineering Physics. It is of a more fundamental nature than the Electrical Engineering Program. It provides students with an extensive background in mathematics and physics.

Students who wish to take Engineering Physics must have a high standing in mathematics and physics and normally will be required to have a minimum grade-point average of 7.0 in the first year. Exceptions to this rule may be made by the Chair of the Department of Electrical Engineering.

In this program the core material consists of courses in the basic sciences and electrical engineering. This provides a basis for more intensive studies in a number of specialized areas in Electrical Engineering. These areas are covered by elective courses which may be chosen to meet the student's requirements. Some of these areas are Lasers, Plasmas, Communications, Microelectronics, Microwave, and High Vacuum.

83.7.2 Required Courses

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1, the following are required courses for a BSc in Engineering Physics: E E 331, 355, 356, 423, 431, 435, 470, 471, 538, 562, 570, 594, 595; MEC E 413; MET E 351; MATH 205, 206, 209, 311; PHYS 211, 244, 271, 285, 292, 362, 372, 382, 397, 409, 415. In addition, three technical electives (requiring departmental approval).

83.8 Mechanical Engineering — Third to Eighth Terms

83.8.1 General Information

The program of studies in Mechanical Engineering provides a background for careers in research, development, design, and manufacture in a wide variety of industries. Graduates normally go into industries such as manufacturing, petro-chemical, pulp and paper, construction, consulting, and energy and resource related industries.

Because of the variety of concepts within Mechanical Engineering there is a considerable selection of courses available. To provide some guidelines in assisting students to choose courses, the department offers patterns of study in each of four general areas, Applied Mechanics, Design, Engineering Management and Thermo-Science. There can be overlap in many of these areas. Students may select their courses for basic knowledge prior to seeking a career in technical management, or can select courses as a foundation for a career in research and development. In Applied Mechanics the work emphasizes mechanics of materials, statics and dynamics, vibrations, continuum mechanics, elasticity, plasticity, and stability. Design brings together elements from the other three areas. It is concerned with comprehensive systems design, product design, mechanical analysis and mechanisms design, and component design. Engineering Management caters to students whose interest is the planning and implementation of economic and management systems, especially those applied to scientific and engineering endeavors. In Thermo-Science, courses are offered in thermodynamics, thermopower systems, energy conversion, fluid mechanics and heat transfer.

83.8.2 Required Courses

In addition to the courses listed in §83.1.1, the following courses are required for a BSc in Mechanical Engineering:

(1) CH E 324; CIV E 360; E E 354; MEC E 350, 361, 400, 401 403, 413, 431, 440, 451, 461, 462, 482, 501, 532, 561, 562, 571, 584; MET E 352; PHYS 238; STAT 235.

(2) Credit in one of CH E 476 or MATH 300.

(3) Credit in one of CH E 546 or E E 569.

(4) Credit in a minimum of seven other courses not including those required in the first and second terms. Three of these must be complementary studies electives in order to satisfy Faculty requirements. One of the elective courses must be a course in Electrical Engineering. Because hours of instruction depend on the elective chosen, the numbers shown in the tables are approximate.

83.8.4 Elective Courses

Electives in the Mechanical Engineering Programs may be chosen from courses offered by the Faculties of Engineering, Agriculture and Forestry, Arts, Business, or Science. Listed below are some of the electives. Students taking electives not on this list should consult their faculty adviser before registering.

Typical elective courses are: CIV E 320, 520; EE 379, 405; GEOL 290; ENGG 420; MATH 311, 343, 414; MEC E 412, 450, 464, 490, 491, 509, 512, 513, 514, 515, 523, 531, 537, 541, 543, 552, 553, 555, 563, 565, 569, 570; MET E 356, 450, 457, 545, 567.

Mechanical Engineering Systems and Engineering Management are fields within mechanical engineering. Generally, the electives relating to a single field are scheduled and timetabled so that a student can take several courses in a single field and thus acquire depth in the area.

A general description of several fields is given below. Details of specific courses offered each year are available from the Department.

Mechanical Engineering Systems

Students who would like to obtain a more extensive understanding of a particular field may take several optional courses, including projects and experiments which concentrate on this area. These areas include energy conversion and combustion, advanced dynamics and acoustics, robotics, advanced heat transfer, aerodynamics, and environmental fluid mechanics. These optional courses are extensions of those offered in the core program and include the implications of these topics on the design of realistic systems. Many of these courses are useful in the preparation of students who are considering postgraduate study or who are planning careers in research and development.

Engineering Management

Engineering management is the application of engineering methods and the principles of scientific management to production, design, improvement, and installation of integrated systems of personnel, materials and equipment. A series of optional courses which includes operations management, reliability and maintenance, as well as the use of computers in analytical decision making, offer additional preparation for students interested in this area. These courses can be supplemented with others in the Faculty of Business to provide an enhanced background or can assist in preparation for advanced postgraduate study in Engineering Management or Business Administration.

83.9 Mining, Metallurgical, and Petroleum Engineering — Third to Eighth Terms

83.9.1 General Information

The Department of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineering offers undergraduate (and graduate) programs in three broadly related, but distinctly different disciplines: Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineering. These programs are designed to prepare students for engineering careers in the mining, materials and energy industries, and their related industries.

For several years past, these programs shared a common second year. This is no longer true; students now select a major after their first year. However, students who want to change their major (within the Department's three disciplines) prior to the second term of the second year, will be allowed to do so.

Students in Mining Engineering study all phases of mining, including surface and underground mining methods, mine plant design, materials handling, blasting, ventilation, rock mechanics, mineral processing, mine economics, project management and entrepreneurship, and safety and loss management. The program emphasizes computer techniques as applied to mining, and includes a comprehensive mine design project in the final two terms. Mining students are encouraged to take business courses as electives, because emphasis is placed on mining as a business venture.

The Metallurgical Engineering curriculum provides a broad range of courses, from the processing of metallic and non-metallic minerals (including coal and oil sands) to the pyro, hydro and electrometallurgical treatment of metal-bearing ores and concentrates, to structure/properties/processing relationships in metallic and non-metallic materials. Students have the choice of specializing within the Metallurgical Engineering program, either in an extractive metallurgy/mineral processing option, or in a materials engineering option which emphasizes physical metallurgy, ceramics, polymers, composites and electronic materials.

The Department offers the only Petroleum Engineering BSc degree program in Canada. Petroleum students take courses which familiarize them with all aspects of the profession such as geology, drilling and completion, production operations, well logging, reservoir engineering, simulation of reservoir performance, oil and gas property evaluation, project management and entrepreneurship, and resource economics. An extensive design project in the eighth term applies many of these subjects. Students may further their understanding in particular areas of petroleum engineering by taking appropriate optional courses, such as heavy oil recovery, in the final two terms.

83.9.2 Required Courses

Metallurgical Engineering

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1 the following courses are required for a BSc in Metallurgical Engineering:

(1) CH E 324, 410, 412, 546; CHEM 271; CIV E 360; E E 301; GEOL 292; MEC E 413; MET E 352, 3[illegible] 432, 440, 457, 458, 530, 540, 541, 545, 548, 5[illegible] 552; MMP E 392, 490, 599; STAT 235.

(2) a. Further required courses for those taking t[illegible] Standard Program: MET E 431, 534, 542; MMP[illegible] 508.
b. Further required courses for the Materials O[illegible] tion: MET E 480, 553, 567 and a design electi[illegible]

(3) Credit in two additional courses from an approv[illegible] list of technical electives.

Mining Engineering

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1 t[illegible] following courses are required for a BSc in Min[illegible] Engineering:

(1) CH E 324, 412; CIV E 350, 351, 360; E E 3[illegible] ENGG 506; GEOL 292, 340; MEC E 413; MET[illegible] 352, 431; MIN E 395, 410, 423, 424, 430, 501, 5[illegible] 503, 507, 510, 513, 514, 528; MMP E 392, 4[illegible] 490, 508, 599; STAT 235.

(2) Credit in two additional courses must also be tak[illegible] from an approved list of technical or busine[illegible] electives.

(3) Mining students must take a total of six units from t[illegible] following list of courses: ENGG 502, Geology, and Surveying courses (CIV E 350 and CIV E 351).

Petroleum Engineering

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1 t[illegible] following courses are required for a BSc in Petrole[illegible] Engineering:

(1) CH E 324, 410, 412; CHEM 271; CIV E 360; EC[illegible] 204, 365; E E 301; GEOL 221, 292; MET E 3[illegible] MMP E 392, 422, 490, 597, 599; PET E 395, 4[illegible] 464, 466, 468, 564, 573, 575, 584, 588, 589, 5[illegible] STAT 235.

(2) Credit in two additional courses must also be t[illegible] tained from an approved list of technical electiv[illegible]

All programs in the Department of Mining, Metall[illegible] gical and Petroleum Engineering must be approved b[illegible] faculty adviser. Under some circumstances, stude[illegible] may be given approval to replace some of the requi[illegible] courses to allow further specialization in an area[illegible] particular interest.

An Engineering Management program is availa[illegible] to well-qualified students which may permit advan[illegible] credit toward an MBA program. Details of this prog[illegible] are available from the Department of Mining, Metallurg[illegible] and Petroleum Engineering.

The MIN E 528 and MET E 548 field trips [illegible] scheduled every second year. The next field trips wil[illegible] held in the fall of 1991. Students are required to pay[illegible] their food and lodging on the field trip and a levy of [illegible] is made for transportation expenses.

83.9.3 Metallurgical Engineering

Students selecting the materials option follo[illegible] separate program in terms 6, 7, and 8.

83.9.6 Mineral Process Engineering — Recommended Program

Students currently designated as Mineral Process Engineering majors (EN 36) and their adviser should refer to the program set forth in the 1989-90 Calendar.

83.9.7 Elective Courses

Elective courses for all programs in the Department of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineering may be chosen from those offered by the Department, the Faculty of Engineering, or by the Faculties of Arts, Science, and Business. Departmental approval is required for all elective courses.

83.10 BSc Program in Agricultural Engineering

A four-year program in Agricultural Engineering is offered jointly by the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Engineering. Agricultural Engineering students are also eligible to enter the five-year Co-operative Education program detailed in §82.5. The Agricultural Engineering program is administered by a Joint Agricultural Engineering Curriculum Committee consisting of the Deans of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Engineering (or their representatives); the Agricultural Engineering Program Coordinator; the Chair, Department of Agricultural Engineering; or another member of the Department if the Chair is also Coordinator; and two full-time academic members selected by and from the Faculty of Engineering.

For administrative purposes students in the program will be registered in the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry.

(1) Admission: The matriculation requirements are set out in §13.4.1 of this Calendar.

(2) Promotion: Promotion from year to year will be decided by the Joint Committee but in general the requirements for promotion will be the same as those of the Faculty of Engineering.

(3) Graduation: The Joint Committee will recommend approval of the candidate for the degree to the Councils of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and the Faculty of Engineering.

(4) Scholarships: Details of scholarships for which students in the program are eligible are listed under the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry and Faculty of Engineering Awards section of the Calendar.

All inquiries should be directed to the Dean of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry (telephone 492-4931) or the Chair of the Department of Agricultural Engineering (telephone 492-4251).

83.10.1 General Information

Agricultural Engineering applies engineering principles to the industry of agriculture. It involves engineering design of machinery, structures and environmental systems for plant and animal production, use of energy sources, processing systems for agricultural products and applications of engineering to the use of soil, water and other natural resources.

The program of studies in Agricultural Engineering provides a background for careers in design, development, manufacture, testing and research in industries related to agricultural production.

The core curriculum contains basic sciences and mathematics as well as introductory engineering and agricultural courses.

The selection of technical electives allows students to obtain additional depth in Agricultural Engineering and/or related areas.

The next AG EN 500 field trip will be in September 1990.

83.10.2 Required Courses

In addition to the courses listed under §83.1.1 the following courses are required for a BSc in Agricultural Engineering:

(1) AG EN 301, 313, 413, 421, 430, 453, 454, 500, 503, 510; CH E 324; CIV E 350, 351, 360, 480; E E 354, 405; FD SC 588; MEC E 350, 413, 431; SOILS 310.

(2) credit in an approved Biological Science course; credit in an approved Animal Science course; credit in an approved Plant Science course; credit in STAT 235 or equivalent; credit in ENGG 420 or LEG R 301.

(3) credit in a minimum of 9 units of approved technical electives.

All programs must be approved by the Program Coordinator.

2; MICRB 193; SOILS 360, 425, 440, 470.

Students will consult with their faculty advisers for ssistance in choosing technical and complementary udies electives. All electives must be approved by the ogram Coordinator.

3.11 Graduate Studies

The University of Alberta offers the degrees of aster of Engineering, Master of Science, and Doctor of hilosophy in many fields of Engineering. Details of ese programs and courses are given in the Faculty of aduate Studies and Research section of this Calen-r.

4 Details of Courses

4.1 General Information

Courses offered by the Faculty of Engineering are ted here in alphabetical order; courses open to Engiering students but offered by other faculties are listed parately in §84.10. Agricultural Engineering courses e listed in §84.9.

Each course is designated by its computer abbreiation and a number.

"□" - This symbol stands for "course units". The mber following indicates the units of the course as ed in computing grade-point averages. The number of its is based on the number of hours of lectures, minars, and laboratories.

The next three figures, enclosed in parentheses, dicate the hours of instruction required by the course a week. The format is as follows: the first position dicates lecture hours; the second position indicates minar hour (s), demonstration (d), clinic (c), or lecture-
) (L); and the third position indicates laboratory hours.
e expression "3/2" means three hours of instruction ery second week. The hours of instruction for a full-ssion course are the same in both terms unless herwise indicated. If the course is a single term urse, the term in which it may be offered is mentioned fore the hours of instruction. The ★ symbol stands for nits of course weight". The number following indicates weight of the course as used in computing grade-int averages for students who are registered in a culty other than Engineering.

Prerequisite requirements have usually been listed,
t confirmation of whether or not a course has a erequisite must be obtained from the Department.

The appearance of a course description in the llowing list does not constitute any guarantee that e course will actually be offered in the forthcoming ssion. Information as to which courses will be ered, the names of the instructors, and all further tails must be sought from the department conrned.

ysical Requirements for University

The University has a commitment to the education all academically qualified students and special servs are frequently provided on campus to assist disad students.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoid-e demands on students, with respect to the possesn of a certain level of physical skill or ability, if the ademic objectives of the course are to be realized. In se of doubt, students are advised to contact the partment concerned and the Disabled Student Servs Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Servs.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all -campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse istration in such courses.

4.2 Chemical Engineering

E 324 Engineering Thermodynamics
.5 (either term,3-1s-0). An introduction to the first and ond laws of thermodynamics. Prerequisite: MATH
. (★3)

E 356 Process Analysis
.0 (second term,3-0-2). Basic process principles;
terial and energy balances, transient processes, induction to computer aided balance calculations. Pre-uisite: ENCMP 100. Corequisite: CH E 324, and
TH 209 or equivalent. (★3)

CH E 378 Statistical Applications in Chemical Engineering
□2.5 (second term,2-1s-0). Statistical methods for the analysis of problems in the field of engineering. Prerequisite: MATH 101. Prerequisite or corequisite: ENCMP 100. (★2)

CH E 385 Industrial Tours I
□0.0 (second term,0). Guided visits to selected industrial plants, laboratories and field installations. Corequisite: CH E 356. (★0)

CH E 410 Heat and Mass Transfer
□3.5 (second term,3-1s-0). Steady and unsteady conduction; convection; thermal radiation; leaching; extraction; absorption; distillation. Prerequisite: CH E 412. (★3)

CH E 412 Fluid Mechanics
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Newtonian and non-Newtonian fluid behaviour; hydrostatics; buoyancy; application of Bernoulli and momentum equations; frictional losses through pipes, ducts and fittings; pipe networks; pumps; compressible flow in pipes; drag on submerged bodies and flow through porous medium. Prerequisite: CH E 324, MATH 201 and 209. (★3)

CH E 414 Heat Transfer
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Principles of conduction, convection and radiation heat transfer. Design and performance analysis of thermal systems based on these principles. Prerequisite: CH E 412. (★3)

CH E 416 Equilibrium Stage Processes
□4.0 (either term,3-0-2). Design of separation processes with emphasis on the equilibrium stage concept, distillation, absorption and extraction. Prerequisite: CH E 356 and 424. (★3)

CH E 424 Chemical Engineering Thermodynamics
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). The thermodynamics of non-ideal gases and liquids; vapor-liquid equilibrium, thermodynamics of chemical processes and multicomponent systems. Prerequisite: CH E 324 and MATH 201 or equivalent. (★3)

CH E 451 Chemical Engineering Laboratory I
□3.0 (first term,1-0-4). Experiments in fluid mechanics and thermodynamics. Corequisite: CH E 412 and 424. (★3)

CH E 456 Chemical Engineering Design I
□3.5 (either term,2-0-3). Engineering design concepts; cost estimation; engineering economics; project planning and scheduling; selected project design examples. Prerequisite: CH E 356 and 424, MATH 200 and 209 or equivalent. Prerequisite or corequisite: CH E 414 and 416. (★3)

CH E 476 Mathematical Applications
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Mathematical formulation of engineering problems; solution of the resulting equations. Prerequisite: MATH 200, 201 and 209. (★3)

CH E 485 Industrial Tours — II
□0.0 (first term,0). Guided visits to selected industrial plants, laboratories and field installations. Prerequisite: CH E 385. (★0)

CH E 490 Introduction to Biochemical Engineering
□3.5. (second term,3-0-1). Physical and chemical properties of cells, tissues, and biological fluids; engineering analysis of processes such as cell growth and fermentation; purification of products. Prerequisite: CH E 356 or MICRB 293. (★3)

CH E 502 Process Design for Pollution Control
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). A course designed to deal with special processes, design techniques and operating procedures related to environmental and ecological considerations. Emphasis is placed on the fundamentals of air pollution and its control. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. (★3)

CH E 518 Diffusion Operations
□3.0 (either term,2-0-2). Molecular and turbulent diffusion; mass transfer coefficients; mass transfer equipment design including absorption and cooling towers, adsorption and ion exchange. Prerequisite: CH E 414. (★3)

CH E 520 Energy Resource Development
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). A broad technological and economic assessment of energy resource development projects in Western Canada. Medium and long term scientific and technological perspectives. Future supply-demand scenarios analyzed by large scale energy models such as AERAM and PILOT. Implications of policy decisions in the areas of taxation, financing arrangements, export-import restrictions and energy pricing regulations. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. (★3)

CH E 522 Hydrocarbon Fluid Properties and Processing
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). An introduction to the physical, chemical and engineering principles required for the design and operation of plants used for the treatment of natural gas, heavy oils and bitumens. Prerequisite or corequisite: CH E 424. (★3)

CH E 534 Chemical Reactor Analysis
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Kinetics of chemical reactions; design of chemical reactors. Prerequisite: CH E 414, 424, and CHEM 271. (★3)

CH E 536 Chemical Kinetics and Catalysis
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Characterization of heterogeneous catalysts; mechanisms and kinetics of heterogeneously catalyzed reactions. Prerequisite: CH E 534 or consent of instructor. (★3)

CH E 538 Polymer Reactor Engineering
□3.5 (second term,3-1s-0). Introduction to chain and step polymerization kinetics; physical, chemical and mechanical characterization methods for polymers; bulk, suspension, solution and emulsion polymerization processes; copolymers; polymerization reactor design and control. Prerequisite: CH E 534 or consent of instructor. (★3)

CH E 540 Introduction to Real-Time Computer Applications
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Introduction to real-time computer hardware and operating systems; data acquisition techniques; supervisory and direct digital control; industrial and laboratory applications. Laboratory will involve student use of Department's real-time digital computer and interfaced applications. Prerequisite: ENCMP 100 or equivalent. (★3)

CH E 546 Process Dynamics and Control
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Introduction to process modelling and transient response analysis; design and analysis of feedback systems; stability analysis; process control applications; data acquisition and process control using digital computers. Prerequisite: CH E 412 or equivalent, MATH 201 or equivalent, MATH 209. Prerequisite or corequisite: CH E 414 or equivalent. (★3)

CH E 548 Computer Applications in Process Control
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Block diagrams; transfer functions of systems of interest to process engineers; system simulation; frequency response; time and frequency domain control system design techniques; control system design by computer; computer control. Prerequisite: MATH 201 and 209. (★3)

CH E 553 Chemical Engineering Laboratory II
□3.0 (either term,1-0-4). Experiments in fluid mechanics, heat transfer and thermodynamics. Prerequisite: CH E 414, 424 and 451. (★3)

CH E 554 Chemical Engineering Laboratory III
□3.0 (either term,1-0-4). Experiments in kinetics and mass transfer. Prerequisite: CH E 416, 518, and 534. (★3)

CH E 555 Process Optimization
□3.5 (second term,3-1s-0). Single and multivariable search techniques; linear programming; dynamic programming; EVOP; nonlinear programming. Prerequisite: CH E 414 and MATH 201 or consent of instructor. (★3)

CH E 556 Chemical Engineering Design II
□4.0 (second term,1-0-6). Integration of chemical engineering practice, theory and economics into the design and evaluation of proposed capital projects. Prerequisite: CH E 416, 456 and 534. (★3)

CH E 558 Chemical Engineering Laboratory IV
□3.0 (either term,1-0-4). Projects in Chemical Engineering. Prerequisite: Consent of Department. (★3)

CH E 560 Man and His Environment
□3.5 (second term,3-1s-0). The massive environmental problems of over-population, pollution and scarcity of non-renewable resources will be considered quantitatively and from a systems point of view. Topics include: demographic analysis; energy, mineral, water and agricultural resources; environmental degradation; structure of urban communities; concepts of an ecosystem; computer models of complex systems. Course is interdisciplinary, with lecturers from several University Departments. Restricted to students registered in the 6th to 8th terms. (★3)

CH E 562 Process Modelling and Simulation
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Modelling of process systems; digital simulation; numerical solutions. Prerequisite: CH E 414 and 546 or equivalent. Prerequisite or corequisite: CH E 534. (★3)

CH E 564 Process Control
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Computer process control techniques; discrete-time response of dynamic systems; sampling of continuous signals; Z-transform representation; design of digital feedback controllers; linear and nonlinear system analysis. Prerequisite: CH E 546 or equivalent. (★3)

CH E 576 Computational Methods in Chemical Engineering
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Mathematical formulation of chemical engineering problems; solution of systems of linear and nonlinear algebraic equations; numerical interpolation, differentiation and integration; numerical solution of ordinary and partial differential equations. Prerequisite: CH E 356, ENCMP 100 or equivalent, MATH 200, 201 and 209. (★3)

CH E 581 Colloquium I
□0.5 (first term,0-1s-0). Oral presentations. Prerequisite: CH E 456. (★1)

CH E 583 Colloquium II
□0.5 (second term,0-1s-0). Oral presentation of technical material. Prerequisite: CH E 581. (★1)

84.3 Civil Engineering

CIV E 305 Civil Engineering Analysis I
□2.5 (second term,2-0-2/2). Statistical and probabilistic approaches to civil engineering problems. Prerequisite: ENCMP 100, MATH 101. (★3)

CIV E 320 Environmental Engineering I
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Basic factors in environmental health, environmental chemistry and microbiology, water quality objectives and standards, water treatment flowsheets, water requirements, water sources, wastewater characteristics and treatment flow sheets, receiving water quality, solid waste management, air quality and noise control. Prerequisite: CHEM 103. (★3)

CIV E 350 Plane Surveying
□3.0 (second term,2-0-2). Surveying instruments, measurement and measurement errors, field surveying, electronic distance measurements, computations. (★3)

CIV E 351 Survey School
□3.0 (second term, two weeks at end of second term). Practical exercises in field methods; project type of assignments; field astronomy; electronic distance measuring instruments. Note: Survey School is held off campus. Prerequisite: CIV E 350. (★3)

CIV E 360 Mechanics of Deformable Bodies I
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Plane stress and strain; stress-strain relationships; stresses and deformations resulting from axial and transverse loads; buckling of columns; torsion of circular sections; combined stress; statically indeterminate problems. Laboratory to demonstrate mechanical properties and verify assumptions of analysis. Prerequisite: ENGG 231 and MATH 101. (★3)

CIV E 361 Introduction to Continuum Mechanics
□3.5 (second term,3-1s-0). Stress, strain and displacements in two and three dimensions. Constitutive equations. Governing equations of elasticity and simple solutions. Strain energy and virtual work. Theories of failure. Prerequisite: CIV E 360 and MATH 209. (★3)

CIV E 401 Civil Engineering Materials
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Soil classification, granular materials. Properties of Portland cement concrete related to micro- and macro-structure and constituent materials. Properties of bituminous materials and design of bituminous mixes. Prerequisite: MET E 352. (★3)

CIV E 402 Construction Materials and Methods
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Introduction to the elements and methods of building construction. Foundations, structural framing, floor and roof systems, wall assemblies, utilities and finishes. Influence of materials. (Field trips and incidental fee required.) Prerequisite: Consent of Department (★3)

CIV E 403 Construction Planning, Scheduling and Control
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Planning and scheduling of construction projects. Computer applications to construction scheduling. Applications of scheduling to cost control and resource leveling. Prerequisite: Consent of Department. (★3)

CIV E 404 Civil Engineering Analysis II
□2.5 (either term,2-0-2/2). The formulation of partial differential equations modelling civil engineering problems and an introduction to classical solution techniques. Prerequisite: MATH 201 and CIV E 361. (★3)

CIV E 406 Civil Engineering Analysis III
□4.0 (second term,3-0-2). Application of numerical methods to civil engineering problems. Prerequisite: ENCMP 100, MATH 200 and 209. Corequisite: CIV E 404. (★3)

CIV E 409 Project Management
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Planning and scheduling; theories and techniques of project management. (★3)

CIV E 410 Transportation Engineering
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Transportation systems and their elements. Principles of transportation planning. Traffic flow, safety capacity, controls. Vehicular motion and geometric design. Cost/benefit analysis in transportation. Earthwork and pavement design and construction. Principles of transportation systems management. Prerequisite: CIV E 401. Corequisite: CIV E 480. (★3)

CIV E 430 Introduction to Fluid Mechanics
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Fluid properties; dimensional analysis; hydrostatics; fundamental equations of fluid motion; laminar, turbulent and inviscid flows; boundary layers and flow around immersed bodies; elementary building aerodynamics. Prerequisite: MEC E 350, CIV E 361 or consent of instructor. (★3)

CIV E 431 Hydraulics
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Control volume analysis; pumps and turbines; pipe systems, channel systems; similitude and models; introduction to unsteady flow in conduits. Prerequisite: CIV E 430. (★3)

CIV E 441 Hydrology
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Water occurrence in nature and its relation to civil engineering, analysis of precipitation and stream flow data, precipitation-runoff relationships, groundwater, river behaviour. (★3)

CIV E 451 Elementary Photogrammetry
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Optics, basics of photogrammetry, cameras, photographic measurements, calibration of camera, scales, coordinates, stereoscopy and parallax, ground control, flight planning, targeting, orientation, plotters, mosaics, orthophotography, aerial triangulation collinearity and coplanarity equations, terrestial and close-range photogrammetry, remote sensing. Note: CIV E 451 will be offered in alternate years with CIV E 452. Prerequisite: CIV E 350. (★3)

CIV E 452 Field Astronomy
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Fundamental principles of field astronomy, celestial sphere, coordinate systems, spherical trigonometry, time, ephemerides, observation for time, azimuth, longitude and latitude, accuracy considerations, geodetic techniques. Note: CIV E 452 will be offered in alternate years with CIV E 451. Prerequisite: CIV E 350, CIV E 351. (★3)

CIV E 460 Structural Analysis I
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Deformations of statically determinate beams, trusses and frames; influence lines; analysis of statically indeterminate structures by consistent deformations, slope deflection and moment distribution. Prerequisite: CIV E 360. (★3)

CIV E 471 Structural Design I
□2.8 (second term,2-0-3/2). Introduction to structural design; loads; design of timber beams, columns, connections and curved members. Prerequisite: CIV E 360. (★3)

CIV E 480 Soil Mechanics
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Site investigation; principle of effective stress; theories of steady seepage and consolidation; compaction of soils; frost action; mechanical properties of soils. Prerequisite: GEOL 290 and CIV E 401, 404 and 430. Corequisite: CIV E 406. (★3)

CIV E 500 Civil Engineering Report Writing
□2.0 (second term,1-2s-0). Written and oral communication; lectures and practice on presentation of oral and written reports. A comprehensive written report must be submitted by each student. Prerequisite: Consent of Department. (★3)

CIV E 502 Impact of Engineering Projects
□3.5 (first term,3-2s/2-0). The needs and regulations concerning environmental impact assessment are presented. Methods of analysis, parameter considerations, decision criteria, project evaluation and modification criteria, and impact of past projects. Prerequisite: CIV E 320 or consent of Department. (★3)

CIV E 503 Civil Engineering Applications of Operations Research
□3.0 (second term,2-0-2). Introduction to basic concepts of systems analysis, operations research and decision-making as applied to civil engineering problems. Prerequisite: CIV E 305. (★3)

CIV E 506 Construction Estimating and Cost Control
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Introduction to elements of construction and cost estimating. Familiarization with quantity take-off, labour and equipment production rates, unit costs, extension of costs, overhead, profit, and preparation of estimates for construction projects. Prerequisite: Consent of Department. (★3)

CIV E 507 Construction Contract Documents
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Introduction to elements of contract documents. Definition, interpretation, and applications of drawings, specifications, type of contracts, bidding documents, general and special conditions, and associated contract documents. Prerequisite: Consent of Department. (★3)

CIV E 511 Transportation Operations and Planning
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Transportation modes and missions. Principles of traffic flow theory. Human factors in transportation. Traffic surveys. Intersection control, railway controls. Transportation planning techniques and models. Prerequisite: CIV E 410 (★3)

CIV E 512 Town Planning
□3.5 (second term,3-1s-0). Historical growth and development of cities; growth and decay; population forecasting; urban land use and land planning; transportation planning; public services; planning legislation; outline plan preparation. Prerequisite: CIV E 520 or consent of Department. (★3)

CIV E 520 Environmental Engineering II
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Distribution and collection system hydraulics, water distribution system design, wastewater collection system design, water treatment plant design, wastewater treatment plant design. Prerequisite: CIV E 320 and 431. (★3)

CIV E 521 Municipal Engineering
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). General effects of wastes on the environment, solid waste management, design of storm water management systems, subdivision regulation, and major design projects; laboratory tests on water and wastewater; field trip. Prerequisite: CIV E 520 or consent of Department. (★3)

CIV E 531 Environmental Fluid Mechanics
□4.0 (second term,3-0-2). Turbulent flow; equations of motion and pollutant conservation equation; slender flows, jets and plumes. Mixing processes in rivers and lakes. Hydraulics of hot water and effluent discharges into water bodies. Oil spills in rivers and ocean. Prerequisite: CIV E 431. (★3)

CIV E 540 Hydraulic Engineering
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). A selection from open channel flow; culverts, spillways, energy dissipations; river hydraulics; river regime; elementary river engineering models; pump, turbine and pipelines; surge tanks; water hammer. Prerequisite: CIV E 431. (★3)

CIV E 550 Hydrographic Surveying
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Legal survey principles and requirements offshore; basics of hydrographic surveying; electromagnetic wave propagation; effect of the measuring medium on different frequencies; refraction modelling; acoustics, echo sounding; tides and water levels; horizontal positioning systems, techniques and accuracy estimation; major positioning systems used offshore; error sources and error propagation; calibration of positioning systems. Satellite positioning, field procedures and planning. Prerequisite: MEC E 350, MATH 200, CIV E 350 or consent of instructor. Note: CIV E 550 and CIV E 551 will be offered in alternate years with CIV E 552 and CIV E 553. (★3)

CIV E 551 Geodesy
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Basic concepts of geodesy. The earth's gravity field and its representation. Gravity measurements, reductions and anomalies. Normal gravity, the geoid and natural coordinates. Precise levelling and height systems. Determining size and shape of the earth. Cartesian and ellipsoidal coordinate systems and transformation between. Datum definition and transformation between different datums. Geometry of the ellipsoid, radii of curvature, curves on the ellipsoid, direct and inverse geodetic problems. Reduction of observed quantities to the ellipsoid and Laplace's equation. Three dimensional direct and inverse geodetic problems. Satellite orbit system and relation to geocentric earth-fixed system. Prerequisite: MATH 200, CIV E 305, CIV E 550 or consent of instructor. (★3)

CIV E 552 Survey Adjustments and Data Analysis
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Review of basic concepts of matrix algebra and statistics. Error propogation and estimation of observational accuracy. Variance-covariance matrices. Principle of Least Squares, adjustments, curve fitting and prediction. Adjustment of horizontal and vertical survey networks by least squares utilizing observation and condition equations or combinations thereof. Mathematical model considerations, accuracy estimation and statistical testing. Prerequisite: CIV E 305, CIV E 551 or consent of instructor. Note: CIV E 550 and CIV E 551 will be offered in alternate years with CIV E 552 and CIV E 553. (★3)

CIV E 553 Surveying: Advanced Topics
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Conformal map projection with emphasis on transverse mercator projection. Required corrections to survey observations for computation on map projections. Analytical photogrammetry, numerical orientation, block adjustments. Space positioning techniques and observational procedures; doppler, inertial and radio interferometric methods with appropriate mathematical modelling considerations for adjustment. Adjustment of geodetic networks with two or three dimensional modelling. Combination of survey networks from different datums. Sequential least squares methods, least squares collocation, Kalman filtering. Prerequistes: CIV E 552 or consent of instructor. (★3)

CIV E 560 Structural Analysis II
□4.0 (first term,3-2s-0). Analysis of statically indeterminate beams, frames, and trusses; matrix formulation and computer solutions. Prerequisite: CIV E 460. (★3)

CIV E 570 Structural Design II
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Limit states design of steel structures, including tension members, columns, beams, beam-columns, composite beams, and connections. Prerequisite: CIV E 471. (★3)

CIV E 571 Structural Design IV
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Design of steel plate girders; design of prestressed concrete structures; design masonry and reinforced masonry structural components. Two major design projects constitute the laboratory portion. Prerequisite: CIV E 570 and 572. (★3)

CIV E 572 Structural Design III
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Ultimate strength design of reinforced concrete beams, columns, footings and slabs. Prerequisite: CIV E 471. (★3)

CIV E 590 Soil Engineering
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Stability of natural slopes, cuts, and embankments; theories of earth pressure; design of temporary excavations and earth retaining structures; settlements of foundations; bearing capacity of foundations; pile foundations. Prerequisite: CIV E 480. (★3)

CIV E 591 Geotechnical Design
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Evaluation of site conditions. Design and analysis of shallow and deep foundations and retaining structures. Slope stability of embankments and cuts including foundation excavations. Prerequisite: CIV E 590. (★3)

CIV E 598 Special Topics in Civil Engineering I
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). (★3)

CIV E 599 Special Topics in Civil Engineering II
□4.0 (either term,3-0-2). (★3)

84.4 Computer Engineering

CMPE 413 Software Engineering
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). The software crisis. The software lifecycle and the design process. Properties of quality software. Requirements analysis and software specification techniques. Software design techniques including data flow and data structure methods. Implementation and quality assurance techniques. Features of programming languages and programming environments which support good software engineering practice. Software project management. Prerequisite: CMPUT 204. (★3)

CMPE 482 Computer Organization and Architecture
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Survey of the organization of various micro, mini- and mainframe computers. Design of the CPU control unit. Memory organization including virtual and cache memories. Parallelism in computers. Prerequisite: E E 479. (★3)

CMPE 501 Computer Interfacing
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). The design and use of digital interfaces, including memory, serial, parallel, synchronous and asynchronous interfaces. Hardware implementations of interrupts, busses, input/output devices. Prerequisite: E E 471, 479, 535; and E E 416 or 417. (★3)

CMPE 598 Special Topics in Computer Engineering
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). This course is intended to enable individuals or a small group of students to study topics in their particular field of interest under the supervision of a member of the Department of Electrical Engineering or the Department of Computing Science or other appropriate departments. (★3)

CMPE 599 Special Topics in Computer Engineering
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). This course is intended to enable individuals or a small group of students to study topics in their particular field of interest under the supervision of a member of the Department of Electrical Engineering or the Department of Computing Science, or other appropriate departments. (★3)

84.5 Electrical Engineering

Note A: A course listed for either term will be offered in the first term or in the second term.

Note B: In some cases prerequisite requirements may be waived with the consent of Department .

E E 301 Elements of Electrical Engineering
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Circuit parameters, Kirchoff's Laws, basic circuit analysis including loop and node methods, steady-state AC circuits, phasor diagrams, power, power factor, three-phase systems for power transmission, transformers, introduction to DC and AC rotating machines, motor selection for various applications. (★3)

E E 331 Electrical Engineering Design II
□2.5 (second term,2-1s-0). Advanced Fortran programming techniques; numerical techniques applied to Electrical Engineering problems; numerical integration, interpolation, Runge Kutta methods, solution of linear and nonlinear simultaneous equations. Prerequisite: ENCMP 100 or CMPUT 114. Corequisite: E E 356. (★3)

E E 354 Fundamentals of Electrical Engineering
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Physical concepts of resistance, inductance and capacitance. Kirchoff's Laws and circuit equations of DC networks, magnetic circuits, energy concepts, time domain analysis of R-L, R-C and R-L-C networks, complex numbers and phasor algebra, impedance concept, power factor, resonance, three phase circuits, network theorems, measuring instruments, vacuum tube and transistor. (★3)

E E 355 Electrical Circuits I
□4.3 (first term,3-1s-3/2). Definitions of linear elements, dependent and independent sources, sign conventions, basic circuit laws; node and mesh analysis. Thevenin, Norton and other theorems; phasor concepts, impedance, admittance, AC (sinusoidal) circuit analysis, validity of laws and theorems, phasor diagrams; average, effective values of waveforms, real, reactive and complex power, power factor correction; wye and delta 3-phase circuits, 3-phase power measurements; resonant circuits, frequency response, Q, half power points, bandwidth, effect on Q of non-ideal elements. Prerequisite: MAT★ 101. Corequisite: MATH 201 or 205. (★3)

E E 356 Electrical Circuits II
□4.3 (second term,3-1s-3/2). Network transients, responses for R-C, R-L, and R-L-C circuits; forced and complete response for general exponential and sinusoidal excitation. The Laplace Transform, models for L, C with initial conditions. Circuit examples. Partial fraction expansion. Bode plots, complex frequency, the complex plane. Transfer functions. Mutual inductance. Two port parameters. Models for transistors and amplifiers. Introduction to operational amplifier circuits. Prerequisite: MATH 201 or 205 and E E 355. (★3)

E E 379 Introduction to Digital Electronics
□3.4 (first term,3-0-3/4). Boolean Algebra including truth tables and Venn diagrams. Switching devices and their symbology with an introduction to NAND and NOR logic. Number systems, codes, minimization procedures, synthesis of combinational networks. Synchronous sequential circuits, flip-flops, counters. (No prerequisite). (★3)

E E 403 Electronic Instrumentation
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Fundamentals of electronics; amplification, oscillation, modulation applied to measuring instruments; methods of measuring non-electrical quantities. Examples of biomedical instrumentation. The laboratory will illustrate the use and limitations of typical instruments. Note: This course is offered for students of the Biological and Medical Sciences. (★3)

E E 405 Fundamentals of Electrical Engineering
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Magnetic fields, forces on conductors, induced voltage, commutation, DC motors. The induction motor, transformer action, torque - speed characteristics, applications. Transistors, biasing, basic amplifiers, operational amplifiers and circuits. Silicon Controlled Rectifiers and Applications. Introduction to logic devices. Prerequisite: E E 354 or equivalent. (★3)

E E 415 Engineering Electromagnetics I
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Review of vector calculus, electrostatics, and magnetostatics. Electric and magnetic fields in material media, including polarization mechanisms and general boundary conditions. Solutions to static field problems. Maxwell's Equations and waves in free space, dielectrics and conducting media. Reflection and refraction, standing waves. Prerequisite: MATH 205, 209 and PHYS 238. (★3)

E E 416 Engineering Electromagnetics II
□2.5 (either term,2-1s-0). Transient and time harmonic signals on transmission lines, including impedance matching and the Smith Chart. Rectangular wave guides and resonators. Introduction to radiation. Prerequisite: E E 415. (★3)

E E 417 Electomagnetics for Computer Engineers
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Ideal transmission line, wave equation, travelling waves. Characteristic impedance, reflection coefficient, power flow, multiple reflections and transient response of a transmission line. AC steady-state and lossy transmission lines. Smith Charts, plane wave propagation, reflection and transmission coefficients. Implications on transmission rates of digital data. Local area networks, instrumentation buses. Prerequisite: PHYS 238 or equivalent. (★3)

E E 423 Analytical Methods of Electrical Engineering
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Applications of the theory of partial differential equations to Maxwell's equations, heat flow problems, the transmission line equation and Laplace's equation. Transform methods and special functions. Prerequisite: E E 435 and MATH 311. (★3)

E E 430 Electromechanics I
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Magnetic circuits analysis with AC and DC excitation; properties of ferromagnetic materials; hysteresis and eddy current losses, stored energy, transformers, mechanical forces in magnetic devices, modelling and analysis of transducers. Prerequisite: E E 355. (★3)

E E 431 Electromechanics II
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). An extension of E E 430 to rotating machines. Analysis and performance of DC, induction, and synchronous machines. Prerequisite: E E 430. (★3)

E E 435 Signals and Networks
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Signal representation by discrete, continuous and generalized exponentials (Fourier series and Transforms), Spectra. Impulse response, superpostition and convolution integrals. Laplace Transform, single and double tuned circuits. Bode plots. The z-transform. Prerequisite: E E 356; MATH 206 and MATH 209 or equivalent. (★3)

E E 460 Introduction to Linear Systems
□3.4 (either term,3-0-3/4). Transfer functions of RC networks, feedback systems, block diagrams, open and closed loop transfer functions, pole locations; frequency and time domain response, sensitivity, state variables, state space. Application to the design of electrical filters. Prerequisite: E E 356, E E 435. (★3)

E E 470 Electronics I Active Devices
□4.3 (first term,3-1s-3/2). Electronic circuits and devices. P and N type semiconductor. Diodes, characteristics, and applications. JFETs and MOFETs; characteristics, amplifiers, logic devices, integrated circuits techniques. Transistors, NPN and PNP types, operation, biasing, amplifier circuits, load lines. Small signal modelling with application to simple amplifiers. Prerequisite: E E 356, and MATH 201 or 205. (★3)

E E 471 Electronics II Active Devices
□4.3 (either term,3-1s-3/2). BJT, JFET and MOSFET differential amplifiers, use in integrated circuits. High frequency effects in transistors. High and low frequency response of amplifiers. Negative feedback. BJT and CMOS operational amplifier design. MOS and bipolar digital circuitry. TTL and ECL logic families. Prerequisite: E E 470. (★3)

E E 479 Introduction to Microprocessors
□3.4 (either term,3-0-3/4). Microcomputer architecture, programming, and input/output problems. Prerequisite: E E 379. (★3)

E E 487 Statistical Methods in Electrical Engineering
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Introduction to descriptive statistics; measures of central tendency. Probability theory: discrete sample spaces, Bayes' rule, random variables. Discrete and continuous distributions (binomial, hypergeometric, Poisson; normal, standardized normal, exponential and chi-square). Estimation and sampling theory. Hypothesis testing. Application of techniques to electrical engineering measurements, to communications, reliability, queuing, modelling and simulation studies of electrical and computer engineering systems and other areas of signal analysis. (★3)

E E 489 Introduction to Communication Systems
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Spectral analysis, amplitude modulation, multiplexing, frequency modulation and pulse code modulation. Prerequisite: E E 435. (★3)

E E 501 Electrical Design
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Electrical design starting from fundamental principles using engineering methods. (★3)

E E 507 High Voltage Engineering
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). High voltage phenomena, dielectric breakdown, effects of high fields, Corona, lightning, switching surges, insulation coordination, grounding. (★3)

EE AS 512 Physical Measurements in Medicine
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Properties of the cell membrane, Nernst-Planck equation, Donnan membrane, constant field membrane, membrane impedance. Action potentials, voltage clamp measurements, membrane conductance, H-H equations, nerve conduction. Mathematical models of the axon. Electrodes. Gas and blood gas analysis. The ECG, EEG, and EMG, origin and type of these signals, measurement techniques. Blood flow and blood pressure measurements (invasive and non-invasive). Safety aspects of electrical equipment in medicine. Prerequisite: Consent of Department. (★3)

E E 514 Reliability Engineering
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Study of how and why electrical and mechanical systems and components fail; Murphy's law; definitions of reliability and failure modes; practical statistical distributions and frequency and duration approach for designing and evaluating system and component reliability levels; repairable, non-repairable and standby systems. Prerequisite: E E 487 or equivalent. (★3)

E E 521 Power Systems I
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Power system components, performance and characteristics of transmission lines, compensation, load flow methods, economic dispatch, z-bus fault analysis, introduction to stability. Prerequisite: E E 356, MATH 200 or 205. (★3)

E E 525 Power Systems II
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Faults and unbalanced operation of systems, symmetrical components, stability and control, circuit breakers, tie line control, overvoltages, lightning and switching surges. Prerequisite: E E 521 or consent of Department. (★3)

E E 527 Industrial Power Distribution
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Fundamentals of engineering design of electrical distribution systems for buildings and electrical plants. Current design practices and engineering methods. Prerequisite: E E 431. (★3)

E E 531 Power Electronics
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Characteristics of power devices; BJT, MOSFET, SCR, GTO, Diode, R, L and C. Electronic power conversion techniques; choppers for DC/AC conversion, rectifiers for AC/DC conversion, inverters for DC/AC conversion, cycloconverters for AC/AC conversion. Applications in variable speed drives, switchmode power supplies, UPS and pulsed power. Prerequisite: E E 356, E E 471. (★3)

E E 533 Electrical Energy Sources
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Energy consumption and reserves. Growth and usage characteristics. Electrical energy sources and costs, fossil, hydro nuclear and other sources. Economic planning of future sources and allocation of load among existing sources. (★3)

E E 535 Advanced Digital Logic Design
□3.4 (either term,3-0-3/4). Design and realization of synchronous and asynchronous sequential circuits. Design of controllers using standard integrated circuits and using MSI devices. Prerequisite: E E 379. (★3)

E E 537 Advanced Digital Topics
□3.0 (second term,1-0-4). Microprocessor circuitry and applications, with emphasis on laboratory construction. Prerequisite: E E 471, 479 and 535. Enrollment by consent of Department. (★3)

E E 538 Introduction to Signal Theory and Processing
□3.4 (either term,3-0-3/4). Discrete-time signals and systems; sampled signals and sampling theorem; the z-transform; design of digital filters; discrete Fourier Transform, the periodogram. Fast Fourier Transform, Algorithms, aliasing, leakage; spectral analysis, applications. Prerequisite: E E 435. (★3)

E E 539 Digital Filter Realization
□3.4 (either term,3-0-3/4). Approximation and finite-word length effects in digital filters. Digital filter implementation. A/D and D/A converters. Distributed arithmetic digital signal processors. FFT hardware realization. Noise in digital filters. Limit cycles and overflow oscillations. Prerequisite: E E 535 and 538. (★3)

EE AS 540 Digital Computer Processing of Images
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Extension of sampling theory and the Fourier transform to two dimensions, pixel operations including gray-level modification, algebraic and geometric transformations. The design of spatial filters for noise reduction, image sharpening and edge enhancement and some discussion of interpolation techniques. An introduction to the concepts of image restoration from known degradations and the reconstruction of images from parallel and fan projections. Prerequisite: E E 538 or consent of instructor. (★3)

E E 541 High Vacuum Technology
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Gas kinetics, gas flow, pumping speed theory, system design, pumping methods and pressure measurements, fabrication and leak detection techniques, adsorption and desorption processes, vacuum deposition techniques. (★3)

E E 545 Electrical Instruments and Relays
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). A study of modern AC instruments, relays, and applications. (★3)

E E 550 Analog Filter Design
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Filter types. Operational Amplifier Circuits. Butterworth and Chebyshev response. Biquad, Sallen and Key and Delyannis filters. Frequency transformations. Ladder networks. Switched capacitor filters. Op-amp oscillators. Prerequisite: E E 460. (★3)

E E 552 Computer Aided Circuit Design
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Study of circuit design with emphasis on the implementation of digital computer techniques. Principles of modelling of electrical components and devices. Network function evaluation, linear frequency domain circuit analysis, transient analysis, DC analysis of circuits. Sensitivity, circuit optimization. Prerequisite: E E 451. (★3)

E E 560 Control Systems I
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Feedback Control System Characteristics. PI, PD, and PID controllers. Stability, Routh Criterion, Root Locus Plots. Compensation, Lead and Lag Networks, Bode Plots, Nyquist Criterion. State space, state transition equations, state feedback. Prerequisite: E E 460 and MATH 311. Prerequisite or corequisite: E E 538. (★3)

E E 561 Control Systems II
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Important nonlinearities in systems; describing function method. State space method to describe systems; the phase plane method. Economic systems, ecological systems. System dynamics approach. Simulation, digital systems and design of digital controllers. Prerequisite: E E 560. Corequisite: E E 538. (★3)

E E 562 Control Systems for Computer Engineers
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Transfer functions, block diagrams and signal flow graphs for continuous and discrete-time dynamical systems. State variable representation for analysis. Modeling. Time-domain peformance specifications, stability and steady-state errors. Root-locus technique for digital compensator design. Digital implementation of feedback systems. Prerequisite: E E 435 and 538. (★3)

E E 569 Feedback Control Systems for Mechanical Engineers
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Mathematical models of physical systems in the time domain and frequency domain (Laplace Transforms). Block diagram and signal flow graphs. State diagrams. Time domain analysis of control systems. Input-output stability; Routh test. Root locus method for control system design. Discrete data control systems. (★3)

E E 570 Electronics III
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Linear and non-linear waveshaping circuits, large-signal models for bipolar and field-effect transistors, generation of linear voltage sweeps, multivibrators, gate circuits, operational amplifiers, A/D and D/A converters. Prerequisite: E E 471. (★3)

E E 571 Electronics IV
□4.5 (either term,3-0-3). Operational amplifier techniques, active filters, small-signal models for bipolar and field-effect transistors, tuned and untuned amplifiers, sinusoidal oscillators, modulation and demodulation techniques, device and system noise. Prerequisite: E E 460 and 570. (★3)

E E 572 Physical Electronics
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Crystalline solids; quantum and wave theory of solids, electrons in periodic lattices; semiconductors; metal-metal structure; metal-insulator-semiconductor structure; high electric fields in semiconductors and failure mechanisms of semiconductor devices. Prerequisite: E E 423. (★3)

E E 573 Introduction to Integrated Circuits
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Models for bipolar IC devices. Bipolar IC technology. Components of bipolar IC. Single and two transistor amplifiers. Current sources. Output stages. Models for MOS devices. CMOS technology. Scaling down the dimensions of MOS devices. Basic MOS analog circuits. Elemental bipolar and MOS digital circuits. Prerequisite: E E 470. Prerequisite or corequisite: E E 471. (★3)

E E 575 Generation of High Frequencies
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Fundamentals of microwave amplifiers and oscillators. Introduction to the principles of operation and the properties of important microwave tubes and microwave semiconductor devices. Prerequisite: E E 416. (★3)

E E 577 Pulse and Waveshaping Circuits
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Waveshaping circuits using passive elements and active devices; pulse generating circuits, mainly multivibrators and blocking oscillators; generation of linear voltage and current sweeps; other topics such as counting circuits, gating circuits, applications to computers, television, etc. Prerequisite: E E 471. Corequisite: E E 570. (★3)

E E 583 Introduction to Plasma and Fusion
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Energy sources and conditions for nuclear fusion. Behaviour of plasma. Collision phenomena. Boltzmann equation, transport properties, electrical breakdown of gases. Hydrodynamic and individual particle methods. Current experimental approaches to fusion — steady state and pulsed. State-of-the-art in confinement and heating of plasma. (★3)

E E 585 Acoustics
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). General laws; impedance; transducers; enclosures; room acoustics; etc. (★3)

E E 586 Introduction to Optical Fibre Communications
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Properties of optical communication systems; dispersion, attenuation and physical properties of single mode and multimode fibres; LED and laser diode sources; photodetectors; optical coupling; system design; latest developments. Prerequisite: E E 471 and 489 or consent of Department. (★3)

E E 588 Communication in Noise
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Probability, random variables and processes, Gaussian noise, noise in AM and FM Systems, data transmission, information theory and coding. Prerequisite: E E 487 and 489. (★3)

E E 589 Telecommunication Systems
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Common-carrier telecommunication systems (including telephone networks); signal quality and systems specifications; exchange switching and queuing; distortion and signal-to-noise ratio; multiplexing, modems and frequency converters; transmission media, digital transmission methods, and system constraints; signal conditioning; field trips. Prerequisite: E E 489. (★3)

E E 591 Antennas and Propagation
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Introduction to radiation, antenna fundamentals, self- and mutual-impedances of linear antennas, arrays of linear antennas, practical considerations and feeding arrangements. Friis transmission equation, propagation between elevated antennas over a lossy earth, Fresnel zones and the effect of obstacles, earth curvature and the effects of normal refraction and ducting, tropospheric scatter, propagation in an ionized medium, ionospheric critical frequency and MUF. Prerequisite: E E 356 and 416. (★3)

E E 593 Advanced Topics in Engineering Electromagnetics
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Engineering aspects of wave propagation in ionized gases, waves in anisotropic media (including ferrites), magnetohydrodynamics, space charge waves, travelling wave tubes, accelerators, periodically loaded structures, surface waveguides, forces on dielectric and magnetic materials in non-uniform fields and their biomedical and industrial applications, perturbation theory. (★3)

E E 594 Research Project Seminar
□0.5 (either term,0-1s-0). Organizational seminars for the research project in the following term. (★1)

E E 595 Research Project
□3.0 (either term,0-0-6). Engineering Physics student research projects. (★3)

E E 596 Introduction to Principles and Physics of Lasers
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Interaction of radiation with atoms, laser oscillations and threshold conditions, 3- and 4-level laser systems, rate equations, special properties of laser light, cavity Q and photon lifetime, optical resonators and lens waveguides, Gaussian beams, gain saturation, Q-switching, mode locking, interaction of light and sound, holography. Description of various lasers: solid, gas, semiconductor, dye, Raman and chemical. Laser applications. Prerequisite: E E 416 or equivalent. (★3)

E E 597 Microwave Engineering
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Properties of transmission media, synthesis of impedance transformers, microwave junctions, scattering matrix and scattering parameters, properties of microwave cavities, filters, ferrite circulators and isolators. Prerequisite: E E 416. (★3)

E E 598 Special Problems I
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). (★3)

E E 599 Special Problems II
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Courses E E 598 and 599 are intended to enable individuals or a small group of students to study topics in their particular field of interest under the supervision of a member of the Faculty. (★3)

84.6 Engineering, General

ENCMP 100 Computer Programming for Engineers
□3.8 (either term,3-0-1.5). Computer programming with application to engineering problems: use of computer workstations, structured programming using FORTRAN, use of subprogram libraries, introduction to computer graphics, debugging techniques. Restricted to Engineering students only. (★3)

ENGG 200 Orientation to the Engineering Profession I
□1.0 (first term,1-0-0). An outline of the development and history of the engineering profession; the branches of engineering; the work of the engineer in the various branches. The course will consist basically of presentations from practitioners drawn from the various branches of engineering. Several written assignments will be required, which will form the basis for assessment of the student's proficiency in report writing. (★1)

ENGG 201 Orientation to the Engineering Profession II
□1.0 (second term,1-0-0). An outline of the work of the engineer in the various branches of engineering; the development and history of the engineering profession. This course will consist basically of presentations from practitioners drawn from the various branches of engineering. (★1)

ENGG 210 Engineering Drawing and Computer Graphics
□3.5 (either term,2-0-3). Multiview representation, pictorial views of three-dimensional objects. Introduction to MS/DOS. Computer-aided graphics using AutoCAD on microcomputers. Note: Students in all sections of this course will write a common final examination. (★3)

ENGG 230 Engineering Mechanics I
□4.0 (either term,3-0-2). Equilibrium of planar systems. Analysis of statically determinate trusses and frames. Friction. Virtual work. Three-dimensional equilibrium. Note: students in all sections of this course will write a common final examination. Corequisite: MATH 100. (★3)

ENGG 231 Engineering Mechanics II
□4.0 (either term,3-0-2). Centroids and centers of gravity. Forces in beams and cables. Force and moment diagrams. Distributed forces. Fluid Statics. Second moments of area. Particle kinematics and kinetics. Energy and momentum of a particle. Systems of particles. Prerequisite: ENGG 230 and MATH 100. Note: Students in all sections of this course will write a common final examination. (★3)

ENGG 300 Orientation to Cooperative Education
□1.0 (first term,1-0-0). An examination of the history, philosophy and objectives of Cooperative Education; introduction to the operation of the Cooperative Studies Program; self-assessment of transferable skills and work values; preparation of the resumé; practice of job interview skills; goal setting on the job; ethics, safety and human rights. Note: This course is only open to students registered in the Cooperative Studies Program and must be taken prior to a student's first work placement. (★1)

ENGG 308 Computer Aided Design
□3.0 (first term,2-1s-1). Introduction to microcomputers and microcomputer-aided design for non-engineering students. Introduction to multiview drawing for a variety of applications. MS/DOS commands for the beginner. Computer-aided drawing using AutoCad on IBM type PS/2 microcomputers. This course is not open to students registered in Engineering or Science. (★3)

ENGG 420 Engineering Law
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Contracts; specifications; tenders; bonds; construction contract forms; Public Works Act; Workers' Compensation Act; building trades; company law; the engineer as an expert witness; patents; trade marks; copyrights; negligence; arbitration. Note: Restricted enrollment. Registration approval by Dean's office only. Credit will be granted for only one of ENGG 420 and LEG R 301. (★3)

ENGG 500 The Practice of the Engineering Profession
□1.0 (second term,1-0-0). The technical and professional duties and responsibilities of the engineer, the ethics of the engineering profession, technical and professional organizations. The role of the engineer in the social environment. Note: Restricted to fourth-year regular and fifth-year co-op engineering students. (★1)

ENGG 502 Project Management and Entrepreneurship
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). The theory and practice of project management applied to the creation of new business activities and ventures. Intended to provide engineering and business students with an awareness of specific planning, budgeting and scheduling techniques which can be used to implement and monitor new business activities, especially those which require high ratios of capital investment per employee. Emphasis is placed on the importance of individual behaviour and performance in starting new activities and attaining non-routine objectives. Comparisons of sole proprietorships and partnerships versus corporations, matrix versus line organizations, leadership and entrepreneurship versus administration. Introduction to finance, marketing and tax principles. Preparation of memos, letters, reports and management presentations to help communicate ideas to others. Prerequisite: Engineering, Business or Science students who have completed the second year of their programs. (★3)

ENGG 504 Safety and Loss Management
□3.8 (first term,3-3s/2-0). A review of the theory and practice of providing a safe working environment in all types of major industries. Risks and hazards are identified which are characteristically present in industry. This will include risks to people, equipment, production and environment. This course provides an examination of safety and loss management, particularly emphasizing the importance of the decisions of engineers and business managers in protecting workers, industry assets and the public in general. Government regulatory requirements will be reviewed. (★3)

ENGG 505 Engineering, Business and Society
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). An interpretative course on the art and science of engineering. The evolution of engineering. Examples and discussions of engineers' varied roles throughout business and society. Emphasis on engineers as 'problem solvers' who apply scientific principles and judgement to the creation and optimization of safe systems, and to the identification of those special systems which offer the best return on an investment of money, time and other resources. Attention is directed to major current and long-term business and societal problems in such areas as energy supply, population growth, man's impact on the environment, and Canada's technology and business status. Note: This course is intended for Business and Engineering students registered in their third or fourth year. Students from other faculties may be admitted on a space-available basis. (★3)

ENGG 506 Risk and Loss Management
□3.8 (second term,3-3s/2-0). A comprehensive review of the theory and practice of providing a safe working environment in all types of major industries. This will include risks to people, equipment, production and environment and review of productive type programs to eliminate or reduce these risks. The course strongly emphasizes risk analysis, risk management, loss control and the management, motivation and leadership required to provide excellence of results. It will also outline the legal responsibilities of engineers and business managers. Particular emphasis will also be given to the performance of small to medium size companies. (★3)

84.7 Mechanical Engineering

MEC E 350 Engineering Mechanics: II
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). Moments of inertia. Kinematics and kinetics of rigid body motion, energy and momentum methods, impact, mechanical vibrations. Prerequisite: ENGG 231 and MATH 101. (★3)

MEC E 361 Mechanical Design I
□3.5 (second term,2-0-3). Design morphology, analysis and design of components, computer-aided design introduction, design project. Prerequisite: CIV E 360, ENCMP 100. (★3)

MEC E 400 Mechanical Measurements
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Characterization and behaviour of measuring systems. Statistics and analysis of measurement data; measurement techniques applied to fundamental mechanical engineering phenomena. Prerequisite: CIV E 360, E E 354, STAT 235. Corequisite: MEC E 431. (★3)

MEC E 401 Mechanical Engineering Laboratory
□2.5 (either term,1-0-3). Laboratory experiments in mechanical engineering measurement techniques, treatment of measurement data, introduction to engineering report writing. Corequisite: MEC E 400. (★3)

MEC E 403 Mechanical Engineering Laboratory I
□2.5 (either term,1-0-3). Selected laboratory experiments in applied mechanics and thermosciences. Prerequisite: MEC E 400, 401. (★3)

MEC E 412 Quality Control
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Industrial engineering and statistical techniques of quality control including: Pareto Analysis, Fishbone charts, sampling distributions, Lot acceptance sampling plans, rectifying inspection, control charts and Taguchi methods. Prerequisite: STAT 235. (★3)

MEC E 413 Engineering Economy
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). The application of the fundamentals of economics to engineering alternatives in planning, developing and managing industrial projects. (★3)

MEC E 415 Analytical Decision Making with Micro-Computers
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). The structuring and solution of operational problems in technical organizations with the aid of micro-computers, decision analysis, quantitative methods of decision-making, and micro-computers, the large and small technical organization and the place for micro-computers. Prerequisite: STAT 235. (★3)

MEC E 431 Fluid Mechanics
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). Basic equations, hydrostatics, Bernoulli equation, momentum theories, similitude, fluid metering, fluid friction in pipes, external flow, boundary layers. Prerequisite: MEC E 350, MATH 209. Corequisite: CH E 324. (★3)

MEC E 440 Applied Thermodynamics
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Review of the fundamentals of thermodynamics. Cycle analysis and application to gas compressors, gas and steam turbines, and refrigeration, availability analysis, principles of combustion, psychrometry. Prerequisite: CH E 324. (★3)

MEC E 450 Vector Dynamics
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Kinematics of rigid bodies in three dimensions. Moments of inertia, equations of motion for a body, engineering applications. Prerequisite: MEC E 350. (★3)

MEC E 461 Mechanics of Machines
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Velocities and acceleration in plane mechanisms, balancing of rotating and reciprocating machinery, gears and gear trains. Prerequisite: MEC E 350. (★3)

MEC E 462 Mechanical Design II
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Design procedures, theories of failure, material selection, design for fatigue, creep and relaxation, selection of gears and bearings, development and application of computer-aided design software. Prerequisite: MEC E 361. (★3)

MEC E 464 Manufacturing Processes
□2.8 (either term,2-0-3/2). Primary and secondary processes in metal forming, material removal and fabrication techniques, selected field trips and laboratory and shop exercises. Prerequisite: MEC E 361. (★3)

MEC E 482 Advanced Strength of Materials I
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Review of stress, strain, stress-strain relation, time-independent and time-dependent behaviour, virtual work and energy theorems, deformations, indeterminate systems, matrix methods. Prerequisite: MEC E 361. (★3)

MEC E 490 Historical Review of Engineering
□2.0 (first term,2-0-0). The historical development of engineering emphasizing the interactions of engineering with the societal development of man. (★3)

MEC E 491 Computer-Aided Engineering
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). Application of numerical methods to mechanical engineering problems; topics include roots of algebraic and transcendental equations, simultaneous equations, curve fitting and interpolation, numerical integration and differentiation, numerical integration of ordinary differential equations. Prerequisite: MATH 200, 201, ENCMP 100 (or equivalent). (★3)

MEC E 501 Engineering Design
□2.0 (first term,2-0-0). Oral presentation and report writing techniques. Presentations by students and selected guest lecturers on design problems in engineering. (★2)

MEC E 509 Experimental Design Project I
□2.5 (either term,1-0-3). Selected group projects in experimental measurement and mechanical design. Two to four person groups develop planning, design, testing and report writing skills on projects in applied mechanics, thermosciences and engineering management. Prerequisite: MEC E 403 and MEC E 413. (★3)

MEC E 512 Operations and Total Quality Management I
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). The systematic design and implementation of Total Quality Management systems, systems design, marketing, production, forecasting the benefits of quality improvements, work study, cost estimating, just-in-time, Materials Requirement Planning (MRP)II, quality circles and microcomputers. Corequisite: MEC E 413. (★3)

MEC E 513 Operations and Total Quality Management II
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). The scheduling and control of service systems. Total Quality Management in the service sector. Forecasting, maintenance, staff planning and scheduling. Special emphasis will be given to project scheduling and control. Prerequisite: STAT 235 or equivalent. (★3)

MEC E 514 Reliability and Maintainability
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). The study of reliability in engineering design, definitions of reliability, maintainability, hazard functions, failure rates, frequently used probability distributions, the economics of reliability and maintenance, single and multiple component systems. Prerequisite: STAT 235. (★3)

MEC E 523 Principles of Heating and Air Conditioning
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). The characteristics of heating, cooling, refrigeration and heat pump systems, performance of system components, energy management, and energy conservation, solar energy systems. Prerequisite: MEC E 431 and 440. (★3)

MEC E 531 Advanced Fluid Mechanics
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Laminar and turbulent flow theory, ideal flow theory, boundary layers and separation. Prerequisite: MEC E 431. (★3)

MEC E 532 Compressible Flow
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). One dimensional flow in pipes and varying area-nozzles, normal shock waves, flow in constant area pipes with friction and heat addition, methods of measurement in compressible flow, behaviour of real, non-ideal gases and two phase flow, flow transients. Prerequisite: MEC E 431. (★3)

MEC E 537 Aerodynamics
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Boundary layer flow, vorticity, circulation and aerodynamic lift, wing theory, aeronautical applications. Corequisite: MEC E 431. (★3)

MEC E 541 Combustion Engines
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). History of basic cycles, combustion theory including ignition flame propagation and engine knock, cycle analysis with deviations from ideal cycles and performance characteristics, fuels, design and operation of carburation and injection processes, exhaust emissions measurements. Identification of design parameters and their effect on emissions. Prerequisite: MEC E 440. (★3)

MEC E 543 Energy Conversion
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Sources, flow and overall efficiency of use of various energy forms in society, thermodynamic analysis of energy conversion devices such as thermoelectric and magnetohydrodynamic generators, solar and fuel cells, energy from fission and fusion reactors. Prerequisite: MEC E 440. (★3)

MEC E 550 Vibrations and Sound
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). Free and forced vibration of single degree of freedom systems with and without damping, vibration isolation, free vibration of multi degrees of freedom systems, vibration absorption, beam vibrations, sound waves, sound sources, subjective aspects of noise. Prerequisite: MEC E 350. Corequisite: MATH 300 or CH E 476. (★3)

MEC E 552 Advanced Vibrations
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Free vibration of systems with many degrees of freedom, nonlinear oscillations. Prerequisite: MEC E 451. (★3)

MEC E 553 Acoustics and Noise Control
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Acoustic waves, sound transmission through walls and structures, acoustics of large and small rooms, mechanisms of sound absorption. Design of silencers. Prerequisite: MEC E 431 and 451. (★3)

MEC E 555 Introduction to Robotics
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). History and description of industrial robot applications, kinematics of industrial manipulators, actuators and servomechanisms, gripper design, motion planning, programming and simulation, work cell design, social implications. Prerequisite: MEC E 350 and MATH 200 or equivalent. (★3)

MEC E 561 Design Project
□3.0 (second term,1-0-4). Selected design projects requiring the student to exercise creative ability, to make assumptions and decisions based on synthesis of technical knowledge, and in general, devise new designs, rather than analyse existing ones. Prerequisite: MEC E 413, 462, 571, 584. (★3)

MEC E 562 Mechanical Systems Design
□4.0 (second term,3-0-2). Design and optimization of thermo-fluid systems, heating and ventilation equipment and load calculations, system design, piping networks, heat exchanger analysis and design, computer-aided design projects. Prerequisite: MEC E 571. (★3)

MEC E 563 Mechanical Computer-Aided Engineering II
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Application of finite element methods to the analysis of rods, beams, trusses, frames, plane problems in elasticity, fluid mechanics, heat transfer and lubrication. The design of machine components using finite element programs. Prerequisite: MATH 300 or CH E 476 and MEC E 462 (or equivalents). (★3)

MEC E 565 Environmental Factors in Mechanical Engineering
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Properties of the environment important for engineering design, adverse effects of technology on air and water environment, dispersion and control of air pollution, government legislation. Prerequisite: CH E 324. Corequisite: MEC E 431. (★3)

MEC E 569 Experimental Design Project II
□2.5 (either term,1-0-3). Advanced project in experimental measurement and mechanical designs in applied mechanics, thermosciences and engineering management. Prerequisite: MEC E 509. (★2.5)

MEC E 570 Advanced Heat Transfer
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Advanced topics in conduction, convection and thermal radiation heat transfer, with special emphasis on analytical and numerical solution techniques applied to engineering problems. Prerequisite: MEC E 571, MATH 300 or CH E 476. (★3)

MEC E 571 Heat Transfer
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Mechanisms of heat transfer, steady and unsteady heat conduction, numerical analysis, thermal radiation, free and forced convection, heat exchanger analysis and heat transfer with change of phase. Prerequisite: MEC E 431. (★3)

MEC E 584 Advanced Strength of Materials II
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Special topics for beams, torsion, pressure vessels, plane stress and strain, stability, fracture mechanics. Prerequisite: MEC E 462, 482, MATH 300 or CH E 476. (★3)

84.8 Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineering

84.8.1 Metallurgical Engineering

MET E 351 Materials Science I
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). An introduction to the science of materials from the standpoint of the relationships between structure and physical and mechanical properties. Atomic bonding, crystal structure and crystal imperfections, binary phase equilibria and phase transformations. Structures of metallic, non-metallic and composite materials. Elastic and plastic deformation, fracture, fatigue and creep in crystalline and amorphous solids. Corrosion and thermal stability of materials in service. Prerequisite: CHEM 105 or consent of Department. (★3)

MET E 352 Materials Science II
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). An introduction to the science of materials relating their mechanical, thermal, electronic and chemical properties to atomic, molecular and crystal structure. Ceramic and metallic crystals, glasses, polymers and composite materials. Multi-phase materials, strengthening processes. Laboratories include mechanical properties of metals and polymers, microstructure, heat treatment of steel, corrosion. Prerequisite: CHEM 105. (★3)

MET E 356 Materials Engineering II
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Introduction to structure-properties relationships, crystallography, x-ray diffraction, structures of non-crystalline materials, techniques for characterization of structure and microstructure, microstructure in single phase metals and alloys, microstructure in non-crystalline materials. Prerequisite: MET E 352 or equivalent. (★3)

MET E 431 Mineral Processing I
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Unit operations employed to concentrate minerals including comminution, classification, gravity concentration, froth flotation, thickening, filtering; tailings disposal; marketing of minerals; economics. Prerequisite: MMP E 392 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MET E 432 Pyrometallurgy
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Nature of ores, furnaces, fuels, slags, mattes and refractories. Metallurgical calculations. Metallurgical unit processes involving the use of elevated temperatures to extract metals including calcining, roasting, reduction, distillation, smelting, converting, refining and casting. Metals discussed include iron and steel, lead, zinc, titanium, tin and copper. Prerequisite: MET E 440 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MET E 440 Metallurgical Thermodynamics and Kinetics
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Application of thermodynamics and kinetics to problems in extractive and solid-state metallurgy. Review of thermodynamic variables and mathematical prerequisites. Solution thermodynamics applied to metallurgical reduction and refining processes, phase equilibria. Experimental methods and estimation of thermochemical data, kinetics of homogeneous and heterogeneous metallurgical processes; formal basis of diffusion theory. Prerequisite or corequisite: CHEM 271. (★3)

MET E 450 Physical Metallurgy
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). The physical metallurgy of engineering alloys, composition, heat treatment and engineering properties of steels, cast irons and selected non-ferrous alloys. Materials selection. Metallurgy of welding and joining. Prerequisite: MET E 352. (★3)

MET E 451 Electronic Materials I
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). The science of electronic materials relating atomic, molecular and crystal structure to material properties; polymers, glasses, crystalline ceramics, metals, and composites; diffusion, electrochemical and corrosion properties; phase equilibria, strengthening mechanisms, mechanical properties and failure; electrical conductors, semiconductors, and dielectrics; thermal, magnetic, and optical properties. Prerequisite: CHEM 105. Not open to students with credit in MET E 351 or MET E 352. (★3)

MET E 457 Fundamentals of Physical Metallurgy I
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Elements of crystallography. Stereographic projection, x-ray diffraction, structure of alloys, crystal defects. Diffusion. Phase equilibria and transformations. Prerequisite: MET E 351 or 352. (★3)

MET E 458 Fundamentals of Physical Metallurgy II
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Elastic deformation. Dislocation theory, plastic deformation of crystals, strengthening mechanisms, annealing behaviour. Fracture, creep and fatigue processes. Prerequisite: MET E 457. (★3)

MET E 480 Ceramics
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Structure, processing, characterization, properties and application of ceramic materials and glass. Ceramic raw materials. Crystal chemistry and physics. Glassy state. Crystal defects, nonstoichiometry, diffusion, phase diagrams. Powder preparation, ceramic fabrication. Characterization of ceramic powders and components. Thermal, mechanical and electrical properties. Traditional and recent applications. Prerequisite: MET E 356 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MET E 530 Hydrometallurgy and Electrometallurgy
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Principles and applications of hydrometallurgical and electrometallurgical processes to extract metals: atmospheric and pressure leaching, ion exchange, solvent extraction, hydrogen reduction, electrowinning and electrorefining. Metals discussed include copper, nickel, cobalt, uranium, zinc, aluminum and magnesium. Prerequisite: MET E 440 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MET E 533 Mineral Processing II
□2.8 (first term,2-0-3/2). Chemical and mineralogical analyses of ores, metallurgical testing, process evaluation, flowsheet development and economic evaluation. Prerequisite: MET E 431. (★2)

MET E 534 Metallurgical Process Analysis
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). The analysis, optimization and control of mineral and metallurgical processing systems through mathematical modelling and digital simulation. Instrumentation and control of metallurgical processing plants. Prerequisite: MMP E 490 and MET E 431 or MET E 432. (★3)

MET E 535 Fuel Technology
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Formation and metamorphic development of coal. The coal 'series'. Coal compositions. Mineral matter in coal. Physical and chemical properties of coal. Introduction to coal conversion. Metallurgical fuels and stoichiometry. Synthesis gas conversion. Producer gas and water gas utilization. Fuel combustion and heat utilization. Prerequisite: MET E 352. (★3)

MET E 540 Metallurgical Research Project I
□1.5 (first term,0-0-3). Research on current topics in metallurgical and mineral engineering, including physical, chemical and mechanical metallurgy, and mineral processing. Literature survey on a specific topic and submission of a detailed research proposal. Corequisite: MMP E 599. (★2)

MET E 541 Metallurgical Research Project II
□3.0 (second term,0-0-6). Execute research according to research proposal prepared in MET E 540. Write research report. Prerequisite: MET E 540. Corequisite: MET E 549. (★3)

MET E 542 Metallurgical Plant Design and Operation
□3.5 (second term,2-0-3). Fundamental concepts of design, flowsheet layout, cost estimation, profitability analysis, equipment sizing and selection, maintenance scheduling and operating practices. Prerequisite: MET E 431. (★3)

MET E 543 Special Topics in Metallurgy
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Physical and chemical principles underlying metallurgical topics of current interest such as composite materials, materials problems in energy conversion, electrofinishing, recycling, extraction of metals from fossil fuels, iron and steelmaking, and refractory-slag interactions. (★3)

MET E 545 Corrosion and Oxidation
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Electrochemical theory of galvanic attack, concentration cells and differential temperature cells. Uniform attack. The interaction of mechanical stresses and corrosion. Selection of corrosion-resistant materials. Protective coatings, inhibitors and cathodic protection, corrosion testing, high-temperature oxidation and other gas-metal reactions. Prerequisite: MET E 351 or 352. (★3)

MET E 548 Metallurgical Field Trip
□0 0. An extended trip to visit mining and metallurgical plants is made every second year by Third- and Fourth-Year Mining, Mineral Processing and Metallurgy students accompanied by staff. Fourth-Year students in Metallurgy may also be required to make several part-day trips during the session to mining, metallurgical and other industrial plants near Edmonton. Prerequisite: MET E 356. (★0)

MET E 549 Metallurgical Seminar
□1.0 (second term,1-0-0). Meetings of staff and fourth-year students for discussion of topics from recent literature related to metallurgical research. Prerequisite: MET E 432 and 457. (★1)

MET E 552 Applications of Physical Metallurgy I
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Service conditions, mechanical properties and materials selection of engineering alloys. Composition, structure, heat treatment and properties of alloys including steels, tool and die materials, refractory metals, and light metal alloys. Metallurgical design. Prerequisite: MET E 457. (★3)

MET E 553 Applications of Physical Metallurgy II
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Solidification processing, deformation processing. Metal working by forging, rolling and drawing. Powder metallurgy. Metallurgy of welding and joining. Prerequisite: MET E 552 or 450. (★3)

MET E 555 Special Topics in Metal Processing
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Studies of the metallurgical background of specific metal processing techniques which are of current interest. Prerequisite: MET E 552 or 450. (★3)

MET E 567 Polymers and Fibre Reinforced Polymers
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Introduction. Structure and behaviour of polymers. Polymer processing techniques. Stiffness and strength of polymers. Fracture of polymers. Fibre-polymer composites. Fluid flow and heat transfer in melt processing. Interactions of processing and properties. Polymer adhesives. Prerequisite: MET E 352 or equivalent. (★3)

MET E 570 Electronic Materials II
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Structure, properties and processing of electronic, magnetic and optical materials. Electron and photon behavior in materials discussed in terms of band theory. Electron effects in conductors, semiconductors, superconductors, ferrites and magnetic alloys, dielectric and peizoelectric materials. Processing of electronic devices by means of single crystal growth, epitaxial growth, solid state diffusion, ion implantation and photolithography. Materials design and characterization of electronic devices. Prerequisite: MET E 352 or MET E 451. (★3)

84.8.2 Mining Engineering

MIN E 395 Introduction to Mining Engineering
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). The relationships of geology, rock mechanics, labor productivity, and economic factors to the selection, planning, design, and safe operation of mining systems. Environmental planning and impact mitigation principles. Determination of the mine/mill product price required to provide a specified rate of return on capital investment. Prerequisite: MMP E 392 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 410 Ore Reserve Estimation
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Genesis of mineral deposits, sampling and estimation of ore grades and volumes, conventional ore reserve estimation techniques, evaluation of reserves by geostatistical techniques. Prerequisites or corequisites: MATH 200 and STAT 235. (★3)

MIN E 423 Rock Mechanics
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Mechanical properties of rock masses, field and laboratory determination; classification and index testing; permeability and flow; stresses around underground openings, elastic prototypes and numerical methods; ground support principles and mechanics of common support systems, loads on supports; hydraulic backfill, earth pressures, consolidation theory and practical consequences in mining; mechanics of subsidence and caving; rockburst mechanics; slope stability, rock mechanics instrumentation. Prerequisite: CIV E 360 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 424 Blasting and Explosives
□2.0 (second term,2-0-0). Characteristics of explosives and initiation systems, design of surface and underground rounds, controlled blasting, vibrations, fragmentation without explosives, drilling. Prerequisite: MIN E 395 or consent of instructor. (★2)

MIN E 430 Mine Transport and Materials Handling
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Objectives of materials handling; surface and underground haulage; hoists and hoisting; material conveying; hydraulic pipelining; analysis of materials handling systems. Prerequisite: ENCMP 100 and MIN E 395 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 501 Mine Plant Engineering
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Practical aspects of electrical engineering in mines: power, distribution, AC and DC motors, AC to DC conversion, control of peak loads, energy management. Compressors and compressed air in mines. Pumps and mine dewatering. Principles of mine equipment maintenance organization. Prerequisite: MIN E 395, E E 301 and CH E 412 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 502 Mine Design Project I
□1.5 (first term,0-0-3). Preliminary data collection and identification of problems for mine design project (see MIN E 503). Submission of report describing scope of project and primary data requirements. Selection and practice with various tools to be used in project, e.g. computer programs. Preparation of computer programs as required. Prerequisite or corequisite: MIN E 513 and MIN E 514. (★2)

MIN E 503 Mine Design Project II
□3.0 (second term,0-0-6). Planning of exploration, surface and/or underground layout and operation of a mine. Students work in groups, having selected a problem involving a mineral deposit, prepare plans, schedules for its development. Results are to be submitted in a report, complete with drawings, specifications and cost estimates. Prerequisite: MIN E 502. (★3)

MIN E 506 Ventilation and Safety in Mines
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Health and safety: mine dust and gases, diesel emissions, radiation, humidity, heat, electrical hazards, blasting, drilling, mine flooding, roof falls; safety organizations and regulations. Mine ventilation: mechanics of air flow, ventilation circuits and fans. (★3)

MIN E 507 Principles of Mine Ventilation
□2.8 (second term,2-0-3/2). Principles and practices for control of underground mining atmospheric environment. Prerequisite: CH E 412, MIN E 514, or equivalent (★2)

MIN E 510 Mining Enterprise Economics
□2.0 (first term,2-0-0). The economics of a resource enterprise. New venture analysis, capital and operating cost estimates, commodity price trends, long-term supply contracts, stock and futures markets. Analyses of selected companies. Prerequisite: MMP E 392 or consent of instructor. (★2)

MIN E 513 Surface Mining
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Surface mining methods. Planning and operation of surface mines: pit designs and pit limits, equipment selection, control of operations. Land conservation and reclamation. Prerequisite: MIN E 410, MIN E 430 and MIN E 423 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 514 Underground Mining
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Principles of engineering and operating underground mines, including key factors related to mining method selection, mine planning, examination of individual mine operations, mine organization, labour productivity, cost estimating and cost control. Methods studied include room-and-pillar, sublevel stoping and caving, vertical crater retreat, block caving, selective methods for vein mines, and underground coal mining systems. Prerequisite: MIN E 423 and 424 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 517 Mine Dewatering
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Flow through rock masses; regional hydrology; predicting inflows; methods of dewatering; methods of controlling mine water; design of pipelines, pumps, motors, starters and pipeline controls; corrosion; case histories; legal aspects. Prerequisite: MIN E 423 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 518 Coal Mining Methods
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Technical considerations of factors which affect and constrain choice of mining methods. Engineering design of the elements of mine structures. Mining methods for flat, gently dipping, pitching and steep deposits, with reference to seam thickness. Categories include coal getting, natural and artificial support, mechanization, coal recovery and conservation. Prerequisite: MIN E 514 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MIN E 519 Coal Mining and Processing
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Nature of coal deposits; physical and chemical properties; exploration and evaluation; mining, coal processing and conversion; economics and utilization. (This course is intended for senior students in Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineering and Geology.) (★3)

MIN E 528 Mining Field Trip
□0 0. An extended trip to visit mining and metallurgical plants is made every second year by Third- and Fourth-Year Mining, Mineral Process and Metallurgy students accompanied by staff. Fourth-Year students in Mining and Mineral Process Engineering may also be required to make several part-day trips during the session to mining, metallurgical and other industrial plants near Edmonton. Prerequisite: MIN E 395. (★0)

MIN E 529 Mining Seminar
□1.0 (second term,1-0-0). Meetings of student and staff for discussion of topics related to mining engineering. (★1)

MIN E 555 Special Topics in Mining Engineering
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Research studies and/or projects dealing with selected metal, nonmetal and coal mining subjects. Suitable subjects are chosen in consultation with a mining engineering faculty member. Typical study categories are reserve evaluation, surface and underground mining methods and operations, mine planning, computer simulation of mining operations, mineral processing, ventilation, regulations, mine safety, feasibility studies, economics and management. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor (★3)

84.8.3 Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineering

MMP E 392 Using Technology to Create Resource Enterprises
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). An introduction to mining, metallurgical and petroleum engineering based on lectures that explain how professional knowledge and expertise in the many technologies that comprise each of these engineering fields are used to create and maintain business enterprises. Exploration techniques to find mineral and petroleum deposits. Unit operations for hardrock and coal mining, petroleum and natural gas recovery. Selection of mining and petroleum production methods to maximize recovery and profitability. Processing and refining of metal, nonmetal and hydrocarbon raw materials. Determining economic feasibility and return on capital investment. Prerequisite: Completion of the first two terms of engineering, science or business. (★3)

MMP E 422 Rock Structures and Intact Rock Properties
□3.5 (second term,3-1s-0). Rock texture and fabric; compaction, fracture and deformation properties, effect of environment and time, strength theories. State of stress in the Earth's crust and its measurement. Formation, geometry and classification of depositional, diastrophic and non-diastrophic structures including bedding, jointing, faulting, folding, cleavage. Representation of structures on maps and stereographic projections. Prerequisite: CIV E 360 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MMP E 490 Introduction to Process Simulation
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Simulation methods are developed and applied to systems. Topics include probabilistic, deterministic, and numerical simulations of physical processes commonly encountered in mining, metallurgical, and petroleum engineering. Prerequisite: A course in FORTRAN programming. (★3)

MMP E 508 Environmental Aspects of Resource Operations
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Environmental impacts of mining, mineral processing, and extractive metallurgical operations. Abatement technology. Public response and environmental legislation. Safe disposal of wastes from resource industries. Land reclamation and revegetation methods. Case studies of typical Canadian resource industries. Prerequisite: MET E 431 or consent of instructor. (★3)

MMP E 597 Operations Research
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Simulation, linear programming; network analysis; dynamic programming. (★3)

MMP E 599 Undergraduate Seminar
□1.0 (first term,1-0-0). Special lectures and discussions on topics in engineering. (★1)

84.8.4 Petroleum Engineering

PET E 395 Introduction to Fundamental Petroleum Engineering
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). The relationships of geology, basic reservoir rock properties, surface and interfacial phenomena, the flow of fluids through porous media, classification of oil and natural gas reservoirs, and introduction to reserve estimation principles. Prerequisite: MMP E 392, or consent of instructor. (★3)

PET E 462 Petroleum Reservoir Fluids
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Origin, accumulation, composition, nature and behaviour of petroleum reservoir fluids. Prerequisite: CHEM 271 or CH E 324, or consent of instructor. (★3)

PET E 464 Oil Well Drilling and Completion
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Elements of rock mechanics, drilling fluids, factors affecting rate of penetration, formulation evaluation and well completions. Prerequisite: CIV E 360 and either CHEM 271 or CH E 324, or consent of instructor. (★3)

PET E 466 Petroleum Production Operations
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Types and characteristics of well completions, elementary theory of reservoir flow, flow through conduits, flow measurement and control, artificial lift, fluid separation treatment and disposal, design of gathering lines and production facilities, well-testing simulation and recompletion, reserves estimation and decline curve analysis. Prerequisite: PET E 462 and 464. (★3)

PET E 468 Fundamentals of Well Test Analysis
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). A basic course in well test design and interpretation. Analysis methods for pressure drawdown, buildup, and interference tests. Principle of superposition and its application in well test analysis. Average reservoir pressure estimation. Effect of wellbore conditions on pressure behavior. An introduction to drill stem testing and gas well testing. Prerequisite: PET E 395 or consent of instructor. (★3)

PET E 564 Well Logging and Formation Evaluation
□3.5 (first term,3-1s-0). Theory and engineering applications of measurements of physical properties of the formation near the well bore; interpretation and use of the information in reservoir engineering. Prerequisite: PET E 462, or consent of instructor. (★3)

PET E 568 Heavy Oil Recovery
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). The objectives of this course are to introduce the student to the current heavy oil recovery technology, and to develop the practical project design techniques. Emphasis will be on thermal methods, although nonthermal methods will be covered briefly. This is designed to be suitable for both undergraduate and graduate students. Prerequisite or corequisite: PET E 573. (★3)

PET E 573 Fundamental Reservoir Engineering
□3.8 (first term,3-0-3/2). Rock properties, rock-fluid interaction, flow through porous media; material balance. Prerequisite: PET E 462 or consent of instructor. (★3)

PET E 575 Applied Reservoir Engineering
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Analysis and prediction of reservoir performance by use of material balance. Reservoir performance by use of decline curves. Fluid displacement, pressure maintenance and enhanced recovery. Prerequisite: PET E 573. (★3)

PET E 577 Modelling in Petroleum Engineering
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Fundamentals of Modelling in Petroleum Engineering. Simulation methods as applied to specific problems in petroleum reservoir behavior. Examples will be drawn from primary, secondary and tertiary recovery phases of petroleum production. Prerequisite: PET E 573, ENCMP 100 and MATH 200 or equivalent. (★3)

PET E 584 Oil and Gas Property Evaluation
□3.5 (first term,2-0-3). An economic and property evaluation in petroleum engineering involving exploration, drilling, production and development fundamentals and field case histories, Canadian oil and gas regulations, unitization and equalization of investment. (★3)

PET E 588 Petroleum Field Trip
□0.0 Students in their fifth and sixth terms will be required to make several trips to selected field installations, laboratories and industrial plants. (★0)

PET E 589 Petroleum Seminar
□1.0 (second term,1-0-0). Meeting of students and staff for discussion of topics related to petroleum engineering. (★1)

PET E 596 Petroleum Engineering Design Project
□4.0 (either term,1-6s-0). Designed to deal with special case studies in the Mining and Petroleum industries; an analysis of reserves; the prediction of production and operating procedures related to the project; the application of economics in the analysis of profitability; economics and planning as tools for a management position. Prerequisite: PET E 584 or consent of instructor. (★3)

84.9 Agricultural Engineering

AG EN 301 Environmental Control of Agricultural Buildings
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Environmental requirements as determined by physiological principles. Environmental control. Prerequisite: CH E 324. (★3)

AG EN 313 Soil and Water Engineering
□4.0 (first term,3-0-2). Basic principles of agricultural hydrology, water resource development, irrigation and drainage. Note: Not open to students with credit in AG EN 308. (★3)

AG EN 413 Irrigation and Drainage Engineering
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Irrigation and drainage principles; planning and design of irrigation and drainage systems. Prerequisite: MEC E 431 or CIV E 430. (★3)

AG EN 420 Mathematical Programming in Agriculture and Forestry
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Mathematical programming methods applied to the analysis of production systems in agriculture and forestry. Prerequisite: AG EC 316 or MATH 120 or MATH 200. (★3)

AG EN 421 Simulation Methods in Agricultural Engineering
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Continuous and discrete simulation methods applied to the study of agricultural processes. Prerequisite: Introductory courses in Computing Science and Calculus. Not open to students with credit in FOREN 421. (★3)

AG EN 430 Structural Design of Agricultural Buildings
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Principles of structural design as related to the use of timber, steel and concrete in agricultural buildings. Prerequisite: CIV E 360. (★3)

AG EN 453 Power Units
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Energy conversion, power transmission, soil vehicle mechanics, hydraulic systems, tractor performance and evaluation, tractor dynamics. Prerequisite: MEC E 431 or CIV E 430. (★3)

AG EN 454 Agricultural Machinery
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). The course uses the wedge theory and the Mohr-Coulomb failure criteria as a basis for a simple tillage theory. Various tillage tools are examined as well as implement and tractor chassis mechanics. An introduction to harvesting processes is made. Particle dynamics and mechanics of raking and cutting are developed. Harvesting systems are noted. Prerequisite: MEC E 350, CIV E 480. (★3)

AG EN 456 Post-Harvest Technology
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). This course is an analysis of forage conditioning, fractionation, wafering, preservation and ensiling; grain and forage dehydration, feeding and transport equipment, storage regimes, process control; and grain cleaning, sorting and milling. Prerequisite: MATH 113. (★3)

AG EN 500 Agricultural Engineering Field Trip
□0.0 An extended trip to visit agricultural engineering operations is required of all agricultural engineering students. Normally conducted for third and fourth-year students in September of even numbered years prior to start of classes. (★0)

AG EN 503 Instrumentation in Agricultural Engineering
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). A study of the primary sensing elements used in agricultural engineering, their principles of operation and application. An introduction to signal conditioning and the use of digital techniques in instrumentation. Prerequisite: E E 405. (★3)

AG EN 510 Agricultural Engineering Project
□3.0 (either term,1-0-4). Each final year student in the BSc (Agr Eng) program works independently on a project approved by the Coordinator. The project must be either a literature review or an engineering design problem or an experimental research project or a combination of any of these. Both a brief outline and a formal report must be submitted by the due dates. (★3)

AG EN 552 Advanced Irrigation and Drainage
□3.5 (either term,3-1s-0). Studies of selected topics or special problems in irrigation and drainage. Prerequisite: AG EN 411 or AG EN 413. (★3)

84.10 Courses from other Faculties

84.10.1 Science

Chemistry

CHEM 103 Introductory University Chemistry I
□4.3 (either term,3-1s-3/2). Stoichiometry, ideal gases, calorimetry, chemical energy, Hess' Law, chemical equilibrium, acids and bases, bonding. Prerequisite: Chemistry 30 or equivalent. (★3)

CHEM 105 Introductory University Chemistry II
□3.8 (second term,3-0-3/2). Solubility products, oxidation-reduction, electrochemical cells and the Nernst equation, coordination chemistry, chemical kinetics, bonding. Prerequisite: CHEM 103. (★3)

CHEM 261 Organic Chemistry
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). The study of organic structures and reactions. Nomenclature, hydrocarbons and organic compounds of industrial interest. Students intending to take CHEM 261 and CHEM 263 in the same academic year are recommended to register in CHEM 260. Prerequisite: CHEM 103 and 105. (★3)

CHEM 263 Organic Chemistry
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). The study of organic chemistry, stereochemistry, aromatic hydrocarbons, polymers and peptides. Prerequisite: CHEM 261. (★3)

CHEM 271 Chemical Thermodynamics
□4.5 (first term,3-0-3). Introduction to the first and second laws of thermodynamics, with applications to systems with chemical change. Gibbs free energy and equilibrium in multi-phase, multi-component systems; Clapeyron equation and phase equilibria; properties of solutions. Raoult's and Henry's Laws; azeotropes, eutectics; applications to ideal and nonideal systems. Students intending to take CHEM 271 and CHEM 273 in the same academic year are recommended to register in CHEM 270. Note: This course makes substantial use of calculus. Students with grades below 5 in MATH 101 may experience difficulty. Prerequisite: CHEM 103/105 and MATH 100/101. (★3)

CHEM 273 Physical Chemistry
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Chemical potential and the theory of chemical equilibrium; theory of real gases and other nonideal systems; activity and standard states. Electrochemical cells and chemical potential, Kinetic theory of gases, Maxwell-Boltzmann distribution, transport properties. Thermodynamics of surfaces; adsorption, surface tension. Simple theories of chemical kinetics and reaction mechanisms; catalysis. Prerequisite: CHEM 271. (★3)

CHEM 311 Instrumental Analysis for Engineers
□4.5 (second term,3-0-3). Fundamentals of volumetric, chromatographic, spectrographic, and electrochemical analysis. Volumetric techniques are covered in some detail. Instrumental techniques discussed include gas and liquid chromatography, UV and IR spectroscopy, ion-selective electrodes and voltammetry. Emphasis is on the principles of each method, and the nature of matrix and other effects that influence the quality of the data obtained. Reference will be made to applications such as air and water quality, and process analyzers in manufacturing. Prerequisite: CHEM 103/105, CHEM 271. (★3)

Mathematics

MATH 100 Calculus I
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). Coordinates, geometry of lines and planes. Functions, limits, continuity, derivatives and applications. Integration and applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 30. Note: This course may not be taken for credit if credit has already been obtained in MATH 113, 114, or 117. Note: students in all sections of this course will write a common final examination. (★3)

MATH 101 Calculus II
□4.5 (either term,4-0-1). Applications of integration to lengths, areas, volumes and masses. Transcendental functions. Methods of integration, polar coordinates, parametric equations. Vectors, vector functions and derivatives. Prerequisite: MATH 100 or equivalent. Note: Students in all sections of this course will write a common final examination. Note: This course may not be taken for credit if credit has already been obtained in either MATH 115 or 118. (★3)

MATH 200 Linear Algebra and Infinite Series
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Review of elementary vector operations. Linear transformations, matrices and matrix operations. Eigenvalues and eigenvectors. Infinite Series, examples. Prerequisite: MATH 101 or equivalent. Note: Students in all sections of this course will write a common final examination. (★3)

MATH 201 Differential Equations I
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). First order linear and nonlinear equations. Linear differential equations with constant coefficients. Laplace Transforms, applications, Picard's Method. Series solutions. Prerequisite: MATH 101 or equivalent. Prerequisite or corequisite: MATH 200.
Note:
(1) Open only to Engineering and Agricultural Engineering students and Science students in the following programs: Specialization Physics, Specialization Geophysics, Specialization Computer Science (Computer Design Stream), Specialization Computer Science (Scientific Computing Stream) or Specialization Geography (Meteorology).
(2) This course may not be taken for credit if credit has already been obtained in any of MATH 205, 334 or 336.
(3) Students in all sections of this course will write a common final exmination.
(★3)

MATH 205 Linear Algebra and Differential Equations I
□4.0 (first term,4-0-0). Systems of linear algebraic equations. Matrices. Determinants. Differential equations of first order. Linear differential equations. Linear equations with constant coefficients. The Laplace transform. Prerequisite: MATH 101 or equivalent.
Note:
(1) Open only to Engineering and Specialization Geography (Survey Science, Meteorology) students.
(2) This course may not be taken for credit if credit has already been obtained in any of MATH 201, 334 or 336.
(★4)

MATH 206 Linear Algebra and Differential Equations II
□4.0 (second term,4-0-0). General vector spaces. Eigenvalues and eigenvectors. Systems of linear differential equations. Infinite series. Series solutions of linear differential equations. Prerequisite: MATH 205 or equivalent. Note: Open only to Engineering and Specialization Geography (Survey Science, Meteorology) students. (★4)

MATH 209 Calculus III
□3.5 (either term,3-0-1). Partial differentiation, derivatives of integrals. Multiple integration using rectangular, cylindrical and spherical coordinates. Vector Field Theory. Prerequisite: MATH 101 or equivalent. Note: students in all sections of this course will write a common final examination. (★3)

MATH 300 Advanced Calculus I
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Review of ordinary differential equations. Boundary value problems, applications. Orthogonality, completeness and Fourier series. Solution of Laplace, heat and wave equations by Fourier series, transforms. Numerical methods. Prerequisite: MATH 200, 201, and 209 or equivalent. Note: (1) Open only to students in Engineering, Specialization Computing Science (Computer Design or Scientific Applications Stream), Specialization Physics and Specialization Geophysics. (2) This course may not be taken for credit if credit has already been obtained in MATH 437. (★3)

MATH 301 Advanced Calculus II
□3.0 (second term,3-0-0). Series solutions of ordinary differential equations. Bessel, Legendre and Hermite equations. Vibrating membranes, heat flow in solids, gravitational potential. Transform methods. Additional topics may be added at the request of the students. Prerequisite: MATH 300 or equivalent. (★3)

MATH 311 Theory of Functions of a Complex Variable □(either term,3-0-0). Complex numbers. Complex series. Functions of a complex variable. Cauchy's theorem and contour integration. Conformal mappings. Schwartz-Christoffel transformation. Inverse Laplace transforms. Note: This course is intended for Engineering students. Prerequisite or corequisite: MATH 209 or 215. (★3)

Physics

PHYS 131 Mechanics
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Kinematics; particle dynamics; work and energy; linear momentum; torque and angular momentum; gravitation. Prerequisite: Mathematics 30, Physics 30. Corequisite: MATH 100. (★3)

PHYS 137 Wave Motion and Electricity
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Oscillations; wave motion; sound waves; electric charge; electric field; electric potential; Gauss's law; capacitance; electric currents; electromotive forces and DC circuits. Prerequisite: PHYS 131. (★3)

PHYS 238 Electromagnetism and Optics
□3.8 (either term,3-0-3/2). Magnetic field; Ampere's Law; Faraday's Law; inductance; magnetic properties of materials; geometrical optics; interference; diffraction. Prerequisite: PHYS 137 or 143. (★3)

PHYS 292 Physics Laboratory A
□3.0 (either term,0-0-3). Experiments in mechanics, electromagnetism and atomic physics. Prerequisite or corequisite: PHYS 285. (★3)

PHYS 409 Statistical Physics for Engineers
□3.0 (first term,3-0-0). Quantum states, temperature, entropy, chemical potential, Boltzmann factor, fermions and bosons, kinetic theory of gases, Fermi-Dirac distributions and electrons in metals, Bose-Einstein distributions and photons, Debye theory of photons. Bose-Einstein condensation. Prerequisite: PHYS 238. (★3)

84.10.2 Arts

English

ENGL 199 Essentials of Writing for Engineering Students
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). This course is designed to develop the student's ability to write the narrative, descriptive, expository, and persuasive prose fundamental to all written communication. Instruction and practice will be integrated with the study of prose models drawn from modern essayists. A review of basic grammar will be included. Note: Restricted to students in the Faculty of Engineering only. (★3)

Sociology

SOC 366 People in Industry
□3.0 (either term,3-0-0). Introduction to the sociological analysis of the attitudes and behavior of employees in work organizations, with emphasis on the contemporary Canadian situation. Note: Restricted to Engineering students only. (★3)

91.2 General Information

Home Economics is a study of the laws, conditions, principles, and ideals concerned with people's immediate physical environment and their nature as social beings. It deals especially with the relationship between the two for the purpose of improving the quality of people's daily lives. Consumer orientation, family dynamics and daily living patterns are common themes running through all programs and courses. Programs are offered at bachelors and masters degree levels. PhD programs are available in selected areas of specialization.

91.2.1 Undergraduate Programs in Home Economics

The Faculty divides the field of home economics into three areas and offers a four year undergraduate program in each one. All programs are flexible and contain sufficient options to permit tailoring the program for personal interests and career goals.

The Clothing and Textiles program covers aspects of clothing, textiles and housing. The social sciences, physical sciences and humanities are applied to the study of people's most personal environment - their clothing and shelter. Through choice of suitable options, the program can be designed for a broad university education or as preparation for careers in merchandising, teaching, extension, textile science, textile or apparel design, textile conservation, or consumer affairs.

Students interested in merchandising and/or retailing may choose the textile and apparel merchandising specialization, selecting options from the Faculty of Business. Due to both limitations in the number of practicum placements for this specialization and limitations on enrollments in courses, the Department will limit the number of students taking the merchandising specialization upon entering third year.

Students who select the history/conservation specialization may choose options in art, history and anthropology. For a specialization in textile science, a student may choose courses in physics, chemistry and mathematics. A student with an interest in design may select courses in fine arts, while those with an interest in housing may select options from sociology, family studies, economics and other related areas. Students who wish to specialize in consumer studies should select courses in family studies, economics, marketing, and communications.

Students wishing to pursue a career in the apparel industry may choose to spend one term in the third or fourth year of their program at the University of Manitoba. Students choosing this plan should consult the Associate Dean to ensure that courses are chosen for which credit will be transferred.

Details of the Clothing and Textiles program may be found in §93.1.1.

The Family Studies program provides an interdisciplinary study of the historical, contemporary and emerging family forms through formal course work and interaction with individuals and families. Field experiences are an integral part of the program. Each student is placed in a field experience with an agency in the final year of study. Through this experience the student has an opportunity to develop skills in interacting with individuals and groups and to learn how to adapt knowledge to the needs of the community.

The increasing need for support services for individuals and families suggests a growing demand for personnel trained to deal with personal and interpersonal problems. Interdisciplinary social welfare teams, recreational agencies, financial counselling groups, senior citizen groups, and agricultural extension agencies are a few of the potential employers of graduates of this program.

Two routes of Family Studies are possible. The first is a General Home Economics Route which focuses attention on all three areas of Home Economics: Family Studies, Clothing and Textiles, and Foods and Nutrition. Chemistry 160 is a necessary prerequisite to elect this route. Students desiring careers in agricultural extension, the consumer field or teaching should plan their program on these general principles. The second is a General Family Studies Route. This route is advised for students desiring greater depth in the study of the nature of the family and/or family interaction and the application of this knowledge. Biology 100 and another half option in biology or zoology are necessary prerequisites. This route is especially relevant for students desiring careers in family related social service agencies.

Students in the Family Studies program are advised to obtain counselling early in their program of study to plan appropriate choices of basic science courses and options.

Postgraduate study may be undertaken at this or other universities; interested students should consult the faculty's staff members and should also refer to §93.4.

Details of the Family Studies program may be found in §93.1.2.

The Foods and Nutrition Program includes study of: the application of scientific principles in understanding the nutritional value of foods; the utilization, functions and interrelationships of nutrients in health and disease; the chemical, physical and sensory properties of food; the safety and quality of foods and their social and psychological significance. Optional courses chosen from the arts provide a broader education, while optional courses in other areas allow the student to plan a program to meet specific interests and career goals.

The program is suitable for students planning to become dietitians, nutritionists, home economists in the food industry, home economists or foods and/or nutrition specialists in provincial departments of agriculture and in consumer work. Students interested in dietetics should refer to the section below entitled: Adapting the Foods and Nutrition Program for Dietetics and Training. Students interested in the other careers may choose a variety of courses as options; early in their programs (not later than the end of the first year) they should consult the faculty's staff members for guidance in selecting suitable options.

The study of foods and nutrition may be continued at post-graduate level in this and other universities. Excellent opportunities are open to the holders of the master's or doctoral degrees. Interested students should consult the faculty's staff members for guidance in suitably designing their undergraduate programs; they should also refer to §93.4.

Details of the Foods and Nutrition program may be found in §93.1.3.

Students interested in broadening their study to embrace all areas of home economics should read the material below, under the heading: Adapting the Three Programs for Generalized Study or for a Career in Teaching.

Adapting the Foods and Nutrition Program for Dietetics Training

The Foods and Nutrition program provides an opportunity to prepare for a professional career in Dietetics; the interested student will find guidance in §93.1.3 - Note B.

To qualify as a professional dietitian a graduate must spend twelve months in an internship approved by the Canadian Dietetic Association. The Canadian Dietetic Association recognizes that there are four kinds of dietitians: the Clinical Dietitian, the Community Dietitian, the Administrative Dietitian, and the Generalist (who has duties related to both the Clinical and the Food Service Administration areas). Internships to meet the needs of these four kinds of dietitians are now being offered in Canada; however, the number of specialized internships in Community Nutrition, Clinical Dietetics and Administration is still limited. Further information about internships can be obtained by inquiring at the general office of the Faculty of Home Economics. Interested students should make inquiries early in their careers.

The Foods and Nutrition program offered by the Faculty of Home Economics emphasizes Clinical dietetics and General dietetics. Until more Clinical internships are started, graduates may qualify by completing the Generalist internship for which they can prepare by appropriate selection of options (see §93.1.3 - Note A).

Early in the program, students interested in dietetics should refer to the document entitled Academic Requirements for Membership in the Canadian Dietetic Association June 1972. Copies are available in Room 110, Home Economics Building.

Note: There is a $150 fee for internship for students in the Food and Nutrition Dietetics Program.

Adapting the Three Programs for Generalized Study of Home Economics, or for a Career in Teaching

It is possible to adapt all three programs for generalized study of home economics. Students who do not wish to concentrate on one area exclusively, but would rather acquire a general knowledge of the entire field or prepare themselves to fill positions as home economists in the extension service of provincial departments of agriculture or utility companies, may do so by enrolling in any one of the programs and selecting some optional courses from the other two departments. Graduates with a generalized program of this sort can also prepare for a career in teaching home economics. Any student wishing to enroll in the BEd After Degree program must have the Home Economics course requirements before entering the program (see §75.2 for a list of the required courses). For a description of the Bachelor of Education degree program with specialization in Home Economics, see §74.3.2. Students interested in generalizing their programs should seek advice as soon as possible upon enrolling in the Faculty of Home Economics since careful selection of options should commence early.

91.2.2 Transfer from Other Postsecondary Institutions

The first year of the Faculty's programs may be taken at the University of Calgary, the University of Lethbridge, Camrose Lutheran University College or one of the following Junior Colleges: Red Deer Regional, Grande Prairie Regional, Medicine Hat, Concordia and Canadian Union Colleges (see the appropriate university or college calendar).

Applications for transfer from other postsecondary institutions will be evaluated individually.

92 Faculty Regulations

92.1 Admission

(1) The admission requirements of the Faculty are set out in §§13.2 and 13.4.7 of the University Regulations and Information for Students section of this Calendar.

(2) English Language Proficiency

English is the primary language of instruction in all faculties except Faculté Saint-Jean, where French is the primary language. Therefore, all applicants to undergraduate faculties other than Faculté Saint-Jean must possess an adequate knowledge of written and spoken English as a prerequisite to admission. For example, non-matriculated applicants and unclassified program students must comply with the requirement along with other applicants.

Applicants to Faculté Saint-Jean need not demonstrate proficiency in English prior to admission being granted. However, they must demonstrate proficiency in English before they may be granted a degree from this institution.

Regardless of country of origin or citizenship status, all applicants except for Faculté Saint-Jean will be required to demonstrate proficiency in the English language prior to admission. This demonstration may take any one of several forms.

a. Six full years of education in English in Canada or the equivalent in another country where English is the principal language. Such education must include the Alberta Grade 12 or equivalent level and can be in a combination of secondary and postsecondary training.

b. Successful completion of the equivalent of six years of full-time instruction in a school/institution in Alberta in which the major language of instruction is other than English, but where the level of English proficiency required for graduation is equivalent to that in English language schools/institutions in Canada.

c. A grade of 80% or better on the diploma examination portion (only) of the Alberta English 30 course or a grade of 6 or 7 on the International Baccalaureate Higher Level English course or a score of 5 on the Advanced Placement English course.

d. Graduation from a degree program offered by an accredited university at which English is the primary language of instruction and in a country where English is the principal language.

e. A score of at least 580 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or a score of at least 90 on the Michigan English Language Assessment Battery (MELAB). The TOEFL results must include a score of at least 50 on each of the three components.

Note A: Authority to hear petitions and to waive the requirement for undergraduate applicants to write the TOEFL resides with the Registrar, acting on behalf of the Faculties. Exemptions will be based on assessments of the applicant's English language proficiency as evidenced by a written petition and a personal interview. Please direct enquiries and petitions to the Associate Registrar (Admissions), Office of the Registrar.

Note B: Further information on TOEFL and TSE is available from the Examination and Timetabling Division, Office of the Registrar, Room 120 Administration Building. TOEFL application forms are available from the Student Access Centre, Office of the Registrar, Main Floor, Administration Building or by writing directly to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, USA, 08540.

f. Test of Spoken English

In addition to the English Language requirements set out in §13.2.2, the Faculty of Home Economics also requires that beginning in September 1992 all applicants who are required to submit the results of the TOEFL must also submit the results of the Test of Spoken English (TSE) with a minimum score of 200. For further information contact the Examinations and Timetabling Division, Office of the Registrar, 120 Administration Building.

(3) Admission With Advanced Standing

a. Students transferring into any BSc (HEc) degree program must meet all curriculum requirements of the program of their choice.

b. Normally, a maximum of 60 units of course weight or equivalents may be granted for work completed at other institutions.

c. Students who have completed more than two years of a Home Economics bachelor's degree program at another university are advised to seek permission from their university to attend the University of Alberta as a Visiting Student (refer to §12.2.2(5) of this University Calendar) rather than apply for admission into one of the programs offered by the Faculty of Home Economics.

(4) Admission Policy for Non-Matriculated Applicants: See §13.8 for full details on general admission requirements for non-matriculated applicants.

(5) Students from Commonwealth Countries: Applicants from Commonwealth countries require credit in five GCE exams: two at the A-level and three at the O-level; two of the exams should be Chemistry and English.

92.2 Residence Requirements

(1) A student proceeding towards a first degree must complete a minimum of 60 units of course weight at the University of Alberta. At least 30 of these 60 units of course weight must be taken in the Faculty of Home Economics.

(2) A student proceeding towards a first degree must attend at least two consecutive terms of a Winter Session in the Faculty of Home Economics and must be registered as a full time student in each of the terms.

(3) The final year of a degree program must normally be taken in attendance at the University of Alberta.

92.3 Academic Standing and Graduation

(1) Students have the responsibility to familiarize themselves with all regulations needed to meet the requirements for the BSc (HEc) degree. These regulations are described below. Students should also be familiar with the University Regulations and Information for Students section of the Calendar.

(2) A student who interrupts a degree program and returns after an absence of two calendar years will be required to comply with any new regulations regarding program and graduation requirements. If the absence has been of more than five years duration, the student may be required to take placement tests.

(3) Categories of Academic Standing: There are three categories of academic standing, designated as categories (A), (B), and (C). At the end of each Winter Session, a category is determined for each student in the Faculty by the computation of a Quality Index. The Quality Index (QI) is defined by the following formula:

$$QI = \frac{\text{sum of units of course weight passed}}{\text{sum of units of course weight attempted}} \times \text{GPA}$$

In the above formula, GPA (Grade Point Average) is the sum of the products of all grades and their respective units of course weight divided by the sum of those weights.

The categories of standing are as follows:

Category A: Students with a QI of 4.0 or greater. Performance in this area is considered satisfactory.
Category B: Students with a QI of less than 4.0 but greater than 2.0. Performance in this QI range is considered to be "unsatisfactory".
Category C: Students with a QI of 2.0 or less. Performance at this level is considered to be "extremely unsatisfactory".

Category A: A student who is not in the graduating year and is in Category A (i.e., a Quality Index of at least 4.0 is attained) is eligible for promotion. Reexaminations are allowed only if all requirements for reexaminations (see (4) below) are met. Credit is denied for any course where a grade of 3 or less is obtained.

Category B: A student in this category will be permitted to continue. Individual rulings will be made with regard to the requirement to repeat courses which were taken and failed. Reexaminations are allowed only if all requirements for reexaminations (see (4) below) are met.

The student may be advised that there may be danger of failing to meet the requirements for promotion and graduation. The student may also be advised to consult Student Counselling Services in respect to academic plans. A warning will also be given that a repetition of unsatisfactory performance (Category "B") could result in the requirement to withdraw from the program. In such circumstances regulations applied for readmission will be similar for the student who is in Category C (see below).

Category C: A student in Category "C" at the end of the Winter Session will be required to withdraw from the Faculty of Home Economics. Other regulations which apply to this student are: ineligibility for reexamination in the failing year; retention of credit in all courses for which a grade of 5 or higher was received in the failing year.

Normally, the student's request for readmission will be considered only after a minimum of a year has elapsed since the requirement to withdraw. The student must write a letter to the Dean including a statement of intent to seek readmission and also an explanation of what will be done to overcome previous difficulties. This letter must be received by May 15 of the year in which readmission is sought.

If readmitted, the student will be placed on probation. The student will normally be required to repeat the failed year; be required to take a full course load (30 units of course weight) in the Winter Session, pass all courses and obtain a minimum GPA of 5.0 before reexamination.

The regulations described above will be applied qually to a student with an extremely unsatisfactory anding in another Faculty at the University of Alberta, r at another postsecondary institution who is applying or admission into the Faculty of Home Economics.

i) Reexaminations

a. An undergraduate student in the Faculty of Home Economics will be permitted a reexamination provided that:
   1) the weight of the final exam is 40% or greater.
   2) the grade in the course was at least a 3; or the grade in the course was greater than 4, and there is a difference of 3 or greater between the grade in the course and the GPA for the academic session in which the course was taken;
   3) the reexamination is for a course taken in the current or most recent Winter session;
   4) the course to be reexamined was a required, not an optional course in the program;

b. If a reexamination is approved the following policies apply:
   1) The reexamination mark replaces the original final examination mark in determining the final grade in the course.
   2) Students are permitted a reexamination in only one course (full or half) during the four-year program.

c. Reexaminations will not normally be allowed in the following instances:
   1) for Intersession courses;
   2) when the student has been required to withdraw because of low GPA/QI;
   3) when repeating a year after being required to withdraw.

d. A student enrolled in another faculty and taking a course offered by the Faculty of Home Economics may be permitted a reexamination provided that:
   1) The weight of the final exam is 40% or greater.
   2) The student's grade in the course was a 3 or higher.
   3) The Dean of the student's faculty and the Chair of the Department offering the course give approval for the reexamination.

e. Students requesting a reexamination must follow the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of this Calendar.

5) A student will not be permitted to withdraw from or repeat a failed course more than once during the degree program, except for reasons deemed sufficient by the Associate Dean.

6) Thirty units of course weight per year constitute a full course load. The Dean may, in exceptional circumstances, permit a student to accelerate (carry more than a full course load). To accelerate, a student normally must have achieved a GPA of 6.5 or higher on a full course load taken the previous Winter Session. A student planning to take less than a full-course load in a Winter Session must insure that the Faculty's residence requirements are met (see §92.2 above).

7) To be granted a BSc in Home Economics, a student must complete the 120 units of course weight required for the program, present passing grades in all courses, and have a grade-point average (GPA) of at least 5.0 in the last 90 units of course weight taken towards the degree.

8) A student transferring to the University with transfer credit will normally be required to complete at least 60 units of course weight and fulfill the residence requirements of the Faculty (see §92.2 above). Following enrollment in the Faculty, a transfer student requires a GPA of at least 5.0 in those courses taken at the University of Alberta which are credited toward the degree.

9) Degree with Distinction:

a. The notation "With Distinction" is awarded to a graduating candidate who has obtained a GPA of 7.5 or higher in the last 60 units of course weight taken for credit towards the degree. A student who has taken part of the work at another university may be granted a degree "With Distinction" at the discretion of the Faculty Council.

b. First Class Standing: First Class Standing is awarded to any student carrying a full course load (i.e., 30 units of course weight in the Winter Session), who receives a grade point average of not less than 7.5 in the work of the session.

(10) Awards listed in §223.8 of the Calendar are normally based on a full course load, (i.e., 30 units of course weight in the Winter Session), taken only at this University.

92.4 Changes in Registration

The deadlines for changes in registration are:
First-Term and full-courses: September 11.
Second-Term Courses: January 10.

92.5 Lab Fees

A lab fee of $15.00 per lab is charged for selected courses in each of the three departments, to a maximum fee of $45.00 per academic session. Assessments for both terms are distributed by the Faculty's Accounts Clerk. Students are expected to pay their fees by the date indicated on their assessments. Students with outstanding lab fees after the indicated deadline will be faced with an encumbrance on their student record until such time as the fee is paid. Inquiries regarding lab fees should be directed to the Accounts Clerk in Room 115, Home Economics Building or by telephoning 492-5230.

92.6 Withdrawal from Courses

Deadlines for withdrawal from courses are:
From a half-course offered in the First Term, November 15.
From a full-course, January 10.
From a half-course offered in the Second Term, March 20.

92.7 Appeals and Grievances

The Faculty of Home Economics' Student Academic Appeals Committee hears appeals from students regarding the following matters related to academic standing:

(1) Transfer from one program within the faculty to another;

(2) Continuation in a program;

(3) Graduation.

Students who wish to appeal a decision affecting their academic standing should consult the Associate Dean. Subsequently, the student should direct a written appeal to the Dean by June 1. Students may obtain complete academic appeal regulations from the office of the Associate Dean.

Students who wish to contest the Faculty Appeal Committee decision may be directed to the General Faculties Council (GFC) Academic Appeals Committee (§16.8 of this Calendar).

Appeals regarding the student's grade or standing in a particular course should be directed to the instructor concerned. For reappraisal deadlines refer to §16.5.3(2) of this Calendar.

92.8 Faculty Student Advisory Services

Undergraduate students seeking advice on academic matters should follow these avenues:

(1) For answers to general career questions about programs such as course choices, fields of specialization and preparation for graduate study, students should consult with their faculty adviser. A list of faculty advisers is posted outside the General Office in the Home Economics Building.

(2) For answers to questions regarding Faculty regulations such as admission, readmission, program requirements, transfer, registration, withdrawal, and graduation requirements, students are directed to the office of the Administrative Assistant in Room 115b, Home Economics Building.

(3) For students who are encountering special difficulties or problems related to program planning, unusual difficulties arising from decisions based on Faculty regulations, or problems of an individual nature, the Associate Dean is available for consultation in Room 110 Home Economics Building. Students are required to consult with the Associate Dean before submitting a formal appeal to the Faculty Academic Appeals Committee.

92.9 Examinations

(1) Unexcused Absence from Final Examinations: A student with an unexcused absence from a final examination will be given no grade for that examination. The final grade for the course will be calculated by using zero as the raw score for the final examination.

(2) Excused Absence from Final Examinations: Refer to §16.5.2 of this Calendar.

(3) Code of Student Behavior: Refer to §19.2 of this Calendar.

93 Programs of Study

93.1 The Degree of BSc in Home Economics

93.1.1 Clothing and Textiles

First Year (See Note A)
CL TX 150 (Design in Everyday Living)
CL TX 160 (Clothing and Textiles: A Social Science Perspective)
CHEM 160
12 units of course weight from Group I (See Note B)

Second Year
CL TX 155 (Introduction to Apparel Design) (Note A) CL TX 270 (Textile Science I)
H EC 300
One 200-level CL TX option
Two 100- to 300-level CL TX, FAM or FD NU courses
6 units of course weight from Group I (Note B)
Option (6 units of course weight) (Note C)

Third Year (See Note D)
CL TX 271 (Textile Science II)
H EC 359
3 units of course weight in statistics or research methods (Note E)
One Senior CL TX option
Two 300 or 400-level CL TX options (Note C)
Option (6 units of course weight) (Note C)
Senior option other than Home Economics (6 units of course weight) (Note C)

Fourth Year
CL TX 590 (Clothing and Textiles Seminar)
Three 300- to 500-level CL TX courses (Note C)
Three senior options (18 units of course weight) (Note C)

Note A: Students entering the program without Clothing and Textiles 20 will be expected to demonstrate certain competencies in clothing construction before entering CL TX 301. For further information, contact the Chair of the Department of Clothing and Textiles.

Note B: Students should select 18 units of course weight from the following list of Group I options: ANTHR 101, ANTHR 301, ART 131, ART H 101, ART H 102, ART H 274, CHEM 100, CHEM 204, Computing (3 units of course weight), ECON 101, ECON 102, History (3 or 6 units of course weight), Mathematics (3 or 6 units of course weight), Physics (3 or 6 units of course weight), PSYCO 104, PSYCO 105, SOC 100, SOC 101 or 102.

Students planning to follow the Textile and Apparel Merchandising Specialization must select ECON 101 and 102 in the first or second year of the program.

Note C: Students wishing to specialize in textile and apparel merchandising must have selected options from the Faculty of Business approved by the Department of Clothing and Textiles. Such students should select CL TX 266, CL TX 365 and CL TX 595 as Clothing and Textile options.

Note D: All required CL TX courses in first and second year of the program must normally be passed before a student can proceed to third year CL TX courses. Exceptions must be approved by the Associate Dean.

Note E: Acceptable courses include the following: STAT 141; STAT 155; STAT 236; PSYCO 211; SOC 210; (STAT 155 is 6 units of course weight which would meet the requirements for 3 units of course weight in statistics plus a 3 course weight option).

93.1.2 Family Studies

First Year

FAM 110 (Family Development)
CHEM 160; or BIOL 100 and a 3 course weight Jr Biology; or BIOL 100 and a 3 course weight Zoology (see Note A)
PSYCO 104, PSYCO 105
SOC 100 and 101 or 102
ENGL 101
3 course weight option

Second Year

FAM 210 (Beginning Family)
FAM 230 (Family Resource Management)
ECON 101/102
STAT - SOC 210 or STAT 141 or PSYCO 211 or POL S 216

Students should consult guidelines available in the Home Economics General Office and in the Foods and Nutrition Department Office.

Note C: Students specializing in the foods area may take senior Food Science courses (third year).

Note D: Includes 400- and 500-level Foods and Nutrition courses. Note that in the fourth year of the program, students will not normally be permitted to take 100-level option courses for credit.

93.2 The BSc in Home Economics after Approved Degrees

Holders of an approved degree may qualify for the BSc (HEc) degree upon completion of a minimum of ten full (or equivalent) prescribed courses. All curriculum requirements in the home economics program of their choice must be met. In addition, students must obtain a GPA of 5.0 or better in all courses credited towards the BSc (H EC) after an approved degree.

The following residence requirements must be met: the student must attend at least two consecutive terms of a Winter Session in the Faculty of Home Economics and be registered as a full time student in each of the terms; the final year of a degree program must normally be taken in attendance at the University of Alberta.

93.3 Graduate Study

Graduate study leading to the degree of Master of Science may be undertaken in the Faculty of Home Economics. The major work may be undertaken in (1) Clothing and Textiles, (2) Family Life Education, (3) Family Studies, (4) Foods, (5) Nutrition, (6) Foods and Nutrition, and (7) Consumer Studies. Students wishing to pursue graduate study should consult the Graduate Coordinator and familiarize themselves with procedures and regulations of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research; this information may be found in the calendar of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

93.3.1 Family Studies

For students wishing to develop a strong Family Studies component this can be done by adding to the courses offered in the Family Studies Department those related to family in sociology. Some of those courses are: SOC 241, 301, 323, 342, 375, 451, 456, 471, 475, 477, 478.

94 Details of Courses

94.1 General Information

Each course is designated by its computer abbreviation and a number.

Following the title of the course is the symbol "★" standing for course weight, and a number indicating the weight of the course as used in computing grade-point averages. An ordinary full course is weighted 6. A half course is normally weighted 3. Some honors and graduate courses involving research may vary in weight according to the length and difficulty of the research project. Some courses are offered for credit only and carry no weight.

The next three figures, enclosed in parentheses, indicate the hours of instruction required by the course in a week. The format is as follows: the first position indicates lecture hours; the second position indicates seminar hours (s), demonstration (d), clinic (c), or lecture-lab (L); and the third position indicates laboratory hours. The expression 3/2 means three hours of instruction every second week. The hours of instruction for a full course are the same in both terms unless otherwise indicated. If the course is a half course, the term in which it may be offered is mentioned before the hours of instruction.

The appearance of a course description in the following list does not constitute any guarantee that the course will actually be offered in the forthcoming session. Information as to which courses will be offered, the names of the instructors, and all further details must be sought from the department concerned. Those students selecting courses from the Faculty of Business over and above the Business courses open to Home Economics students will require prior approval from the Faculty office. Forms may be obtained from the general office, Room 115, Home Economics Building.

Physical Requirements for University Courses

The University has a commitment to the education of all academically qualified students and special services are frequently provided on campus to assist disabled students.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoidable demands on students, with respect to the possession of a certain level of physical skill or ability, if the academic objectives of the course are to be realized. In case of doubt, students are advised to contact the Department concerned and the Disabled Student Services Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all off-campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse registration in such courses.

101.2 History of The Law School

Origin of the Faculty of Law

The Faculty of Law has a distinguished history which dates back to its origin in 1921. The Faculty's tradition of excellence in teaching was established due to the influence of its first full-time law teacher and Rhodes Scholar, John A Weir. During its first twenty years of growth, the Faculty expanded with the addition of two noted individuals: Malcolm MacIntyre (a student of Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School); and George H Steer (a leading Edmonton practitioner).

After World War II applications for admission rapidly increased the size of the student body and the number of Faculty members. The Faculty's commitment to maintaining an excellent student-teacher ratio resulted in admissions being limited to 180 students per year. The high calibre of students admitted over the past sixty years resulted in graduates reaching top acclaim as members of the Bar and Judiciary. The Faculty produced ten Rhodes Scholars, most of Alberta's judges, several Justices of the Supreme Court of Canada, and many persons prominent in public life.

The following Deans and Acting Deans have been instrumental in the growth and prominence of the Law school: John A Weir (1926-1942); Malcolm McIntyre (1942-1945); George H Steer (1944-1947); Wilbur F Bowker (1948-1968); Gerald LaForest (1969); Gerald Fridman (1969-1975); Frank D Jones QC (1976-1986) and Timothy J Christian (1986-Present).

Facilities and Location

The Law Centre's first class facilities have evolved from rather modest quarters in the University of Alberta Arts Building to a fully self-contained Law Centre which offers comfortable classrooms, a well-appointed Moot Court room, student lounges and services, and the John A Weir Memorial Law Library which, as of 1989, houses a collection of over 300,000 volumes.

The City of Edmonton offers numerous cultural, sport, and recreation activities for law students. In addition to a vibrant business and legal community, Edmonton's Provincial Legislature and other government offices provide opportunities for student and professional growth. The City has a diverse population of approximately 650,000 and is located only four hours from Western Canada's Rocky Mountains and world class ski resorts.

Curriculum Development

Dr Wilbur F Bowker has served the Faculty and student body as an outstanding lecturer, dedicated Dean, and proponent of progressive law reform. Law students receive the benefit of instructional expertise from distinguished members of the judiciary, noted members of the bar, visiting professors, and professors active in research or practice.

The Faculty stresses the learning of substantive law by "case study" methodology and small, group seminars. The appreciation of law as a scholarly discipline is emphasized throughout the curriculum. Learning objectives are designed to broaden and develop the student's analytical, legal writing, advocacy, and negotiating skills.

The 1980's were a period of growth in the depth and scope of a curriculum which reflects the prevailing objective of providing the student and practitioner a broad and continuing legal education. Oil and Gas law, International Humanitarian law, Intellectual Business transactions, Environmental law, Native law, and Women and the law are but a few of the expanded course offerings during this decade. A Native Students Program is in operation and designed to encourage and support the successful study of law by aboriginal people.

The Faculty encourages the use of computers in legal education and instruction. A highly sophisticated microcomputer lab was established during 1988. Computer instruction is now a mandatory component of the first year LLB program. The Law School also recognizes its obligation to contribute to increased public awareness of the law by sponsoring monthly legal education programs. The Faculty also contributes to the substantive legal education of Alberta practitioners by participating in Legal Education Society of Alberta seminars.

Student Achievements

University of Alberta law students have successfully competed in international and national Moots and client counselling competitions.

Notable achievements of the Law school's student body include the publication of legal writing in the Alberta Law Review (established in 1955). Students also gain practical experience in client counselling, legal research, and Provincial Court submissions through voluntary service with Student Legal Services. Student life and input to the administration of the Law School is encouraged by providing students with opportunities to serve on a variety of student associations and Faculty Committees.

Affiliations

The quality of legal education is further enriched by the establishment of and close association with the Institute of Law Research and Reform (1968); the International Ombudsman Institute (1978) representing approximately 25 countries; the Health Law Institute (1977); and the Centre for Constitutional Studies (1987). These affiliations continue to attract scholars from a variety of disciplines and broaden the student's and Faculty's national and international perspective.

The Future

The Faculty of Law is justifiably proud of its history and aims to continue the excellent quality of instruction provided to its law students, practitioners, and the general public. The Faculty welcomes the challenge of the 90's and views the future as an opportunity to enhance the ability of legal scholars and practitioners to better serve the administration of justice.

101.3 General Information

(1) The Program: The Faculty of Law at the University of Alberta offers a program of required and optional law courses designed to:

a. provide students with a general legal education in the fundamental principles of law; the components of the Alberta and Canadian legal systems; and the history and philosophy of law; and

b. qualify students for the practice of law in Alberta or other common law jurisdictions in Canada; and

c. train students in the legal aspects of business and government administration. The program requires full-time attendance for three academic years and leads to the degree of Bachelor of Laws (LLB).

(2) Prospective law students are invited to consult the Admissions Office of the Faculty for advice on admission. Inquiries on a selection of options or any other academic problems should be directed to the Assistant Dean of Law. See §102.1 for further details concerning admission requirements.

(3) A University degree in law is a basic prerequisite for admission to practice throughout Canada. The Alberta LLB degree will normally be accepted in other Canadian common law jurisdictions to satisfy this prerequisite. Graduates of the Faculty intending to practice law outside Alberta must meet any additional requirements of the jurisdiction in which they intend to practice.

A resident law graduate seeking admission to the Alberta Bar must article with a practising member of the Bar for a period of one year. The Legal Profession Act, requires that a degree and an LLB, or two years of studies which would lead to a degree issued by an Alberta University and an LLB degree, be obtained prior to the graduate being admitted as a student-at-law serving articles with a member of the Alberta Bar. The graduate must also take the Bar Admission Course provided by the Law Society of Alberta and pass Bar Admission Examinations.

(4) The Postgraduate Diploma Program in Law: The Faculty of Law offers a program of studies leading to a Postgraduate Diploma in Law. The program is designed to provide extensive exposure to a limited area of the law to bring practitioners and other members of the legal profession up-to-date or assist with specialization. For admission to this program of studies the student must:

a. hold an LLB degree, or its equivalent; and

b. meet the requirements for admission to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research; and

c. have a minimum of two years experience in the practice of law or a related field.

Inquiries concerning admission to the Postgraduate Diploma Program should be directed to the Director of the Graduate Studies Committee.

(5) The Master of Business Administration — Bachelor of Laws Combined Degree (MBA—LLB): The Faculty of Law and the Faculty of Business with the cooperation of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research offer a combined MBA—LLB degree. The course of study allows graduates to earn both a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) and a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree in four calendar years instead of the five academic year period normally required to complete both degrees.

The program is designed to afford students an opportunity to obtain a professional education in both Law and Business Administration as preparation for a career in which law and management overlap.

(6) Master of Public Management — Bachelor of Laws Combined Degree (MPM—LLB): The Faculty of Law and the Faculty of Business with the cooperation of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research offer a combined MPM—LLB degree. The course of study allows graduates to earn both a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) and a Master of Public Management (MPM) degree in four calendar years instead of the five academic year period normally required to complete both degrees.

The program is designed to afford students an opportunity to obtain a professional education in both Law and Public Management as preparation for a career in which law and government management overlap.

(7) Master of Laws (LLM): The Faculty offers a program of studies leading to the degree of Master of Laws (LLM). The degree requires attendance at a number of courses to be determined by the Dean or the Dean's delegate and the submission of a dissertation on a subject to be chosen by the student in consultation with the Director of the Graduate Studies Committee. To obtain admission to the Master of Laws program the student must:

a. hold an LLB degree, or its equivalent; and

b. meet the requirements for admission to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research. Refer to the University of Alberta Calendar, Graduate Studies and Research sections for applicable regulations. Inquiries for admission to the Master of Laws program should be directed to the Director of the Graduate Studies Committee of the Faculty of Law.

(8) The Law Library: The Law Library has a collection of approximately 300,000 volumes which include all major Canadian, English, Commonwealth, and U.S. law reports and statutes. The law library receives 4,140 periodical publications each year and provides the student a wide coverage of current legal thought.

The study and research needs of the students and faculty are met by a full range of library services which include: library orientation and tours, reference and inter-library loan services, and instruction in legal bibliography and research methods.

The library's collection is supplemented by access to computer-assisted search services using QL systems which include European and American data bases as well as twelve internally developed data bases. Computer instruction is a compulsory component in the first year of LLB studies. Continued training and funding is available to second year, third year, and graduate students. Instruction is also available to faculty and practitioners. The library houses a 22-station microcomputer lab facility which provides students access to computer search services and the University mainframe computer.

(9) The Law Centre: The Faculty is housed in the Law Centre on the University of Alberta campus. The building contains the law library, the faculty offices, and classrooms. It also provides accommodation for the Institute of Law Research and Reform (a body organized by the University of Alberta in conjunction with the Law Society of Alberta and the Attorney-General of the Province); the International Ombudsman Institute (funded by the Alberta Law Foundation), with a world-wide membership of approximately 25 countries; the Health Law Institute; the Centre for Constitutional Studies, the Alberta Law Review, the Cannons of Construction (a student newspaper); Student Legal Services, and the Law Students Association. The Law Centre provides facilities and resources for undergraduates, graduates, practitioners, judges, legislators, and Law Reform bodies.

(10) The Alberta Law Review: Law students are encouraged to prepare and submit articles for inclusion in the Alberta Law Review. The Alberta Law Review circulates widely among members of the profession and judges in Alberta, as well as among lawyers and legal academics in other parts of Canada and abroad. The Alberta Law Review is published several times annually and edited by law students in consultation with faculty members.

102 Admissions

102.1 General Admission Requirements

(1) The Faculty Committee on Admissions ("the Committee") will consider the candidates for admission to the Faculty of Law in the following categories:

a. Resident Applicants;

b. Non-Resident Applicants;

c. Special Applicants.

It is the sole prerogative of the Committee to determine the category of the applicant. Accordingly, prospective applicants should carefully read the description set out below.

(2) In measuring academic potential the Admissions Committee shall rely primarily on the grade point average (GPA) and the performance on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). The GPA shall be given twice the weight of the LSAT.

(3) In assessing the academic record of the candidate more weight will generally be given to marks received during a complete and regular academic session than to a broken academic pattern.

(4) The Committee will not consider any year of study or course or courses which cannot be credited toward a degree, or toward a university diploma approved by the Committee.

(5) Admission is determined on a competitive basis having regard to all factors available to the Committee. There can be no guarantee of admission.

(6) Law School Admission Test (LSAT)

a. The LSAT is compulsory for all applicants. Test scores will be used to supplement a candidate's pre-law academic record. No special preparation for the test is necessary since it is designed to test aptitude rather than knowledge of subject matter. Test centres have been established at the University of Alberta in Edmonton and at the University of Calgary as well as at most other Canadian university campuses. It is recommended that candidates take the test in the winter of the year immediately preceding the year in which they are seeking admission. An LSAT application blank and bulletin of information, containing complete information concerning the administration of the test, as well as some sample questions, can be obtained by writing to the Faculty of Law; to Law School Admission Test, LSAT-Canadian Service, Box 2006, Newtown, Pennsylvania, 18940-0986, USA; or to, The Schedules Division (Examinations and Timetabling), Office of the Registrar, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2M7.

b. The Committee reserves the right to average scores in the event that the applicant has taken the LSAT on more than one occasion. Accordingly, candidates are cautioned not to sit the LSAT if they are ill.

c. At least one LSAT must have been written within the last five years prior to admission.

(7) English Language Proficiency

English is the primary language of instruction in all faculties except Faculté Saint-Jean, where French is the primary language. Therefore, all applicants to undergraduate faculties other than Faculté Saint-Jean must possess an adequate knowledge of written and spoken English as a prerequisite to admission. For example, non-matriculated applicants and Unclassified program students must comply with the requirement along with other applicants.

Applicants to Faculté Saint-Jean need not demonstrate proficiency in English prior to admission being granted. However, they must demonstrate proficiency in English before they may be granted a degree from this institution.

Regardless of country of origin or citizenship status, all applicants will be required to demonstrate proficiency in the English language prior to admission. This demonstration may take any one of several forms:

a. Six full years of education in English in Canada or the equivalent in another country where English is the principal language. Such education must include the Alberta Grade 12, or equivalent level, and can be in a combination of secondary and postsecondary training.

b. Successfull completion of the equivalent of 6 years of full-time instruction in a school/institution in Alberta in which the major language of instruction is other than English, but where the level of English proficiency required for graduation is equivalent to that in English language schools/institutions in Canada.

c. A grade of 80% or better on the diploma examination portion (only) of the Alberta English 30 course, or a grade of 6 or 7 on the International Baccalaureate Higher Level English course or a grade of 5 on the Advanced Placement English (Language Composition: Literature and Composition) course.

d. Graduation from a degree program offered by an accredited university at which English is the primary language of instruction and in a country where English is the principal language.

e. A score of at least 580 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or a score of at least 90 on the Michigan English Language Assessment Battery (MELAB). The TOEFL results must include a score of at least 50 on each of the three components.

Note: Authority to hear petitions and to waive the requirement for undergraduate applicants to write the TOEFL resides with the Registrar acting on behalf of the faculties. Exemptions will be based on assessments of the applicants' English language proficiency as evidenced by a written petition and a personal interview. Please direct enquiries and petitions to the Associate Registrar, Admissions.

The University of Alberta is able to offer a series of TOEFL test administrations throughout the year. Six Special and six International examinations are held each year. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Student Access Centre, Office of the Registrar, Administration Building, University of Alberta.

) The decision of the Committee in any matter is final and there is no appeal from the Committee to any other body or person within the Faculty or the University.

02.2 Resident Requirements

A resident is one who normally has resided in lberta, the North West Territories or the Yukon for one ear immediately preceding the 1st day of September in e year admission is sought. Any period during which e applicant was registered as a full-time student in a ostsecondary institution shall be excluded either as a eriod of residence or as a break in continuity. An lbertan studying elsewhere may be considered a resi- ent.

) To be considered for admission to the LLB program a candidate must normally complete a program leading to a degree recognized by the University of Alberta. (For this purpose successful completion of three years of a four year program at a recognized Alberta university is acceptable).

2) In special circumstances the Committee will consider applications from applicants without a degree who will, prior to or in the winter session preceding the September in which admission is sought, have completed not less than two years, or equivalent of a full program of studies that would be accepted for credit towards any degree at a university in Alberta. To be considered for admission in this manner, a candidate must demonstrate outstanding academic ability i.e.;

a. A minimum grade point average of 7.5 or its equivalent over the two years of study.

b. A minimum LSAT score of 34 or its equivalent.

3) The Committee shall consider and evaluate, in its sole discretion, the content and grades of the candidate's academic performance and may reject candidates whose general performance or course of study the Committee does not consider satisfactory.

Special interpretations may be made by the Committee where individual circumstances warrant.

02.3 Non-Resident Requirements

1) The Faculty has a quota set by the University of Alberta being 10% of admissions for non-resident Canadians plus 5% for non-resident students regardless of origin, residence or citizenship.

2) The Committee will not necessarily accept non-resident candidates whose performance is equal or below that of resident Albertans.

3) Grades of all applicants from universities other than the University of Alberta will be converted, insofar as possible, to the 9 point scale in use at the University of Alberta, for the purpose of competitive evaluation.

102.4 Special Categories

No applicant can elect to be placed in any category. Allocation to such category shall be the responsibility of the Committee.

(1) Aboriginal Applicants: An aboriginal applicant is a person of native ancestry who is one of the aboriginal peoples of Canada within the meaning of that term in the Constitution Act.

a. Special consideration will be given by the Committee to aboriginal applicants who have a minimum of two years leading towards any degree or equivalent acceptable to a university in Alberta.

b. The Committee recommends the Program of Legal Studies for Native Students offered at the University of Saskatchewan.

c. The requirements as set out in §102.2(1) or (2) a., b., and c. are not applicable to aboriginal applicants. (Applicants who fit into this category do not need a completed degree and those applicants in this category who are not Alberta residents will only be required to have two years or equivalent as described in the regulation. The minimum grade point average and minimum LSAT scores are not applicable.)

(2) Mature Students: A mature student is one who is at least 30 years of age prior to the first day of September in the year admission is sought.

A mature student shall:

a. have successfully completed at least two years of undergraduate work that would be accepted at a university in Alberta towards any degree, or have obtained an undergraduate degree from a university recognized by the University of Alberta;

b. exhibit evidence of past achievements in non-academic areas indicative of comparable ability to compete in the studies in law school;

c. in the opinion of the Admissions Committee, have an above average chance of success in law school.

Non-resident mature students may not be required to have a completed degree but will be required to have the two years or equivalent towards any degree. The minimum grade point average and minimum LSAT scores are not required, however, the LSAT must be written. The candidate's course of study will not be given as great a weight as their particular background and personal development.

102.5 Application Procedure

Application for admission to the LLB program must be made on or before the 1st day of February of the year in which the applicant seeks admission. The application form may be obtained from the Office of the Registrar or from the Faculty of Law and must be completed and forwarded with the required supporting documentation to the Office of the Registrar on or before the 1st day of February in the year in which the applicant seeks admission.

All applicants will be notified by letter regarding admission or non-admission. Successful applicants are required to confirm their intention to register by submitting a non-refundable $50.00 deposit within the time specified in the letter of acceptance. The deposit will be credited toward payment of tuition upon registration in September.

A small number of candidates may be admitted early, if in the opinion of the Committee, they have demonstrated outstanding academic qualifications. The Admissions Office will not accept telephone calls or correspondence concerning eligibility for early admission.

102.6 Application Documentation

The following documents are required to complete an application and must be received by February 1st of the year in which the applicant is seeking admission.

(1) Transcripts: Two official transcripts are required. These transcripts must be complete and indicate any degree received. (The Admissions Committee will accept an official letter stating that the student has completed the requirements for his/her degree).

(2) Résumé: A résumé containing the academic and work background of the applicant is required.

(3) LSAT: It is the responsibility of all applicants to have their LSAT score forwarded to the Faculty of Law Admissions Office directly from Law School Admission Services, Newton, Pennsylvania. The December test date is the last LSAT that can be written by applicants seeking admission in the following September. (See §102.1(6)).

103 Programs of Study

103.1 The Degree of LLB

To be eligible for the LLB degree a student must have been in full time attendance at the Faculty for three academic years.

In special circumstances a student may be granted permission by the Dean or his delegate to attend another law school for one of the three years. Students in the MBA-LLB or MPM-LLB program may obtain permission to attend another law school after completing no less than one and one half years of the law studies portion of the program.

(1) Grading: A final examination comprising 100 per cent of the grade will be held in each course in any year. However, exceptions to this rule may be made subject to the approval of the Dean. In cases in which an exception is made, a percentage of a grade in any course may be assigned by the instructor to examinations, performance in class, term papers, and other assignments. Early in the session, the instructor will announce to the class the basis on which grades are to be assigned.

(2) Absence: If a student has an unexcused absence from a term examination or an unexcused failure to submit a term paper or has failed to perform any other required assignment, the grade assigned to the student for the term examination, term paper, or other required assignment shall be zero. However, in case of illness or other extreme circumstance, the student may be excused from writing the term examination or submitting the term paper or performing the required assignment. To be excused a student must present to the Associate Dean an absence slip signed by the University Health Service, where illness is the cause, or by the Registrar, where the cause is other than illness. When the excuse is accepted, the percentage weight allotted to the term examination, term paper, or required assignment will be added to the percentage weight allotted to the final examination. For regulations governing absence from a final examination see §16.5.2 of the University Calendar.

(3) Marking: Marking in the Faculty of Law is on a 9 point scale. The word descriptions of the nine grades are as follows:

9 outstanding	4 conditional pass
8 excellent	3 fail
7 very good	2 fail
6 good	1 fail
5 pass

(4) Promotion

a. Units of course weight: In each year of their three years, law students are required to take a program of required and optional courses totalling not less than 29 units of course weight nor more than 31 units of course weight (see §104 below for required courses, optional courses and units of course weight) and to accumulate a total of not less than 90 units of course weight over the three academic years to qualify for the degree of Bachelor of Laws. The Dean or the Dean's delegate may permit a student to register for more than the prescribed maximum units of course weight in an academic year. In extraordinary circumstances, the Dean or the Dean's delegate may permit a student not in first year to register for fewer than 29 units of course weight. Students may not be promoted to the next year of their program of study without having first successfully completed the requirements for the year of the LLB program in which they are currently registered. A student will not be permitted to spend in excess of a total of four years in the Faculty, save in exceptional circumstances. Students are required to pass each course attempted with a minimum grade of 4 before receiving credit for the course.

b. The Faculty operates under a minimum grade point average system which requires that a minimum grade point average of five (5.0) shall be required for promotion for all years. Any student failing to obtain a 5.0 average in an above academic year shall be required to withdraw from the Faculty of Law. Any student with a 5.0 average or better shall receive credit for each course in which a passing or conditional pass grade was obtained and shall receive no credit in a course or courses in which a failing grade was obtained. Any compulsory course failed shall be repeated and any non-compulsory course failed may be repeated. A student who has completed three academic years of the Law Program as provided in sub-paragraph 4(a) but has failed to acquire the requisite 90 credit hours may enter into a fourth year during which he/she must take and pass sufficient courses to acquire the said 90 credit hours. A student will not be permitted to spend in excess of a total of four years in the Faculty, save in exceptional circumstances.

(5) Reexaminations:

a. A student in the Faculty of Law shall be permitted a reexamination provided that:

1) The student's GPA is 5.0 or greater.

2) The course has a final examination.

b. If a reexamination is approved the following policies apply:

1) Reexaminations are graded on a Pass/Fail basis.

2) Students are permitted one reexamination per year during each of the three years of the LLB program. A reexamination will not be permitted in a fourth or any subsequent years of the program.

3) Reexaminations for all law students will be written only in June.

4) The Faculty of Law is exempt from general University rules regarding computation of the GPA after reexamination. (See §16.4 of this Calendar).

c. Students requesting a reexamination must follow the procedures detailed in §16.5.4 of this Calendar.

(6) Appeals: A student adversely affected by the regulations or their application shall have a right to appeal in accordance with the Faculty's Academic Appeals Procedure (Appeal Policies and Procedures are available in the Associate Dean's Office, Room 485, Law Centre) with a further right of appeal to the Academic Appeals Committee of General Faculties Council (See §16.8 (Appeals and Grievances) of this Calendar). However, the remedies granted on such further appeal shall not be inconsistent with the Faculty's regulations published herein.

(7) Viva voce (Oral) examination: All students seeking the degree of LLB may be required by the Faculty to pass a viva voce examination at the end of their last year. Such an examination would be of general character covering the work of the three years of the Law program.

103.2 Moot Courts

The Faculty of Law at the University of Alberta runs an extensive Moot Court program. The Moot Court program is designed to give students experience in the preparation of a case for argument before a court.

Students in first year law, as part of the small group program, are required to argue a moot case in the second term and to achieve a satisfactory standing in the preparation and presentation of the case.

In second and third year, students may voluntarily participate in the competition mooting program which begins in the fall with the run-off rounds and concludes in the spring.

The Edmonton Bar Moot Court competition is open to second year students only and leads to the Alberta Challenge Cup Competition.

The highlight of the mooting program is the Honorable Clinton J Ford Moot Court Competition. This is available only to third year students. Four students are selected from the run-off round and compete for the Honorable Clinton J Ford Shield, a gift of the late Chief Justice and the highest award for mooting in the Faculty of Law at the University of Alberta. The winners of this moot advance to the Gale National Competition.

Second and third year students are eligible to compete in the Coughlan Cup Trial Moot Competition leading to the Western Canada Trial Moot; the American Bar Association Client Counselling Competition; the Jessup International Moot Court Competition; the Niagara International Moot Court Competition; and the Laskin Moot Court Competition.

103.3 Graduate Studies

103.3.1 The Postgraduate Diploma in Law

(1) The Faculty of Law offers a program of graduate study leading to a Postgraduate Diploma in a specialized area of Law.

(2) Applicants for this program must hold the degree of LLB or its equivalent from this or some other university. They must have had a minimum of two years experience in the practice of law or in a related field. They must also meet the general requirements for admission to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

(3) All candidates for the Postgraduate Diploma must complete a minimum of three courses one of which must be a research paper course and the other two must be regularly scheduled courses in Law.

(4) Courses will normally be completed in one academic year. In special circumstances the Committee for Postgraduate Diplomas may permit an extension of this time but in no circumstances may the time exceed three years.

(5) Inquiries may be directed to the Chair of the Postgraduate Diploma Program in the Faculty of Law.

103.3.2 The MBA - LLB Degree

(1) The Faculty of Law in cooperation with the Faculty of Business and the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research offers a program leading to both a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) and a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree.

(2) Applicants must apply to both schools independently and be accepted by both schools independently, based upon each Faculty's usual admission criteria. Students currently enrolled in either the Faculty of Law or the Faculty of Business may apply to the other school, and, if accepted, be considered for admission to the joint MBA - LLB program.

(3) In the first two years of the program, candidates will take the regular first year program offered by both schools, with the sequence being at the student's option. The third year will consist of a mixed program in both faculties and the fourth year will be in the Faculty of Law.

(4) Upon the successful completion of the third year candidates will receive the MBA degree. Upon the successful completion of the fourth year candidates will receive the LLB degree.

(5) Inquiries regarding the joint MBA - LLB Degree Program may be directed to the Chair of the MBA - LLB Degree Program in either the Faculty of Law or the Faculty of Business or to the Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

103.3.3 The MPM - LLB Degree

(1) The Faculty of Law in cooperation with the Faculty of Business and the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research offers a program leading to both a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) and a Master of Public Management (MPM) degree.

(2) Applicants must apply to both schools independently and be accepted by both schools independently, based upon each Faculty's usual admission criteria. Students currently enrolled in either the Faculty of Law or the Faculty of Business may apply to the other school, and, if accepted, be considered for admission to the joint MPM - LLB program.

(3) In the first two years of the program, candidates will take the regular first year program offered by both schools, with the sequence being at the student's option. The third year will consist of a mixed program in both faculties and the fourth year will be in the Faculty of Law.

(4) Upon the successful completion of the third year candidates will receive the MPM degree. Upon the successful completion of the fourth year candidates will receive the LLB degree.

(5) Inquiries regarding the joint MPM - LLB Degree Program may be directed to the Chair of the MPM - LLB Degree Program in either the Faculty of Law or the Faculty of Business or to the Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

103.3.4 The Degree of LLM

(1) The Faculty of Law offers a program of graduate study leading to the degree of Master of Laws.

(2) Applicants for this program must hold the degree of LLB or its equivalent from this or some other university, of sufficient standard to satisfy the Dean of the Faculty that they will be capable of undertaking and profiting by the program. They must also meet the general requirements for admission to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

(3) All candidates for the degree of Master of Laws must complete at least one academic year, i.e., normally one academic session from September to May, in residence at the University. In special circumstances the Dean of the Faculty may prescribe some longer period, or may permit the required period of residence to be spread over two consecutive academic sessions.

(4) To obtain the degree of Master of Laws candidates must submit and defend a thesis on a topic selected by themselves, subject to the approval of the Dean or the Dean's delegate, in addition to attending courses throughout two terms, the number and character of such courses to be determined in consultation with the Dean or the Dean's delegate.

(5) A candidate may select courses from a broad spectrum of legal subjects offered in the Faculty of Law as well as relevant subjects in other faculties.

Financial assistance, including remission of fees, travel grants for candidates from outside the Province of Alberta, and Intersession bursaries, may be available to suitably qualified candidates. Such assistance will involve candidates in the performance of certain teaching or research duties in the Faculty of Law, though such duties will not impede candidates in the pursuit of their own studies. In addition, the University of Alberta offers certain scholarships to candidates of sufficiently high academic merit.

(6) Inquiries regarding programs, courses and financial assistance other than University scholarships should be made to the Director of Graduate Studies of the Faculty of Law. Inquiries about University scholarships should be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

103.3.5 Graduate Courses

Graduate courses include those offered in the Faculty of Law and law related disciplines which have been selected by a candidate in consultation with the supervisor and which have the consent of the Dean.

104 Details of Courses

104.1 General Information

In each year students will enroll in optional courses in the numbers and terms indicated. In admitting students to optional courses, consideration will be given to their preferences but allocations will be made in such a way as to avoid large classes.

In the following list, courses included in Law programs are grouped according to the year of the program in which they are to be taken.

Each course is designated by its computer abbreviation and a number. Following the title of the course is the symbol "★", standing for "units of course weight", and a number indicating the weight of the course.

The next three figures, enclosed in parentheses, dicate the hours of instruction required by the course a week. The format is as follows: the first position dicates lecture hours; the second position indicates minar hours (s), demonstration (d), clinic (c), or lecture- b (L); and the third position indicates laboratory hours. he hours of instruction for a full-session course are the ime in both terms unless otherwise indicated.

The appearance of a course description in the llowing list does not constitute any guarantee that e course will actually be offered in the forthcoming ssion. Information as to which courses will be fered, the names of the instructors, and all further tails must be sought from the Faculty of Law.

hysical Requirements for University Courses

The University has a commitment to the education all academically qualified students and special serv- es are frequently provided on campus to assist disabled udents.

Nevertheless, some courses make certain unavoid- ble demands on students, with respect to the posses- on of a certain level of physical skill or ability, if the cademic objectives of the course are to be realized. In ase of doubt, students are advised to contact the epartment concerned and the Disabled Student Serv- es Coordinator, Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Since support services cannot be guaranteed for all ff-campus courses, instructors may be obliged to refuse egistration in such courses.

111.2 General Information

111.2.1 Historical Note

The Faculty of Library and Information Studies, the only graduate professional library program in the prairie provinces, offers the Master of Library and Information Studies Degree.

The first classes in a Bachelor of Library Science program began in 1968. In 1970 the BLS program was accredited by the Committee on Accreditation of the American Library Association and thus recognized by the American and Canadian Library Associations as meeting library education standards.

In 1971 the Faculty initiated a Master of Library Science program for which the BLS program was the qualifying year. In 1976, in keeping with the Canadian pattern of education for librarianship, the BLS was discontinued and the present two-year MLS program was instituted. The MLS program was accredited in 1979 and re-accredited in 1986. In 1988 the Faculty became the Faculty of Library and Information Studies. Since 1988, the Faculty has offered the Master of Library and Information Studies degree.

As the first professional degree, the MLIS represents a program designed to develop the knowledge, understanding, attitudes, and skills that will prepare graduates for positions of responsibility in school, public, academic, and special libraries, and in information centres.

111.2.2 Mission of the Faculty of Library and Information Studies

Education
To preprare individuals for positions of responsibility in the profession of library and information service.

Scholarship
To carry out scholarly study and research that advances the discipline of library and information studies.

Service
To serve as a resource for libraries and information agencies, for their personnel, and for professional associations.

111.2.3 Goals of the MLIS Program

To provide the knowledge, understanding, and skills sufficient for the practice of library and information service at a basic professional level, including the foundation on which further competence and specialization may be built.

To examine the cultural and informational role in society of library and information services.
